The Columbian Guards Shown to Be Inefficient and More National Troops Given to Schofield.

CHICAGO, May 27.—After a lengthy conference held between District Attorney Milchrist and his assistants early this morning, it was decided to file the bill to enjoin the opening of the World's fair on Sunday with Clerk Burnham today. The bill will be presented before Judge Jenkins and Grosscup sitting in the United States circuit court. Beyond setting a time for a hearing it was decided that no action would be taken and the proceedings in court will only occupy a few minutes. It was decided that the date for hearing would be set at such time next week as will be convenient for the sitting of Chief Justice Fuller in the hearing of the suit.

THE CHILDREN'S DAY.

The Young Folks Crowded the Fair Grounds This Morning.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO May 27.—School children in force came to see the fair today. The action of the officials in reducing the price of admission for the young folks to 25 cents has been productive of a big increase and Saturday has been put down as a weekly "children's day." Notwithstanding the heavy clouds which hung over the White City, now and then letting loose a shower, thousands of the young students came out early and their number with the prospect of an open evening will run the total attendance for the day up to about 75,000.

This number, together with the prospects of a tremendous crowd tomorrow should the weather prove favorable, has caused the spirits of the fair officials to rise greatly.

Visitors to the fair today had an opportunity to see for the first time the display of fine and liberal arts from sunny Italy. The Italian sections in the fine arts and manufactures buildings were opened to the public. That part of the French building known as the Salle d'Honneur was also opened to the public today. The remainder is devoted to the exhibit from the city of Paris.

Gen. Schofield of the United States army, has weighed the Columbian guards in the military balance and found them wanting to such an extent in efficiency and discipline that he has asked the secretary of war for an additional detail of army officers to put the guard on a better footing.

The large gate at the entrance to the "street in Cairo" in the Midway plaisance was opened to admit the public at 10 o'clock this morning. On opening, the plaisance was the scene of an Egyptian wedding procession composed of 300 natives from various parts of Egypt and Arabia and headed by a band gaily caparisoned. The marching natives of the orient were arrayed in their best and brightest costumes owned in the street. After the procession had paraded the street of all nations the formal entrance was made through the gate of the street in Cairo, and the ceremony concluded with speech-making and feasting.

THE EXPOSITION GUARDS.

The Fair Officials Having a Monkey and Parrot Time With Them.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—According to advices received here yesterday from Gen. Schofield, the World's fair officials are having a monkey and parrot time with the exposition guards. The general sent a most pleading telegram to Secretary Lamont for the detail of additional officers to assist in maintaining discipline and increasing the efficiency of the guard.

He says the presence of more officers is absolutely necessary for the protection of life and property. He regards the early detail of a score or more of officers of the utmost importance. It was probably on the strength of this telegram that the secretary finally approved the proposal which has been pending for some time for the detail of two companies of the Third infantry from Fort Snelling, Minn., as an additional guard for the exposition. The request of additional officers has not been complied with yet. This is a matter that will be attended to by Secretary Lamont after his return from New York next week.

The request was a surprise to him as he had expected to be able to relieve several of the officers now on duty at Chicago, in order that the regiments might have the benefit of their services. He assumes, however, that Gen. Schofield has good reason for his recommendation and is disposed to approve it.

While it has not actually appeared in black and white, the war department officials think they understand pretty well what is the true cause of the demand for assistance from the department. They feel that the exposition people are in financial distress, and that the more government forces are used the less drain there will be on the resources of the exposition. With officers in charge of small detachments of citizen guards, it is further assumed that more efficient service will be obtained from them.

Another reason assigned for the presence of regular troops is the fear of trouble from people on the outside who are protesting so bitterly against the closing of the grounds on Sunday. It is reported that a quiet hint has been dropped to the war department authorities to the effect that there is danger of the grounds being broken into by unruly mobs when the gates are closed.

FOR BREACH OF PROMISE.

An Elderly Widow Wants Heavy Damages From a Doctor.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The Herald says: Mrs. Sarah J. Monroe, an elderly widow, has brought suit in the superior court against Dr. John Shrady for $20,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage. Dr. John Shrady is one of the best known physicians in Harlem, where he has a very large practice. He is a brother of Dr. George Shrady, whose adopted daughter recently married Edwin Gould. Dr. Shrady was married twenty years ago and has two charming grown up daughters who are well known in society. Mrs. Shrady died a number of years since.

Mrs. Monroe is the widow of Philip J. Monroe, formerly a well known cloth merchant in this city, who was afterward third auditor in the United States quartermaster's office in this city. He died about eighteen years ago. She was a Miss Inness and is a third cousin of Dr. John Shrady. Mrs. Monroe has two daughters, one of whom is married.

In her complaint, Mrs. Monroe says that Dr. Shrady's courtship began in June, 1886, and continued until December, 1892. The defendant denies all Mrs. Monroe's allegations except that he refused to marry her when she asked him to do so.

An order for Dr. Shrady's arrest was issued May 22, and he was notified that bail would be fixed at $5000, but the order has not yet been served.

An Alumni Dinner.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The alumni of Lafayette college in Pennsylvania in attendance on the session of the general assembly, together with resident members, gave a dinner last night at the University club to President Warfield. About thirty gentlemen were present, including ex-President Cattell, ex-Justice William Strong, Rev. James Salmon, the oldest graduate of the institution. As a result of the gathering the Washington City association of the alumni of Lafayette college was organized with about a dozen members.

An Agricultural Plum.

POISON IN STRAWBERRIES.

Boarders at a Fashionable Boarding House Were Poisoned.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Thirteen persons who eat their meals at the fashionable boarding house of Mrs. McKinley on Clinton street, South Brooklyn, were taken ill after dinner last Sunday and it is believed they were poisoned by eating strawberries.

The most seriously affected are Wm. K. Gokey, Mrs. Gokey and John Webster. Several consultations of physicians have been held in relation to the condition of the Gokeys, but last night the doctors pronounced their cases most serious and could not determine what the outcome would be.

Mr. Webster, although confined still to his bed, is said to be on the road to recovery. The rest of the poisoned boarders outside the Gokeys and Mr. Webster are doing well and will recover.

Murder at Williamstown.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 27.—Chief of Police Patrick Cash, of Williamstown, shot and killed James Cleary, of that town, about midnight last night, and is now in the county jail charged with murder. It is said that the shooting was prompted by a row over a division of the work on the highways, for which the families of both men were bidders.

Will Pull Through.

FINDLAY, O., May 27.—The People's Bank of North Baltimore in which ex-Secretary Foster held $10,000 stock, stood a heavy run yesterday and it was feared would be compelled to suspend. The bank opened up for business as usual this morning, however, and its directors announce their ability to pull through the financial storm safely.

TRIAL IS POSTPONED.

Prof. Briggs' Case Upon the Appeal From the New York Presbytery Aajourned Until Monday.

The Judicial Committee Committee Has Not Yet Determined the Time to Be Allowed the Parties.

A Bitter Attack Made Upon the Episcopal Church At Today's Meeting of the Assembly.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The trial of Prof. Briggs by the general assembly upon the appeal from the presbytery of New York which was expected to begin this morning has been postponed until Monday. The day was opened by a half hour's conference and prayer meeting in New York Avenue church led by J. D. Hays, of Kentucky. Several hundred commissioners took part in this service and the galleries were well filled although the weather was discouraging to the female portion of the community, a rain falling at the hour of meeting.

At 9:30 promptly, Dr. Craig called the assembly to order and offered prayer. Elder Purnell stated to the assembly that the report that he had yesterday moved to refer the Briggs case to the New York synod was a mistake. He did not make such a motion but repudiating much that had been said on both sides and on legal grounds alone, voted to entertain the appeal.

Rev. George D. Baker, D. D., chairman of the judicial committee, reported that the committee had used all due diligence to comply with the instructions of the assembly to prepare the Briggs case for trial this morning, but had been unable to do so. He was able to report, however, that an agreement had been signed by the parties to waive the reading of the record, which would save at least a full day.

Reserving to themselves the right to read such portions as they may deem necessary in presenting their arguments, the committee, he said, had to recommend that the trial of the case be postponed until Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock and then be continued morning, afternoon and night until concluded this morning, that the entertainment fund of the association was sufficient to give every commissioner $1.50 a day for another week.

The feature of the morning session was a bitter attack by Rev. A. Nelson Hollifield, of Newark, N. J., on the Episcopal church. This was incidental to a discussion of the report on "Church Unity." Mr. Hollifield said the Episcopal church was nothing more than a "backdoor to Rome." Rev. Charles M. Booth, of New York, expressed deep regret at this attack and was applauded.

The question of the Geary law was then taken up as a special order and discussed till the midday adjournment.

FLOODS IN MISSISSIPPI.

Many Plantations Overflowed and Cotton Crops Destroyed.

VICKSBURG, Miss., May 27.—The crevasse in the Mississippi river in front of Judge Wylie's plantation is now 2,100 feet wide. The gin house on the plantation has been swept away and Judge Wylie's fine mansion is expected to share a like fate. Governor Foster has been asked for ten days rations for 2000 people south of the crevasse and will supply them.

One hundred tents for the destitute people at Lake Providence arrived late last night. The crevasse has already overflowed twenty-eight plantations in the west side of Madison and is fast encroaching on others. The flood in the Tensas basin comprising the inland parishes is worse than expected.

Boeuf river is within three feet of the flood of three years ago and is rising ten inches daily. The estimated loss—one-fourth of the cotton crop in these parishes and 60 per cent in Concordia, Tensas, Madison and East Carroll—must be largely increased. The levees from Red River to Memphis are being guarded with a strong force of volunteers. So far all are reported intact.

A TRIANGULAR FIGHT.

The Nicaragua Revolutionists Are Quarreling Among Themselves.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The World's special from Salvador says: It is known here that difference exists among the members of the committee appointed by the revolutionists to have provisional control.

Ex-President Joaquin Savata, the representative of the Progressista party, is at complete variance with Eduardo Mantillo, representing the Conservatives, who threaten to withdraw from the provisional government.

Santos Zelaya, the representative of the Liberal party in the government committee, is said to be quietly working over his own election to the presidency, and as both the others named are thought to have presidential aspirations there is likely to be a triangular fight inside the revolutionary governing committee.

The Bank of Granada, it is thought, furnished the revolutionists $25,000 and merchants are said to have given a similar amount.

ROBBED THE EXPRESS CAR.

A Train Held Up in Texas by Two Masked Men.

COLEMAN, Tex., May 27.—The north bound Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe passenger train, No. 52, due at 11:25 p. m., was held up and robbed at the north end of the Coleman "Y," a distance of about 600 yards north of the depot, by two masked men. Train 52 turns here and returns to Coleman Junction to reach the main line, where it proceeds to San Angelo.

It is supposed they got several thousand dollars and the Fanta Fe employes' pay checks for Ballinger and San Angelo. The mail car and passengers were not molested.

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE.

A Tennesseean Suicided Because a Girl Would Not Marry Him.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 27.—A Port Angeles special says: B. W. Burford, recently of Elmwood, Tenn., committed suicide at this place at noon yesterday by shooting himself through the heart. Burford was 20 years old and was well connected in Tennessee. His brother was postmaster at Lebanon, Tenn.

The cause for the suicide was his mad infatuation for a Miss McDonald, 17 years old, whom he had followed to Port Angeles from his Tennessee home last March. The girl refused to marry him at present, saying that she was too young and they were not prepared financially for the responsibilities of wedlock.

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

A Baloon Caught Fire When One Thousand Feet in the Air.

TARBOROUGH, N. C., May 27.—Mrs. Steele, an æronaut, had a thrilling experience yesterday. She had made an ascension and was 1000 feet in the air when the balloon caught fire. She tried to cut loose the parachute but was unable to do so, and as the flames spread the balloon began to descend swiftly.

Mrs. Steele kept her seat in the parachute, and as she neared the earth she was enveloped in smoke from the fire above her. She struck the ground so violently that she was rendered unconscious, but later on recovered.

A Banker Indicted.

GUTHRIE, O. T., May 27.—President Desteigur, of the defunct National Bank of Guthrie, yesterday was arraigned in the district court upon seven indictments and given until June 1 to enter a plea. The indictments charge embezzlement, making and giving false entries and reports, aiding and abetting and putting errors in circulation without authority.

Shot by Her Son.

COLUMBUS, O., May 27.—Mrs. John Montee, the wife of a farmer, was shot and killed by her young son yesterday. She was riding with her son and husband in a wagon across the farm when the jarring of the wagon caused the discharge of a shotgun which the son was carrying. The mother received nearly the full discharge of the gun and was instantly killed.

JOHN RELEASED

Judge Lacombe Decides That a Chinaman Cannot Be Put in Prison Prior to Deportation.

The Judge Has Given Out His Written Decision in the Case to the Counsel.

This Appears to Afford a Loophole Through Which the Geary Law May Be Evaded.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Judge Lacombe of the United States circuit court at the request of Maxwell Evarts, associate counsel for the Six Companies, has given out his written decision in the case of the Chinaman who was recently arrested under the provisions of the Geary law. It is as follows:

"The prisoner who was on May 26 arrested by the United States marshal, being admittedly a Chinese laborer and found here without the certificate of residence required by the act of May 5, 1892, now offers to prove by a credible white witness that he was a resident of the United States at the time of the passage of the act, but does not proffer any excuse such as is recognized by the sixth section for his failure to procure a certificate within the time limited.

"The statute requires the judge before whom such a person is brought to order that he be deported from the United States, unless he proved not only residence here before the passage of the act but also some sufficient excuse for the non-procuring of his certificate. In my opinion the framer of the act used the conjunctive 'and' instead of the disjunctive 'or' advisedly and intentionally—the use of the word 'so' at the close of the sentence is persuasive to this construction.

"If the supreme court has held, as it is suggested, that 'and' must be read 'or' to make the action constitutional, but I am shown no such opinion, nor is any yet filed and I must therefore take the act as I find it, the arrest by the marshal was within the authority conferred on that officer by the sixth section, but the prisoner having been brought before the tribunal which is to pass on his case, the question now arises what is to be done with him.

"The sixth section says that it shall be the duty of the judge 'to order his deportation from the United States as herein before provided.' Examination of the prior sections of the act, however, discloses no provisions for such deportation. The most I can do, therefore, is to order his deportation whenever provision shall be made for the same by the proper authority, presumably by congress, though some other act to which my attention has not been called may contain sufficient provision for this, in which case no further legislation would be needed.

"I find no provision authorizing the United States judge in such cases to order the person found without certificate to be imprisoned for an indefinite time while awaiting deportation, and therefore shall discharge him from custody. This order will presumably be sufficient warrant for his future removal when some proper officer appears charged with the duty and clothed with the authority to remove him."

The sixth section of the exclusion act, which refers especially to the deportation of Chinamen who have no certificates, contains at the end of the first paragraph the following, referring to a Chinaman under arrest: "Shall be taken before a United States judge, whose duty it shall be to order that he be deported from the United States as hereinbefore provided, unless he shall establish clearly to the satisfaction of said judge that by reason of accident, sickness or other unavoidable cause he has been unable to procure his certificate, and to the satisfaction of the court, and by at least one credable white witness, that he was resident of the United States at the time of the passage of this act."

MEMORIAL DAY PARADE.

A Great Celebration to be Held in New York.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Admiral de Libran yesterday notified the memorial committee of the Grand Army of the Republic that 300 officers and men from the French fleet would be landed on Memorial day in order to take part in the parade.

Admiral Guilo, of the Spanish war ship Infanta Isabel, has also signified his intention of assisting in the celebration of the day. Two hundred of the Spanish sailors and marines will take part in the parade.

Chairman Brown, of the memorail committee, has telegraphed to Secretary Lamont asking permission for the foreigners to land fully armed. It is expected that the leave will be granted. In addition to the Italian and Spanish contingents delegations from all the visiting vessels are expected.

A Great Horse Dead.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., May 27.—Picton, the great running horse from Stanford's Palo Alto (California) ranch, died here yesterday. Picton, with other Palo Alto stock, had been leased for the racing season to Thomas H. Williams and the horses were on the way to Chicago. Fifteen thousand dollars had been refused for Picton.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed today was 79, of which 55 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and deaths.

DULUTH AT THE FAIR.

Plan to Set Forth the Great Advantages of the Public School System of Minnesota.

There is at Present a Very Reasonable Disposition in the Matter of Restaurant Charges.

CHICAGO, May 27.—[Special to The Herald.]—The Duluth paper mache topographical map is being placed on a "Y" shaped pedestal under the direction of W. M. Prindle, whose wife, I am told, conceived the idea in the first place. As yet it is not in proper shape to fully appreciate its beauties and its usefulness, but I presume it will soon be the most prominent and attractive exhibit in the Minnesota state building. Besides showing the topography of the country in and around Duluth it will show the squares in the platted portion with the streets and avenues and the wide expanse of harbor for which the Zenith City is noted among the lake marine men of the country.

In this respect Duluth has a great advantage over the toy man-constructed harbors of Chicago. There is scarcely a month goes by there in which some lake captain is not cashiered for running by the main entrance to the Chicago harbor and bringing up somewhere in South Chicago. Of course this is usually occasioned by a heavy fog or the darkness of night. Such a thing could not be done by vesselmen arriving at Duluth with their craft. I confess that I never appreciated the value of the Duluth fog horn until I came here, where they have nothing to guide the mariner in the way he should go.

Professor Willson, in charge of the Minnesota educational exhibit here, has devised a plan to set forth the great advantages of the public school system of the state. He is preparing an album containing views of the principal educational institutions, first giving a fine exterior view followed by a half-dozen interior views ot each building. The high schools of Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis have each a half-dozen pages of the book for the purpose of describing their schools, giving their curricula and setting forth their particular excellences. The Duluth High school building, of course, shows up better than any of them in the matter of cuts done in half tone. The matter of description and statistics is to be left in the hands of Prof. Denfeld, who will, of course, see that the Zenith City is properly represented. Copies of this album will be sent to all the prominent educators of the United States and will serve to show forth what the North Star state can do in the way of education.

It will be a revelation to many of the older states in the Union as will also be our state educational exhibit in the liberal arts building. Prof. Willson said to me yesterday that he only feared two states in the matter of educational exhibit, namely, New York and Massachusetts. The cause of this fear did not come from anything they had yet displayed, because their exhibits are not complete, but from the great reputation that they had in the line of public education. The articles by Prof Reed in the Forum, which have praised very liberally the Minnesota public school system, setting forth that our system was in many ways superior to that of the older Eastern states has greatly encouraged all the public educators of the state who will in consequence make every effort to excel at this exposition as they unquestionably did at New Orleans. The exhibit of the school of feeble minded of St. Peter, Minn., takes rank with the displays of any other state made here, and in the matter of hammered brass work, the manufacture of brushes and in fancy knitting and crochet work have scarcely any competitors.

The Hiawatha statue in plaster which is to adorn the front plaza near the Minnesota building has been cast, but has not yet arrived upon the grounds. It will be cast in bronze after the exposition is over and will then occupy a place of honor in Minnehaha park. The statue has been cast life size and is reported to be a fine piece of work in every respect. It will be remembered that the money for the production of this piece of work was raised from the ladies of Minnesota by Mrs. L. P. Hunt, of Mankato.

The matter which is now of most interest to Minnesotians in general is I presume the cost ot living in Chicago while attending the fair. It is difficult to answer this question to suit all classes because everyone will desire accommodations to suit his individual taste. The cheapest possible rate of living here taken together with admission fees to the fair proper will amount to $3 per diem. Accommodations costing $100 a day can be readily secured if one's mind runs to style or luxuries. If the visitor knows where to go, he can live here as cheaply as he can in Duluth with the exception of room rent which will average about $1 per diem for the poorest class of rooms. In some cases weekly rental of rooms has been bargained for to accommodate one person for $5 per week. There is at present a very reasonable disposition in the matter of restaurant charges. As long as the large hotels are not over crowded there will be no trouble in securing cheap rooms at a reasonable cost.

There is an abundance of hotel accommodations here. It is estimated that over 200 new hotels and lodging houses have been erected in South Chicago to accommodate the World's fair trade, but these hotels are newly plastered and poorly constructed. I would not advise anyone to take rooms in them except as a last resort. The management of the Columbian exposition are considerably exercised over the reports which have been sent out relative to the extortion of hotel and restaurant men about the time of the opening of the fair. These reports were in the main true and their effect upon the stream of visitors who had turned their steps toward Chicago has had a very wholesome influence upon the hosts and caterers of Chicago. They have discovered that the great public press of this country is a power and that it will not do to get rich in six months at the expense of the dear American public. They have come down off their high horses very gracefully and it remains to be seen how well they will profit by their lesson in the future.

The executive officers of all the state buildings upon the grounds have perfected an organization and have decided to issue a letter signed by all of them asking the railroads to reduce their fares to Chicago to the price of a single trip both ways. They will call attention in their letter to the fact that as much of a reduction in fares should be made for the Columbian exposition as is usually made for state and county fairs in the various states. They will later issue another letter stating that there is no attempt upon the part of the hotels and restaurant men to make exorbitant charges, and advising the people to come here without fear of being treated in any improper manner by the Chicago public.

Quite a large delegation of Duluth people have been here this week. Among them were James A. Boggs, G. G. Hartley, Capt. J. H. Triggs, W. M. Prindle and wife, E. S. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McCordic, John D. Stryker, S. E. Matter, Will McKinley, A. G. McKinley, Orlando G. Brice, Gus Fink, Frank Stevens and T. H. Hawkes, Jr. There is scarcely a day passes in which there are not several Duluth callers at the state building. RALPH MCKENZIE.

They Did Not Succeed.

The Milk in the Cocoanut.

Since the advent of Dr. Schiffman in Duluth dentistry has taken upon itself a new phase. This is manifest by the increased activity and interest awakened among both patrons and practitioners. In dentistry, as in other lines of business, there is a leader, and of necessity there must be followers. The constantly increasing popularity of the new methods demands increased facilities, and to this end Dr. Schiffman is about to enlarge his business by placing more chairs and securing more assistance. Imitators may parade their cards before the public gaze, but the people are not to be misled for they know where to obtain the true milk in the cocoanut.

MYSTERIES!

The Nervous System the Seat of Life and Mind. Recent Wonderful Discoveries.

No mystery has ever compared with that of human life. It has been the leading subject of professional research and study in all ages. But notwithstanding this fact it is not generally known that the seat of life is located in the upper part of the spinal cord, near the base of the brain, and so sensitive is this portion of the nervous system that even the prick of a needle will cause instant death.

Recent discoveries have demonstrated that all the organs of the body are under the control of the nerve centers, located in or near the base of the brain, and that when these are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centers will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force.

Two-thirds of chronic diseases are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centers at the base of the brain, not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organ rather than the nerve centers which are the cause of the trouble.

DR. FRANKLIN MILES, the celebrated specialist, has profoundly studied this subject for over 20 years, and has made many important discoveries in connection with it, chief among them being the facts contained in the above statement, and that the ordinary methods of treatment are wrong. All headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion, pressure, blues, mania, melancholy, insanity, epilepsy, St. Vitus dance, etc., are nervous diseases no matter how caused. The wonderful success of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is due to the fact that it is based on the foregoing principle.

DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

The Proposition Was Carried Yesterday by a Majority of Over Two Thousand Votes.

At Least Thirty-Five of the Precincts of the County Gave Favorable Majorities.

The Missabe road bonds have carried by an overwhelmingly favorable vote and the only opposition worthy of the name was found on the Vermilion range. In the city the vote was light, the total being only 1651, but the percentage was 6 to 1 in favor of the bonds. In West Duluth there had been considerable fear that there was going to be some opposition, but these fears proved to be practically groundless. The proportion there was about the same as in the city. The Mesaba range, as expected, was solid for the bonds. Mountain Iron and Virginia went almost unanimous in favor of the bonds. In the smaller towns also the sentiment seems to have been entirely favorable. There was opposition at Tower, of course, but it was half-hearted, and one precinct of Breitung was carried.

The majority in favor of the bonds will run over 2000. When the returns are all in it will be found, also, that not only have a majority of the precincts been carried but fully two-thirds. There are fifty-six precincts in the county and over thirty of them are already known to have voted for the bonds.

A number of outside towns have reported to the county auditor but the returns are sealed and cannot be opened until the official canvass is made. The result as far as can be obtained is as follows:

The Proposition to Bond the Village For Building a Market House Carried Yesterday.

There Was Considerable Opposition to It, But the Majority Was a Fairly Large One.

The New Building Will Also Contain Public Library, Public Hall and Armory Rooms.

The Missabe bond proposition carried in West Duluth yesterday by a big majority and also the question of the issuance of $20,000 in municipal bonds for the erection of a new market house. The building proposed is to contain besides the market place a public library and reading room and a public hall, the latter to be used as an armory for the militia companies. The selection of a site will probably be made at the next meeting of the council so that work can be commenced on the structure as soon as possible. Several convenient locations have already been considered and the council will meet with but little difficulty in making a suitable choice. The vote on the question was as follows:

	Yes.	No.
First ward	39	28
Second ward—
First precinct	84	29
Second precinct	73	12
Third ward—

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE.

Cornelius Vanderbilt and Family Were in a Runaway.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The Herald prints the following from Newport. Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and their two sons and two daughters had a narrow escape from being killed Friday. The family hired two carriages and started for Beacon Hill to inspect the Glover cottage which they had rented.

One of the horses was seized with the blind staggers. The pair ran away and frightened the horses of the other carriage and a double runaway was the result.

The presence of mind of the driver of one of the carriages prevented the horses from going over a precipice. It was a very close escape for the entire party.

Thanked By Orangemen.

LONDONDERRY, May 27.—Lord Salisbury received today a number of deputations who expressed their appreciation of his lordship's services to the Unionist cause. Lord Salisbury did not deliver any address in reply, but afterward reviewed a procession of Orangemen. The streets were crowded with people and gaily decorated with flags. Lord Salisbury will depart this afternoon for Glenarm castle, Larne, the seat of the earl of Antrim, and will leave for England Tuesday.

Dr. McGlynn in Chicago.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Dr. Edward McGlynn, who has for some time contemplated visiting Rome with a view of making his peace with the pope, left last night for Chicago. It is quite probable that the docter will not leave this country for a couple of months. It was stated that he would remain at the World's fair as long as that.

THE DULUTH ANGLERS.

The Past Week Was Dull in Angling Circles Owing to a Combination of Circumstances.

Disposition to Observe the Law Regarding Size of Brook Trout That May be Caught.

The Latest Fish Story Told by a Prominent Member of the Truthful Fishermen's Society.

Several things have occurred to make the past week a very dull one in angling circles. The weather has kept the boys out of the woods and broken up or caused the postponement of several excursions. The accident to the Nautilus, which came so near being a serious mishap to the fishing party on board headed for Stewart river, has caused many to postpone their trip to the north shore streams on the Dixon and other boats until all the icebergs are out of the lake. Somebody brought in a black bear the other day and we noticed several of our angling friends gaze timidly at it as it lay in state in front of a meat market, shake their heads wisely and declare that "the woods were full of them," and that it was unsafe to go up the trout streams without a gun. The thoroughbred angler is always a bear hunter as well, and likes nothing better than a rough and tumble argument with a lively bear if one shows up to dispute his right to the trail over a fish pool.

* * *

"He anchored fast his fishing boat
He made a cushion of his coat
And sat and watched his bobber float
From early morn 'till night.

As hour on hour thus idly spent
In slow succession came and went.
He passed the time in sweet content
While waiting for a bite.

When shadows bade him fish no more
He plied the lazy, dripping oar,
And sought a lad upon the shore,
His string of trout to buy.

Next morning in the busy mart
He told a tale in duck'ew by heart,
Yet told it with such wondreas art
None knew the old, old lie.

* * *

At last the game and fish wardens are enforcing the law in regard to the illegal use of nets on the St. Louis river, and confiscating them wherever found in the river. It is a step in the right direction. All too soon the fishing on this stream will be ruined by the sawdust from the mills and refuse from the great manufacturing plants already and to be established along its banks. Spirit Lake was once a favorite resort for bass, pike and pickerel fishing parties, and the facilities offered camping parties made it a chosen spot. Illegal netting and illegal dumping of sawdust into the river has done more to drive out and destroy the fish than has the rapid advance in settlement up the river. The laws should be strictly enforced.

* * *

There seems to be a general disposition on the part of anglers this season to observe the law in regard to the size of brook trout that may be caught. Size and weight should be the object of every fishing party. There is no sport in murdering a few hundred fingerling trout, and the five-inch rule should be observed before every trout stream in the country is fished out entirely. If the restaurant keepers would observe the five-inch rule those who have trout to sell would bring in only those of legal size. But the restaurant men claim there is no profit in handling large trout. They buy by weight and the smaller the fish the less weight they give when filling an order at the hash dispensaries.

* * *

Those who have had the pleasure of visiting the fair are telling wonderful stories of the fisheries exhibit at Jackson Park, and the display of tackle by the manufacturers is said to be one of the finest ever gotten together in this country. The fish tanks are not yet completed and the display of live fish will not be full and complete until later in the season. Our angling friends should not fail to take in this department of the show.

* * *

State Labor Commissioner Powers was in the city yesterday arranging for a fishing trip up north. He was the advance agent for a large party of St. Paul and Minneapolis anglers who are coming up for a two weeks' outing.

* * *

As high as 50 cents per pound was offered the past week for brook trout but there was none in the market.

* * *

The latest fish story going the rounds is that the Truthful Fishermen's association (limited), is liable to disband entirely, owing to the ruption caused by one of its prominent members. The story runs as follows: Not long ago a trio of its members had an outing on the Brule. In the party were a doctor, a real estate man and a dealer in bottled bait. Upon their return to town the latter displayed a broken rod which he claimed had been broken by a large trout. The other members of the party differed with him and openly declared that the rod had been broken by a bass. The president of the club was called upon to settle the matter lest a shade of suspicion should be cast upon the reputation of the club as a body of truthful sportsmen. As a last resort the broken rod was taken to Expert Phil Pastoret, who frankly said that if his opinion was given under oath he must say that the rod was not broken by a fish at all, but looked as if a tree had fallen on it. Three club memberships are for sale. LITTLE IKE.

EUGEN RICHTER.

The Man of the Hour in Germany Who is Fighting the Military Bill.

Richter is doing the giant's work of the campaign against the emperor's military bill; he is a man whose Herculean personality, stentorian voice, knowledge of popular feeling and forcible, rugged oratorical effects and unfearing utterances make him the most popular and the most striking figure in this fierce struggle.

He has been the most persistent antagonist of the Right, to whom, with his piledriving, forcible manner of attack and lightninglike power of repartee, he has been a perfect terror.

The tide of German popular sentiment in the stream of Democracy is bearing him onward and we shall probably find him navigating into the swift-going current of socialism. He is very near it now.

TERRIBLE ITCHING

Used Everything Five Months. In Three Weeks not a Scar or Pimple. Cured by Cuticura.

When my baby was three months old his cheeks and forehead began to break out with white pimples on red surface. In a few days itching commenced, which was terrible. After he would rub it, matter would ooze from the points. In a short time it spread over the top of his head, then scabs soon formed on head and face. We used everything we could hear of for nearly five months. It grew worse all the time. I saw your advertisement of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the "Chicago Weekly." We purchased CUTICURA REMEDIES and commenced their use. In three weeks' time there was not a sore or pimple, not even a scar, on head or face. He is nineteen months old now, and has no signs of the disease. His scalp is healthy and he has a beautiful head of hair. (See portrait herewith.)

MRS. OSCAR JAMES, Woodston, Kan.

My infant, eighteen months old, was afflicted with skin eruptions on his hips. Bad sores came on other parts. All remedies failed until I procured CUTICURA. Cured a year and no return of disease.

And whereas, the mortgage contains a provision that in case of default in the payment of the monthly interest or premium, or dues on stock, or any part thereof, for the space of four (4) months after the same shall become due, then the whole principal debt shall become due, and the mortgagee shall have authority and power to sell the same premises at public auction agreeably to the statutes in such case made and provided.

And whereas, said mortgagee has elected to declare the whole debt due, because of said default in the payment of said interest and premium, and dues on stock;

And whereas, there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of the first publication of this notice, on the debt secured by said mortgage, the sum of ten hundred and sixty nine and 25-100 ($1069.25) dollars, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statutes in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in, and covered by said mortgage, viz: Lot No. eight of block two hundred and eighty-four of Fourth division of West Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, said lands being located in St. Louis county, Minnesota, will, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis county at the front door of the court house in the city of Duluth, county and state aforesaid, on the 10th day of July, A. D. 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, Minn. May 27.—The unsettled conditions that have been prevailing for the past thirty-six hours still continue. There is no decided high or low areas of barometer shown on the charts, although an area of moderate low pressure is central north of Minnesota, and another over the lower lakes, while what appears to be an area of clearing weather is moving in over the southwest.

Rain has fallen in nearly all sections and continues over the South and in Colorado. The heaviest falls was 2.42 inches at Memphis, Tenn., and 1.24 at St. Louis.

The temperature has changed very little, and continues low over the Dakotas from where killing frosts are reported this morning.

It is probable that generally fair weather with perhaps light showers, and a good chance for thunder storms this evening will prevail in this section with slightly higher temperature today. Every thing points towards a fine day tomorrow.

The showers of yesterday and last night amounted to .01 inch, the highest temperature during the day was 45, rising to 48 during the night.

DULUTH, May 27.—Generally fair, probably a thunder storm this afternoon or evening, slight change in temperature, except warmer today, fair sunday. Winds shifting to northeast or east.

B. H. BRONSON,
Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Generally fair, tonight and Sunday; slowly rising temperature; winds becoming southeast. For Minnesota: Fair; warmer; southerly winds.

Irish Home Rule Fund.

The recent meeting held at the Temple opera house in the interest of the Irish home rule movement was a very successful affair, the financial results being highly gratifying. In addition to the receipts from that source there have been several handsome contributions to the fund that is being raised in Duluth, and there is good reason now to believe that a good-sized fund will be raised in this city.

The Herald has already pointed out the importance of raising this fund. The home rule cause has reached an important stage. By the gallant and unselfish work of that "grand old man," William E. Gladstone, the Irish people are in a fair way of securing the local self government that they desire. But it is a hard fight that is being waged in the British parliament. The Tories and Unionists are contesting every inch of the ground. They are adopting all the obstructive tactics known to skilled parliamentarians. It will be many weeks yet before the last clause of the bill will have been reached.

It takes money to carry on this fight. The members of the British parliament do not receive a cent of salaries. The Irish home rule members are mostly poor men, who are unable to personally bear the expense of living in London for so long a time and they must be assisted. It is with this object in view that funds are now being raised in Duluth and other American cities. All who sympathize with the home rule cause should feel it a privilege to assist the movement by contributing to the extent of their means towards this fund. The Herald will gladly receive any contributions and will hand them over to the treasurer of the Duluth fund. Following are the contributions up to date:

Cash in for sale of tickets	$340 75

The Chief City.

It has been the boast of the people across the bay that the new flour mills were certain to be erected there because of better terminal facilities than could be obtained in Duluth. The experience of the Freeman mill rather knocks that claim in the head. The removal of Mr. Freeman from the management of the mill which bears his name has brought to light some facts about the expense of running mills in Superior that do not bear out the boastful assertions of our neighbors.

The Herald refers to this matter, not with any desire to belittle their natural advantages, but to demonstrate that they have no advantages which Duluth does not possess for the milling business. It appears that the Freeman mill has had to pay heavy shipping and transfer charges and that these charges have made a big hole in the receipts. Yet the Superior papers have constantly asserted that it was on account of such charges that Duluth was at a disadvantage with Superior. The facts show otherwise.

In this connection it is worth noting that George A. Pillsbury, one of the famous family of Minneapolis millers, who was at the head of the lakes this week, expressed the opinion, after a careful survey of the situation, that Duluth, and not Superior, is to be the great milling center at the head of Lake Superior. He formerly held the opposite belief, just as at one time he thought that Superior was to be a greater city than Duluth.

President James J. Hill, of the Great Northern, entertained similar views several years ago, but like Mr. Pillsbury he has come to the conclusion that Duluth will always be the chief center of the trade and commerce at the head of the lakes. The marked advance made by Duluth within the last year alone has been sufficient to change the views of these gentlemen.

A Story of Progress.

Duluth's bank clearings for the past week show an increase of 38.8 per cent over the corresponding week of last year, while the clearings at Minneapolis show a decrease of 31 per cent, and St. Paul's increase was only 4 per cent. This tells the story of Duluth's present prosperity and steady progress as compared with the other leading cities in the Northwest. All the conditions here point to a continuance of this happy state of affairs.

The commercial agencies also report that throughout the country generally there has been quite an improvement during the past week. Better weather throughout most of the country has stimulated retail trade and the large distribution of goods has made jobbing trade active. Monetary anxieties have curiously abated and at many widely separated points large loans solicited a week or two ago, to provide for extreme emergencies in different cities, have not been wanted and threatening failures at several points have passed without causing much disturbance. All that is needed now is confidence.

Why does not the canal company show a profile of its route, asks the News Tribune today. Well, the directors of the company are presumably not idiots to do that until they have secured possession of the right-of-way. To show the profile before the land has all been secured would mean an additional expense of perhaps $500,000. Any person who knows anything about locating a railroad knows this to be true.

Duluth wants a municipal garbage system, but it wants one that has been tried and proven successful. The best system is that under which the city awards contracts to collect and dispose of the garbage and pays the contractors out of the general fund. This the system that Duluth people want.

The West Duluth Times endorses the Minnesota Canal company's enterprise and urges the people of that village to vote for the county aid asked by the company, in view of the benefits which it claims will accrue from the furnishing of cheap power.

There was a discussion by newspaper publishers in Chicago the other day on the question of reducing the size of the Sunday paper or of increasing it. Why not abolish it? The Saturday evening papers give all the news that appears in Sunday papers.

The railroads must reduce their rates to Chicago before the attendance at the World's fair will be greatly increased Reduced rates would also mean larger business for the railroads and increased profits.

Read Gath's illustrated World's fair letter on the seventh page of this issue. He gives some interesting talks with leading men who are visiting the great exposition.

The Saturday Herald will be found complete in every department today. The Herald always leads; others follow.

ANSWERS MR. RUDE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have read with much interest the communication of Mr. B. C. Rude in this morning's News Tribune. The serious obstacle to the success of the canal company's enterprise, in the judgment of Mr. Rude lies in the fact that the owners of riparian rights on the St. Louis river have not waived the same in favor of the canal company. It is not expected by the canal company that such owners will waive them. It would be just as reasonable to expect a waiver by all the riparian owners on the bay front of their rights because the state proposes to erect an elevator there. But it must be admitted that riparian rights can be both purchased and acquired through the right of eminent domain. The canal company has no notion of diverting any of the waters of the Mississippi river for the simple physical reason that water will not run up hill. The fear, therefore, of injunctions from Minneapolis millers is causing no sleeplessness on the part of the canal company's representatives. There has been made by the canal company a full exposition of the water supplies which it proposes to utilize, and the Red river and the Mississippi cut no figure in its program. So long as there is money enough in the treasury of the canal company to purchase and the courts are open to condemnation proceedings there need be no fear on the score suggested of the success of the enterprise. Shadows of chimerical law suits and spooks of imaginary injunctions are not objects of terror to the gentlemen who are interested in the Minnesota Canal company. The ownership of the route, the engineering difficulties incident to construction, the water supplies necessary to insure success have all been most carefully investigated, and it was only when every such difficulty had either been obviated or prepared for that the canal company subscribed its capital and put its hands to the work. We can assure the citizens of Duluth and of the county of St. Louis that the plans and purposes of the company are neither crude nor immature notwithstanding the statements of those who are without information to that effect.

Some criticism seems to lie in the fact that the canal company is endeavoring to enlist the sympathy of the wage earners of St. Louis county in its enterprise. The canal company could not avoid doing so even if it desired. Every step in the prosecution of its enterprise is one in the interest of laboring men. The factories, the manufacturing establishments of every character which its cheap power will bring to the city of Duluth will be so many new homes for labor. It is the prosperity of the workingman which is most thoroughly subserved by the creation of this great work. Nine tenths of all its investments will represent labor and it would be an injustice for the canal company to ignore or be unmindful of this great element in the presentation or maturing of its plans. The canal company appeals to all citizens, rich and poor, high and low, who have the interests of this community at heart to fully investigate before condemning this enterprise.

FRANK F. DAVIS.

Duluth, May 27, 1893.

The Secretary Corrected.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is well known that Secretary Thompson, of the chamber of commerce, notwithstanding the fat salary of more than $200 per month that he draws, has not yet found time to get out the annual report of that body for last year, which should have been gotten out months ago, but that he finds plenty of time to make windy speeches and that he is never so happy and self-satisfied as when listening to the mellifluous tones of his own voice.

At a late meeting of the chamber of commerce, when the subject of canals was under consideration, he fancied that he entirely demolished the theory that a canal could be successfully operated connecting the Mississippi river at St. Paul with the head of Lake Superior, by asserting in the most positive and vehement manner that the Mississippi river at that point is 400 feet higher than the water in our harbor, and that therefore the proposed canal could not be operated unless the water could be made to run up hill. With due respect to the sapient secretary, however, I beg leave to express the conviction that such a canal might be successfully operated, even if his statement as to the difference in the elevations of the respective termini of the canal were true; but as a matter of fact the Mississippi at St. Paul, instead of being 400 feet higher than the water of our harbor, is only from 90 to 100 feet higher, the exact difference being dependent entirely upon the stage of water in the river.

So much for Secretary Thompson's accuracy of statement, or for his scientific knowledge. This leads me to remark that if all the statistics which the secretary is in the habit of "firing off" whenever he gets an opportunity are as reliable as his positive assertion as to the relative elevation of St. Paul and Duluth, it might be well to receive them with a good many grains of allowance.

But allow me to ask, in conclusion, about what time during the few remaining years of this century, may we expect the secretary's report of the progress, development and business of Duluth during the year 1892, which should have been published four months ago?

Can it be that this report has been delayed, because that, if published, it would show that the principal part of the work accomplished by the chamber during the past year has been to draw $5000 from the city, pay half of it over to the secretary for his regular salary, and most of the balance for his board and traveling expenses while he has been gallivanting around over the country, all the way from Denver to Washington and the Atlantic seaboard, ostensibly engaged in making speeches in favor of waterways through the state of New York, but as a matter of fact, to glorify himself and "keep himself before the people?"

Is it any wonder that it goes against the grain of the members of the city council to pay out any more of the public funds for such a purpose?

QUERIST.

Duluth, May 27.

The Center of Development.

Little Falls Transcript: Now the course of commerce is changing. Duluth is nearer New York by water than is Chicago. And Northern Minnesota is nearer the centers of trade now than is Southern Minnesota. And in the next era of development the northern part of the state will undoubtedly outstrip the southern portion.

MASS MEETING
Tonight!

There will be a grand Mass Meeting at the Lyceum Theater, This Evening, at 8 o'clock, called by Trades and Labor Assembly, to discuss the proposition of the Minnesota Canal Company. All citizens are invited to attend. There will be speeches by Hon. F. F. Davis and others.

JAMES McDOWELL,
C. JOHNSON, President.
Secretary.

Full Discussion Desired.

The News Tribune expresses a desire today that the opponents of the canal company's proposition may be heard at tonight's meeting at the Lyceum, so that both sides may be put before the people "in an intelligent and lucid manner."

The Herald is informed that this meets with the hearty approval of the representatives of the canal company, who court the fullest discussion. They offer the platform to any citizen who wants to speak, it being their desire to have a full exposition of the company's plans and purposes.

SYPHILIS A Written Guarantee to CURE EVERY CASE OR MONEY REFUNDED.

Our cure is permanent and not a patching up. Cases treated eight years ago have never seen a symptom since. By describing case fully we can treat you by mail, and we give the same strong guarantee to cure or refund all money. Those who prefer to come to us for treatment can do so and we will pay railroad fare both ways and hotel bills while here if we fail to cure. We challenge the world for a case that our MAGIC REMEDY will not cure. Write for full particulars and get the evidence.

We guarantee to cure or refund every dollar, and as we have a reputation to protect, also financial backing of $500,000, it is perfectly safe to all who will try the treatment. Heretofore you have been putting up and paying out your money for different treatments and although you are not yet cured, no one has paid back your money. Do not waste any more money until you try us. Old chronic, deep seated cases cured in 15 to 40 days. Investigate our financial standing, our reputation as business men. Write us for names and addresses of those we have cured who have given permission to refer to them.

If your symptoms are sore throat, mucous patches in mouth, rheumatism in bones and joints, hair falling out, eruptions on any part of the body, feeling of general depression, pains in head or bones—you have no time to waste. Those who are constantly taking mercury and potash should discontinue it.

Don't fail to write. All correspondence sent sealed in plain envelopes. We invite the most rigid investigation and will do all in our power to aid you in it. Address,

COOK REMEDY CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

PANTON & WATSON

GLASS BLOCK STORE

OUR ANNUAL MAY SALE has proved successful beyond our expectations. More business has been done during the past week than we have ever done in twice the time. Crowds visited our store daily and our large force was almost inadequate to cope with the masses. Ladies came from all parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin—many from Ashland, Oshkosh, Old and West Superior, Merritt, Virginia, Two Harbors, Ely, Tower, Mesaba, Biwabik, Oneota, West Duluth, Lakeside, Lester and Crosley Parks, etc.,—to take advantage of the Great Bargains offered at the Glass Block Store. But this is only the beginning, not the end. We will open this week with Bargains which cannot fail to attract your attention; we have not room to quote all the Bargains, but read these few over carefully, then come and see the goods at these prices—then a surprise at such big values for so little money. This is another GREATER week of Bargains at the Glass Block Store.

DRESS GOODS=

Our story in the Dress Goods Department this week is short, but very interesting. Our buyer, while East last week, closed out an entire stock of Silks and Black Wool Dress Goods. You have had an opportunity during the past week to judge for yourself whether he did so to your advantage or not. More Silks were sold in one day than we have ever sold in a week before; more Satins sold in one day than ever before sold in a month. We expect to close our entire purchase of Black Dress Goods Remnants ($3200.00 worth) in one week at the prices we quote. Do not come prepared to see trash, as we never handle it; do not be disappointed if we will not sell you two or three Dresses, as we will sell only one dress to each customer, but come prepared to see the best Bargains in Black Wool Dress Goods ever shown over a Dress Goods counter. Do not miss it. We divide them in two lots; first aisle, west side of store.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD.

The Picnic Season is Just Opening and the Lunch Basket Has Emerged From Obscurity.

The "Kinder Sinfonie" One of the Events of This Week—The Unity Club Concert.

With the winter gaieties past and gone and plans for summer pleasures yet in contemplation the past week has been an uneventful one, in the main, in the social world. Society has danced itself out of breath and the weather has not been such as to lure its members to lake and woods. There have already been hardy ones abroad and the picnic basket has been seen in the land, but those who have carried it have constituted a forlorn hope storming the ramparts of winter, observed with admiration for their pluck and mingled feelings regarding their judgment as to the selection of a time to eat pickles and pie in nature's lap. The sylvan creatures are not yet abroad in force and what is a picnic without at least one wood spider in the butter.

The fair ones have made what might be called a feint and endeavored to convince themselves and their friends that warm weather had come, but even their bonnets of nothing to which a few ribbons are attached and the bewitching conceptions of the costume carpenters have not sufficed to attract old Sol's ardent glances in the direction of this sphere. He has given only the most sly and brief glances, and his face has been often bathed in tears. Can he have been thinking of the woes of millinery bills? It cannot be, for in the select circle of the deities in which he has figured such things have not been a source of anxiety. The migratory portion of the social flock, those who have sought sunny Southern climes, are winging their way back to revel in the cool breezes with which our great lake rejoices those who seek her side in the heated term.

The "Kinder Sinfonie."

The week just past has not been without its events to be remembered with pleasure, among which is the "Kinder Sinfonie" produced at the First M. E. church on Tuesday evening, a conception as unique as it was well carried out, to the eminent success of which is due both the painstaking care of Mrs. Kirkland and the hearty and intelligent cooperation of the youthful performers who, under their leader's baton, went through their appointed parts like veterans of the stage. And here, too, were heard many of home musicians, vocal and instrumental, who make the musicale so important a feature of local social life. The brevity of the program was its only flaw, not that it was unduly short, but of good things it is difficult to produce a surfeit.

The Unity Concert.

The charming concert given by the Unity club on Wednesday evening was one of the week's attractions. To say that those who were present were highly pleased would fall short of the mark. It hearty encores can express appreciation, then those who assisted were most thoroughly assured of the delight they were affording their auditors. A pleasure not looked for was the rendition by Prof. Tonning of "Elevation," a choice bit, his own conception. The musical circles of Duluth are to be congratulated on being able to number this pianist, who is more than skillful, a genius, among the array of talent here.

Company A's Ball.

The military ball of Company A, Third regiment, M. N. G., at the Pavilion on Thursday evening, is to be reckoned among the leading social doings of the week. About 250 tripped to the enlivening strains of Hoare's admirable orchestra and enjoyed the bounteous refreshments provided by the warrior hosts. May they do it again, is the hope of all who were fortunate enough to be present.

Brief Social Notes.

Of marrying and giving in marriage there has been very little to record. May is not generally favored by society as a month for riveting matrimonial bonds. For the future, is the nuptials of Miss Emma Earhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bickel, of St. Paul, to Phillip Seymour, of Washington, D. C., an affair in which many Duluth people are interested, for each of the contracting parties has a wide circle of friends here.

The corn supper, given by the Ladies' Relief Corps of Culver post, G. A. R., on Wednesday evening, was a most pleasing entertainment, reflecting great credit on those who arranged the program. The amateur orchestra distinguished itself in its rendering of the the "Cornflower" waltz, and several musicians of note participated. The ladies were arrayed to correspond with the corn colored decorations of the hall and the effect was most happy.

Theater goers have fed on husks the past week. The attractions, as a rule, have been exceedingly light in nature and to say that some of them have been mediocre in the presentation would be praise.

It is to be hoped that the contemplated association of Ohio people will become an assured fact. In other cities similar organizations have proved the medium of much pleasant intercourse and the centers of social activities.

Mr. George F. Watson, a popular Northern Pacific engineer, of Duluth, who until recently resided in Brainerd, was married yesterday by Rev. J. A. Jenkins, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Holmes, in this city, to Miss Menta Oliver, a daughter of Mrs. Holmes, says the Brainerd Journal of May 25.

Several Duluthians graduated from the state Normal schools this week. Miss Augusta Oppel received her diploma at the Winona school and Misses Io Barnes, Jean E. Baillie and Gertrude Earhart were graduated from the St. Cloud school.

An enjoyable entertainment, "An Evening in Alaska," was given on Friday evening in the Baptist church, West Duluth.

The wedding is announced to take place June 6th, of Miss Lillian Prescott to Mr. N. C. Kingsbury. Both are well known members of West Duluth society.

Drowned at Ely.

August Westerin was drowned at Ely Sunday morning last between 4 and 5 o'clock. It is stated by the Iron Journal that in company with Arvid Norberg, Westerin had been out on an all night's spree, and while very much intoxicated the two wandered toward the lake. Here they secured possession of a boat, and ventured to row out on the lake. They had gone but a few feet from shore, however, when the boat capsized. A man sleeping in the boat house heard the splashing, and arrived in time to rescue Norberg, but Westerin went down for the last time before assistance could be rendered. The body was recovered a few hours later.

Commencing Sunday, May 21, the St. Paul & Duluth railroad will resume its daily train service to and from Fond du Lac. Trains leave Union depot 8:50 a. m., and 1:30 p. m., returning arrive 12:10 p. m. and 6:55 p. m.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa Completely Cures.

HIGHLAND, ILL., June 11.

For over nine years I suffered untold misery from inflammatory rheumatism, from which physicians as well as various specifics afforded no relief.

At last I concluded to give Kickapoo Indian Sagwa a trial. With less than three bottles I have been completely cured, and have stayed cured. I keep the Sagwa in the house all the time, and I find it a great help to me at various times when I feel run down, and consider it the best tonic in the world.

THE BUGEATERS' LAND

The Nebraska Sky is a Peer of That Famous Azure Canopy Over Sunny Italy.

They Need Duluth Lumber in That Region and They Want a Direct Line to Duluth.

How Tom Carter is Remembered There as the Itinerant Vender of "Footprints of Time."

LINCOLN, Neb., May 27.—[Special to The Herald.]—I write from the midst of the sun-kissed prairies of the land of the "Bugeaters." For sunshine and good climate this part of the state is especially favored over many other parts of this land of ours. Overhead is a delicate dome of blue. In softness, delicacy of tint and all the points that mark the sky read about in books, this Nebraska sky is a peer of that famous azure canopy over sunny Italy. Gentle springtime is here with both her dainty bare feet. No lingering snow drifts. No fogs, drizzling rains, penetrating, chilling winds, nor discordant fog horns are here to breed discontent in the bosoms of the people.

Mother Earth has on her new spring dress of grassy green. It's a beauty and no hard, bare, gray rocks spoil its splendor. What a few years ago was the border land of the great American desert is now one great garden. Railroads radiate in every direction. As the result of Uncle Sam's timber claim act and J. Sterling Morton's Arbor day, (J. Sterling now has his Democratic feet in the shoes of the commissioner of agriculture not long since occupied by the sod trampers of your Uncle Jerry Rusk) what was not long ago a barren prairie, now has almost the appearance of a forest. Instead of buffalo grass and occasional cacti, king corn, wheat and pastures of tame grass now cover the buxom bosom of Mother Earth. This pure, delicate hued, cloudless sky is peculiar to this part of the Union and is beyond my power to describe. The soft, gentle air, scarcely perceptible in its motion has dropped its load of dust and sand, lost its nerceness and is entitled to rank with the poetic zephyrs. Bearing the songs of wild birds, the speech of farm animals mingled with the hum of occasional cities and numerous villages and sweetly perfumed with the scent of blossoms which now claim their day in orchard, field and meadow, this season of the year is equalled only by the autumn season, and is worth going many miles to see.

The season here, perhaps more noticeably so than in Duluth, has been backward. For twelve weeks snow covered the ground, a condition of things that headed off the oldest inhabitant's recollections. After that sank into the fertile soil, its chilly breath remained, and it is only within the past few days that old Sol has been encouraging Dame Nature here with his accustomed warmth and liberality. Wheat and the other cereals are short and in places not up to the standard in healthy color. But few fields of corn are up. Much has just been planted and considerable more is yet to be planted. That will be no disadvantage any longer, however, as the long warm, sunny autumns and late frosts almost always insure that crop. But little rain has yet fallen and in the Western part of the state and the prairies of Colorado, none worthy of mention has followed this spring, which is beginning to cause a little apprehension. It is liable to come any day, though unannounced, which will make things as they are desired and should be.

The eastern half of Nebraska is one of the real garden spots of the world. A few miles to the west of Lincoln is the matchless Blue valley. In mild climate, well-to-do farmers, large and sure yields of cereals, Indian corn, cattle, hogs, horses, fruits, grasses and politics, the crops are enormous. Here they need Duluth lumber and the manufactured products of Duluth's mines. They want cheap railroad fare to Duluth's cool summers, with their hunting, fishing and boating. And right here in Nebraska, even if it does lack in tropical foliage and rugged scenery, the weak lungs and throats rasped by the harshness and severity of Duluth's winters and springs, can find as sure, safe and much nearer and cheaper relief and cure than in Florida or California. As near Duluth as Chicago, with one or two competing air lines, of which several have been proposed, the manufactures of the East can just as well come via the great lakes and pay toll in Duluth instead of in Chicago and other Eastern points. Then Nebraska grain, hay, fruit, beef and pork could go to Duluth just as quickly and cheaply as to Omaha, Chicago or Sioux City, with the added cost arising from that method of transportation.

This trip has been most pleasant all around. Not a little of that result has been due to the good railroad connections. I left Duluth Sunday afternoon and over the St. Paul & Duluth railway, whose interests are so carefully groomed by Col. Frank B. Ross in the Zenith City, on a fast train, over a smooth road bed and in a comfortable chair car, I reached St. Paul in time for supper. The next morning I met Dr. A. W. Ringland at the breakfast table. Upon his invitation I went out to view Macalester college and take lunch at the Ringland residence. I was told that the college is prospering and everything points that way. Dr. and Mrs. Ringland are making many friends. Mrs. Ringland said: "Yes, I miss Duluth. People here have been very kind to us, but that cannot cause us to forget the many dear friends made during a nine years' residence in Duluth."

I also was honored with an introduction to Tom Carter, of Montana, who was captain of the battle ship of the Republiban party when it was sunk last fall with Harrison and all the crew. Tom seems to have crawled to land safely and was on his way home from the Republican love feast at Louisville.

Talking of Tom Carter reminds me that he was once a resident of Nebraska. Some years ago, he appeared in Wayne county, Nebraska, and the region round-about, selling that book "Foot Prints of Time." The work was written by a superannuated Methodist preacher and was pushed in the Western country by R. T. Root, the notorious publisher and subscription book promoter of Burlington, Iowa. Carter was a hard worker, a smooth talker and disposed of many of his books. Men who never before had fallen a victim to book agents succumbed to his wiles and a land office business generally was the result. Soon people became interested in the rapidity with which Carter sold books. He as soon became interested in them and upon the slightest pretext sold them "territory" in which they were to have the exclusive right to dispose of "Foot Prints of Time." Young and old, rich and poor—all classes—bit greedily. Men mortgaged their farms, and failing to make a success with the book, were in time sold out by the sheriff. Some traded horses, live stock, grain, farm implements, second-hand sewing machines and well-secured notes for territory.

After the snap had been worked to the utmost, Tom discounted the notes, held an auction, sold off his live stock, grain and farm junk, pocketed his cash and returned to Burlington. Last fall the Republican majority was considerably reduced in several counties in northwest of Omaha and southwest of Sioux City for the reason that men who had lost their farms and caught in other ways on "territory," wanted to get even with Tom Carter and his "Foot Prints of Time." Right here in Lincoln is a printer named Woodruff who traded a printing office for "territory" in a Wisconsin cranberry marsh. I was laughing with him about it today.

In St. Paul I also was given the pleasure of grasping the hand of H. L. Sisler. I have a secret suspicion that he, too, mourns for Duluth, but he keeps up his nerve and is doing admirably in the capital city. His headquarters are at the city ticket office of the C., St. P., M. & O. railway, 159 East Third street. Through the courtesy of the general passenger department at St. Paul I was enabled to save twelve hours time and simultaneously enjoy a ride to Omaha over "The Northwestern Line." I was again agreeably surprised to find such close connections, rapid time and complete trains. This road is making a great effort for the World's fair traffic and as the result of liberality and superb trains, is succeeding admirably. Free buffet smoking and library cars, for which no extra fare is charged, are knocking out all competitors with the assistance of rapid and frequent special and limited trains. A large company of my Nebraska friends have decided to visit Duluth this summer. Some will go on from there to the World's fair, and they all say that they will go via Sioux City to the Twin cities over the Northwestern line.

My space is gone. From here I go to Iowa. At Tabor John Brown used to make headquarters when passing either way from Canada and the East to Missouri and Kansas, during the pro-slavery. Some interesting facts have never been published and I hope to succeed in collecting a number. I am just back from Wilber, Saline county, Nebraska, where resides Casmer Hanway, the only living man in the United States ever tried for high treason. In 1851 he was involved in a fugitive slave trouble at Christiana, Pa. He was arrested on the charge of high treason, confined in Mayomensing prison, three months later tried at Philadelphia and after a trial lasting seventeen days in which he was defended by Thad. W. Stevens, was acquitted by the jury after a few minutes' deliberation. Mr. Hanway is now over 70 years of age and within a few weeks or months at the most his soul will burst its feeble bounds, and with that of the other intrepid enemies of traffic in human flesh, "go marching on" through eternity.

WHEAT ACTIVE BUT LOWER.

Stocks Here Will Decrease Half a Million Bushels This Week.

The market was active, but lower today. It opened easy at ¼c down for futures and unchanged figures for cash and ruled firm; advancing ¼c to ⅜c on the early trading. Then it weakened and eased off to the opening figures before noon. Trading in July was active and there was fair business in September at steady prices, ½c lower than yesterday. Spot stuff was in fair demand. After noon prices eased off slightly more, but the close was steady at ½c lower than yesterday for cash and ⅛c to ¼c lower for futures, with buyers for both July and September. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 69¼c; May, 69¼c; July, 72c; September, 75¼c. No. 1 northern, cash, 66½c; May, 66½c; July, 69½c; September, 72¼c. No. 2 northern, cash, 63½c. No. 3, 58¾c. Rejected, 53½c. On track—No. 1 northern, 66½c; No. 2 northern, 63½c. Rye, 47c. Flax, cash, $1.01½; June, $1.02; July $1.01¼.

The decline in prices since last Saturday has been ⅜c on track wheat, ½c on regular in store and for May delivery, ⅝c on July and ¾c on September. The stock of wheat in store here will probably show a decrease of 500,000 bus for the week. Receipts have been very liberal and shipments rather disappointing.

Car inspection for today—No. 1 hard 4 cars, No. 1 Northern 170, No. 2 Northern 8, rejected 1, total 183. Receipts—Wheat, 79,989 bus. Shipments—Wheat 151,649 bus. Cars on track Northern Pacific, 62; Great Northern, 109; Omaha, 9; total, 180.

A CORNER IN PORK.

Charley Wright Making the Shorts Dance to His Music.

CHICAGO, May 27.—Pork furnished a sensation on the board yesterday advancing $2.15 and closing with a net gain for the day of $1.50 per barrel. It opened dull and traders who might have bought all they wanted in the first trading hour at $21 per barrel or less jumped for it an hour later when it was selling for $23.

Some time ago people who thought pork was much too dear at $18.50 per barrel, sold it to Charley Wright under that idea. The astute trader had already bought up the 70,000 barrels or so of pork that is held here and is, according to the rules of the board of trade, pork made in the summer months is not delivered upon speculative contracts there is no possibility of getting pork between now and October elsewhere than from Wright, who owns the existing stock.

This state of things made an anxious time for the shorts when Wright's brokers began bidding the price up from $20.85 to $23. Commission men who had sold short for customers rushed to buy it, while their customers' margins were disappearing, but as the rise was the work of a few minutes not many succeeded in stopping the loss until the margins were all gone and many thousands of dollars besides.

Wright, it is said, is still unsatisfied with the present advance. If he should put the price to $30 the shorts cannot get out of paying it.

Love Rules Over All.

A young man and a young woman lean over the front gate. They are lovers. It is moonlight. He is loath to leave as the parting is the last. He is about to go away. She is reluctant to see him depart. They swing on the gate.

"I'll never forget you," he says, "and if death should claim me my last thought will be of you."

"I'll be true to you," she sobs. "I'll never see anybody else or love them as long as I live."

They part. Six years later he returns. His sweetheart of former years had married. They met at a party. She has changed greatly. Between the dances the recognition takes place.

"Let me see," she muses with her fan beating a tattoo on her pretty hand, "was it you or your brother who was my old sweetheart?"

"Really I don't know," he says. "Probably my father."—Exchange.

American Store.

A Common Error

In Shakespeare's Cymbeline, 'tis said: "Like is like like," etc. The common error in shopping, especially by those who continually imagine "they cannot afford" to get many things they want, is that they "strain at the gnat and swallow the camel" in almost every instance. In buying dress goods they imagine they cannot afford to buy some specially coveted dress displayed by a reliable house but deliberately buy some indifferent thing at an indifferent place and spend twice as much trying to make it look decent as would have bought the desired material. Paramount above all foolish ideas is to suppose you can remedy the mistakes of manufacturers, or palm off the shoddy for the good, or modernize the passe. So to observe true economy in shopping buy the good where it is sold upon a visibly legitimate basis.

This is A Common Sense Dry Goods House.

You might ask why "common sense?" It is that we give people credit for being sensible instead of foolish.

J. E. Haynie & Co.

We Say

This constant "roar"; this giving for nothing racket; this constant advertising of goods for less than cost; these semi, demi, annual, every day sale tricks, are certainly done with the impression that people are foolish enough to believe, consequently the majority are given credit for being foolish,

And we give the majority credit for being intelligent.

We Have No Tricks Here and Never will Have.

The purchase power of the dollar in this house is the visible argument that causes such constant activity here. Those Silk Mitts at 25c; or Corsets at $1; our Henriettas and Serges at 50c, 75c and $1; our Waist linings, our Gloves, our Jackets and Capes, Ladies' Waists in Lawn, Gingham and dimities, laces, chemisettes, collarettes, night dresses, hosiery, underwear, together with all the linens, wash goods and domestics, each respectively illustrate the superior purchase power of the dollar in this house.

We are headquarters for ladies' society stationery, monograms and all kinds of engraving executed.

MATCH OF CHAMPIONS

The British and American Billiard Match Is To Begin in London on Monday Next.

Frank Ives Will Then Play John Roberts, Jr., the Hitherto Invincible Champion of the English.

Ives Is to Meet Roberts on His Own Ground and at His Own Game.

The great international billiard match in London between Frank C. Ives, the American champion, and John Roberts, Jr., the hitherto invincible champion of England, has awakened considerable interest on this side of the Atlantic in the English game, which is quite a novelty here. The match, which is to be for 12,000 points and continue a week, beginning May 29, will be played at Egyptian hall. The stakes will be either $5,000 or $10,000 a side, and as Ives will meet Roberts on his own ground and at his own game the English champion will probably allow the push and spot strokes to be eliminated from the game or make such changes as will place plucky young Ives on a more equal footing with him.

If the men were to play the English game at "evens," Ives would have no more chance of success than would Roberts if the balk line style of play were to prevail. Roberts is such a marvel that he has conceded 9,000 points out of 24,000 to an opponent and won, but J. Dawson recently met him at these odds and not only won the game, but $10,000 of the champion's money as well. Roberts not long ago offered the enormous odds of 12,000 points in 24,000 to any player who would meet him. Although Ives has accepted the challenge, he is not to receive the benefit of any handicap, but the English ball, which is only 2⅛ inches, will be enlarged to 2⅜ inches, and the English pocket will be narrowed seven-sixteenths of an inch. The pocket will then be one inch wider than the ball, a fact that will greatly handicap such an expert as Roberts, for in English billiards about half the game consists in pocketing the ball—a specialty that the British champion is master of.

FIG. I—OPENING SHOT FOR THREE.

In the match arranged the pockets will cut but a small figure, and the game will largely consist of carom playing, in which Ives will be thoroughly at home.

To the American who can make but one point a shot the spectacle of an English expert making from two to ten points at single play is a rather bewildering one. The English table has six pockets and is 12 feet long and 6 feet broad. When compared with the American table, which is 10 feet long by 5 feet wide, the British affair somewhat resembles a 10-acre lot.

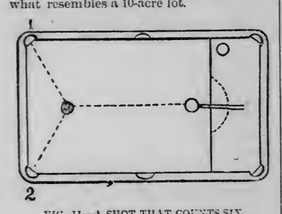

FIG. II—A SHOT THAT COUNTS SIX.

In playing the English game a chalk line is drawn across the table where the "spot" appears on American tables, and back of it is marked a semicircular balk line. The men place the red ball at the opposite end of the table, six inches from the rail, and then "string" for lead. The player who opens the game places his ball inside the balk space, while the other contestant holds his own ball until a miss occurs, when he is allowed to begin. The opening shot for three shown in Fig. 1 is a favorite initial play among experts. The cue ball is made to carom on the red ball and then enter pocket 2. When the shot is well executed the red ball will go entirely around the table, following the course indicated by the arrows, and return to its old position.

This is a 3-point count, and the player repeats it again and again until a miss retires him from play. The second player then starts from the balk space, making caroms and pocketing his own, the red or his opponent's ball and sometimes all three. The red ball when pocketed is always spotted as at the opening of the game, and the second player may shoot at both the red and his opponent's ball, unless the latter rolls inside the chalk line, where it is safe except from a carom from the red ball. A shot that counts six is shown in Fig. 2. The cue ball pockets the red and goes into the opposite pocket itself. The same count may be made by a carom off opponent's ball to the red and pocketing both white balls.

By pocketing opponent's ball and then pocketing the red by a carom seven points may be made. The 10-shot shown in Fig. 3 may be made by the difficult feat of pocketing the red ball, sending opponent's ball into the opposite pocket by a carom and following it in with the cue ball. Last year W. J. Peall made the remarkable run of 3,204 before a miss retired him. The spot shot, which is barred in big games, is made when the stroke ball is on a line with the red ball, when spotted, and a corner pocket. The red ball may be pocketed again and again by the stroke ball, which returns each time to its old position.

THE SPECIAL TERM.

A Calendar of the Usual Size Disposed of Today.

In special term today, before Judge Lewis, in the matter of the American Mechanical Improvement company an order for distribution and allowing account was entered. In Huntress & Brown Lumber company vs. M. S. Wyman et al, motion by executors of J. J. Costello for amendment of findings and new trial, was made and decision reserved, and stay until further order of court. In Thos. H. Craswell vs. Thos. Foley et al, an application for injunction was overruled and order in force rescinded. In Levi J. Hill vs. city of Duluth was continued one week. In North Side Roller Mill company vs. May L. Ellis, motion by plaintiff for judgment was granted; a divorce was granted Mary McCauley from Charles A. McCauley.

In the matter of the allowance of the account of the assignee of Aldrich & Jones, introduction of evidence was under way before Judge Ensign, nothing of importance being adduced. The attorney for the assignee testified that his services were reasonably worth the amount charged.

LEVIED ON THE LOGS.

The Lumber Companies at Cloquet Object to Their Taxes.

There is trouble at Cloquet. Some time ago the council there made a special tax levy on personal property. The C. N. Nelson Lumber company and Cloquet Lumber company were called on to pay about $8000 each. They refused to do it and propose to contest it on the ground that the levy was illegally made. Other citizens are also contesting it.

On Thursday last the sheriff of Carlton county levied on a million feet of lumber belonging to the C. N. Nelson Lumber company and the same amount belonging to the Cloquet Lumber company. He has advertised it for sale on June 7, but there is a fight ahead.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

Charles D. Campbell Taken to Two Harbors On a Warrant.

Henry K. Gillon, chief of police of Two Harbors, came down last evening with a warrant for the arrest of Charles D. Campbell and returned with that gentleman to Two Harbors today. Campbell was formerly treasurer of Lake county.

The warrant against him is sworn out by Wm. McKinley, of this city. Last year Mr. McKinley mailed to him a check for $229.45 to pay the taxes on certain lands owned by John W. Williams of Chicago. It has since been found that the money was never credited up and the taxes appear on the book as delinquent. Mr. McKinley received no receipt but has the check as proof of payment. Campbell has been in trouble before for this same offense and his bondsmen have made up considerable shortage before now.

SECURED AN INJUNCTION.

Property Owners on Twelfth Avenue East Don't Want the Street Railway.

Draper, Davis & Hollister have prepared the paper in the case of Persis T. Morton against the Duluth Street Railway company and late this afternoon Judge Lewis granted a writ enjoining the street railway company from erecting poles and laying its tracks on Twelfth avenue east between Superior and Fourth streets. In her complaint plaintiff alleges that she owns the property on the corner of Superior street and Twelfth avenue and that by using said avenue for its tracks traffic would be impeded and obstructed to an unwarranted extent.

The Cecilian Society.

The Cecilian society held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. F. S. Wardwell; vice president, Mrs. S. M. Stocker; recording secretary, Mrs. John Harris; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. H. Clague; treasurer, Mrs. John Segog; librarian, Miss Barnes. They will study "Women's Work in Music," with a paper on one of the composers from the different nations at each meeting. The World's fair program will be given early in June. The last part of it will be from Mrs. Stocker's opera.

Has Disappeared.

Charles Johnson, who reported that he had been robbed of $600 on a Duluth & Winnipeg train near Cloquet, on Thursday last, by a man named Anderson, is missing, and his friends at Virginia fear he has met with foul play.

In Very Bad Shape.

FOSTORIA, O., May 27.—J. B. Gormley, the assignee of Secretary Foster, states that further investigation shows affairs to be in even worse shape than had been at first thought and that the liabilities would reach $800,000 and possibly $1,000,000, with the assets much less.

INQUIRIES ABOUT POWER.

Two Firms Attracted by the Canal Company's Plan.

The following correspondence will explain itself:

C. L. King & Co., manufacturers of butter plates, fruit packages, veneers, etc., Holland, Mich., May 24, 1893.—Messrs. D. H. Stevenson & Co., Duluth, Minn. Gentlemen: We are operating a large plant at Holland, Mich., employing from 200 to 300 hands. We have been informed that your place is offering exceedingly good advantages as a manufacturing site. Will you kindly advise us on the following subjects: First, tell us all about the water power; second, what kinds of timber are available; third, what transportation facilities have you for reaching the Eastern markets.

Kindly give us such other information as you can that you think will interest us. We are informed that water power can be had for $10 per horse power a year. Is this a fact? Very truly, (Signed) C. L. KING & Co.

Duluth, Minn., May 27th, 1893—Messrs. C. L. King & Co., Holland, Mich., Gentlemen: Your letter of the 24th inst., at hand and contents noted and in reply we have to state. The water power of which you inquire is now being developed by the Minnesota Canal company. This corporation gives notice of its intention to furnish water power to all factories at the rate of $10 per horse power. On this subject we shall be able to give you more definite information in about ten days.

In this vicinity the principal soft woods are, white pine, spruce, poplar, tamarac, cedar, etc.; of the hardwoods we have birch, maple, ash and oak, all in abundance and available. Our transportation facilities are excellent.

Duluth is a railroad center of no mean importance. Here meet the water transportation lines, two transcontinental roads and many others from what is known as the Lake Superior system, which gives to the greatest part of the Northwest a shorter route to water transportation at Duluth than is given the same territory by way of the nearest Lake Michigan ports. For more definite information see marked copy of "News Tribune annual" which we send you this mail. Very truly yours,

D. H. STEVENSON & Co.

Hanchett Paper company, manufacturers and jobbers of wrapping and building paper, bags, twine, butter plates. Chicago, Ill., May 24, 1893.—Messrs. D. H. Stevenson & Co., Duluth, Minn. Gentlemen: This company is looking for a site for a large paper mill. The writer has noticed in the newspapers that your place offers exceptional advantages in the way of cheap water power and transportation facilities. Will you kindly furnish me with all the information you can on the subject, and if from your letter the writer should think the prospects will warrant it, he will pay you a visit and look the ground over with you. We understand that waterpower can be had at from $10 to $15 per horsepower. How is this? Waiting the favor of an early reply, we are yours respectfully,

HANCHETT PAPER COMPANY,
(Signed) F. J. HANCHETT,
President.

Hanchett Paper Co., Chicago, Ills. Gentlemen: Replying to your favor of the 24th inst., relative to the prospects for the establishment of a paper mill at this place we have to report:

The Minnesota Canal company has commenced the construction of canal and water works, designed to supply water power to manufactories here at the rate of $10 per horse power.

As to the facilities for your line of manufactories while it is true that the Minnesota Canal company is proposing to supply water power here at $10 per horse power per year, and it is also the case that they can supply water suitable for paper making (not always to be had elsewhere) cheaply. Our supply of suitable wood for the production if wood pulp is ample. It consists of poplar and spruce, while cotton wood is not far away, and raw cotton as well as flax fiber for the fine qualities of paper can be supplied here at low figures. Transportation rates from this, as a distributing point, are in favor of the manufacturer who may locate here. We should be pleased to have you visit our city and look the ground over for yourself. Very respectfully,

D. H. STEVENSON & Co.

Dr. Forbes Will Preach a Memorial Sermon Tomorrow Morning—An Evening Sermon Also.

Decoration of Graves Tuesday Morning, Parade in the Afternoon and Speeches at the Pavilion.

Next Tuesday will be Memorial day and will be observed in Duluth with proper respect and ceremony. The G. A. R. posts took up the matter of its observance some time ago and have been remarkably successful in arranging a fitting program. The committee announces the following as the order of exercises:

On Memorial Sunday, tomorrow, the comrades will assemble at their respective post halls at 9:45 a. m. and go from there to the First M. E. church, where they will be joined by the ladies of the Women's Relief Corps and Circle, and where Rev. Dr. Forbes will preach. At 7 o'clock p. m. all will again assemble at the Esmond hotel, corner Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, and go to Grace M. E. church, where Rev. R. H. Craig will preach. All comrades are urged to attend both such services.

On Memorial day the comrades will assemble at their respective post halls at 9 o'clock sharp and go by street cars to the cemetery, where the ritual service of the G. A. R. will be read by J. B. Culver post and the graves decorated. On returning, the ladies of Garfield circle and J. B. Culver Relief corps will serve dinner to the comrades at the Grand Army hall in the King block.

Should the weather permit there will be a parade on Superior street at 2 o'clock sharp, under command of H. C. Helm, chief marshal. The formation of the parade will be published in The Evening Herald of Monday and morning paper of Tuesday. All societies reporting to the chief marshal before 1 p. m. Tuesday will be assigned positions in the line.

At the close of the parade the public generally are invited to assemble at the Pavilion and listen to an address by Hon. C. A. Towne and other appropriate exercises.

Citizens are requested to contribute flowers for this occasion. Ladies will be in attendance at Grand Army hall, fourth floor of King block the afternoon of Monday to receive and arrange such contributions as may be made.

LAST EVENING'S RECEPTION.

The Junior Class of the High School Entertained the Seniors.

The reception at Central High school last night by the juniors to the senior class was a very pleasant affair. The stairway leading to the upper halls was tastefully draped in yellow and black, the colors of the junior class. In music hall the senior colors predominated—oldgold, blue and cream. There was a profusion of flowers and plants and with the pretty costumes of the young ladies under the brilliant lights, made a beautiful picture. After the reception followed dancing, which was continued, with an intermission for supper, until midnight. There were more than a hundred present and a happier, jollier party never was seen in Duluth.

Owing to the inclement weather the band concert on Bay View Heights will be postponed until Sunday, June 4.

RACING AT SUPERIOR.

A Decoration Day Matinee to Be Given at the Driving Park.

The West Superior driving park has been leased by an association of young men with push and capital and they promise to make things hum this season. Dr. J. A. Rene is president and W. A. McDonald secretary. The season will be inaugurated with a Decoration day matinee next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. In addition to horse racing there will be a football match between the Superior and Duluth clubs; a cricket match between two clubs recently organized, helped out by Duluth players, and a game of baseball between two Duluth teams picked out for the occasion by J. Reid.

The following races have been arranged: First, 3-minute trot; second, free-for-all trot or pace; third, half-mile running race; fourth, gentlemen's road race, owners to drive. The books were opened today and it looks as if a goodly string of horses, mostly from Duluth, would be entered. No entrance fee is charged. While the purses will not be magnificent they will be large enough to strive for and some interesting heats are expected.

It is the intention of the association to have ball playing or racing at the park every week, perhaps on Sunday if Mayor Kennedy does not object. Trains will probably be arranged to run to the park, if not, electric cars run right to the gate so transportation facilities will be ample.

THE BICYCLE RUN.

The full list of prizes and entries for the ten-mile run of the Duluth Cycle club on Decoration day has been made up. The course will be from the Spalding out London road and return. Those who are entered are: Roy N. Hoople, J. S. Cash, M. T. Bywater, George H. Bellinger, Leon V. Shaw, Titus Duncan, John H. Moore, C. H. de Vault, W. H. Covey, J. W. Trumbull, J. S. Appleby, Frank T. Leach, Oscar Schneider, O. F. Conrad, Joe Dodge, Walter C. Watrous, C. A. Hutchinson.

The prizes are mostly donated by local merchants and are as follows: Silver medal, R. C. Kruschke; silver cup, F. D. Day; 5 lbs. candy, D. M. Hoyt; pair shoes, A. Wieland; sweater, Big Duluth; bass rod, Chapin-Wells Hardware company; box cigars, A. Hauslab; box cigars, H. O. Swain; box cigars, S. F. Boyce; box cigars, Lyceum pharmacy; tie and ring, C. Erickson; collar and cuff holder, J. Chrudinsky; umbrella, Great Eastern Clothing store; pair shoes, Philips & Co.; Columbus pen knife, L. W. Meining & Co.; pair of shoes, Suffle & Co; gold paper weight, Chamberlain & Taylor. Cate & Clarke offer a Dunlap hat to the last man in.

Special time prizes as follows have been offered: Gold medal by Dodge & Pearson; bronzed clock by Pope Manufacturing company; silk hat by Kilgore & Siewert.

The Wrestling Match.

The Parlor theater was pretty well crowded last night to see Peter Schumacher, champion of the Pacific coast, wrestle Frank Lewis, an all-round athlete, formerly of Superior but now of Cloquet. Lewis stripped fully twenty pounds heavier than his antagonist. He was no match for the coast boy, however. The first round was catch-as-catch-can, and Schumacher won with a hammer hold in 10:30. The second was the Græco-Roman bout, and to the surprise of many who knew catch-as-catch-can was Schumacher's favorite style, he downed Lewis easily in a trifle over four minutes. The third bout, which was to have been tossed for, was not necessary.

Despite his declaration to wrestle no more heavy men, George W. Curtis, who refereed the contest, challenged Schumacher to a mixed match and posted a forfeit.

ANOTHER TRAIN GIVEN.

The Northern Pacific Road Will Give Another Train to the West.

The request of the Jobbers' union to have the Northern Pacific railway put in a double train service has been granted and will go into effect June 5. The limited transcontinental train will leave at 7:45 a. m. and the Red River valley train at 6:45 p. m., arriving here at 12:45 p. m. and 7:15 a. m. respectively. Secretary Buchanan, of the Jobbers' union, says:

"This service is the best ever given to and from the West and we trust all persons from the head of the lakes will advertise and stimulate travel that this arrangement may be permanent by being made a paying one. While the Jobbers' union has been persistent, much of the credit is due to the efforts of the local management, Messrs. Eva and Wilsey, and a generous disposition on the part of the general management, in the face of a dull business outlook and a stringent money market, which ought to be appreciated by the Duluth public."

SECURED A PRINCIPAL.

E. F. Lohr, of South Bend, Ind., Will be in Charge of the High School.

When Superintendent Denfeld was in Chicago last week he ran down to South Bend, Ind., to see about getting a new principal for the High school and an instructor in biology, physics and chemistry. As a result of his investigations, he reported to the board of education in favor of E. F. Lohr and A. J. Woolman for the respective positions. Yesterday individual members of the board signed an endorsement of Superintendent Denfeld's recommendations and the appointments are assured.

Mr. Lohr has been for the past nine years principal of the South Bend high school. Mr. Woolman has been a member of the United States fish commission and an instructor of science in the South Bend schools. Both are eminently qualified for their work and their acquisition is a matter of congratulation to Duluth.

Excursion to Ashland.

Don't forget that delightful trip to Ashland on the Ossifrage leaving Duluth at 11 o'clock this evening, touching at Ashland, Washburn and Bayfield and spending the day at Apostles island. Returning the boat will arrive in Duluth before daylight Monday morning. Round trip, including berth, $3.50.

MONEY-LENDING.

The State Legislatures are Constantly Trying to Pass Laws for the Repudiation of Contracts.

Talk With Mr. Pullman in Which He Tells About the Progress of His Company.

(Copyright, 1893.)

CHICAGO, May 27.—[Special to The Herald.]—The World's fair being at the center of the continent, shows us the condition of the remoter parts of our country as well as the products of the world. Yesterday I fell in with Edwin Nicodemus, of Spencer, Ia., whose name I recognized as that of one of the prosperous German-derived settlers, in the Cumberland Valley, of Pennsylvania and Maryland. I took advantage of the young man's visit to ask some questions about Western methods as they would appear to fresh Eastern eyes.

"You have not been very long, Mr. Nicodemus, in the West?"

"Three or four years; my father has two banks in Clay county, Ia.; one of them is a savings bank, and another a regular bank of loans. Clay county is in the northwestern corner of Iowa, not far from Dakota and Minnesota. It was among the later counties settled and built up in that state, as you can see by the fact that its county seat of Spencer, a place of 3000 inhabitants, was named for Senator Spencer, of Alabama, who once was a politician of Iowa. He died the other day in Washington. Our county is not very far from Sioux City, where these great collapses have just taken place among the bankers. What happens with us epitomizes the general condition of the West. We have a good many Eastern settlers, who alleviate the hardness of the society. We have a town called Emmettsburg, where everybody is Irish. Other settlements are altogether Scandinavian."

"What is the first difference you note between such old Eastern society as that around Hagerstown and the new Western society?"

"For the present everything in these new settlements out West pertains to money and materiality. They have not had time to get down to cordiality and faith in each other. In the struggle to maintain their foothold where they have settled, politics, courtesy and everything becomes subsidiary. In the banking business out here you want to say very few words, the fewer the better, and put everything down in writing, the more definite the better."

"It was not the same, then, in the East?"

"Oh, no, my father lived all his life at Boonsboro and married his wife from Funkston, on the National road, not far from the Battlefield of Antietam. Father had a mill, and the plain Germans there of the seventeenth and eighteenth century settlements in this country never required an obligation. Father would let them have the money they wanted, as he was lending money, and tell them to fetch their wheat and corn to the mill when they were harvested, and he would keep the account. They had faith in him, and did it. You cannot do that sort of thing in our new Western societies. The word requires to be written down there."

Western Financial Safeguards.

"Very. You hardly know what to lend on. The state legislatures, operated by the agricultural constituencies, are constantly attempting to pass laws to repudiate contracts. The currency issue and the silver issue belong to the same category. We lend money and put in our loans the specification that it is to be repaid in gold or gold's equivalent in any other currency or coin. That is a subject of complaint; but as we give them gold, we demand gold back again. The money we lend now has an interchangeability with gold at par. They would like to return it in some depreciated currency or metal, and, therefore, we make them sign a contract to pay it in gold. The legislature is constantly bammering at that subject, and it is made a subject of complaint. In the same way they are attacking the insurance companies. It is common in the West when a man insures for him to give his note for one-half payment, that is, the second half. In many cases he does not pay the note, and yet if he loses his property he insists that the note is cash, though it has been protested. They have attempted in the legislature to make the mere note without any reality to it hold the insurance company or factor. So, in the matter of mortgages there is a constant struggle in the legislature to tax the man who holds the mortgage, instead of taxing the land which is mortgaged. A farmer comes to us and wants to mortgage his farm, and we let him have the money. Then his policy is to tax our mortgage and dodge the tax on his land, but we, meantime, are merely out of money. They are still working on that line, though they have not yet been successful."

"I suppose the railways are pressed in the same manner."

"Oh, yes; the lawmaking power is always gunning for the railroad, as it is for the insurance companies and the banks. That is why lending money comes out of the people at last, for if they attempt dishonorable conditions, the risk of the lender is all the greater, and he is going to cover his risks."

"How much can you get out there for money—to per cent?"

"Yes, we get 10 per cent when we lend on farms, as a rule; we lend on cattle for shipment to Chicago at 6, 7 or 8 per cent. They charge us in Chicago 6 or 7 per cent for the money, and the risk of dealing with the individual borrower falls upon ourselves. Hence, according to his intention and capacity to return the money his rate of interest has to be fixed. When you consider what he paid for his land, and how much superior were his conditions of settlement to where his forefathers settled in the East, the rate of interest is but reasonable. He has no timber to clear, buys his land very cheap and seeds and reaps it with modern machinery. Although the farmers have complained, and in many cases with justice, yet land in Clay county is $10 an acre higher, generally speaking, than it was a very few years ago."

"Has not Chicago plenty of money on deposit in its banks to lend to the regions beyond it?"

"Yes; it is surprising how much money they have got. The First National bank here has from twenty-seven to thirty millions on deposit all the time. The fact that money is the blood, the basis of settling and tilling these new regions, causes it to be a subject of cavil and attack. People wonder if they cannot get around an obligation by discovering some panacea to replace money; some way of legislating money into existence, like Arsigi raising the dead."

"Do you think the silver question is going to prevail out West?"

"The farmers are sensible, after all, and they are having their eyes opened fast on the silver method of relief. When they see the failure of respectable firms and large trusts and banks in the East, such as happened the other day, and find the president ascribing it to silver, and his cabinet holding the same views, and the press in line with those criticisms, they begin to see that false prophets would only lead them into the mire."

George M. Pullman is the best known citizen of Chicago, because he, living there and there commencing his experiments in transportation, appears ubiquitously all over this land, as not even Uncle Sam shows up, for the mail wagons in red, white and blue are to be seen only in our large cities, while the costly Pullman cars run past all the villages and petty stations. Old as these parlor and sleeping cars are, some millions of the American people do not yet understand just what they may be, as can be seen by the intruders at the country stations, who sit down and are a little dazed to note how kind the road has been to them for the first five or ten minutes. They cannot quite understand how the passengers stare at them, whereas they expected to have the whole stare, as country folks learn things through their pupils. The Pullman building in Chicago is on the lake front, and is a very conspicuous building, made of red terra cotta and brick, with a huge central arch, and the whole building over the arch recessed, like the Mills building in New York where Pullman has his Eastern offices. The president of the Pullman Car company holds a continual levee, and I felt while sitting about his room and holding over at frequent interruptions, that he probably had more callers than the president of the United States. Each man must come to business at once, unless he pays a call of respect, and while I was sitting there army officers, foreign counts and distant railroad magnates came in, and in the president's methodized way he gave them all time enough, and each seemed to leave not feeling that he had been forced out, yet none had a long stay. Mr. Pullman in his youth was one of the movers and lifters of houses and blocks by machinery, a feat which attracted notice everywhere. Chicago was built low, and it was necessary to raise the ground under the city, and the blocks of stone or iron or brick were underframed with lumber and jackscrews put under the whole mass, and each screw turned simultaneously by an engine, so that the entire mass, without settling or breaking, went up in the air, and had its new foundation put under it, like a soft-shell crab receiving his new skeleton.

The West sees things necessary to be done and tries to do them, and hence Archimedes is just born out there, and with the soft surface of Chicago in the sands, he is still weeping for a place to put his fulcrum that he may move all the rest of the world.

Said I at the first opportunity: "I see that you are getting ready to put up a monument in the rear of your house, which, I suppose, is to be central to the brownstone and glass conservatory you are erecting at the turn of the street there?"

"No; the monument is to commemorate the massacre of a portion of the escaping garrison of Fort Dearborn which stood near the outlet of the Chicago river into the lake. It has been ascertained from the old settlers that those going away were waylaid by the Indians where the street which passes my house makes its turn at the lake front. I thought it a proper subject to monumentalize, and we are something of a monumental city. I always liked objects of art commemorative of patriotic events. The hothouse you see going up on what appears to be public ground is for my respite when I leave this office. I can get away so seldom from Chicago, and I must do something, that I am going to raise grapes that I can look after myself at that spot, mornings and evenings."

"What do you think of the signs of the times?"

"There has been another large bank failure today in Australia, the Victoria bank, with seven millions sterling of deposits. I wonder if that does not show that our English contemporaries are losing their money through a want of the pure business quality of their predecessors? When I looked over the failure of the Barings, and saw the kind of people who had gotten their credit and money, it seemed to me that the suggestions I had heard were not without warrant; that the older Barings looked upon a matter of business for business reasons purely, while the later Barings let their social inclinations, their love of titled society and of adulation loosen their lines. It seems to me that is the case in Australia; that money has been thrown out there lavishly, because the application for it came in a flattering way."

"But we have been having some failures in America, too?"

"Oh, yes; we have been overdoing things. I apprehend that we may be going to have Jacksonian hard times, such as I was familiar with in my boyhood. The people, however, wanted a change. The town of Pullman gave 200 majority for Cleveland at the last election. It was in the air. I do not suppose we could have elected any president on the Republican ticket."

"I took a look at your World's fair train in the transportation building."

"I want you to see that when it can be explained to you. You know that about six years ago I began the vestibule trains in this country, making a continuous thing of a train, like the deck of a ship, where one crosses platforms between the cars without knowing it, and where the shock of collisions and the prevention of telescoping are obviated by a solid frame through the train. I have now extended that system to the tender of the engine, so as to protect the fireman and the mail car men."

"Without some such innovator as you have been, I doubt if mankind would have thought of bringing the World's fair as far West as Chicago. By making travel over such long distances agreeable and pictorial, you introduced the center of this continent to the European world."

"Well," said Mr. Pullman, "it is a little strange, that, commencing in this raw city as it used to be, the system of transportation all over the earth has been modified, so that Pullman cars are now running on the railroads at the Cape of Good Hope up into the interior of Africa, and crossing the continent of Europe from the Straits of Dover almost to Egypt."

"After all, it was the study of the American people. I believed that they would take the best that could be offered them, and I had to prove it first at my own expense. The railroad presidents did not believe that the public would pay more than a certain amount for a sleeping car. I had to build an expensive car, during the civil war, and put it on a train with cars which had cost less than one-fourth as much money and charge half a dollar more for a berth. For a few nights it ran empty, and after that the cheap cars went empty. I reasoned from my own self respect and love of comfort and beauty. That has kept me from deviating from my original standard. I might have sold my whole enterprise out for $200,000 soon after I began it and it would probably have been thought a small thing. We have never called upon the public for money in this company, except as an investment to extend our business, and we now have $60,000,000 of capital. Our contracts were made for many years for no longer a period than five years. Now they are made for twenty-five years. I never solicited business for this company. Col. Thomas A. Scott, whose picture you see there, came of his own accord to visit me at my house and proposed to extend my service to his road. Nor do we attempt to make extraordinary profit. The business of this company is never secreted from anybody. Our accounts are in such a state that we can show anybody who comes here the exact state of our business with any other roads. Some years ago the Illinois legislature concluded to go into the investigation of sleeping car companies, and started with ours. As soon as I saw what they were driving at I sent an invitation for them to come to our office and look at our books. I took it for granted that they wanted to see for themselves, and perhaps to be seen. When they came, however, I had the reporters here of the different newspapers. They found that it cost $1.65 to make up a bed for every passenger we carried. It then occurred to them that we must secrete our earnings in some way, and they called for our salary list. They fund that the president got $10,000 a year instead of $25,000, and the superintendent $4000 a year. There is a letter I have just answered from the president of an important railroad who has been running our cars twenty-five years. He wants the latest service to replace his earlier service. The record of the business for that time shows that the cars have earned a few tenths over 8 per cent."

One Conception of a Railroad.

"Do you think that the late failures of some of the steel rail companies are due to extended use and wear of steel rails over iron rails?"

"No; it may be true that some of the steel companies overplanted themselves, but the wear and tear upon steel is as marked as upon iron rails, under the conditions of less speed and work. All which happens to mark business up or down can be traced to natural laws. As soon as man has raised himself out of the condition of dependence to that of fair independence, when it might be supposed that he would become conservative, then it is that the political philanthropist comes to him and offers to prove that he has not been well enough treated. That I take it to be the cause of our instability in political matters. When I was getting that train ready in time for the World's fair, it required sixteen hours out of the twenty-four to have it ready in time. Yet we did not have any strike. Up in the top of this building we have a restaurant for all the tenants of this office, and we employ some hundreds of our own people here. I went to my club and could get nothing to eat, as the waiters had struck, so I came back here and found everything proceeding as usual, and got my meal."

"What do you think of the Sunday question and the fair?"

"The people of Chicago are cosmopolitan, and each element observes its Sunday according to its traditions, without clashing with any other element. The park where the World's fair stands belongs to the public. They have had the use of it on Sundays heretofore. It is unreasonable to deprive them of it, when they can now learn for the general good and for their own expansion and improvement the passing lesson of this fair. If they are deprived of the use of the fair they will go to some other amusement not so improving. In this state of facts, why should they not see the fair on Sunday, nobody being compelled to go there who will be better satisfied going somewhere else?"

"Oh, yes; we have been overdoing things. I apprehend that we may be going to have Jacksonian hard times, such as I was familiar with in my boyhood. The people, however, wanted a change. The town of Pullman gave 200 majority for Cleveland at the last election. It was in the air. I do not suppose we could have elected any president on the Republican ticket."

Down on Wall Street.

Mention of rich men who promote the beautiful, recalls that yesterday I came upon a small platform and temple of pottery, which I knew in a moment must be the Rookwood pottery, established by Miss Longworth, afterward Mrs. Nichols, now Mrs. Stohrer, a grand-daughter of Nicholas Longworth. The subtly alternating yellows and browns, with a tendency toward the green that is called malachite; the harmonious blending of dark glazings, in which are some brownish reds, the simple forms not at all strained, are significant of this pottery, and I inquired of the lad who had charge of it, why it was called "Rookwood." "Mrs. Stohrer," said he, "named it, I think, after her father's place in the country, close by Cincinnati." I took up a piece of this pottery and asked its price; it was close to $100, though hardly more than a foot and a half high.

"Nothing is duplicated in this pottery," said the lad; "whoever buys that piece, has the only copy of it."

Here is the case of a woman bearing an analogy to Pullman. The money instinct was as much in the Longworth family as in the Pullman family, but in both cases it was subordinate to a desire to create something with the money which should also perpetuate the promoter and be a benefaction.

Standing with my hand upon this piece of pottery, reminiscences came upon me, all in one train, which will probably be interesting for you to read.

During our civil war, in the latter part of 1863, I went to the city of Florence and stayed there a month. Hiram Powers was the chief American magnate in the town. I knew nothing whatever about him, except that I had seen some of his busts and his Greek slave. Among my acquaintances formed in Florence were the sculptors Hart, Jackson and Meade. I did not see Mr. Powers at all, as it is a disability for men to have too much reputation, and while they attract the tutt-hunters and parasites, their fame dismays the timid and the impressionable. Larkin Meade took me into Powers' show rooms or workshop, and there was a beautiful image in white marble there, which I understood had been modelled after Powers' own daughter, a legend which gave the statute romance in my boyish eyes. I was told that this young lady had been or would be married to some Englishman who had known her between Florence and England.

Sitting down one day with Meade who I fancied might have been in love with this Miss Powers, I said to him, "How came you to be a sculptor?"

"I had a fondness for shaping things," said Mr. Meade, "for I lived in a marble country in Vermont. They make many tombs and monuments up there, and besides seeing those things, the creative disposition is in our family. My sister married Mr. Howells, whom you may have heard of as a contributor to magazines, and who wrote the life of Abraham Lincoln when he ran for president. He is our consul now at Venice; Mr. Lincoln sent him there. After I had got some knack in shaping things readily, there came a big snow storm at Brattleboro, where I lived, and I went out in the snow that night, and finding it of good consistency for my purpose, I modelled the old year going out and covered it with water, which froze, and there in the morning before the townspeople stood a nice monument. Mr. Beach, of the New York Sun, its proprietor, happened to be there. He wrote an article for his paper, describing this statue of the Old Year. Not long after that came a letter to the postmaster in our place postmarked Cincinnati, asking him what sort of a young man I was and whether this description could be relied upon. The postmaster told me of it, and he answered the letter favorably. I dropped a line, however, to a friend in Ohio, and found that Nicholas Longworth owned the particular postoffice box which the postmaster was to address. Of course, you know Nick Longworth?"

"Yes," said I, "he makes wine I think."

"Pshaw!" said Meade, "he brought out Hiram Powers. Powers was one of our Vermonters who drifted out West, and was making wooden images in Cincinnati as sign posts on the streets. He worked in a museum and rigged up a chamber of horrors, with electrical batteries in it, to scare country visitors. Nick Longworth saw that he had talent and advanced him money and gave him orders, and that is how Powers got to where he is. You may suppose," said Mr. Meade, "that I was a little set up when I found that great Nick Longworth writing to our postmaster about my image."

"What came of it all?"

"Why, I got an order to put that same figure into statuetee form. It turned my attention to sculptor. I never rested until I got to Florence under the eye and advice of Hiram Powers."

"What have you got to do now?"

"Oh, I am about to make a pair of statuettes, one called 'Echo' and the other 'The Lover,' who calls the voice of his lady, and 'Echo' answers not; I am to make those for Corcoran at Washington. Of course you know him."

I only know Mr. Corcoran as one politically under a cloud, and the father-in-law of George Eustis, who was not long before taken off the British vessel Trent by Lieutenant Fairfax and Commodore Wilkes. George Eustis, long ago deceased in Paris, was a brother of our present minister there. Thus, in the course of time, the Corcoran family has worked around from being regarded as half-union in their feelings to become representatives of the United States at the very court to which Slidell went. In those days I used to see Slidell and Mason, too, in the countries to which they were accredited. Slidell's daughter has married a Southern railroad exploiter; Erlinger, I think, he was named.

In course of time I got to know Mr. Corcoran, too, and his name stands high among the promoters of art, of whom I have already mentioned three — Pullman, Longworth and Corcoran. Each of these men stands at the head of having wrought out something beautiful in his own large city—Chicago, Cincinnati and Washington. Cincinnati to this day holds a tender place in the hearts of men who like to see American art long, prudent and particular. The carving in wood in that city, introduced by a family of old English people, has left prosecutors behind it. I went into the house of Mr. George, at Parkersburg, W. Va., a few years past, and found it exquisite in wood carving, every piece made for its place, and no duplication outside of the house of any bit of work in it. There were pictures in wood, poems in mantle pieces and friezes, and the kind old man who lived in the house sat among these things and talked about his wife and daughter, who had gone off to Europe to give themselves apprenticeship in the arts. This great exhibition at Chicago will answer the same purpose to hundreds of thousands of hungry souls, who do not like lard, butter, canned meat and other things of traffic, which constitute so much of the life of the western states. If we are a young people, we are descended from old ones and from nations in which was the spark of art. The artistic instinct in man is about the best tribute he can pay to his alleged Creator, for the Creator must have had the art spirit if He made these shapes as we see them. Darwin says he didn't. But if the Creator did not make them just as they are, if there was no image of the Creator to model by, still the growth of the beautiful as it appears to us is worthy of pursuit. They used to pain men before they had anatomized them, I suppose, or did the painter closely follow the anatomist?

Let me go on with my tale.

In course of time I dropped in at Cincinnati and was carried up the street to see a wooden pole with something like Liberty on the top of it, made by Hiram Powers. Then I was shown the museum where he had rigged up the Chamber of Horrors. Then I was taken to an old Market square and shown a splendid fountain, cast in Munich, and representing in mediaeval costume the story of water in its utility, its safety, its relation to mechanics, etc. This fountain is the pride of Cincinnati yet, and two gentlemen, imitative of Nicholas Longworth, found it in Munich, where it was in want of a buyer, as the war between Austria, Denmark and Prussia had broken out, and they got it at less than fancy price and gave it to their city. I was taken to see Nicholas Longworth's house, was shown that fine old gentleman, his imitator also, who built the Music hall in Cincinnati—Springer, I think the name was. Then they took me to the museums, and I could see that the spirit of Longworth was growing in everything. One man, who gave his love of art the regulation of his charities, had saved a whole city, half mediaeval in its nature, from the despair which the purely practical suffers when there is a relapse in trade. I was taken to see the Anderson boys, nephews of Maj. Anderson, of Fort Sumpter fame, and grandsons of Nicholas Longworth. I was also taken around to a small commercial restaurant and shown a very naughty picture of a woman as large as life, looking you right in the eye, in the most modest and brazen way, and putting on her stockings and slippers, covered by nothing but a veil which looked like a morning cobweb on a gooseberry bush. This creature sat upon a red damask sofa in a room. On her left seemed to be an open door and a court, with a waterfall plashing in it. Said I to myself. "Surely that is too well painted to be in this barroom. I wonder what it is?"

Years passed on and I saw the same picture transferred to the St. Nicholas hotel, Cincinnati, the main restaurant of that city, a place for fine wines, etc. In the smoking parlor of the hotel was this great canvas, and I found that the sons of the eating-house keeper had become by development landlords and were men of note.

In course of time the chief of St. Nicholas Hotel wrote me, asking me if I would hunt up the story of that painting and of the artist that painted it. He said it was Pauline Bonaparte, the sister of Napoleon Bonaparte, who married, when a young widow, Prince Borgia, in Rome, a lover of paintings. The picture, he said, had been brought in the collection of Joseph Bonaparte to his house of exile at Bordentown, New Jersey, and after Joseph Bonaparte returned to Europe by the consent of the allied monarchs, he had many of his paintings sold, and this one was bought by Nicholas Longworth, a Jerseyman, who had removed to Cincinnati, like many other Jerseymen from the time of Jonathan Dayton, in order to grow rich in Western real estate.

I set to work and found what little there was about this artist, a Jacobin, and companion of David the painter, who was expelled to Russia after the restoration of the Bourbons. I am not sure that the painting represents Pauline Bonaparte, though that is its reputation. I think it probable that its having been in possession of Joseph Bonaparte led to the inference, perhaps the boast, that it was Pauline, the great beauty. I have read, however, that Pauline was rather of a golden tint, whereas this woman was dark. The sketch I made of the picture was rewarded by a nice bit of furniture from Cincinnati, so that even to me Nicholas Longworth had been something of a benefaction.

In course of time I ran upon George Ward Nichols, a young person whose name was continually in the papers. If a musical or dramatic festival were given in Cincinnati, clacquer articles appeared saying: "Who did all this? Why, George Ward Nichols." George was of the Boston persuasion, who, coming to Cincinnati in soldier clothes, in company with the military cousins of Miss Longworth, when she was of a susceptible age, had engaged her affections. She had, however, the inherited strength and perception of art, while her husband was only an imitator. It is this lady who has established the Rookwood Potteries. She began them in 1880, her idea being to see if the United States could not have a school of art in ceramics, somewhat like that of Japan. The Japanese influence is still apparent through these vases. She formed a school of pottery and set up a pottery house which is itself handsome; it stands between the city of Cincinnati and the Ohio river overlooking both, and from the city is built up boldly on abutments and arches to get a level, and throws out its timbered gables on every side, while toward the river its three-furnaced chimneys sit low upon the center. This faeance ware is made of Obio Valley clays, and the decorators of the china are all pupils of the Rookwood school. They use no printing process whatever, and by time the decorators have acquired such confidence and strength that they can now paint a portrait of anybody or copy any work of art, and it will be toned down so that when it mingles with the surrounding browns and greens and smoldering reds, it will seem to be lineaments expressed by the spirit of fire. How pleasant it is to suppose that some day, instead of paying huge undertakers' bills, we shall be able to execute ourselves or to supervise the putting of the portraits of those who die by our side upon some unobtrusive vase, as original as the perished one, and place in it the ashes we cherish. I see no reason why, in the present condition of art, the portraits of the family should not be made in terra cotta and built in the walls of a house or painted upon clay and made to supplant the usual humdrum photograph, which is not as agreeable to look upon as the old fashioned ambrotype or daguerreotype. I came some time ago upon one of these daguerreotypes, made nearly forty years ago. It was so fresh, its tones so unaltered, that a gentleman of accomplishments who took it in his hand, said: "Why did they ever give up work like this for the raw neutrality of the printed photograph?" The trouble with our rich people in America is that they fly off the handle. I took up a circular descriptive of this installation, as it is called, or representation of the Rookwood pottery in the show, and after seeing everything there, I inquired of a Cincinnati friend where the presiding spirit might be.

"Well," said he, "they intended to have an arcade here which would in itself make an impression. There was to have been a whirling globe to symbolize the potter's wheel, dragons of fire, and the vase finally coming into life in the glowing kilns. There were to have been columns representing chimneys of flame, each column a kiln in itself. You will see it all described in this circular." Unfortunately, Mrs. Stohrer concluded suddenly to go to Europe, instead of coming to the World's fair, and this is only one instance out of thousands of how the Americans work up to a certain point and then let go.

Nevertheless, what I have written should carry its own moral, namely: That art is not an individual exertion, but the result of a general movement, as of a school with sympathetic support in the surrounding society. Who knows but that Joseph Bonaparte, who came to this country in the first part of the century, lodged with him in the heart of the boy Longworth love of paintings. The Jersey boy who had seen the Bonaparte pictures went off to the West, but among the chords which drew him back to New Jersey may have been those fine pictures by David, Gerard, etc. When he had made some money in Cincinnati, Longworth began to buy pictures, and aid artists and sculptors. His family grew up around him and saw these tastes and shared them, and thus his grand-daughter is going on in the same line. In the course of three generations of work of this sort, they effect a certain class of society in a whole city, and the art influence radiates throughout the city. When we had our World's fair in 1876, not one piece of this Rookwood pottery was in existence. Now it is said to be a self-sustaining pottery, there being enough people of equality and taste in the country to want a piece of it. Some time ago, in this very exhibition, a young American, traveled abroad, came to the pottery and said: "Where did this come from?"

"Cincinnati."

"Then it was all made by foreigners."

"No, it wasn't; there is not one foreigner in the pottery except a Japanese, and that Japanese was a pupil of our school."

The fellow went away disappointed, for his brains had oozed out through his opportunities to go abroad. Instead of rising to the spirit of patriotism, and walking out of the fair with a vase under each arm, he only took away his poor little head, carrying within it the idea which animates every prig, and might be expressed in terms: "They can't cheat me; I know that this country can do nothing, and it needn't try."

ARRESTED FOR MURDER.

A Kentuckian Held in Washington to Await Extradition.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 27.—A special from Spokane says: Johnson Ferguson, alias Wm. Smith, is now a prisoner at the county jail, held to await extradition papers for a murder committed in West Virginia.

The crime with which Ferguson is charged is the murder of a prominent Kentuckian of the name of Jamison Thompson, committed about three months ago. The story of the crime in brief is that Thompson, while driving from his home at Louise, Ken., near the state line, met Ferguson with a team near Wayne, W. Va. A dispute arose over the right-of-way, and in the quarrel that followed Ferguson drew a revolver and shot Thompson dead.

EMIN PASHA IS DEAD.

In Fight With Hostile Tribes, He and All His Men Were Killed.

BRUSSELS, May 27.—A letter received from Rascid Bon Mohammed by the governor of Stanley Falls, leaves little doubt that Emin Pasha, the noted explorer, is dead. The letter says that an Arabian chief named Said Bin Abed, in journeying towards Unioro and Adelai, met Emin Pasha and his expedition in a hostile manner.

A severe battle ensued, and the fight lasted for three days. Emin Pasha and his followers were defeated and took to flight. Said Bin Abed and his victorious followers overtook Emin and captured and killed him together with all of his people.

SHE SHOT A PEDDLER.

A Georgia Girl Killed a Man With Whom She Quarreled.

MIDVILLE, Ga., May 27.—Miss Sallie Wallace, daughter of prominent parents, yesterday shot and instantly killed a Hebrew peddler named Manuel Rosenweig.

A few days ago Rosenweig sold Miss Wallace a pair of shoes. She was dissatisfied with the purchase and demanded the return of her money. When Rosenweig refused she shot him. She claimed it was accidental and the coroner's jury acquitted her.

Arrested for Extradition.

VIENNA, May 27.—Paulus Meyer, a converted Jew and ex-Russian Talmudist, who asserted that he was an eye witness to a terrible massacre of Jews in Russia, has been arrested at the request of the German supreme tribunal at Leipsic, with a view to his extradition to Germany on a charge as yet not made known.

Released on Bail.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 27.—Frank Hickey, the alleged murderer of John M. Clayton, was today released on $1000 bail. The evidence against him is considered very slight and it is not expected he will be convicted.

Heavy Destruction.

ODESSA, May 27.—Advices from Roumania say that floods have destroyed over half a million of acres of crops and that the damage is nearly $1,000,000.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION.

Held Their Regular Meeting and Nominated Office Bearers for the Coming Year.

The regular monthly meeting of the Typographical union was held Sunday last, there being a large attendance. The chapel of J. J. Le Tourneau & Co. reported that they had received a reduction of the hours of labor, nine hours constituting a day's work, at the same ratio of wages, and received the congratulations of the union. This action was entirely voluntary on the part of the proprietors, and hopes were entertained that all the job offices in town would follow suit. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the firm of J. J. Le Tourneau & Co., job printers of this city, did, on the first of May, announce to their employes that in future nine hours would constitute a day's work, the scale remaining as before; and

Whereas, the reduction in hours was entirely voluntary and unasked for; therefore, be it

Resolved, that this union extend thanks to Messrs. J. J. Le Tourneau & Co. for their generous action, and for being the first job office in this city to give shorter hours; and be it further

Resolved, that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this union and a copy be sent to the daily papers of this city and also the Typographical Journal.

Thereafter nominations for office bearers for the ensuing year were made as follows: President, W. D. Dean; vice-president, R. P. Coburn; corresponding and financial secretary, H. Dworschak; treasurer, Fred H. Lounsberry; recording secretary, Wm. Ferguson; three trustees, C. M. Hale, E. B. Fleming, A. E. Pfremmer, Augustine Murphy; three delegates to Trades and Labor assembly, James McDowell, P. Findlay and C. E. Alexander; three auditors, James McDowell, Ed. M. Grace and Chas. Hector; Frank Burwell, sergeant-at-arms. The election and installation of officers will take place at the next regular meeting of the union.

Labor Notes.

There is no question that the Saturday half holiday is becoming more popular throughout the state, and St. Paul and Minneapolis are falling into line. No definite action has been taken as yet by the Duluth Trades assembly, but legislation with that end in view is among the early possibilities.

Apropos of the good work The Herald is doing with regard to the cleaning of Duluth, it may be stated that Denver has a street cleaning department managed by the city and the cost is $8.75 a mile. Chicago and Cleveland have the contract system and pay $22 a mile per day.

The Trades Assembly, at their meeting on Thursday night, endorsed the resolutions adopted by the Typographical union with regard to the action of J. J. Le Tourneau & Co. in reducing the hours of labor of their employes.

An amusing feature of the New York waiters' strike was the experience of Proprietor Walton, of the Grand hotel. His waiters struck and he telegraphed to Baltimore for forty-five colored waiters, who were sent forward. At Philadelphia they were met by President Hardie, of the local Colored Waiters' alliance. He invited the gang out to have a drink. They had one, and another, and another for luck, and another for the sake of friendship, and so on, and by the time they got through they were in no condition to notice that Hardie placed them on board a train bound for Baltimore instead of New York.

The bureau of labor statistics has sent out a large number of blanks to manufacturers and employers throughout the state. The blanks are for reports of accidents. Under the new factory law employers must report all accidents to the commissioner of labor within ten days of the time of the accident. A copy of the law is sent with each blank. A foot note states that the blanks are not required by law, but are furnished by the bureau of labor statistics to assist employers in complying with the law. The blank has a set of questions which, if answered, will give all the details of any accident.

Labor organizations on the continent of Europe are agitating for compulsory trades unions to be organized and managed by government officials, laws to be made to the effect that every workingman must belong to the organization of his trade, and those refusing to join may be fined and sent to prison by the police authorities. The Swiss Labor party has embodied this idea in its platform, and it is also receiving attention in France.

A Dwelling association has been formed by members of the Central Conference of Moral Workers in Philadelphia. The object is to provide sanitary apartment houses for workingmen. A capital of $100,000 is to be raised by the issue of shares. Each share is to be $50. Subscriptions to the amount of $40,000 have been received.

A member of the Electricians' union of Cincinnati brought a suit against his employer for discharging him on account of being a member of the union. The case was tried under the new anti-iron clad law and the employer was fined $100.

For distributing labor literature among the soldiers of his company Sergeant Lexut, of the Imperial Guards, in Berlin, has been sentenced to six years' imprisonment in a German fortess.

Boss bakers of New Haven, Conn., joined in a scheme to smash the union, but the journeymen "caught on," went on strike and won.

GHOSTS AT THE FAIR.

Shades of Departed Laborers Open the Chicago Show.

I, an old Chicagoan, walking the familiar streets but yesterday, gradually became aware of a strange, dazed feeling as though I or my surroundings had become lost. A curious foreign element seemed to be in the very air. I was not certain of my own identity. Here around the familiar drug store corner, where nothing more startling than a group of north side "chappies" in spotless, creaseless, very English suits is usually seen, was a group of picturesque Arabs, apparently direct from their native sands, tunics, turbans, browned skins and all. Yonder was a large display window extremely Japanese, and a little farther down a little procession of those teabox figures seemingly just endowed with animation. Across the street a bunch of highly colored Turks gazed with outward indifference but inward awe at our American skyscrapers. Two or three Eskimos sweltering under their blankets in our none too comfortable Chicago spring weather passed me loftily by, and Indians galore made me hasten to assure myself that peace had been declared some years ago between the original owners of the soil and the present settlers of this part of the country. Small throngs of bright yellow people in lovely turnup shoes and embroidered dolmans, evidently not our half Americanized washee-washees, pervaded the sidewalks. An occasional figure in a rich bed gown and honorary decorations suggested foreign officials not sufficiently civilized to refrain from wearing masquerade costumes on the streets. All this meant not that I had been miraculously transported to the mystical, fascinating old world, but that the old world was beginning to come to us. Our big city, with its front streets washed, best buildings cleaned up and the rubbish stuck away out of sight, is now "receiving."

And who are coming? What peoples of the old world's nations are coming to view our ambitious achievements?

In my "uncommercial travels" and my correspondence I have come in contact with many of the workers in this country. To the question, "Are you coming to the World's fair this summer?" I have received almost invariably a sigh and a shake of the head or a pathetic "I can't afford it." One woman, only a poor washwoman with a good natural intelligence, who had toiled hard nearly every day of her life, expressed an unusual desire to come. "Oh, the rest and education it would be to me! But it is impossible, I know, for I am too poor," she said, with tears in her eyes. I have looked intently into the faces of our foreign visitors, but could detect no sign of the plebeian toiler except among those groups brought over to represent a typical foreign village or workshop, and they are of the higher order of peasantry. Evidently the workers are not the class of people who will represent their respective nations.

I was weary and saddened and went home. I had scarcely seated myself for a quiet, comfortable evening, when a dark little figure at my elbow began talking as though he had been my companion for some time and knew all about my thoughts.

"Why, no—you are mistaken. We, the workers, are already visiting the fair. Come and see."

I did not care for a journey that late, but somehow I could not refuse. I hurried on my wraps and went out. The trip to the grounds was the ordinary, rather tiresome one, and in due time we reached the principal entrance. On entering I noticed that it was still daylight. An immense throng surged around and through the buildings and over the wide, level walks. Strains of sweet music floated out on the air and died away or were lost in others still more sweet. Soft green foliage, light color, glitter, beauty dazzled the eyes as yet unable to discriminate individual things. I could only see that the great structures were filled with the products of man's labor and skill. As we entered the vast hall in the Machinery building my guide said: "We are just in time for the opening ceremonies. They are about to start the machinery."

The broad platform held a crowd of people, but they had a queer appearance. There was no brilliancy, no display of rich apparel, no tokens of rank or distinction that I could discern. I expressed a wish to get nearer, and finally we worked our way to a good position very near the stand. Then I saw that the men and women occupying that prominent place were plainly dressed working people, with rugged, earnest faces bright in anticipation. Gradually, as I began to distinguish faces, I saw that they looked familiar. The face of the man who was about to take the chairman's place—where had I seen it? Memory began to weave faint pictures in and out until that of a man toiling hard with others removing rubbish from a burned building became most vivid. He staggered as he worked—had staggered so since morning, some one had said, and he had not been seen to eat any dinner. He fell while I looked, and when they picked him up he was dead. He had been working two days without food, while a homeless wife and child waited for him. Yet here he was, with a sturdy dignity, presiding at a most momentous meeting. I noticed among the more prominent several old toilers that I had known who had "died in the harness." I recognized in the beaming face of a woman near the front my washwoman friend, who had so longed to come to the fair, and many worn and faded women whose lives had been spent in ceaseless stitching looked happily down from their proud positions. A particularly honorable place was given to a body of men who my guide said were those whose lives had been sacrificed in the construction of the exposition buildings. I could not see how they could be so very much alive as they appeared, but put off asking the question.

The great wheels were ready; the wires were laid which united all the wonderful mechanism on the ground into one marvelous whole; everything awaited one touch of a human finger to leap into life, motion, light. Did the ruler of a great nation stand ready to give this one little impetus?

No, for near the significant button stood an old man of 80 who had toiled for 70 years, scarcely losing a working day. He had produced more in his life time than any one present, and his it was to set free the mighty energy reposing in belt, wheel and pulley.

An address was given by a tall, intelligent looking workingman. His words were eloquent and stirring, for he dealt with living questions, unhampered by the fear of uncovering conventional lies or the necessity of steering carefully between beautiful assertions and appalling truths. His last word was the signal for the machinery to be set in motion.

A chorus of triumphant music arose above the whir and hum of moving wheels. A procession of workingmen formed, marched round the hall and out at the great arched doorways. The tread was the powerful, steady tramp of men used to muscular action. Their faces, stern and earnest, were bright with the light of a new hope. They were wielders of iron, stone, copper, wood, coal; the wooers of earth who had brought from her generous surface and dangerous depths her choicest treasurers. They were learned in the mysteries of human creation and looked on the results of their craft with proud and appreciative eyes.

All who made up the crowd were workers—not an idler was among them. Designers, leaders, inventors, brain workers, all who had been useful to society, were present, clasping hands with their hardier brothers. But not a speculator or money king or ruler was to be seen. The people dispersed, wandered over all the roomy park and occupied themselves as they liked best. And the wonderful hours flew by, and for once thousands of workworn beings rested, gazed, wondered, were honored and happy.

It bothered me somewhat that it was daylight so long, when I had supposed night was coming, and once when I accidentally stumbled against a man I was startled to find that I fell through him without disconcerting him in the least. But I was determined not to allow little things like that to disturb my enjoyment, so I did not worry about it. My guide came to me presently and said:

"We must go soon; it is near closing time. But you can come again—as often as you like, in fact, for we will hold the genuine celebration as often as your pretentious people leave the place. There is more reality in the occurences you have just witnessed than you will see on your opening day. All the ceremonies, display and grandeur of your artificial people will be mere mockeries—empty and meaningless."

I journeyed homeward and stood in my doorway, looking out, as the sun rose.

All our knowledge comes from sensations—sensations either vivid or faint. It is said that our faint sensations are dreams or memories. This experience was to me a vivid sensation and must have been real. At least it was all as things should be.

The Tramp Earns His Living.

The tramp had asked the well to do citizen for alms and had not succeeded in securing it.

"Why don't you earn your living?" asked the well to do reprovingly.

"I do," said the tramp, with a touch of sadness in his voice.

"Don't tell me that. I know better," contended the citizen.

"Don't I earn it?" and the tramp's voice quivered. "Isn't it earning food when I walk all day from kitchen door to kitchen door in the wet and cold for a bit of dry bread and a piece of bad meat? Isn't it earning clothes when I take kicks and cusses from place to place, begging an old coat or a pair of castoff trousers? Isn't it earning a covering when I trudge along dirty alleys looking for a hat or an old pair of shoes? Isn't it earning shelter when I will break the law to get into a station house at night, where there is warmth and a dry plank to sleep on? Isn't it earning a living when a man lives because there is no other incentive to live than the fear of death? Isn't it"—

"Hold on, hold on," interrupted the well to do. "I never looked at it just that way before, and I don't quite think you are right, but here's a dollar. Now go and by yourself a farm," and the well to do shook the tramp and hurried along to his comfortable home, not convinced that the tramp reasoned correctly, but still not sorry that he had given him the dollar.—Detroit Free Press.

The Question Before Us.

The question before us is not, Shall the government now begin to interfere with the railroads? No railroad has ever been able to draw the breath of life in any other way than through government favor. No railroad has ever been able to get its right of way in any other way than by means of the right of eminent domain bestowed upon it by the government of the sovereign people.

Ever since railroads have existed there has been nothing but government interference with railroads and railroad interference with government. By nothing that we can now do can we increase either. Both are now at their maximum. With every public official in the land bribed with railroad favors to be the hireling of the railroad magnates the question is, How shall we put an end to railroad interference with the government? The question is, Shall the railroads rule the people, or shall the people rule the railroads?—Augustus Jacobson

WORSE THAN IRELAND.

The Cruelties of Landlordism In the Empire City of America.

Those soft hearted persons in the United States whose sympathies are touched and whose anger is aroused over the stories of cruel evictions which come to us from Ireland should spare a few of their tears for the similar sufferings in their own land. Not that landlordism in Ireland is less horrible than it is painted, but there is a beauty in the consistency of sweeping your own doorstep before finding fault with the rubbish of your neighbors.

On the 1st of May in every year an army of city marshals starts out in the city of New York to do the brutal work of the tenement district landlords, and helpless women and children are turned into the streets, their few small possessions dumped upon the sidewalks or into the gutters by the authorities of the great city and state of New York. Hard hearted, hard featured, diamond bedecked, blood sucking landlords have but to snap their fingers, and the minions of a mighty municipality ruthlessly tear to tatters with their bony claws the miserable semblances of homes, which are all in the world the poor, downtrodden, robbed wretches of the slums have between them and potter's field.

Great is the nineteenth century civilization. Wonderful and glorious is the chief city of the "greatest country on earth." It entertains with splendor and flapdoodle that rivals the gorgeousness of a queen's jubilee the naval engines of destruction belonging to the monarchs of Europe, and at the same time and on the same acre employs its machinery of law to drive little children out into the street to sicken, starve or steal.

Some of the scenes in the police courts as reported in the daily press will show that the picture is not here overdrawn. A kind hearted judge occasionally secures to the unfortunate a few hours for preparation to meet a cruel fate which is unavoidable, but in the end "the law must take its course."

Marshals Sullivan, Alt, Cohn, Myers and Hirschfield started out early in the morning with big batches of summonses, and at 2:30 o'clock there were several hundred persons gathered around the courtroom door waiting for it to open. Just before Judge Goldfogle entered five prosperous looking men filed into the courtroom and took seats in a little inclosure in front of the judge's desk. Each of these men had a big book, which he promptly opened and rested half on the railing in front of him and half on his knees as he looked around the court in a businesslike way. These men were the landlords, and they glowered upon the ragged crowd whose inability to pay rent had brought them into court. A list of the names of the unfortunates was handed to Judge Goldfogle, and he read them off rapidly. As each name was read off the man or woman to whom it belonged took his or her place in the line which the marshals had formed. Before half of the names had been read the line took up all the available space in the room, and the judge decided to dispose of this batch first and then go on with the rest.

A little old woman, who said that her name was Sarah Feingold, was the first called. "My husband is away," she said, "and I can't move or pay my rent until I hear from him."

"Where is he?" asked the judge.

"That's what I don't know," replied the woman tearfully; "he went away the other morning, and I haven't seen him since."

"Where's the landlord in this case?" asked Judge Goldfogle. One of the men in the inclosure responded. "Don't you think you can give this woman a few days?"

"She owes me for two months, and she's got to get out."

"But I only want until Wednesday to find some place to go to. Please let me stay until then."

"Well," said the landlord, a fat man, with big diamonds, "you can have 24 hours, and that's all."

That settled the case, and the woman walked out of the room crying as though her heart would break.

In answer to the name of Annie Crowley a pale faced, slim woman, carrying a baby in her arms and leading another by the hand, stepped to the bar. She began to cry as soon as the judge spoke to her.

"Well, my good woman," said Judge Goldfogle kindly, "why don't you move?"

"I am willing to go, but not tomorrow. Please don't put me out tomorrow. If you do, it will kill my babies."

"Are there any more?"

"There's eight altogether, and two of them are sick. I can move them all right on Wednesday night, but if I'm put out now I'll have to live on the street."

"I want those rooms tomorrow," said one of the landlords, rising. "I've let them, and the people who are going to occupy them are all ready to go in."

"Oh, she must go, must she?" said Judge Goldfogle. "Well, I'm the judge of this court and have got something to say about it. Madam," turning to the weeping woman, "you may remain in those rooms until Wednesday night."

"But I've let them, and"—began the landlord.

"That'll do," said the judge. "There's such a thing as common humanity, and I believe in showing a little now and then."

And "common humanity" allowed this woman, with eight children to care for and no means besides her poor, tired arms and workworn hands, 48 hours in which to find a miserable shelter or to plunge with her hungry brood into the East river. It was "a little" and quite "common."

In another court the first tenant was Mrs. Rosie Bersoff. She was wrapped in a large coarse shawl. The judge asked her why she wanted to stay in her rooms until Wednesday.

Mrs. Bersoff looked down, but didn't reply. Justice McKean repeated his question. Then Mrs. Bersoff leaned forward and whispered in an officer's ear. The man stepped up to the desk and said something to the justice in a low voice.

"When does she expect it?" asked McKean.

"Tonight," answered the officer.

"All right, Mrs. Bersoff," Justice McKean called out. "Go right home and stay there until you feel well enough to move. The marshal shan't touch you."

Is it well that the tender affection of the mother blinds that woman's eyes to the future which lies before her unborn babe? I confess that there is one of the mysteries which I cannot understand.

Then followed a lightninglike disposition of 96 cases. The courtroom was crowded. Poverty, suffering, sorrow or degradation was stamped on most of the faces. A deputy clerk took up the list of cases and bawled the names of the landlords and tenants. If a tenant didn't answer, the case went against him by default. If a landlord didn't answer, it made no difference. He was presumably right. In one case, that of William Moran of 505 West Twenty-ninth street, Mr. Moran was out at work, and his wife, who got the summons, was too sick to attend court. A young woman, who declined to give her name, represented the Morans. "Till Wednesday next to move," said the court when he heard the explanation.

I have given but a few sample averages cases. The aggregate in all the courts of the city reached into thousands. Do they prove that the conditions in Ireland which we deplore are duplicated here?

Shakespeare's Seven Ages of Man.

III.

"And then the lover, sighing like furnace, with a woful ballad made to his mistress' eyebrow."—"AS YOU LIKE IT."

"All mankind loves a lover." It was not Shakespeare that said this, but Emerson.

Every true lover loves the Encyclopedia Britannica. Why? There are many reasons. If he wishes to indite a woful ballad to his mistress' eyebrow, he first consults the Britannica on the art of Poetry. The Encyclopedia will tell him that every soul is a celestial Venus to every other soul, and that makes the lover feel good. If he derives any comfort from sighing like a furnace, he can learn from the great book all about furnaces.

When the time comes when the betrothal has arrived at that stage where it is proper to present his beloved WITH little tokens and souvenirs of his great affection, what better present can he give her than a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica. From its pages she who in love can bring forth such poetic gems as make her feel the blood of the violet, the lily and the clover in her veins. She can learn how to tell her love to the grass and the trees. She can whisper his name to the night wind as it kisses her cheek, and learn how to make her beauty but the flowering of virtue. She who in love can do this, because by means of the Britannica she can learn the secrets of Nature, with whom communing, she can relieve the sweet burden of her overflowing heart.

If the lover is of a jealous temperament, he can leave the idol of his heart with no more discreet companion than the Encyclopedia Britannica. It will not play him false, as did the messenger of Miles Standish, but will without wooing teach her how to love. And if the sighing Romeo can bring his mind to economic problems, 'tis sweet to know that this boon can be purchased for ten cents a day.

CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA

The Turkish Bath Will Not Cure it But it Will Allay the False Appetite.

Whilst Exposed to a High Heat, There is a Reduced Demand for Animal Heat.

The Races That are Exposed to Precariousness of Food Acquire Great Power of Digestion.

Lately I took up, in part, Mr. Urquhart's plea for less clothing. To that I shall again, in some future article, revert. But I promised to air another of his adducements for the use of the Turkish bath which is less need of food. Mr. Urquhart tells of his own form of dyspepsia treated by one meal a day. "My pain never appeared whilst there was food in the stomach, but after digestion had been finished, and continuing sometimes for ten hours. It was momentarily allayed by food but there was also loss of appetite and repugnance for food. This was not properly difficulty of digestion, for digestion was excellent. Whatever I could eat I could digest, without the slighest difference as regarded the pain. Sleep deserted me, strength was gone, all mental exercise, even for five minutes, or a passing painful thought would at once reproduce the pain and the prostration. I was treated for subacute inflammation of the stomach, ague, flying gout, etc., and by arsenic, belladonna, bismuth with hydrocyanic acid, colchicum, carbon, opium, quinine, strychnine, and in every case with aggravation of the symptoms. The bath did not relieve it, although it afforded me alleviation of pain for the moment and gave me the power of throwing off the large amount of alkalies, one and a half ounces in a night, which I took, and of subsisting on the very small amount of food I was able to take.

"I at last made up my mind that my malady could be nothing, save an undue discharge of gastic juice. I acted on this at first by crushed ice taken internally, as much as one and a half pounds in a quarter of an hour. The effect was instantaneous. On the first occasion I was for forty-eight hours without a trace of pain, but yielding to a medical friend, I diminished the ice and took some belladonna and opium. The pain returned. For two months I continued the ice, but not to such an extent. I abstained from everything hot and limited myself to two meals. There were intervals of days quite free from pain, but the least mental exertion or anxiety recalled it.

"I then put myself upon one meal a day, to the great alarm of my medical friends. But one of them said 'That is pathology and logic combined. It is a treatment that deserves to succeed. As the appetite grows you may have a struggle to maintain your resolve. Do not give in through a feeling of faintness. Yield only to positive hunger.' In about two months I had absolute freedom from pain, and after the long loathing of food an enormous appetite, and there had not been, as before, a total cessation of mental occupation. The way to run a human stomach is to eat little and often, when treating dyspepsia. Gout, herpes and dyspepsia had all disappeared together with the one meal a day.

"My greatest sufferings came from my attempts to allay pain by repeated draughts of milk, as the medical man's anxiety was that I should 'give the stomach something to do.' After the first twenty-four hours' abstinence I was able to eat more in one meal than I had formerly done in two.

"The malady is in the strength of the secretions, and the bath cannot reach it, as the bath does not tend to dilute secretions. But the bath will allay the craving or false appetite, and lessen the effort at abstinence.

"The workmen of Uruguay take only one meal a day, of beef and maize. The Copiapo miners, amongst the strongest of the world, who do very hard work, dine in the middle of the day on red beans, but they do take a light supper. In Buenos Ayres and Mexico the traveling servants take a cup of chocolate before starting, and one full meal at the end of the day's journey. A class of Brahmins, employed in the British soldiery, take but one meal a day. Veneration in any part of the East can be obtained by no one save on this condition." (Notice that in all these countries they have the hot air supply.)

"Food is the sustenance of the body. It necessarily consists of a great variety of substances which in different combinations are calculated to disease, and which must be removed from the body, or if not removed they will interrupt the harmony of the functions. Now, there is no power by which the proper direction of nutrition can be attained excepting through the skin, and that I believe to be the explanation of the extraordinary results which seem to flow from the use of the bath. The bath does no more than regulate the nutrition. Scrofula is imperfect nutrition; cancer is imperfect nutrition; indigestion, rheumatism, gout, neuralgia are imperfect nutrition. Give a power by which nutrition can be regulated and you can immediately control these various diseases. You can by perspiration make the body take up nutritive matter more actively than it does. By withdrawing from the body a certain quantity of moisture you make it more ready to imbibe into its tissues moisture which is taken into the stomach, and which moisture at the same time carries with it the nutritive matter you need to regulate the distribution and the supply of the nourishing matter given through the agency of the skin. It is not simply the action of the bath, the action of heat upon the skin itself directly, but it is the indirect action upon the source of nutrition, consequently upon the whole mass of the blood."

Dr. Erasmus Wilson answered: "A man's greatest enemy is his stomach. Now, as there is no possibility of preventing man from destroying his health and strength by food, the bath comes in as a remedy. It not only diminishes the appetite, but it takes away all that excess that has been taken into the man's stomach, and which by overloading his system, produces loss of rest, sleeplessness, incapacity. We shall never be able to invent any contrivance which will act as a check to the quantity that a man will put into his stomach."

Mr. Urquhart: "Appetite and digestion belong to the healthy state; and you cannot impose upon health. In indigestion or dyspepsia, the bath, by calling the blood to the surface, affords relief to the stomach. There must be inflammation where there is difficulty of digestion. We let the inflamed limb rest and get well but the inflamed stomach has to go daily on with its task. The process of digestion calls to the stomach, and all the organs immediately connected therewith, a mass of blood inconceivable to those who have not inspected with the eye the internal operations of the body.

"Besides relieving congestion by drawing the blood to the surface, oxygen being more available, the assimilation takes place more rapidly and more completely. Thus, less food sufficing, there will be less digesting to be got through. There is also less detritis from the body, and therefore less waste to be made good. Whilst exposed to a high heat, there is a reduced demand for animal heat, for the production of which so much of our food is required." Everywhere is the demand for heat, like a constant circulation. Heat of the sun to grow our foods, heat of the fires to cook them, and they then become our inward fires to burn us up or only furnish us the heat we need in ourselves.

"I am satisfied that the constant use of the bath diminishes by one-third the the amount of food required. My servants have given up one of their three meals a day. The temperature of the diseased stomach, a consideration of the highest importance has been ignored by medical men. The temperature within the body rises in the same degree as that of a thermometer cased in wet flannel. In fever the heat is seeking to ascend, to attain the purifying and perspiring power. Not so that of the stomach. By stimulants, by the superimposed heat of the surrounding viscera, and above all by the unnatural excitements of iterated meals—that dreadful maxim 'Little and often,'—you maintain a decomposing heat. Often a single shock of cold water on the external body will brace it for a day. Why not brace the afflicted stomach in like manner? Combine the two processes; call the blood to the surface by external heat; then supply external cold, but do not use the relief thus afforded to enable you to use medicine stimulants, or that iteration of meals which is the primary cause of all dyspepsia.

"It is not going in for an hour, once or twice a week, that will effect anything. It is a great effort that has to be made. When a man is ill, he must endure whatever has to be be borne to get well. He must be in two or three hours a day. This malady, in its progress, will involve all the other organs.

"Digestion is a frightful operation, repeal it not, then, oftener than required. When you take more food than is needed, look at the toil you impose on all the organs to get rid of it. It is not then the food that supports you, but you have to support the food. In England, the apothecary makes the physician and would not approve of any plan of abstinence." (When druggist and doctor have to abandon their rich fields of disease, pain, crime, misery, they can take to the richer fields of nature now opening up to all in beauty, delight and blessing. It need not cause fear of lack of support, the world is wide, God is good, and His resources for man's continuance have not begun to be explored.)

"In ancient times, among Greeks, Romans and Persians, the discipline for the young consisted in subjecting them to privations; they had to endure heat, hunger, cold and thirst. Now it is 'warm clothing, plenty of food,' and nothing is more dreaded than an 'empty stomach.' A feature of dyspepsia is the craving for something to put in the stomach—as it is in disorders from use of stimulants. The bath has the quality of allaying that craving, as it does even in extreme delirium tremens.

"A recent French writer has advised dipping the patient into icy cold water, saying they come out with an appetite to which they have been strangers before. Well, I give icy cold water as well as burning hot air. Without the heat the application of cold is a very fool-hardy experiment. It has been used in cases of suspended animation, but if cold only were used, it would ensure death. The concomitant effect—the sending of the blood backwards and forwards, from without to within—calls the whole frame into action. You have never seen men who are exposed to great stress on the system, suffering from dyspepsia. Races exposed to precariousness of food acquire great power of digestion. I mean races. A man brought up as usual, will, of course suffer from going without his luncheon. The Laplanders suffer from dyspepsia, but can you digest blubber and tallow; they are a race subjected to more than privation.

"My boy was brought up from infancy in another manner. He will be proof against dyspepsia at 100 years, but then he will presently be on one meal a day; he is now on two. I have reduced myself to one meal a day in order to be able to go through with my work, which has for years prevented my taking an hour's exercise or recreation; and so I have been able to work sixteen hours a day, and sometimes twenty; and also to pass from one extreme of inaction and fatigue to the other. Before that, I was tortured by heartburn: until I had observed the Mussulman fast of the Rhamazan. Returning to Europe and to two meals a day, all returned in an aggravated form. Cicero tells somewhat the same story of himself. Talleyrand also reduced himself to one meal. I hold that one meal in the twenty-four hours is the intention of nature, as made plain by the dimensions of the stomach, and (N. B.) the necessity of filling it to obtain perfect digestion. I am satisfied, on historical grounds, that a race exceeding two meals a day can no more be permanent than an empire that sends its phosphates down its rivers. The condition of permanency must be: First, the restoration to the soil of the elements of vegetation." (Here is pressure for The Herald's garbage, etc., for which be all success!). "Second, the preservation of the stomach for the digestion of its food. We have a specimen in the Chinese who have seen the Romans rise, change from one meal to two, and then to three, and fall; and so will they see the British of today, who originally had but two meals, and they did not dabble with eating or drinking in the intervals.

"The Red Indians are frequently exposed to privation for several days without food in their hunting excursions; so are the Hottentots, yet they never suffer from dyspepsia, although they gorge themselves frequently afterwards." (Mr. U's idea of filling the stomach to obtain perfect digestion.) "The power of the bath on this malady, however, by no means corresponds with its control over the disordered head, heart, liver or kidneys." E. R. MENDENHALL.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES

Janauschek's Return Engagement—Ohrstrom-Renard Concert Company at the Temple Thursday Evening.

Theater patronage is dropping off very materially and there seems to be a general desire for a summer vacation. The houses at the Temple this week have all been slim. John F. Sheridan was greeted with a small audience Monday night and Pete Baker met the same fate Thursday and Friday nights. Bobby Graham may fare better tonight, his show being more of a musical one. The Lyceum has been dark all week.

On Tuesday evening of next week the initial entertainment of the Bohemian club will be given at the Lyceum. The operetta "The King of the Cannibal Islands" and a farce "Ici on Parle Francais" will be presented. On the same night Janauschek will appear at the Temple in "The People's King or the Earl of Essex." The Ohrstrom-Renard Concert company will give a concert on Thursday evening at the Temple.

"LARRY THE LORD."

Bobby Graham at the Temple Tonight in His New Piece.

Tonight Robert E. Graham will be seen at the Temple in "Larry the Lord." Mr. Graham's versatility has long been recognized, and in his new play he adds to an already long list a new creation, that of a light-hearted, rollicking Irishman, vested with all the wit which made his nation a famous one, and devoid of all the buffoonery credited to him in most state characterizations.

The story briefly is that of an English lord who, becoming enamored of a beautiful American widow, and wishing to win her for himself and not his title, engages in her service as a footman, and leaves his valet, Larry, to take his position. The complications arise through the visit to the home of the widow of Larry, while assuming to be the real lord, and there finding his master in the garb of a servant. There is in this as in all of Graham's efforts a plentiful supply of bright, sparkling music and terpsichorean numbers.

THE BOHEMIANS.

Initial Performance at the Lyceum on Decoration Day.

The Bohemians will celebrate in true style on Decoration day evening at the Lyceum by giving their entire talent in both farce and opera. Duluth's local comedian, Quillard, will be seen in tights for the first time as the great and only man-eating King of the Cannibal Islands. Mr. Hannegan will for the first time play a fresh young maiden under the title of Miss Yearbe Forelast, who rushes madly in love with a shy missionary of the Jos. Davis style. Mr. Maynard will play the haughty millionaire daughter of the king. Mr. West will sing the "Bogie Man," while thirty of the little cannibals are sneaking round on the massive rocks looking for fresh meat to cook for breakfast. Several theatre parties are already made up for Tuesday night's Lyceum holiday entertainment.

JANAUSCHEK'S RETURN.

She Will Appear at the Temple Tuesday in a New Play.

The announcement of Janauschek's return engagement at the Temple Opera house on Decoration day, Tuesday next, will no doubt be welcome news to the theater patrons of this city. Nothing can be said in favor of this famous actress that has not already been said. No words of praise can be penned that have not in some instance been used. Her engagement here will be positively her last appearance in Duluth, and as she is very much a favorite, she will no doubt be greeted by a full house.

She will present a tragedy called "The People's King, or the Earl of Essex," in which play she assumes the title role of Queen Elizabeth. This character affords Janaushek ample scope to display her wonderful acting and it is said that this particular role is the best thing Janauschek has undertaken in a long while. Her denunciation of Robert, earl of Essex, in the second act is said to be a particularly strong piece of acting. As much can be mentioned of Edmund Collier in the same act when he delivers over to the queen his baton of titleship and then hurries to the battle grounds at the great London tower to fight for victory, but is overpowered by the high lords of England.

The play is of unusual merit and strength. Each character has been carefully cast and the performance it is said will be perfect. It may be of interest to state that this will positively be the last appearance here of this great tragedienne.

A RETURN CONCERT.

The Ohrstrom-Renard Lyric Artists' Farewell Concert Thursday Night.

The great success of the Ohrstrom-Renard company when it appeared here at its initial concert last November has led the management to arrange for another concert here next Thursday night at Temple Opera. It is hardly necessary to speak of this company's merit, as Augusta Ohrstom-Renard, Miss Johnston, Mr. Baefe and the other members are well known here. Augusta Ohrstrom-Renard has made Duluth her home for some time. Miss Johnston made her American debut here, and thus they may be counted as a Duluth organization. During the seven month's tour the company has made an almost remarkable reputation.

This concert will be their last appearance here before the company disbands. Miss Johnston will go to Chicago to fill an important engagement during the summer and Mme. Ohrstrom-Renard will take a rest in Duluth during the summer before going East, where both of these artists will devote themselves to solo engagements for next season. The program for the evening will perhaps be more pretentious than before including among the numbers an aria from the grand opera "Mountain King's Bride," sung for the first time here by Miss Ohrstrom.

Marie Wainwright.

The Lyceum will offer another rare treat early next month in the engagement of Miss Wainwright, for three nights and matinee beginning June 12. Her production of "Twelfth Night" is one of the most elaborate in America, and ranks equally with that of Augustine Daly's. Miss Wainwright has made a special feature of its stage settings to the smallest detail. Barton Hill, who plays Malvolio with her is one of the most capable actors of the old school and has won almost equal praise everywhere with the star. "School for Scandal," "As You Like It," and her new play, "The Social Swim," will also be given.

IN ITS SUMMER GARB.

The Trocadero at Chicago is Nightly Filled With Large Audiences.

CHICAGO, May 27.—The last beautifying touches have been given the Trocadero and now the big music hall is in its summer garb. A new stage and procenium front with allegorical panels and figures representing music and dancing adds new charm to the auditorium. The procenium arch has been made much higher, which materially improves the acoustics, and new scenery and a new drop curtain have been supplied. All in all the Trocadero is now in the finest form to enjoy the big success which has fallen to its lot.

The audiences night after night are large and fashionable and the enthusiasm over the entertainment, which has never been duplicated in America, is unbounded. Indeed, it is the new field as well as the high merit of the performance which attracts so largely. Heretofore theatricals have been one of two extremes—either entirely conventional and formal or of a character which precluded the possibility of their acceptance by the better class of amusement goers. A combination of all the good elements of entertainment and a certain latitude in the audience, looking to the comfort of the public, has been made by the Trocadero management and so skillfully has this been planned and executed that the fashionable folk as well as the general public have found the Trocadero a delightful place and have indorsed it by their presence.

The management is adding to the programs attractions constantly. The great Von Bulow band is nightly encored over and over again; the Voros Miska Hungarian orchestra has steadily advanced in favor and enjoys the warm esteem of the best lovers of music; the Iwanoff Russian troupe have, by their dances and songs, taken the town by storm, and are justly regarded as the strongest card ever brought across the water; Cyrene, the wonderful eccentric dancer continues, her hit and will be seen only a few weeks more. The solo singers are about to be reinforced by the appearance of Miss Effie Stewart, who has come from London especially for this engagement. The vocal corps at present comprises Emma Romeldi, Marina Posta, Dora Lylos and Mons. Ornie Darvall. In the way of lighter novelties there are changes each week, the specialties being selected with the utmost care.

PRACTICALLY AT AN END.

The Season in New York Has Virtually Closed.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The New York theatrical season of 1892-3 is ended. Most of the houses which are still open are playing "summer attractions," and within a very short time several of these will close for a couple of months.

LOUISE NATALI.

Rice's burlesque extravaganza, "1492," at Palmer's seems to have met with a good deal of favor among that very large class of theater goers to whom laughter provoking speeches and incidents are synonymous with success. In consequence the hero of "Evangeline" and "The Corsair" is once more in clover.

At the Grand Opera House Hinrich's company has been presenting grand opera with great success at popular prices. This would seem to indicate that Oscar Hammerstein's idea that New Yorkers will support this form of entertainment liberally if they are not required to pay too much for it is the correct one after all. The prima donna of Hinrich's company, Louise Natali, has made the greatest sort of a hit and has demonstrated that she can both sing and act.

Fame of a certain kind and money come to different persons in different ways. Take the case of young James W. Harkins, Jr. who has written some very bad but very successful melodramas.

He first came into prominence through his play, "The Midnight Alarm," which was a great money winner during the season of 1890-1. He followed this with "The Fire Patrol," first produced in New York in August, 1891. In August, 1892, appeared his latest and most pretentious play, "The White Squadron," a drama notable for its elaborateness of mounting and aggressive patriotism.

Mr. Harkins excels in startling stage pictures and situations. He has three new plays in process of "construction." In one of these, "The City Beneath the Sea," the scene of action is laid in India. Over 500 people will be employed in the production.

How many actors, especially of the lighter order, are returning to the vehicles which made them famous! Henry E. Dixey swirled about from "Adonis" to "Seven Ages," then to "The Solicitor," "The Man With a Hundred Heads," "Patience," "Mascot," etc. But the public remembered him and wanted him only as "Adonis." He stood out against the demand for a long time, but finally gave in, though with many misgivings.

The result showed that the public and not Dixey knew in what field he would shine most profitably. He has been playing to as large business almost as during the original long run of "Adonis" in this city. Now Dixey doesn't have to chase managers and backers. They chase him.

Francis Wilson is another illustration of the truth of what I have just written. He has done pretty well as a star, but he thinks—and the result will, I am convinced, prove the correctness of his theory—that most theater goers would rather see him as Caddy in "Erminie" than in any other character, and, as is generally known, he is going back to it next season.

The explanation of all this is quite simple, although I have heard many supposed wiseacres assert their inability to grasp the true inwardness of what they are pleased to consider anomaly. When an actor makes a great hit in a part, it is usually because his work is particularly meritorious. This may be due to the fact that he and the role are peculiarly adapted to one another. It is therefore not surprising that he should never again be seen to such exceptional advantage. Even though the star eventually succeed in securing as appropriate a vehicle as the one which bore him to fame and fortune, it is a tedious process to convince his admirers that "Richard is himself again," for having seen intermediate productions which were comparative failures or at best but qualified successes they are naturally distrustful of everything new which he may bring forward.

I firmly believe that it was the fear of getting to be regarded as a one part comedian that induced De Wolf Hopper to shelve "Wang," for some day it must wear out, and then the public might have refused to accept him in anything else. By disposing of "Wang" before he had become hopelessly identified with it Mr. Hopper has avoided this possible contingency.

four years captained the Cincinnati Reds. In 1889 he took charge of the Brooklyn association team. Burrill, late of the New York club, catches for Fall River.

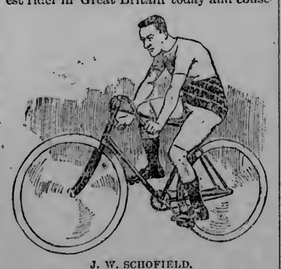

Captain James A. Cudworth of Lowell is also a player of experience. He has done good service with the Worcester, New Haven, Providence and Troy clubs. Last year he fractured his leg and was in retirement for 10 weeks. Henry Earnes is Lowell's star pitcher.

Captain Rogers of the Portland (Me.) club is an all round athlete of decided ability. He plays first base and was the best batsman of the league last season. He has played at Lynn and Portland and is as graceful on the diamond as he is talented. Mains, the ex-Cincinnati twirler, is one of Portland's pitchers.

The Dover (N. H.) club is captained by H. E. Slater, who is an excellent disciplinarian, a hard worker and a first class player. The Brockton (Mass.) club has Alfred G. Doe for captain, and among the best players in the Lewiston (Me.) team are "Smiling Mickey" Welch, for years one of New York's pitchers, and Captain, Manager and Center Fielder James A. Leighton.

Zimmerman and Schofield.

F. J. Osmond, the famous English wheelman now in this country, declares that J. W. Schofield of Birmingham is the swiftest rider in Great Britain today and consequently the most formidable competitor A. A. Zimmerman and W. C. Sanger, the American riders who have gone abroad, will meet in the British races.

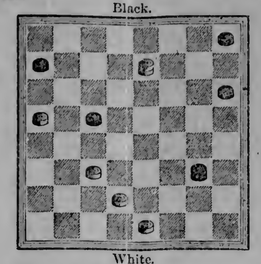

J. W. SCHOFIELD.

It is said that Schofield can do a half mile in 1 minute 8 seconds without exerting himself to his full capacity and that his mark for a mile is very close to the world's record of 2 minutes 5½ seconds, held by W. W. Windle. An experienced English trainer is confident that there is no athlete astride a bicycle today who can meet Schofield at scratch and defeat him. This may be a rosente view of the situation inspired by national pride, but enough has been heard of Schofield on this side of the Atlantic to warrant the prediction that when he meets either Zimmerman or Sanger, the swift young Milwaukee rider, the contest will be a most interesting and exciting one to wheelmen on both sides of the Atlantic.

Check the First Approach

Of rheumatism, and further attacks may be escaped, if proper precautions against exposure are taken, and there be no hereditary predisposition. Unfortunately, people who ultimately become chronic sufferers, too often neglect the trifling twinges and premonitory stiffness which herald the advent of this agonizing malady. Among the diseases for which Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been found efficacious this is one, and the medicine being perfectly safe, it is certainly to be preferred to drugs used for its cure, which are frequently useless, and nothing more nor less than poisonous. The substution of this pleasant and pure blood depurent for medicines inimical to life in a slight overdose, is a measure which may fitly be urged upon the persons who desire to obtain relief safely, or who have failed to obtain it from the numerous pseudo remedies for this disease in the market.

A GRATEFUL PATIENT

Tells What Skillful Treatment Has Done for a Discharge From the Ear That Existed Many Years.

Another link in the great chain of evidence given week after week in support of the Copeland system of treatment is added in the case related below. It should impress upon those similarly affected to avail themselves of the opportunity to gain relief in aggravated troubles of long standing.

The case is that of Miss Eliza A. Hill, who lives at 805 East Second street. She is a professional nurse and knows whereof she speaks. To the writer she told the following story:

"When I was a child 14 months old I had an attack of measles; it affected the ears, and ever since that time I have had a discharge from one of my ears.

"It was very profuse, especially when I took cold, and had a nasty, sickening odor, and as a result my whole system seemed to be weakened. My mind was affected so that I could only with difficulty remember events and correctly connect sentences. My hearing was sadly impaired. I tried many different methods of treatment without success and took enough medicine to stock a store.

"I had about despaired of ever being cured, but heard the Copeland Medical Institute spoken of very highly by so many people that I decided to try that system of treatment as a last resort. After one month's treatment with the specialist connected with the institute there is not a sign of a discharge from my ear. My hearing has improved wonderfully, my mind is clear, general health good and I am relieved of a trouble that had existed for years. I can recommend the system of treatment to any who suffer similarly."

CATARRH OF THE HEAD.

Ladies who are catarrhal sufferers will read with interest the story of Mrs. White, who lives at No. 716 Lake avenue south. The effect of catarrh, when it has invaded the system, the misery and distress it causes, and the relief obtained by proper treatment are all aptly illustrated in the given case. To the writer Mrs. White had the following to say: "Before I began the treatment I hardly knew a well day. I always felt weak and depressed, and tired easily. My appetite was poor and what food I did eat would set heavily on my stomach and cause a bloating and belching of gas and sour matter. I was troubled more in the morning than at noon or night. My nose was stopped up, causing severe headaches and pain across the eyes, which were often weak and watery; noises were incessant in my ears. My throat was sore, tongue coated, mouth full of slimy matter in morning and breath had a bad, foul odor. A small tumor was removed from my nose without causing me the slightest pain or distress and now my nose is free so I can breathe through it as I ought. Headaches are no more, no noises in the ear, eyes are not weak and watery, and my throat is free from soreness. My appetite is good and I am getting stronger every day. The physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute have certainly done me a great service, for which I am truly thankful and gladly recommend their system of treatment to any who suffer with a disease of which they make a specialty."

What They Do.

Let it be clearly and distinctly understood that Dr. Copeland and his associates
Not only treat and cure catarrh,
But they treat and cure asthma,
And they treat and cure rheumatism,
And they treat and cure bronchitis,
And they treat and cure lung troubles,
And they treat and cure catarrhal deafness,
And they treat and cure skin diseases,
Charges are so low as to be within the reach of all. Medicines furnished free.

TYPES OF HUMANITY

Some Characteristics of People Who Succeed in Making Their Fellow Men Very Tired.

The Individual Who in Public Punctuates His Conversation With His Elbows and Hands.

Then There is That Omnipresent Person Who Tries to Drown the Music With His Voice.

Along with smallpox, cholera, fleas, professional legislative reformers, due notes and the man who calls you on the telephone from engrossing tasks and blandly asks you if you are the central office, the man who, in places where human beings are gathered together, punctuates his remarks with his elbows and puts in his hyphens and dashes with his hands, must be reckoned. He cannot be escaped. He is omnipresent. At the gathering that will be called together when the last trumpet shall have been blown, he will be seen on a front seat interrupting the view of the stage. It is by reason of no sense of chivalry that this offending animal has been named as of the masculine gender. Woman, bless her, is afraid of creating confusion among the furbelows and puffs that adorn her shoulders, for the gesticulator must needs go through with contortions and put forth physical efforts compared to which the hardest manual labor is a calisthenic exercise for convalescents."

The man referred to is one whose presence in any place of assemblage aside from a jail is to be deplored. He is a perfected, duplex acting annoyance to those who are behind him and a constant menace to those in front of him, to the plastering and to any articles of virtu that may be disposed within a mile of him. To the sensitive his presence is maddening. Note how his arms commence to revolve like the ponderous wheels of a locomotive and then move out in widening circles as his hands chase each other through the atmosphere. It is not so much what he has done that annoys. It is the awful question, what will he do next? that causes the brain to reel and the heart to sink. Will he shoot that ponderous missile with an initial velocity of 2,760,000 feet to the second the east, west or north, or will he menace the very planets revolving in their courses. There goes a hand, rising like a balloon, aspiring, soaring. Will it never stop till it has bored a hole through the ceiling, up through space and several feet into the canopy of heaven. It stops, wavers, and you watch it with a prayer on the lips for the helpless beings under the threatening weight. Oh, great relief; the man at the ground connection manipulating the soaring monster is about to turn upon himself the force he has invoked. May his aim be good and the blow a fatal one. Down with a resounding crash upon the knee comes the wanderer in space, while the lights reel and the music is eclipsed, and the owner looks in a surprised way at his returned member as if he had not expected it back for a week at least, stopping his conversation, hitherto carried on to the exclusion of the performance, to look at the palm of his hand in an interested way as if imagining he had caught something and intended to hold a post mortem.

Let us turn from the pantomimic representation of the chase of the flea to that other interesting individual who reserves what he conceives to be ideas to pour them forth at the moment when the orchestra is trying to make itself heard. That this young man is alive, he owes to the fact that his lines have been cast in a cultured community. Should he ever attend a war opera of the Navajoes or a ghost dance of the Sioux his ill-bred interruption would result in his scalp being piled in the tan yard of the medicine man. At a moment when the eloquence of Demosthenes would be inopportune he projects his presence across a vista of Wagner or Chopin, even the crashing periods of the former not having volume enough to down him. His unwilling hearer is forced to listen with a smile on the face and murder in the heart to the ill timed talk of one who should be transported to some lonely isle of the sea where the world would be safe from him. Such a young man has the capacity of great things within him. Could he turn his perseverance and ability to make himself disagreeable to account as a collector of bad debts he would make a howling success. This type of young man cannot be imitated by any Christian in cold blood and off-hand, as it were. He is the rich fruit of heredity. It must be, for this is genius. His forefathers have worked up to this by degrees; as freebooters, highwaymen and murderers, the family has climbed the ladder step by step until their progeny bursts forth upon the world a quintessence of all that is fiendish, the king-bee bore of this nineteenth century. For is he not at once a highwayman and murderer who robs you of your purchased pleasure and murders music?

And then there is the young man who was born to be a loafer. This is his mission in life. He bears upon him the seal of his calling and though he be robed in the ermine of a king or the gown of a judge it will proclaim itself. This individual delights to take his "best girl" out on Sunday and, before the eyes of men, blow tobacco smoke in her face, with, seemingly, no other purpose than to show the world how little respect he has for her. He usually wears his hat tilted over his eye in a stunning way and entertains her by playfully expectorating in front of her, aiming at her feet or the point of her parasol. As we do not find loafers named among the plagues of Egypt it must be that nothing so "plaguey" had been discovered at that time. If there had, Egypt would probably have been for rent; by the owners; terms reasonable; reason, a trip to Gehenna for pleasure and rest.

As a first-class pest, the man who invented and those who perpetuate the modern patent spring trap proprietary medicine advertisement is far in the van of those, the peculiarities of which have been touched upon, for they number their victims but by the score, while the last mentioned infliction causes millions to rise up daily and call him cursed. He carries bickering and strife as a consequence of the wearing effect on the nerves his pranks produce in thousands of households. He spoils thousands of breakfasts every morning, carrying gloom to the fireside and throwing additional obstacles in the way of leading a Christian life. He leads the unwary among the stars, pointing out the glories of the firmament only to leave his readers stranded on a Cooldock's porous plaster, all druggists; he catches his foreign missions, general reformer friends by leading them among the wild tribes of the earth and discoursing to them of the benefits accruing in the way of refining and civilizing the Patagonians by supplying them with paper collars all for the express purpose of leading up to an exposition of the desirable effects to be reaped from certain two minute cough drops, or the benefits of little pills as inculcators of habits of activity and dispellers of savage sloth. He inveigles the scientifically inclined into following him into the wilds of Africa and along the paths hewn by explorers in that dark country only to run them into consumption and an early grave unless recourse be had to Cumso's great cure, and lures the stage struck into a tale of the struggles and triumphs of histrionic stars with a view of turning the conversation to disease of the liver. May this fiend go to his own place and there receive the undivided attention of the whole entertainment force.

IN JUNE LIPPINCOTT

The Story of an Englishman of Family and Wealth Who Married an Indian Girl.

Charles Howard Shinn Describes in the Popular Science Monthly Irrigation in the Arid States.

"The Heavenly Twins" is the Singular Title of the Latest Literary Sensation in England.

The complete novel in the June number of Lippincott's is "The Translation of a Savage," by Gilbert Parker, author of "The Chief Factor," "Pierre and his People," "Mrs. Falchion," etc. It has an unusual subject, and tells how an Englishman of family and wealth married an Indian girl of Hudson's Bay and took her home, with results naturally mixed, but better than might have been expected. The fourth in the series of Lippincott's notable stories—"The Philosophers," by Geraldine Bonner—deals with an extraordinary wedding, in which the men concerned were philosophers indeed. It is illustrated. "Ambition," a play in one act, by Johanna Staats, has a double love-story.

The athletic series is continued in an illustrated article on "Amateur Rowing," by John F. Huneker. In the journalistic series, Theodore Stanton descants on "The Foreign Correspondent." John Burroughs gives "A Glance into Walt Whitman," and Frank A. Burr tells "How Men Write," with portraits of Capt. King, J. G. Blaine, Julian Hawthorne, Eugene Field, Joel Chandler Harris, J. W. Riley, Bill Nye, and Walt Whitman.

W. S. Walsh supplies anecdotes illustrating the methods, now more honored in the breach than in the observance, of "The Practical Jester." Alfred Stoddart, in "An Actor's Art," contributes a brief study of Edward S. Willard. "A Colonial Vista," by F. H. W., is a notice of Miss Wharton's "Through Colonial Doorways," "When Doctors Differ," by F. M. B., is a comment on a recent deliverance of Mr. F. Marion Crawford. M. Crofton, in "Men of the Day," offers pen pictures of Ambassador Bayard, Millionaire Mackay, Composer Verdi, and Editor Burnand.

The poetry of the number is unusually full, containing lyrics by Graham R. Tomson, the late Philip Bourke Marston, Lorimer Stoddard, Bliss Carman, and Harrison S. Morris, besides quatrains by Frank Dempster Sherman, Clinton Scollard and Joel Benton.

A subject of great and growing importance, that of "Irrigation in the Arid States," has the first place in The Popular Science Monthly for June. The article is by Charles Howard Shinn, who describes practical methods and their results, illustrating both with handsome cuts. Herbert Spencer concludes in this number his essay on "The Inadequacy of Natural Selection," which has attracted much attention from thoughtful evolutionists. "The Ceremonial Use of Tobacco," comprising the use of tobacco as incense and sacrifice and in the operations of seers and medicine-men, is described by John Hawkins. "An Ethnologic Study of the Yuruks," a wandering people of Turkey, is contributed by Alcide T. M. d'Andria. The features, dress and dwellings of this people are shown in illustrations. Under the title "Modern Miracles," Prof. E. P. Evans describes some of the astonishing feats of Arabian and Hindu fakirs.

An article describing "The Phenomena of Death in Battle" is contributed by George L. Kilmer. In "The Revival of Witchcraft" some of the later developments of hypnotism are shown to be based on fraud and delusion. The article is by Dr. Ernest Hart, who has examined most of the famous hypnotic subjects in Paris. Certain "Adaptations of Seeds and Fruits," which serve to utilize favorable and resist unfavorable influences, are described by J. W. Folsom. In "Why Grow Old?" some hints toward preserving early vigor are given. James Macdonald's interesting account of "East Central African Customs" is concluded in this number. Frank H. Eaton describes "The Bay of Fundy Tides and Marshes." "Sir Archibald Geikie" is the subject of the usual sketch and portrait. New York: D. Appleton & Co. Fifty cents a number, $5 a year.

The latest literary sensation in England is a novel with the singular title of "The Heavenly Twins," in three volumes, by Miss Sarah Grand, author of "Ideala," etc., etc. Part I of this interesting novel issued some time since by the Cassell Publishing company, New York, is now out of print. Part II is now in press and will be ready in a few days. The Cassell company, in anticipation of the large demand that will be made for this work during the summer months, have decided to issue it complete in one volume of about 700 pages, in their popular $1 series, in extra cloth binding.

"The Heavenly Twins" is peculiar and comes under the head of the "purpose novel," but it is very far from being a sermon.

"They call us the Heavenly Twins."
"What, signs of the Zodiac?" said the Tenor.
"No; signs of the times," said the boy.

The work of Western authors forms today the most distinctive and original feature in American literature. The June number of that admirable magazine, The New Peterson, will be made up of contributions by some of the best known writers from Chicago to the Pacific Coast, together with specimens of the work of the most promising among the new poets, romancers and essayists. Joseph Kirkland, Joaquin Miller, Gertrude Atherton, Mary Abbott, Opie Read, Stanley Waterloo, Ernest McGaffey, Le Roy Armstrong, Minna V. Gaden, Carrie B. Morgan, Patience Stapleton and other popular authors will be represented. "Pacific Coast Writers," with their portraits, by Ella Higginson, will make one of the attractions. Another illustrated article which cannot fail to attract great attention is "The Forest's Last Stronghold," by Hon. F. I. Vassault, a vivid account of the lumbering camps of Oregon. "The Garden Spot of Washington," by Herbert Bashford, and "Ted Blank," by Effie W. Merriam, both sketches beautifully illustrated, will count among the gems of the number. "Cloud-land," by John Vance Cheney, is beyond question one of the finest of his poems. "A Shelf Full of Western Books" will be Octave Thanet's welcome contribution. We are permitted to give an advance glimpse of the "feast of good things" prepared, and we heartily recommend to our readers this enterprising periodical, which has so quickly established its claim to take a front rank among American magazines.

Bret Harte contributes the opening story for the Idler for June, entitled "An Ingenue of the Sierras," illustrated by nine pictures by A. S. Boyd. This is one of Bret Harte's characteristic stories of Western life, and describes how the leader of a "gang of road agents" outwitted Yuba Bill, a veteran stage driver. "The Modern Babylon," by Cynicus, illustrates, by pictures, the land and labor questions of the day.

Robert Buchanan relates how he came to write his first books, which were published thirty years ago when he was still a boy. Incidentally, he tells of his first meeting with David Gray, John Morley, Charles Dickens, Dinah Muloch, "George Eliot," Herbert Spencer and others. The illustrations are by George Hutchinson.

"Balder's Ball," by P. Von Schonthan, is most amusing, and is admirably illustrated by J. Gulich. "The Lord Lieutenant at Dublin Castle" is one of the "Lions in Their Dens" in Raymond Blathwayt's series of entertaining articles, and is profusely illustrated from nineteen photographs of members of Lord Houghton's family and the exterior and interior of the castle. "The Fear of It," is the title of the contribution by Robert Barr (Luke Sharp), and concerns a strange and as yet unknown people.

Sophie Wassilief, commences her "Memoirs of a Female Nihilist," which will prove most interesting reading, showing how autocratic and terrible are the Russian officials in their warfare upon all who disagree with the czar. Mona Caird, who has always taken a strong interest in the political movements of Russia, writes an introduction to the Memoirs of Mademoiselle Sophie, who has endured perils, insults, physical privations and torments, coupled with intense and ceaseless anxiety for years. The first article describes her arrest and is finely illustrated with nine pictures by J. St. M. Fitzgerald.

Scott Rankin in his series of "People I Have never Met," contributes a picture presenting his ideal of Brete Harte. Archibald Forbes writes of "My Servant John," in his characteristic and entertaining style. The subject discussed by "The Idler's Club" is "The Artistic Temperament," the question whether it is a blessing or a curse, being ably handled by Dr. Parker, Mrs. Lynn Linton, Rutland Barrington, Miss Helen Mathers, Arthur C. Calmour, Mrs. Panton, Joseph Hatton, Florence Marryat, I. Zangwill and others.

The Idler is published by S. S. McClure, Limited, 743-745 Broadway, New York city, and the price is 25 cents a number, or $3 a year. The publishers are offering for a limited period to send the first two volumes as a premium to all who subscribe for one year from March 1893, the first number of the third volume.

The promptness and certainty of its cures have made Chamberlain's Cough remedy famous. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping coughs, and is the most effectual remedy known for these diseases. Mr. C. B. Main, of Union City, Pa., says: "I have a great sale on Chamberlain's Cough remedy. I warrant every bottle and have never heard of one failing to give entire satisfaction." 50 cent bottles for sale by all druggists.

MUSINGS IN MONTANA

Bill Nye Discusses the Rugged State Where Wealth and Poverty Grow Side by Side.

He Surprises Mr. Burbank With Hot Waffles —An Incident Illustrating the Educational System.

A Buggy Ride With Mr. Tighe Toward the Lower Works of the Smelting Industry.

This brings us to Montana, having passed Spokane, the great city of eastern Washington, a city with a water power which would jerk a million spindles if it had the factory built, for the sheep grow rank here with an undergrowth of lambs that enjoy life to its fullest extent. A lamb born in one of these vast green valleys, with the world before him and with no remorse or real estate on his hands, has a gesture of the tail as he jumps stiff legged in the bunch grass that would indicate a pure, sweet joy—one that the world can neither give nor take away.

IT WAS A PLEASURE TO SEE HIM EAT THEM.

When I passed through Spokane three years ago, the city was doing business in tents. Business is still intense, but not so much so.

"Three years ago," said a Spokane merchant, "I did business in a tent and sold more goods than I do now in a handsome brick and stone building."

Spokane (pronounced spokum) is the great railroad center of that part of the country. A map made recently shows the city to be the center of half a dozen short roads besides the transcontinental lines.

She is a pretty city surrounded by an enormous scope of lands which are now offered for sale. She has a minimum of 32,000 horsepower. It is estimated to cost less at $10 per horsepower delivered free on board the cars than coal at $3 per ton.

It grinds wheat at a quarter of a cent per barrel, produces electric light at one-tenth of a cent per hour for each 16-candle light and supplies 35 miles of car line with power at $2 per car per day.

Her death rate is 11 3-10 per 1,000, the 3-10 being a Chinaman who was killed by request. When we compare this with the death rate of New York, which is 24.58, we ask ourselves, Why will people remain in New York so much as they do? The reply to over 300 postal cards sent out by me in New York among people who move in the best society and out again is that they prefer to do so.

This brings us to the solution of the problem—viz, that more people at the present time prefer to live in New York with a death rate of 24.58 per 1,000 than in Spokane at 11 per 1,000.

Spokane has three transcontinental roads—viz, the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Union Pacific. The general public does not generally know this, but I was there recently and saw them. Spokane shows the greatest growth of any city in the United States from 1880 to 1890, according to the census report.

This is a good feature, yet all cities and countries have their great features. A man in Wyoming raised 800 bushels of potatoes to the acre, and another here in Montana raised 1,200. They were to have gone to the World's fair, but Major Handy reported the potato exhibit as now complete and asked for more art. Side pork and potatoes, he said, were being fully represented, while sculpture and tapestry were shy.

Each of us is proud of our own country. Even my own state, North Carolina, has its specialty.

Our good health and miraculous mountain dew are what we boast of. Thousands of people are constantly risking their lives by not living in North Carolina.

Montana is a great state, noted for its wealth and poverty. As it grows, however, it is harder to buy. Even the legislature has advanced its rates, and a United States senator probably comes higher than most any other furniture found in Washington.

Great Falls looks like a very prosperous town with wonderful resources. If you desire to buy a lot for future use in a growing town, Great Falls offers a good location.

The chinook wind is found in great abundance in Montana. It comes from the warm and spicy Japanese current and loves to woo a band of cattle up a canyon and freeze them to death. We met one of these simooms at Billings. It came with a wild whoop from the Indian ocean and swept away the man who had given his flannels to the poor.

We exhibited in a pleasant church and dressed in the little room where the oyster is prepared for the festival. The air was intensely cold. The range was there. We heard that a good many cattle had died on the range, and so we were afraid of it. It has been a hard winter on trail cattle and the editor of a local paper in Anaconda. He writes that with him times were never so scarce nor money matters so blue as at present. The exchange of groceries for good feel ing and little suits of clothing for little words of kindness is less active than at any time since he entered the journalistic field. The grass grows very short in the journalistic field this season, and running a dynamite paper with silver as low as it is often tempts him to return to his old job as overseer of Snowshed No. 9.

And yet he says: "Heaven has blessed me with this wonderful gift of writing for the papers. Why should I conceal it? Some of my best things are written," he says, "after I have gone home. They are done in the quiet hours of the night —by the foreman of our paper."

The editor is a kindly man and speaks well of those who come to Anaconda if they subscribe for the paper, but often he changes his estimate of them if they do not and says they are no good. This keeps him busy and worn down mentally, for a great many do not subscribe. The children of his brain die young and have to be buried at once. The devil always airs the room or burns a rag after the editor has been using it for thinking purposes.

Many people go to Anaconda thinking that the great mine is there, but it is not. It is elsewhere. The smelter is at Anaconda and is so perfected that very few men are needed to run it.

Anaconda was a speculation. The owners of the big mine at Butte suddenly thought one day that they could make a town by putting up a smelter on a ranch which cost them $1,500. Then each one of them located 160 acres besides. This laid out in lots brought over $1,000,000, making a profit of 700 per cent, I am told. By removing this smelter to another ranch elsewhere I think another million might be realized. The way people follow a smelter around is very singular to me. I know a man quite well also who has made a comfortable fortune by owning a portable woolen factory, with which he has been enabled to establish over 18 towns, which are now occupied as happy homes by the antimere and the prairie dog.

Returning to the oyster and dressing room at Billings, we got some kerosene and pieces of board and built a fire in the range, warmed our feet in the oven and made hot coffee, which we drank between acts. Once I surprised Mr. Burbank with hot waffles and genuine maple sirup on his return from the pulpit. It was a pleasure to see him eat them. But the odor of cooking got out into the audience, and we had to quit. It was homelike while it lasted, for while the blast howled outside, to rub the waffle iron with a pork rind and hear it sizzle, and then to slap a big iron spoonful of the batter I had made myself into the red hot waffle iron, was joy—joy that reimbursed us for the naughty treatment of the cork headed man who ran the opera house at Bozeman and who had been excused from his job on the railroad, also from other places, promising never to do so again.

Bozeman is a thriving town of from 3,000 to 8,000, according to whom you ask. It is in the center of an agricultural district where as high as 154½ bushels of wheat grow per acre. Think of that, ye farmers who toil and coax the land to produce 12. This wheat is also much heavier than eastern wheat. So also is the bread made from it in some cases.

At Anaconda the day we were there a schoolboy 12 years old was reprimanded by the teacher, a man from Ohio. The boy did not reply till the teacher advanced toward him in a half threatening manner, when the boy advanced also, drew a large navy revolver and exclaimed calmly, aiming the weapon at the teacher's head:

"Man, you know not what you do. Think seriously of this or you will rue it. Advance one step farther, and you are a dead man."

The teacher thought it over a moment, and then stepping out of the window without opening it he went down town and got an officer. Both desks and pupils are now examined every morning before prayers, and while opening the day's exercises with prayer the teacher only closes one eye.

'Tis education steers the tutor's mind,
Just as the gun is bent the tute's inclined.

We were greatly shocked to hear of this incident, for it occurred just at the time when we are generally visiting the public schools, and we might easily have been shot by accident, for we are not in favor of compulsory education and would not have taken sides in the matter.

As it happened, I was taking a buggy ride with Mr. Tighe toward the lower works of the smelting industry. I had never visited a smelter, especially after driving through a snowstorm. A brief description of the works may save hundreds of people from having to visit them, for I will make it so graphic that you will always remember it and can make anybody believe that you have been through all the degrees.

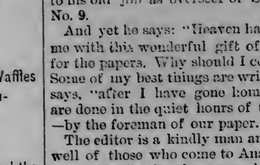

TAKING A BUGGY RIDE WITH MR. TIGHE.

We rode on pleasantly through the driving snow, and when I got to the door I had a lapful of the coldest, whitest snow one could well imagine. It drifted in behind my spectacles also and banked one ear full. As we came back I filled the other.

Smelting is the art of extracting all kinds of metals by means of crushing and broiling the ores. This ore contains copper and $6 worth of silver per ton. As silver is so low, it is not taken out of the copper. Owing to the low price of silver we hitched the horse and went up first to the revolving furnaces, as I may say, into which the pulverized and washed ore is poured. The copper runs out in a fiery brook such as The Standard man will fish in when time hangs heavy on his hands in his eternal home, probably.

The grinding or pulverizing and washing of the ore to make it ready for smelting would take too long to describe, but it is marvelous how much machinery has taken the place of men, for there did not seem to be more than an ordinary thrashing crew operating the largest smelter in the world.

P. S.—Owing to the low price of silver this letter is briefer than usual. I trust that something will be done by congress before I get home, or I cannot go on and complete my will. B. N.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning May 28. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Bible ideal of character. Prov. xxxi, 20-31; II Tim. ii. 15.

The Bible is not only a book of faith, but also of practice; not only a book of doctrines, but also of morals; and of principles. It illustrates ideal characters. It also describes them. In our topical references we have two such descriptions. The first is the description of an ideal wife, in which an ideal character is portrayed. The second is contained in Paul's advice to Timothy, "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (II Tim. ii, 15).

1. The true foundation of character, by the Bible ideal, is in God. This truth is contained in both the descriptions before us. The ideal wife is described as one who "feared the Lord," and Paul exhorts Timothy to study to show himself approved unto God. The highest and noblest ideal of character can never be reached without a firm faith in God and a desire to be like God. Man's highest duty is to serve God, and character can only be high as we fulfill our highest duties. More than this, if duty to God is faithfully fulfilled, our other duties, those to our fellow men, in all relations will also be filled. No man can be true to God without being true to all men. "Fear of the Lord," therefore, may well be called the true foundation of human character.

2. The essential qualification of character by the Bible ideal is the faithful performance of duty in the various relations of life. This is also illustrated in the examples before us. The ideal woman was faithful to her God, faithful to her husband, faithful to her children, faithful to the needy and helpless about her, faithful to her home duties and to the duties of all business relations. Paul exhorts Timothy to be faithful to God and to His ministerial work. Faithful performance of all the duties we owe to God and man cannot but develop a true character. Such faithfulness will require love, charity, humility, justice, honesty, industry, strength and honor and fear of God.

3. The results of such a character by the Bible are praise and just reward. Of the woman it is said: "Her children arise and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her." "A woman that feareth the Lord shall be praised." "Give her of the fruit of her hands and let her own works praise her in the gates." Thus we have praise, honor and reward set forth as the results of such a beautiful character. So it is today. The world admires nothing more than a true character. It is readier to praise and honor nothing more. Let us therefore imitate the Bible ideal of character, especially as exemplified in the only perfect model man ever had—the character of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Bible References—Gen. vi, 9; Deut. vii, 6; I Kings 3, 6; Ps. xv, 2; cxix, 1; Prov. xvi, 9; xxviii, 1; Isa. liv, 13; lvii, 15; Math v, 3–12; Luke ii, 25; John i, 47; Acts, xxviii, 2; xxii, 12; Rom. xvi, 19; Col. ii, 5; II Cor. i, 12; vi, 8; I Pet. v, 5; I John iii, 3; Rev. 17, 4.

Good Manners and Good Morals.

Good manners are closely allied to good morals; therefore proper behavior ought to be enforced in Sunday schools Your anniversary or festival or regular service is often marred by rude scholars. They think it shows "smartness" to make comments so loud as to be heard for 20 feet around, to set cat calls and various outlandish noises going at the very time when the attention of the devout is centered upon some sacred truth. These boys perhaps do not really mean to make themselves obnoxious. They are such bores that they cannot conceive how odious their conduct is to those who are accustomed to the decencies at least, if not the refinements, of cultivated society.

How ought such boys to be treated? Some would meet them with public and severe rebuke. But it is better to reach them by a private and kindly word. Show them that to mar the pleasure of others is really theft. These boys are presumably honest. They would scorn to rob any one of a quarter of a dollar, but they steal the time, patience and nerve force of teachers and hearers. Good manners are thus a part of honesty. The bore may prove to be also a thief.—Sunday School World.

What the Juniors Should Know.

An important fact to place firmly in the mind of the children is that many good things are to be had without money or price. Help them to think of and name some of these, such as loving fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters and good friends, a heavenly father's love and care, the beautiful earth and sky, the birds and other natural beauties and most of all an honest heart, willing hands, good principles and all that makes a true man or woman.—Golden Rule.

Darkness.

Throw on my pathway, Lord, a ray of light;
These heavy clouds shut out Thy blessed sun,
And thus I stumble when I fain would run
On Thy dear errands. Lord, clear Thou my sight;
Make plain my way—before the coming night
Wraps me in utter darkness, work undone,
No purposes fulfilled, no victory won.
O God of mercy, lead Thou me aright!

Dear Lord, no light! More patience, then, I pray,
For bitter circumstance surrounds my life,
Barring all progress. Here I stand and wait
Thy blessed will. I know it Thou but say
One word of peace, this barrier of strife
Must powerless fall. Dear Lord, I stand and wait.

BRIGGS ON TRIAL

The Judicial Committee Reported on the Disposition of Time and the Great Trial Began.

Arrangement Reached Agreeable to Both Sides and Vote to be Taken on Each Specification.

Col. McCook Stated the Actions and References that Will be Used by the Prosecution.

Dr. Lampe Opened the Case for the Prosecution and Spoke Until the Noon Recess.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The gift of Divine light and guidance in solving the question before the high judicial court of the Presbyterian church was the earnest plea of every prayer offered at the half hour devotional meeting this morning which preceded today's sessions of the general assembly. The services was conducted by Prof. J. M. Coyner, of Los Angeles, who read the first chapter of Hebrews. Col. McCook of the prosecuting committee was the first of the leading figures to arrive. His associate, Rev. Mr. Lampe arrived soon after.

While the minutes were being read, Rev. G. W. F. Birch, chairman of the prosecuting committee, appeared carrying his familiar bag and took his seat. At this time Rev. Dr. Frasier, of Newark, was the only occupant of the Briggs table, but before the reading of the minutes was concluded the defendant, enveloped in a dark overcoat and accompanied by Professor Francis Brown, of Union seminary, entered and prepared himself for the day's session.

At 10:05 a. m. the trial of Dr. Briggs began. Four and a half hours were allowed the appellants to open and close the case. Dr. Briggs was allowed several hours to reply, and the New York presbytery, from whose judgment the appeal was taken, were assigned two hours to be used in ten-minute speeches.

The closest attention was given Dr. Baker, chairman of the judicial committee, when he rose from his place on the platform to make the report of the committee as to the disposition of time in the trial. The arrangement he said was entirely agreeable to both sides. A vote will be taken on each specification. The report was adopted unanimously and the moderator rose to caution the commissioners as to the manner of their bearing during the trial.

These preliminaries had occupied about half an hour, and it was just one hour and five minutes when Col. McCook took the stand and the great trial might be fairly said to have begun. His purpose at that time was merely to notify the court and appellee of the actions and references which the prosecution expected to use in presenting their case.

At 12:30 p. m. Dr. Lampe, who opened the case for the prosecution, having consumed two hours and a quarter of his allotted time, yielded to a motion for a recess, and the proceedings were suspended until 2:30 p. m.

EXCITEMENT IN 'FRISCO.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Herald's San Francisco special says: Much excitement was caused early yesterday morning by an attempt on the part of Omnibus Street Railway company to put in an electric road with overhead wires in the business part of Market street from Eighth to Montgomery and thence by a circuitous route to the ferry.

Mayor Ellert was summoned and ordered the police to stop the work. Later he issued orders to the street department to remove the poles and confiscate them and repair the torn up street. This was finished last night.

The Omnibus company will sue for an injunction to restrain the mayor from further interference. The company has no franchise for an electric road in Market street, which is already crowded with cable lines. This company has, however, a horse car line on part of the street.

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

NEW YORK, May 29.—A special to the World from Atlanta, Ga., says: Rev. Wm. Graham and his wife, while walking to their home on the Central railroad tracks, near Milner, were overtaken by a train and crushed to death. There was a driving rain, and the old people were hurrying along under their umbrellas and did not see the train.

Mr. Graham was pastor of the church near by and had just left it. Most of the congregation, because of the rain, were standing under an arbor in front of the church and witnessed the killing of the pastor and his wife. Their warning shouts to the couple were not heard.

Mother and Daughter Dead.

PITTSBURG, May 29.—Mrs. Nancy McCarrigher and her 18-year-old daughter were struck by a fast train at Shousetown on the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad yesterday. The mother was killed and the daughter died this morning. They were walking on the truck on their way home from church and in avoiding one train stepped in front of another. Many of the church people witnessed the accident.

Cholera in Hamburg.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Dr. Nash, the representative of Dr. Jenkins in Hamburg, reports by cable this morning that there was one death from cholera in that city yesterday.

MUST COME IN DAYLIGHT.

No One to Cross the Boundary Lines During the Night.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—An order is said to have been prepared in the treasury department and is now awaiting signature which will forbid crossing the border lines of the United States by residents of foreign countries between the hours of 7 p. m. and 6 a. m.

In other words, it guarantees a daylight inspection of all people coming into the country. It is intended as a preventative to the introduction of cholera and illegal Chinese and other things that have been giving a deal of trouble.

A CABLE TO HAWAII.

Report of a Survey Giving a Very Favorable Route.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The report of the survey of a route for a cable between the United States and the Hawaii islands has been published by the hydrographic office. The route finally selected as the most feasible is along a rhumb line between Monterey bay, California, and Honolulu.

It requires a minimum length of cable and passes over an even bottom consisting of soil which is favorable for its protection and preservation. The total length is 2107 miles. It is estimated that it will cost $1,200 per mile for making and laying the cable.

A Kentucky Murder.

BURGIN, Ky., May 29.—Last evening John Light shot and killed Ephriam Dean. They had been engaged in the grocery business and had a settlement a few weeks ago, when it was found that they had lost money amounting to several hundred dollars. Light accused Dean of swindling him. This led to the killing which occurred near Dean's home. The murderer escaped.

Released From Prison.

LONDON, May 29.—The dowager duchess of Sutherland, who was sentenced on the 18th of April last by Sir Francis Jeune, in the probate division of the high court, to pay a fine of £250 and to be imprisoned six weeks for having destroyed a court document was released this morning. She looked well.

A Chess Contest.

LONDON, May 29.—A match seven games up is being played at Simpson's Divan, London, between the well-known chess players Bird and Jasnogrodsky. The first game was won by the former after forty-eight moves, the opening being P-Q 4. The second game Ap-Kb 4 opening of Bird was won by Jasnogrodsky after forty-two moves.

Mr. Booth Better.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Dr. Smith issued the following bulletin at 10:30 this morning regarding the health of Edwin Booth: "Mr. Booth passed a very good night and is better this morning."

DIOCESE MAY BE DIVIDED.

It is entirely probable that the Episcopal diocese of Minnesota will be divided and the number of bishops increased. The diocesan conference meets in Faribault June 7, and action upon the question of division, which has been agitating for some time, will probably be taken. The present diocese of Minnesota includes the whole state, and while one bishop might have been sufficient in the early days to care for all the Episcopal parishes in Minnesota, the present extent of the church renders that task almost a Herculean undertaking.

Bishop Whipple is in poor health and upon his assistant, Bishop Gilbert, falls the burden of the work, which is manifestly more than one man can do. There are many churchmen who hold that there is sufficient work in the cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul to require a bishop for each, and the late convention of the church in the North, South and Central districts seem to point to division as a present necessity. It is believed that better results are obtainable by division and the appointment of new bishops, each having his independent jurisdiction over his own diocese, than by appointing assistant bishops and leaving the diocese undivided.

CROOKED WORK.

Stock being Sold in a Kootenay Mining Property That is Worthless.

The Nelson, B. C., Tribune says: One thing can be said to the credit of the press of the Kootenay Lake country, that is, that it has never lent its aid to advance the schemes of unprincipled prospectors or mine manipulators. It is true, there has been little crooked work attempted, but no attempt has been countenanced. The Kootenay Lake country has merit and it stands well with men who have money to invest in both speculative prospects and developed mines.

However, should unprincipled men succeed in working off even one "salted" claim, the effect would be hurtful to the country. Last winter several parties made trips into the Duncan river country, and one or two of them returned with specimens of very rich gold rock. These reported finds have very much to do with heading prospectors into the Duncan river country this spring. While not decrying that section, the Tribune is in possession of information that justifies it in making the following statement:

"The Gold Nugget Mining company, of Duncan river is a pure fake and got up to swindle. The locations are show ones, well salted with sixty pounds of rich gold rock from California. The rock was brought to Kaslo last summer and hid across the bay till this spring. A portion of the interests of the locators have been disposed of to Spokane parties, and a man formerly well known in Kaslo, is now in the East selling stock. Some officials of the Great Northern railway are being roped in. The Spokane papers are boasting the scheme not knowing its character. The original locators are in Kaslo trying to sell their remaining interests at any figure, and the report that they intend putting in a force of men at work on the claim is a pure fabrication. All the parties interested on the outside have been deceived and know nothing of the true state of affairs. The whole scheme is a swindle and will hurt the country."

FAIR MUST OPEN

Judge Stein Has Granted a Temporary Injunction Against Closing the World's Fair on Sunday.

The Rights of the People to the Usufruct of the South Park Grounds Upheld.

It Takes Two Parties to Make a Contract and One Alone Cannot Change It.

CHICAGO, May 29.—In the legal proceedings brought against the World's fair directory to compel an open Sunday or to restrain public admission on that day, the former gained the first victory this morning. Judge Stein issued a temporary injunction restraining the directors from closing the gates on Sunday.

His ruling was made in accordance with the prayer of a bill filed by Charles W. Clingman on behalf of himself as a stockholder in the exposition company and as a citizen. Judge Stein held that congress had made no law compelling Sunday closing.

The decision held in substance that the park commissioners had no power to concede to a corporation any use of the park system that would interfere with the rights of the people in the usufruct of the South park grounds. The contention of the intervening petitioner, C. H. Howard, that to open the fair on Sunday is against the law of the land and of the act of congress of April 25, 1890, is dismissed with the statement that it has not been proved that there is anything in that act which overthrew any of the existing laws of the state of Illinois and the laws of Illinois are not affected.

The court roughly handled congress and its action in making appropriations with the Sunday closing strictures.

"It took two parties to make a contract," said the judge, "and two to unmake one, therefore by its determination to withhold $570,000 from the amount conditionally appropriated congress caused a palpable breach of contract and the directory was absolved from agreeing to its actions; furthermore, nothing has been shown that the local directory has received a single dollar from congress subsequent to the passage of the law."

THE CANAL PROPOSITION.

Secretary Thompson Criticizes the Company's Plans and Statements.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The longer the proposition of the Minnesota Canal company for aid in the sum of $600,000 from the county of St. Louis is studied the more objectionable it becomes and the evidences multiply that the scheme has been very carefully worked out with the object of securing the voting of this aid before the true character of the enterprise should appear. If all the objections which are apparent should be stated at length they would occupy more space than could reasonably be asked and I will endeavor therefore as briefly as possible to state some of the more important points.

In the first place I cannot understand why a corporation existing under and by virtue of the laws of Minnesota, organized, at least ostensibly, to construct a canal in the state of Minnesota, should wish to take the bonds issued by a county in the state of Minnesota out of the jurisdiction of the courts of Minnesota and put them in escrow in Chicago, where the county would be compelled to incur an additional expense in fighting for its own in the courts of Illinois if the company shall fail to carry out its contract.

The bonds, according to the proposition, are to be turned over to the company whenever the said company shall have completed an artificial canal extending in a general way from two points at the top of the hill to a point on the St. Louis river, and the completion of two mains, one in Duluth and the other in West Duluth, each of which mains shall be capable of supplying 20,000 horse power and the delivery by means of said canal and mains of the said amount of power. Nothing is said as to the length of time that such power shall be delivered. Nothing is said as to the size of the canal or the slope of the channel, which would determine the velocity of the current which would flow through it.

Nothing is said as to the source of the water supply. It is not said that the water will be brought through a canal from the St. Louis river and it would be entirely possible for the company to comply with the terms of this proposition if it should make a small canal, which would more properly be called a ditch, having slope enough so that it could deliver a considerable quantity of water with a rapid current, tap Pike lake or some of the lakes on the highlands and drain from them for a few days a sufficient amount to furnish the power specified. Then when the bonds should be turned over to them simply pocket the profits of the operation, leaving the county to pay the principal and interest of the bonds and have no water power to show for it. I do not charge that the company intends to do this, but neither will I admit that it is out of the bounds of possibility.

This question of the source from which the water supply is to be derived is not a matter of no consequence and I have not yet been able to find two persons to whom Mr. Spaulding has told in succession the same story. He said to Mr. Mendenhall that he intended to derive his supply entirely from the St. Louis river and claimed in the chamber of commerce that his corporation, being organized for public purposes, had an unquestionable right to condemn the entire flowage of the St. Louis river.

It seems to me that the property owners, the lumbermen—all who have any business or property rights in connection with the stream will have something to say about that. The St. Louis river for a part of its course is the boundary line between the state of Minnesota and Wisconsin. The state of Wisconsin in its sovereign capacity will have something to say about that. For a portion of its course the St. Louis river is navigable and appropriations have been made for the improvement of the navigation thereof. It strikes me that the government of the United States will have something to say about that. What is to be done with the sewage of West Duluth, of Ironton, of New Duluth or Fond du Lac, of all the great manufacturing population which is destined to occupy the shores of the bay and the river to the head of navigation and perhaps beyond? When the entire flow of the St. Louis river is cut off there will be nothing to make a current toward the lake and if the sewage of these communities is thrown into what will be practically a stagnant pool, with only such currents as are produced by the wind, it is easy to see that the foulness of the Chicago river will be limpid purity compared to the condition of the water in the St. Louis river, Spirit lake and St. Louis bay.

No time is specified in which the work is to be begun or completed. That is left to be settled by the county officers. In the ordinance granted by the city of Duluth a time is fixed but it is specified that any period during which the progress of the work is prevented by litigation shall not be counted. I have no doubt that he will endeavor to put such a specification into any contract that may be entered into by the company and the county, if we shall be so unfortunate as to have the bonds voted.

Then with all the litigation which will be begun by the property owners, by the state of Wisconsin, by the United States government, we can not tell when the work will be completed, but the bonds will have been issued, the interest upon them will be accruing; they will be counted against the credit of the county on the books of every financial institution in the country and we shall be to that extent unable to vote bonds for something which is not an experiment or to something which may possibly come up and which may be of almost vital importance.

Mr. Spaulding, in one of his addresses before the chamber of commerce, stated that he had had a great deal of experience in securing laws and ordinances for waterway improvements. I am inclined to admit that that is true. The law under which aid was voted to the Missabe road required not only a majority of the votes in the county, but that a majority of the precincts in the county should be carried in favor of the proposition. The special law under which the election next Wednesday is to be held provides that a mere majority of the votes shall be sufficient to carry the proposition.

The election for the Missabe road was with the Australian ballot, on which the "yes" and "no" were both printed and the voter marked one or the other as he desired. The special law under which the election of Wednesday is to be held goes back to the old style ballot, with all the possibility of the purchase and delivery of votes which the Australian ballot is designed to prevent, and in the printed notice of the election "all legal voters of said county desiring to vote upon said proposition are hereby instructed to vote as follows: by depositing a ballot at their respective voting places on the said 31st day of May, 1893, upon which shall be printed the words 'for the canal proposition' or the words 'against the canal proposition' as the case may be."

So far no provision has been made by the city or county for the printing of any ballots, and unless such provision is made either by the public authorities or by private subscription, the only printed ballots which will be presented to the voters on Wednesday next will be those furnished by the canal company and which unquestionably will be only those favoring the proposition. Under the notice a written ballot would not be valid, and if there are no printed ballots for those who are opposed to the proposition to use, the only ballots which can be cast or counted are those which will be favorable to the proposition.

So long as there are such tremendous possibilities of fraud as this proposition opens the way for, I believe there is nothing to be done but to vote it down, and I trust that the business men, the tax payers and every citizen who has at heart the best interests of the city and the county will turn out and bury this scheme too deep for resurrection. Very respectfully yours,

S. A. THOMPSON.

Glass Block Store,

Our Annual May Sale Has Proved Successful Beyond Our Expectations.

More business has been done during the past week than we have ever done in twice the time. Crowds visited our store daily and our large force was almost inadequate to cope with the masses. Ladies came from all parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin—many from Ashland, Oshkosh, Old and West Superior, Merritt, Virginia, Two Harbors, Ely, Tower, Mesaba, Biwabik, Oneota, West Duluth, Lakeside, Lester and Crosley Parks, etc.,—to take advantage of the Great Bargains offered at the Glass Block Store. But this is only the beginning, not the end. We will open this week with Bargains which cannot fail to attract your attention; we have not room to quote all the Bargains, but read these few over carefully, then come and see the goods at these prices—then a surprise at such big values for so little money. This is another GREATER week of Bargains at the Glass Block Store.

DRESS GOODS.

Our story in the Dress Goods Department this week is short, but very interesting. Our buyer, while East last week, closed out an entire stock of Silks and Black Wool Dress Goods. You have had an opportunity during the past week to judge for yourself whether he did so to your advantage or not. More Silks were sold in one day than we have ever sold in a week before; more Satins sold in one day than ever before sold in a month. We expect to close our entire purchase of Black Dress Goods Remnants ($3200.00 worth) in one week at the prices we quote. Do not come prepared to see trash, as we never handle it; do not be disappointed if we will not sell you two or three Dresses, as we will sell only one dress to each customer, but come prepared to see the best Bargains in Black Wool Dress Goods ever shown over a Dress Goods counter. Do not miss it. We divide them in two lots; first aisle, west side of store.

DID NOT LEARN MUCH.

There Was Plenty of Animated Discussion With Citizens Who Sent in Questions Promiscuously.

The mass meeting at the Lyceum last Saturday evening, before which the officials of the Minnesota Canal company expounded the plans of that organization and enlarged upon the benefits that would accrue therefrom, afforded some amusing features to those who sat on the fence and saw the fun. There had been fugitive rumors that there would be some talking from the back seats. The event proved that there was a masked battery of heavy artillery in the brush, all unlimbered and ready for business, and when the propitious moment arrived the guns opened all along the line. There was a seemingly neutral element among the spectators that preserved the equilibrium, stood for fair play and distributed its applause without fear or favor as telling shots were scored on either side.

The assemblage was called to order by President McDowell, of the Trades and Labor assembly, who said the object of the meeting was to outline the relation of the canal project to organized labor. He concluded by saying that if any gentleman in the audience wished to speak he would be given the privilege of the platform. President Henry C. Spaulding and Secretary F. F. Davis, of the Minnesota Canal company, followed.

Mr. Spaulding said he was sorry not to see more present, but that he saw a sufficient number before him to tell the others if they had not felt like coming. He had long been impressed, he said, with the natural advantages possessed by this locality for such a project. On the hills back of the city lies a great quantity of water that can be utilized, the drainage area of the St. Louis river equaling 4000 square miles. Taking up the matter in detail, at Fond du Lac the swift water of the St. Louis river terminated. From that point to the mouth of the Cloquet, the speaker said, is a descent of more than 600 feet. The route is 45 miles from the mouth of the Cloquet river to slack water and it has been found that it is possible to shorten the line by 20 miles. Of the basin of the St. Louis the speaker said it resembled a flat trough with a crevice in the bottom and broken off at one end. This gives some idea of the configuration between Grand Rapids and the brow of the bluff, the basin descending in an undulated line to that point. It had struck the speaker that the water can be taken out in the vicinity of the rapids and brought around to a point close to the business activities of the city. This would result in benefits in two or three directions; first, there would be had a navigation line extending up the St. Louis and branches, facilitating settlement of the country and affording great facilities for transportation, and, in winter, a way for sledding material into the city. These considerations, though trifling in comparison with the main question, still had their importance. The project would foster the cultivation of farm products near home.

The line of navigation might be extended in other directions and to the head waters of the Mississippi, he said. This is the purpose of the canal company, in its first aspect. Next, and of immense importance, is the purpose to utilize the water of the canal as a means of producing power. From the heights, the water can be carried through steel tubes to any part of the water front of the city. The speaker then explained the method of preparing the tubes. As to the danger of such a structure as was planned, the tubes can be made so as to be absolutely safe against anything but dynamite, cannon or earthquakes. The dam at the brow of the hill will not, he said, hold back a great reservoir of water, it will simply be the end of the canal. Steel can be made to resist a pressure of from 60,000 to 118,000 pounds to the square inch. The pressure in the tubes of the company will not, he said, exceed 270 pounds to the square inch at the water front, estimating the height of the fall at 610 feet. Steel of one-quarter inch in thickness, of which it is proposed to construct the tubes of the company, will give a resisting power of 22,500 pounds to the square inch, allowing for loss of power by riveting. The laterals along the water front will all be of this character. The allowance of strength above actual requirements will be ninety times the pressure at the weakest part of the pipes, thus greatly exceeding the allowance in railroad bridges and similar constructions. There will be no dangerous reservoir at the brow of the hill, and of this any engineer would give assurance.

The canal, the speaker said, will be capable of carrying 3500 cubic feet of water a second. As one horse power, at the pressure mentioned, could be supplied by one cubic foot per minute, it can be seen what an immense power can be furnished. The canal will be shaped like a trough 20 feet deep in the middle and 125 feet wide. The speed of the current, he said, will be but two miles an hour. (A voice: "Where will you get water to fill it?") Mr. Spaulding replied that he would come to that presently. The annual water fall in the drainage area mentioned, he continued, has been computed at 34½ inches annually. If one-fifth of this can be saved enough water will be stored to run the canal all the year round. In St. Louis county are small lakes giving a total area of over 100 square miles, and taking an average of ten feet on less than half that area enough water could be stored to supply 100,000 horse power the year round if it did not rain a drop. The speaker then cited Boston's water power, obtained by the storage system, and referred to water power as the basis of growth of great cities. Minneapolis, as an instance situated only seven miles from a great trading center, having become a great city owing to its advantages of water power; and Holyoke, Mass., a place without railroad facilities, rising to a manufacturing center from the possibility of creating water power from a series of dams.

As to criticisms on the size of the canals proposed, he said that the supply canals of all manufacturing cities are only equal or inferior in size to those proposed here, as in Lowell and Manchester. The speaker continued that with water power it will be possible to manufacture all sorts of machinery here. The material for paper machinery is found here. It has been asked why not bring power here by electricity, but that would not bring here water, which is needed for paper making. Cheap power will foster the production of iron and steel in various departments, wire mills for example, and will create such industries here for the ore to be manufactured in instead of sending it to Pennsylvania. Power can be furnished at $10 per horse power. Cheap power will add to the value of railroad and steamship lines. Eastern products, with cheap power, would be carried via this point to the West and to the coast. It has been demonstrated that cotton could be laid down cheaper in Duluth than in Fall River by any method known. Flour milling industry would thrive here.

Those back of this scheme, are not, he said, mere adventurers. They will bring the power to your doors and then, if they receive the subsidy will furnish it at $10 per horse power a year; but they will not touch a cent of the subsidy until they have brought in the power. They will have to build the works with their own money before they can take advantage of the subsidy. Every precaution had been taken to protect the community. There are those, he said, who cavil, but they would be satisfied with no proposition. The speaker had never known so liberal an offer to have been made, the Missabe proposition not even excepted. He defied any person to produce its equal.

F. F. Davis then addressed the meeting. He had been, he said residing for some days in Duluth, and while he came from a city that was considered to stand without a superior by those who lived in it, he had found his affections almost alienated from the beautiful city by the falls of St. Anthony and in him had grown a desire to become a resident of Duluth. It was not because there were beautiful women, gardens and trees here, although the women of Duluth rivaled if they did not outshine the women of Minneapolis. "It is not," he said, "your women, trees and flowers I'm after—(A voice: It's bonds you're after.) (Laughter.) "That's right and your bonds placed with the Minnesota Canal company will be well used and will pay 100 cents on the dollar," was the quick response.

The speaker said he was not surprised that aid was not unanimously tendered. He had never known of or been engaged in an enterprise of this character which all endorsed. He was glad, he said, that the plan has been confronted with an opposition that demanded a full exposition of what was designed and an opportunity to lay before the people the feasibility of the proposition. Many have stood beside the St. Louis river at the flood and can understand the power that might be utilized. It is easy to understand, he said, how this mighty current can be harnessed to the uses of man in this city. If nature can send down the valley of the St. Louis its waters, what is there to hinder bringing them to this city for its improvement. There is no one, he said, familiar with engineering enterprises who will say it is impossible. It can be done as easily as to allow the waters to run in their natural channels. He had yet to read a line in the press that the enterprise is impossible. So much for that branch of the subject.

It has been conclusively shown, according to the speaker, where they can get the water. In St. Louis county, he said, lies a magnificent system of lakes, water from which can be brought by a system of canals and sluices, with perfect ease, to the top of the bluff. It has been demonstrated, he said, that the supply now in sight is sufficient to furnish to the manufacturing enterprises of Duluth at present 200,000 horse power. If a supply of this character can be had, and engineering skill has demonstrated it to be feasible, what more is there to be desired. After water has been brought to the top of the bluff, he continued, something more will be necessary to bring it to the mills. A system of steel pipes had been evolved, he continued, impregnable and perfect. The question is, what will be the results of the enterprise. There is at present 40,000 horses power in use in Duluth and vicinity. Power to this extent will be furnished at a reduction of from a half to a quarter of the present expense. This is assured by an inviolable contract. A part of the saving will come in the shape of higher wages to the laboring man who works in the elevators, mills and factories. The employers of labor will be willing to share the benefits of cheap power with their employes. The Pillsbury mills are an example of this.

When the Minnesota Canal company came into the community, it came, he said, with a complete solution of all engineering difficulties. It had settled some serious doubts to an extent that it had been able to attract the aid of Eastern capitalists, and it now came with a definite proposition to the people of Duluth and St. Louis county. Its proposition is not, he said, for funds with which to build a canal, although it has been suggested that this is the case. The speaker then read from the provisions of the contract and remarked that no lawyer in Duluth had been found to find fault with the contract, but there had been comments in print by parties who had not signed their names. (A voice: "If you will give me ten minutes I should like to talk to you.") Mr. Davis responded: "I'll give you ten minutes, ten hours or ten days if you wish." (Applause.)

The speaker then proceeded to read from the provisions of the contract to the effect that the company should furnish power at 10 cents per horse power if an issue of stock at par value equal to the amount of bonds was waived. In answer to the criticism that if the issue of stock is not waived the company will charge what it pleases for power, the speaker said that the ordinance under which it will lay its mains give it that right only on condition that power be furnished not to exceed $15 per horse power, so there was no uncertainty in the contract and it had been positively agreed that $15 should be the maximum charge. The speaker invited criticism on that point from any gentleman, here or elsewhere.

Secretary Thompson, of the chamber of commerce, spoke up here and said "Why not put it in the proposition?"

"It is," replied Mr. Davis.

Mr. Thompson: "What has the city to do with a contract with the county?"

Mr. Davis: "Our mains are in your streets. Do you distinguish between city and county? You are a citizen of both. You have power to confiscate our property and take from us all we shall have expended. If this is not liquidated damages, then I'm no lawyer." The speaker went on to read that when the water should actually be turning the wheels of mills, then the bonds would become available, and not before.

A voice: "Is that in your contract?"

Mr. Davis: "I'm reading from it; it's in good English. I don't know my friend's nationality, but I presume he can understand it." (Laughter).

A voice: "Where does it say you will deliver power?"

Mr. Davis, reading: "The said company will deliver said amount of power—"

A voice: "Where will you deliver it?"

Mr. Davis: "To what should we deliver but to mills and wherever needed?"

Mr. Thompson: "I'm no lawyer, but under the terms, as I read them, it would be possible for the company to cease operations after getting the bonds. It doesn't agree to maintain and operate its waterway and terminals. As I understand it, it is possible for you to put in your power, get your money and then the power would go no one knows where." (Applause.) Mr. Thompson then outlined the features of a disastrous railway dual—disastrous for the people—he had observed in Ohio a number of years ago, and the impression Mr. Thompson conveyed was that in his mind that deal and the present scheme bore the same ear marks.

Judge Brownell here commenced to speak amid interruptions and Mr. Davis said: "One at a time and then I can answer you."

He then said the contract provided that the company should deliver power, and to whom it should deliver, in the second clause providing for two mains each capable of supplying 20,000 horses power to mills, elevators and manufacturing establishments. "I find in the contract not only mills but elevators and manufacturing establishments," he said.

Mr. Thompson: "How about the condition ending 'hereinafter specified'; you then go back and say 'hereinbefore.'"

Mr. Davis: "I didn't expect you to understand it, not being a lawyer." (Laughter.)

Mr. Thompson: "I'm a voter, though, and shall not vote for the proposition until I understand it."

Mr. Davis: "I didn't expect you to anyhow, but I shall go on and endeavor to give you good reasons for voting for it. The canal company has contracted that it will furnish the power. Read that over, friend Thompson, and I hope you will become converted over Sunday."

Mr. Thompson: "I am always ready to confess a change of heart, and in public. Another point. If you fall short by 1000 horse power, will you ask for your bonds?"

Mr. Davis replied that the company has contracted to furnish 40,000 horse power to all mills, elevators and manufacturing establishments where it may be needed. By the terms of the contract the terminal pipes are all to be connected with the mains. The speaker continued that an effort had been made to bring up the criminal aspect of the question. The speaker had lived here too long, he said, to feel himself called on to defend himself in advance against a criminal charge. The law, he said, presumed him innocent until proven guilty.

Mr. Thompson: "I disclaim any such intent."

Mr. Davis: "Then don't say it. Let me tell you that the meanest, most contemptible manner of making a charge is by insinuation."

Mr. Thompson: "Have you any guaranty that you will live to carry out this contract? Further, I am not at all convinced that you can furnish a permanent supply. Should you find yourselves unable to carry out the contract, the bonds would yet be an obligation against the county."

Mr. Davis: "Do you want us to guarantee we'll live forever?"

Mr. Thompson: "No; but when men borrow money the contract is generally put in a business-like form."

Mr. Davis: "What do you understand by 'successors and assigns?' Did you ever draw up a contract with a corporation in your life?"

Mr. Thompson replied that he always had his contracts drawn by an attorney.

Mr. Davis: "Well, your attorney, be he a fool or a wise man, would tell you that a corporation can have no heirs."

Mr. Davis then went on to ask if it could be believed that if those interested in the scheme saw a chance to make 25 per cent on an investment of two millions they would steal $600,000 in bonds and run away. To continue, he said, there are to be two mains to the water front—

Judge Brownell: "I don't so understand it."

Mr. Davis: "The contract reads 'to the elevators, mills and manufacturing establishments on the water front—see." (Laughter and applause).

Judge Brownell: "I—" (Cries of sit down and hisses).

Mr. Davis: "Wait gentlemen. Let all be heard."

Responding to demands that he take the platform, Judge Brownell ascended to the stage and commenced by remarking that he "was in it." (Laughter.) The assurance and eloquence of Davis, he said, has long been known and appreciated by him, but he thought $600,000 too much to pay for even that. (Laughter.) The contract only calls for two mains and that is all. The speaker said Mr. Davis is a good lawyer and as honest as any, even in Minneapolis. There was a doubt in his mind if the people were protected. It has been said that aid had been given to the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, and this was used as an argument for granting aid to this canal company. "Back of the former enterprise there are the best names in Duluth," he said. "Back of this, what? A lawyer from Minneapolis, (laughter) and a venerable gentleman from Boston. What back of it all, but a meagre soulless corporation. Why has not capital been interested down in Minneapolis? Where were these bonds going? No one knows where. What is to prevent these men from borrowing money to build their plant, giving a mortgage on it and then leaving it to foreclosure and the people to whistle?

This contract, said the speaker, is not worth a cent. These men must presume the people of Duluth to be fools or asses to vote them $600,000 on such a contract. When are they going to build this, he asked. Echo answered "when." The speaker then said it was comical to hear them talk of expending commerce by building the canal. How were they to get up to the canal? If the canal could be used for navigation, it would have to be level except at the locks, and how then could they furnish power. "This scheme," said he, "is preposterous. It is a crude ——" Cries of "time" and applause here interrupted the speaker and he left the stage.

W. E. Wright: "Is it fair to rush into this thing before investigating it more fully than has been done?"

To this Mr. Davis replied that investigation had been going on for some time, levels have been run and now a good corps of engineers and assistants, numbering forty, is busy on the work, and had been since the snow left the ground. Money had been spent, according to Mr. Davis, in preliminary work, condemnation proceedings begun and more will follow in the future. As to the question of the necessity of haste, the speaker said that the law under which the company asked for aid contemplates an election. Before the contract will be binding it must be submitted to a vote. A change in the law, to take effect June 1 next, makes it necessary to hold the election before that time or not at all. If not held before that time, a delay of two years, until the next session of the legislature, will be necessitated, during which the money invested must remain idle.

As for Mr. Brownell, Mr. Davis said, that gentleman had entertained them with some remarks about lawyers, etc. He had no time to return the compliments. Mr. Brownell had admitted he had never examined the contract, but he said it was not worth a cent. Had he said he had given it a careful examination, his remarks would be worthy of earnest consideration.

Judge Brownell: "I heard you read the contract. I said I hadn't considered the subject of it."

Mr. Davis: "Yes; you hadn't considered the subject of it, but you said it wasn't worth a cent."

Continuing, Mr. Davis said that Judge Brownell knew that in contracts there must be a subject matter and competent parties—in this both were to be found, and when the voters ratified it, it would be a contract. Yet he says that as a contract it isn't worth a cent.

Brownell: "Not worth a cent to the people."

After reading letters published in The Herald expressing a belief that industries would come on an assurance of cheap water power, Mr. Davis referred to what the falls of St. Anthony had done for Minneapolis, and said that when such an array is seen here it would not be said that St. Louis county had not been benefited. The speaker wanted to see laid in Duluth the foundation of a second Pittsburg.

A voice; "Who is backing you?"

Mr. Davis: "I can't answer you that question now for this reason—"

Voice: "That's all. I just wanted to ask you."

Mr. Davis: "I cannot disclose the names at this time without violating my duty as a lawyer."

Mr. Davis continued that the canal would be built whether the bonds were forthcoming or not.

Mr. Thompson asked if Mr. Davis had not said that the reason for haste was that their capital would lie idle for two years. Mr. Davis replied that he had said that a change in the election law would render the proposition void. Mr. Thompson repeated his question and Mr. Davis replied that delay would follow. Mr. Thompson then wanted to know if it were not true that the drainage area of the Mississippi is larger than that of the St. Louis, and that the United States government has spent vast sums in developing the water power of the Mississippi and yet mills at St. Anthony's falls have been compelled to use steam, and how it could be expected that an adequate supply could be furnished from the St. Louis when Minneapolis has been unable to procure it with all the resources of the Mississippi.

Mr. Davis said that the maps and estimates justified the assertion of the ability to furnish such a power here. Mr. Thompson remarked that they had not seen any maps or engineers' estimates yet. Mr. Davis wanted to know if Mr. Thompson needed lines on maps to demonstrate the utility of water power as the company proposed to furnish it.

A voice: "Yes; right here and now. We're all here."

Mr. Davis replied that if the audience would wait Mr. Spaulding would go into the figures. W. C. Sherwood regretted that Mr. Davis could not inform them as to the backing of the scheme. E. C. Gridley wanted to know if Mr. Davis could not, during Monday, be free to satisfy a committee—say the county commissioners—under a pledge of secrecy on this point, so that they in turn might satisfy the people of the county on the question. Mr. Gridley said if this point and that of legal objections were swept away the main objections would be gone. If the scheme was feasible, $600,000 would be nothing. So far as the reference to the Falls of St. Anthony went, Mr. Gridley said, it took no argument to show that a fall of water of 600 feet furnished a greater power than a fall of 28 feet.

Walter J. Ayers, who had investigated the matter for the chamber of commerce committee, on being called for, after some demur took the stage. He said he disliked to give an opinion on the matter at such a time and place, but would yield to the demands made upon him. It struck him that the proposition is not clear enough, and with the advice of the eminent counsel the company had, he could not see why it has not been made so. The law under which the company made the proposition is, he said, a special act and not the law under which the Duluth, Missabe & Northern received its aid. And then, too, the contract with the county is indefinite. It does not say what the company will furnish power for if the issue of stock is not waived. Why had not the proposition to furnish power at $15 been put in the contract with the county? It is answered that it is in the contract with the city. But what remedy will there be if the company furnished power and the contract with the city and with West Duluth should prove to be ultra vives? There would be no way of enforcing them and the company probably had this in mind when it put such a provision in the contract with the city and omitted it from that with the county. Moreover, the conditions of the contract are, said the speaker, indefinite and vague. Whether or not the contract is valid the speaker would not discuss out of court. He disclaimed any personal bias.

Mr. Davis concluded by saying that he hoped that the matter would be thoroughly canvassed, and that the benefits to Duluth from the plan would justify careful consideration and support.

Compartment Sleeping Cars.

In European countries, all railway coaches are divided into compartments, and being in most respects calculated to afford the passenger all the discomfort possible, would never be popular in this country. Without heating apparatus, without water-coolers or lavatories, the door locked between stations, and the only means of passage from one compartment to another a narrow foot-board on the outside of the car, it is to the credit of American railway managers that they have never tried to introduce them here. But a compartment sleeping-car, such as are run on the Burlington Route trains between Minneapolis and St. Paul and Chicago, is a very different vehicle. Entering the car at either end, you find a vestibule, leading out of which, on the left-hand side, is an aisle or corridor. On the right of this corridor, and opening into it, are five cosy boudoirs, each containing two commodious berths. Overhead is a shaded globe, from which comes the soft light of the compressed gas. In yonder corner is a mirror and dressing stand, under which is a polished wood box with nickel handle. Pull down on this, and a hand-basin comes in view, with handy faucets for hot and cold water. Near by is a stand for canes and umbrellas. The seats are in the usual Pullman style, and form the lower berth at night. The berths, unlike those in the "boudoir" sleepers, run lengthwise of the car. These five compartments have communicating doors, enabling them to be thrown together when desired. The corridor now crosses to the opposite side of the car, and from it open five more similar compartments. The furnishings vary in color, but all are the very acme of the upholsterer's, woodworker's and metalworker's art. Buy tickets of your home agent for the Burlington trains, and travel by the world's finest. For any special information, address W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organ itself instead of the cause of the trouble. The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to his efforts.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the nutrivated brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

A Slight Change.

The marriage license clerk was sitting at his desk thinking of how many people he had been instrumental in starting on their downward course when a red faced, raw boned young man from the country disturbed his reveries.

"How d'y' do?" said the visitor. "I come in to see you about a marriage license."

The clerk got out the big book and turned to where he had torn out the last one.

"Well," he said, "who is it for?"

"Who is what for?" asked the visitor.

"The license, of course. Don't you want a license?"

"Not of I kin help it. That's what I come in fer to see about. I got one t'other day, but I ain't used it yit, and I want to know about it."

"What do you want to know?"

The seeker for information took the paper from his pocket, unfolded it and spread it out on the desk.

"There it is," he said briefly.

"What's the matter with that?" inquired the clerk after he had looked it over.

"Nothin, legally, I guess, but you see the girl that is named in there has changed her mind, and she won't have me. I'm a hustler, though, I am, and I've got another girl that's willin fer keeps, but I don't want to spend no more money for licenses. Kin I get that name scratched out and t'other one put in, or have I got to blow in more wealth? That's what I come here to know about, mister."

The clerk rapidly glanced through the constitution of the United States, ran over a chapter or two of "Greenleaf on Evidence" and "Cooley on Torts" and gave the young man a new license without extra charge.—Detroit Free Press.

Only as an Example.

"Now, whad-'av' I dun?"

"Ye ain't dun nothin, but the baby is awful bad and I want ter lick yer for an example ter him."—Life.

It Was Found.

A certain good natured fatalism prevails in Russia as to the one crime of theft. At Saratov on the Volga a crowded steamer was about to start when the assistant captain, hurrying through a crowd of third class passengers, was suddenly stopped by a peasant who had previously complained that his money had been stolen.

"Your honor," he said, "the money has been found."

"Found! Where?"

"Sewed up in that soldier's mantle. I went over there to search for it, and sure enough there were 41 rubles and a 20-copeck piece in my chamois purse."

"Where is that soldier?"

"There he is, asleep."

"Well, he must be handed over to the police."

"Handed over to the police? Why to the police? Don't touch him: let him sleep on. Sure, the money is found; what more do we want?"

What Did He Want?

Among authors there are but few who take the slightest interest in social or political questions. So far as public questions are concerned, they are hardly better informed than Dante Gabriel Rossetti. During the French revolution one of his friends burst into Rossetti's studio with the incredible news, "Louis Philippe has landed in England!" "Has he?" said Rossetti camly. "What has he come for?"—Argonaut.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, Minn. May 29.—Generally fair weather prevails in all sections, and the storm that threatened this locality yesterday has passed to the east and is central this morning over Eastern Lake Superior.

Light showers have fallen in all parts of the country, but with the exception of Marquette, where rain is now falling, it has cleared off everywhere.

An area of low barometer is forming over Montana and may move so as to affect this section by tomorrow, but it is hardly probable that it will.

Yesterday was the warmest day of the year, the thermometer registering 73° at the warmest time, and did not go below 54° last night.

B. H. BRONSON,
Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Fair, slightly cooler Tuesday morning, followed by light showers in extreme northwest Tuesday afternoon; southwest winds. For Minnesota: Fair, followed by showers in northern portions; cooler Tuesday morning in Southern Minnesota; variable winds.

To Bond, or Not to Bond?

The voters of St. Louis county will be called upon to decide an important question at the polls next Wednesday. Upon that day a vote will be taken upon the proposition to bond the county to the extent of $600,000 in aid of the Minnesota Canal company conditioned upon its constructing a canal from the St. Louis river near Cloquet to Duluth and furnishing power to the amount of 40,000 horse power annually.

This is a subject upon which public opinion is considerably divided and The Herald has insisted upon a full and fair discussion of all the features connected with the company's proposition. It has taken the position that if the plan is feasible and the company which presents it is responsible and able to carry out the work outlined in its proposition, the benefit to Duluth and a large section of the county would be very great, because such cheap power would result inevitably in Duluth becoming the seat of great manufacturing industries, giving employment to thousands of people.

If, on the other hand, the company is irresponsible, if its plans are chimerical and its whole project a smart game on the part of shrewd speculators to obtain the endorsement and backing of the county for a scheme that is concocted solely with the intention of selling out at a handsome profit to others who may be duped into believing the promoters' representations, then the people should nip the scheme in the bud by a strong negative vote on Wednesday.

In the news columns today will be found a full and fair report of the mass meeting at the Lyceum on Saturday night, at which the question was discussed pro and con, and also a complete account of the meeting at the city hall this morning. These reports should be carefully read by every citizen with a view to a thorough understanding of the subject. If any man has doubt as to the practicability of the company's plans or its good faith and responsibility, The Herald would advise him to vote "no" on the subject.

As for The Herald itself, it is not yet satisfied that the company has made out a case that would justify the county in saddling itself with such a debt. While the county would undoubtedly be benefited to an enormous extent by the carrying out of such a scheme, it cannot afford to lend its endorsement to any undertaking that is not shown to be perfectly feasible and to be fathered by men of undoubted financial backing.

The Garbage Ordinance.

In an article on sanitation, in which the city of Charleston is taken as an object of illustration, a prominent medical scientist asserts that for each unnecessary death there are twenty-eight cases of sickness, and, proceeding with his calculation, discovers that with a very moderate estimate for funeral and medical expenses the people of Charleston are spending $91,000 annually which, with proper sanitation, might be saved or considerably more than would be required in a short series of years to rid the city entirely of diseases which have their origin in vitiated and infectious conditions.

It will thus be seen that upon the grounds of economy alone the exercise of cleanliness is to be favored. Duluth has been pursuing the opposite policy for years, but now there are indications that public sentiment has been sufficiently aroused on this subject to compel the municipal authorities to keep the city in a better sanitary condition in the future. This awakened sentiment is due in a large measure to the persistent campaign against dirt and disease made by The Herald and its further demand that a thorough system of garbage collection shall be established here. There are numerous diseases that are traceable directly to the garbage heaps, and it is wise economy to prevent the accumulation of these breeding spots of disease.

An ordinance regulating the collection of garbage is to come before the common council tonight. It differs essentially from the system which The Herald has been steadily advocating, and its supporters claim in its favor that it is less expensive. A cheap thing is not always the best. Usually it is poorer than something else. This is especially true of public services of all character. The garbage system which is proposed by this ordinance is an untried experiment. Now, why try an experiment when there are other systems that are demonstrated successes? The experience of other cities in dealing with this question has been costly. Various plans have been tried and have proven both ineffectual and expensive.

There is but one system which has been proven a success and which can be carried out at a comparatively small cost, and this is the system that The Herald advocates. It is founded upon the principle that it is the duty of the municipality to look after and preserve the public health, and that the collection and disposal of garbage is an essential part of that duty. By this system the city is divided into districts, and bids are asked for the removal of all garbage in those districts during the coming year. The contracts are awarded to the lowest bidders, and they are paid each month from the general fund of the city, on the certificate of the health officer that the terms of their contracts have been faithfully carried out.

In this manner the removal of all the garbage is certain to be accomplished. There are no delays caused by filing complaints against householders who do not remove their garbage, or by prosecuting them in court for such neglect or refusal. It is the system that is in vogue in all the progressive cities of the country. It is the only system that should be introduced in Duluth. It is not an experiment which may be a success or may not, as is the system contained in the ordinance now before the council.

Due to Other Causes.

John Wanamaker, who made such a dismal failure in the office of postmaster general under the last administration, is quoted as saying: "There is a great deal of distrust and dissatisfaction owing to the uncertainties of the policy of the administration. They are paddling about in a sea of uncertainty, and, of course, business men will not enlarge their sphere of operations if they are afraid they cannot meet their obligations or get more credit when their paper falls due. The equivocal policy in regard to tariff and money is responsible for the present condition of affairs."

A little more respect for the truth would be more becoming on the part of a man who sets himself up as a moral example. This sort of nonsensical talk is to be expected from ward bosses and other political hacks who never study such questions but blame the existing administration (whenever it is of a different political faith from their own) for all the financial troubles or commercial disturbances which may occur. Mr. Wanamaker, however, has been reputed a business man of intelligence, and it is astonishing that he should give utterance to such a statement, when he must know that the present financial situation is the result of causes which anteceded the present administration and which would not have had any different fruits had the Republicans remained in power.

It was not in the power of the present administration to relieve the financial stringency, and those who assert to the contrary talk without a proper consideration of the subject.

The growth of the newspaper industry in the last decade has been very great. Late statistics give the number of newspapers and periodicals in the United States as 20,006, of which 1855 are published daily, 31 tri-weekly, 237 semi-weekly, 14,017 weekly, 85 bi-weekly, 349 semi-monthly; 3125 monthly, 78 bi-monthly and 229 quarterly. In 1880 there were only 952 daily papers in the United States and a thousand or so weeklies.

There is considerable talk about an early division of the Episcopal diocese of Minnesota, owing to the rapid growth of the church work within recent years. When this takes place, the people of Duluth will trust that the church authorities may not lose sight of the fact that Right Rev. W. M. Barker, missionary bishop of Colorado, would make a popular and efficient bishop for Northern Minnesota.

The Minneapolis Times: "John K. Shaw, the missing Knight of Pythias, has been heard from. He is in California, and writes that he intends soon to return to Duluth, which recalls the fact that mental aberration was once assigned as the cause of his disappearance." Which also recalls the fact that mental aberration was caused by residing in Minneapolis.

The total bounty to be paid this season to sugar producers in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont will approximate $70,000—about double the amount paid last year. What a farce it is that the sap boilers of these states should receive a bounty from the public treasury on the maple sugar.

The Princeton Union (Republican) says: "Maj. Baldwin is interesting himself in behalf of the settlers at Mille Lacs. Thank God, the Sixth congressional district has a representative in congress. For two years past the district has had no representative."

In another column will be found a communication from Secretary Thompson of the chamber of commerce on the canal company's proposition. The Herald regrets that owing to its great length and the late hour at which it was received, several portions have of necessity been omitted.

Minneapolis is in a thrill of delight over a new play which is filling the theater nightly. It is called "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and having received the endorsement of the Minneapolis critics, may be taken to New York for a long run.

GIOVANNI GIOLITTI.

The Prime Minister of the New Cabinet Formed in Italy.

Giovanni Giolitti was born in 1844. His first step into a bureaucratic career was as an under-secretary in the ministry of the interior and afterward in that of finance. In 1882, with the backing of M. Depretis, he was elected a deputy and rapidly made his way in the Italian parliament. He was in charge of the Italian treasury under Signor Crispi, and when Rudini became premier he opposed his policy and joined the opposition which finally overthrew the cabinet.

The County Commissioners Asked to Offer a Reward for the Conviction of Bribers.

Strong Sentiment Developed at the Citizens' Meeting This Morning—An Opposing Campaign Organized.

Considering the shortness of the notice given the meeting this morning to devise means to nip in the bud the scheme of the Minnesota Canal company to secure $600,000 bonds from the county was well attended. Certainly a more representative body of men could not well have been gathered—merchants, lawyers, property owners, capitalists—men who have built up Duluth and have its prosperity ever at heart; and there was noticeable, too, several intelligent mechanics. At 10 o'clock scarcely anyone even among the city hall officials knew of the meeting. Mayor d'Autremont was as busy as a bee at the height of the honey season inciting everybody to appear in the interest of his city and his property. At 11 o'clock the council chamber was comfortably filled. At 11:05 the crowd had overflowed into the space railed off sacred to the aldermen.

Mayor d'Autremont tapped for order and at once plunged into his subject, stating in clear, concise and unequivocal words the reason for the gathering.

"This is a meeting," he began, "called for the citizens of Duluth who are opposed to bonding the county in aid of an unknown corporation. There has been considerable talk about this matter. There was a meeting Saturday night at the Lyceum and much talk in favor of the Minnesota Canal company's scheme. But the undisputed facts, so far as I know them, are these: A corporation is organized by a few individuals outside of Duluth; it comes here with nothing to show whether there is any capital back of it or any subscribed or any put in, or whether any will be. The promoters make a proposition to bring water to the brow of the hill to furnish a certain horse power. And for that the county is to bond itself $600,000. These bonds are to be taken out of the state before any work is done and placed in escrow beyond the reach of our courts. Now let me call attention to a startling feature. There is nothing in the proposition that requires them to keep that water there for one day, for one hour, for one minute even.

"Assume that these men may make a canal, may dig a ditch there and bring water to the brow of the hill—and that is a matter we are not certain of, for there are no plans, no drawings—nothing, in fact, but the bare statements of these interested parties who seek the county's aid—but assuming that they could do this thing and keep the water there one hour, then they would have complied with the terms of this proposition; then could they put our bonds in their pockets, and yet any lumber company or boom company or any individual interested would have twenty years within which to enjoin them from using the water. They say they will bring as much water into the St. Louis river as they take out, but nothing of that kind is stated in their proposition.

"A great many other points were brought up at Saturday night's meeting and they were all either unsatisfactorily answered or not answered at all. This meeting is not for the purpose of discussing these matters, but for protecting ourselves. Unless public sentiment is aroused in a matter of this kind, a few shrewd, able men can come to a city like this, and, with public sentiment dead, with $5000 distributed in certain places, can carry the election against the wishes of three-fourths of the inhabitants. I do not say that this company is doing so, but it could very easily.

"The canal people are active. They are holding meetings and making it appear that their project will be a great benefit to Duluth. If it is, we want it and will welcome it. They say they will do the work anyway. Very well, let them go ahead and build as did the Merritts and then ask for aid. (Applause).

"I do not care who is back of it, their proposition is very faulty. It becomes necessary, therefore, that we should have an organization. There are only two days left for work and not a minute is to be wasted. My idea was to have various committees appointed to go to work at once. We don't want talk, but live and quick action. We want a legal committee because it is a new law and should be carefully scrutinized and thoroughly understood. It is provided that ballots shall be cast for or against the proposition. They have plenty of their tickets and we must have plenty of ours; otherwise the result will be that three out of the four men who go to the polls will vote this ticket for want of another. As we understand the law the Australian system does not apply. Then there is the question of registration—of who is entitled to vote. There should be another committee on halls and speakers and meetings should be held tonight and tomorrow night all over the city. There should also be a committee on finance and conveyances should be provided to take voters to the polls. We want men who will hustle. Danger confronts us. Let us act promptly and decisively." (Applause.)

C. H. Graves was elected chairman and H. C. Kendall secretary. Upon taking the chair Col. Graves paid a high compliment to Mayor d'Autremont for coming forward and taking such decisive action. "No arguments or speeches about this matter are necessary," he said. "But some ask why they want these bonds. I have been familiar with financial schemes for a great many years. I have seen schemes put out for the purpose of making money for the 'promoters' as they are called. For instance, you vote $600,000 bonds and they are deposited with a trust company in Chicago. A party of men can then go East and point to these bonds as a substantial capital to start on. They make plausible statements of their plans and the certain profit to accrue and get innocent parties to invest in their stock and bonds. Then supposing the vested interests in the St. Louis river step in and succeed in stopping them from taking the water, supposing the engineering difficulties prove too great for the accomplishment of the work—thirty years must elapse before the county could move and try to get back these bonds and in the meantime they are standing as a debt against the county. "But the promoters have the proceeds of their stock and bonds sold. You can see here, provided the men were unscrupulous enough to do it, a solution of the whole matter. I was puzzled to know why they would undertake the work without knowing they could accomplish it, but this suggested itself to me as a plausible explanation."

City Attorney Greene moved that a legal committee of three be appointed. When remarks were called for Luther Mendenhall rose to his feet. He spoke only a moment, emphasizing the point that actions and not words were most desired. He reviewed briefly, however, the objections found by the chamber of commerce committee, of which he was a member and said: "I do not think they propose to do anything unless they get our bonds. They claim there is somebody behind them in the mist and fog with abundant capital but as they would give no name we could discover no financial backing. The men known to be in the project have comparatively little means, the heaviest weight being rated at $20,000 to $40,000."

Secretary Thompson wanted to call attention to two or three points in the law which the canal company had put through the legislature. "There has been a master hand at work," he declared. "The Australian system is done away with. Printed ballots only are specified. We do not know whether written ballots would be accepted. I have taken the responsibility to already have several thousand ballots against the proporition printed. Then in the Missabe railroad election held last week they were required to have not only a majority of the votes but to carry a majority of the precincts. The canal company needs only a majority of the ballots, and if by any means they get a majority of one, the bonds are theirs. The more you look into the matter the more mixed and befuddled it seems. It would require a week for good lawyers to unravel it.

"I am often accused of talking too much. But as a citizen of Duluth I want to say one thing: Of late, and particularly Saturday, the canal people have had a perfect stream of contractors going into their offices. I can produce one witness to swear that at least one contractor said: 'I cannot compel my men to come in and vote for you, Mr. Spaulding.' I have a right to presume as well as you what that meant. I can also bring two men whom Mr. Spaulding tried to bribe, taking a handful of ten and twenty dollar bills out of his pocket and throwing them on the table. They can make it a case of criminal libel if they want to. Men who will do this are not honest men pushing an honest enterprise. We should not sleep until the polls close Wednesday night." (Cheers and applause.)

B. Silberstein said he talked with some of the canal people on the train to Chicago and they declared the canal would not be built if the bonds were not voted.

Mayor d'Autremont then called attention to a statement at Saturday's meeting that if the bonds were not voted then capital would lie idle two years, or until the legislature met again. The mayor also called attention to the fact that a Wisconsin corporation backed by Jay Cooke controlled the St. Louis river water power and would not allow the water to be taken from the river and destroy the value of their property, emphasizing again the point that the proposition did not compel the company to maintain water on the hill after once getting it there.

C. B. Garrison related an incident in Wisconsin where farmers gave notes to build the Milwaukee & Horicon road. At Grand Rapids $200,000 of notes and mortgages were deposited in trust and in the absence of the trustees the schemers got access to the securities on plea of comparing numbers and accounts and skipped with them between two days. The road was never built but the notes and mortgages were paid to the great hardship of the farmers giving them.

T. T. Hudson's amendment to Mr. Greene's motion that a general committee of twenty be appointed from which sub-committees be selected was accepted. Mayor d'Autremont emphasized the need of a good head and a clockwork organization. Judge Brownell, referring to Mr. Garrison's remarks, said there was no question but what the proposition of the canal company was "a fraud and a scheme," and all that was needed was the committee. He moved that the general committee be selected by three gentlemen to be named by the chair. The chair named Messrs. Greene, Hudson and Thompson and they went to work at once. Their report was adopted and the meeting also added the names of the three committeemakers and another, making the organization as follows:

Mayor d'Autremont, Luther Mendenball, Walter Ayers, E. C. Gridley, Morris Thomas, W. C. Sargent, H. H. Hanford, E. G. Swanstrom, A. M. Cox, H. C. Kendall, B. F. Howard, Charles Canning, John M. Martin, C. C. Merritt, C. H. Graves, C. A. Towne, Alderman Oie, W. G. Joerns, Joseph Sellwood, Lewis Brownell, S. A. Thompson, Alfred Merritt, T. T. Hudson and City Attorney H. F. Greene.

A resolution was passed, introduced by Col. Gridley, that "it is the sense of this meeting that in view of Secretary Thompson's statements the county commissioners be asked to offer a reward for the arrest and conviction of any one who has offered money to corrupt this election." A copy of this resolution will be placed before the county commissioners.

The meeting adjourned after the names of those present who were willing to work at the polls had been recorded. The general committee was called to meet at 2 p. m. Some one suggested that many did not know of their appointment. "Give me the list," cried Mayor d'Autremont," and I'll see that the police do the rest." And he did.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Larry the Lord."

"Larry the Lord" drew a fair audience at the Temple Saturday night, and on the whole a good show was presented. One thing that was very disappointing was that a number of the songs and features were cut out, the company desiring to get away on the night train. R. E. Graham constitues the major portion of the show, and his antics provoked great laughter. He is a fine singer. Miss Edith Craske is a brilliant premier danseuse and her pirouetting and dancing were very difficult and were gracefully executed.

Mme. Janauschek.

The tragedienne, Madame Janauschek, supported by a capable company of high grade artists, will give what may be termed as her farewell performance in Duluth at the Temple Opera house tomorrow evening, presenting for the first time in this city, her newest remarkable success, "The People's King," or "The Earl of Essex." In this play she will appear as Queen Elizabeth, a part that is well suited to her peculiar talent, and her characterization of Queen Elizabeth is said to be the best thing she has yet accomplished. Particular mention may also be made of Edmund Collier as Robert, earl of Essex. This gentleman has been successfully identified with some of the greatest legitimate successes, and is an actor of undoubted worth and dramatic powers.

The Bohemian Club.

The sale of seats for the Bohemian club entertainment tomorrow evening opened this morning, and there has been a brisk demand for them all day. The rehearsals have been in progress for some time and a finished performance will be given. The operetta "The King of the Cannibal Islands" is very musical and will be presented with a fine cast and an excellent chorus. A large number of the latest songs will be sung and many pretty features introduced. The staging is in charge of Arthur Miller and he will put forth the Lyceum's best. The farce "Ici on Parle Francais" is a delightful bit of nonsense and is sure to amuse if not to convulse the audience.

The Testimonial Concert.

The testimonial concert which will be given Miss Margaret McDonald at the Temple Wednesday evening will be unsurpassed in merit by any local musical entertainment given this year. Miss McDonald has frequently been heard in Duluth and is known to have one of the sweetest and most cultivated soprano voices in the city. She will sing two solo numbers. Miss Anna Farrell will sing also and since her excellent work in "Trial by Jury" and other entertainments needs no introduction. Sydney Brown will give two violin solos and the Arion quartet will sing.

Mr. Lammers was to have sung but will be absent from the city on the date. His place will be filled by George E. Knowles, of Superior, whose excellent baritone voice has made such a favorable impression here, the few times that he has been heard. He will sing an aria from "Don Munio" by Dudley Buck and Phillips "A Son of the Desert Am I." Mrs. L. N. Brochon, of Superior, was to have given piano numbers but has met with an accident. Mrs. John Loman will fill her place and her numbers will be Mills' "Waltz Caprice" and Ketten's "La Castaguette." The latter number she will play in the Cecilian society program which will be given at the World's fair.

CROWDS AT THE FAIR.

An Ideal Summer Day Brings Out Multitudes of Visitors to the Fair This Morning.

Formal Opening of the Electricity Building on Thursday, When All Exhibits Will be Complete.

An Exhibit of Ancient and Modern Equipment of Railroads Now Being Put in Position.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, May 29.—Cathedral bells pealed out from the towers of machinery hall this morning ringing in the fifth week of the exposition. An ideal summer day brought out a multitude of people and and augured well for the week's financial showing. The World's fair hotels on the outskirts of the park are beginning to open up for business and the proprietors are smiling because they have some guests for a change. People who live far away are now coming to see the fair, having held back on account of the weather and the incomplete condition of many things.

Rapid progress has been made in electricity building within the last two weeks, and Chief Barrett says all the illuminated features of the exhibits will be seen in operation when the formal opening takes place next Thursday. The sight promised will rival the electric display around the grand basin. The long siding leading from the main railway yards to the main entrances of mining, electricity and manufacturers buildings was taken up this morning. This is the last railroad track in the grounds, and it has delivered thousands of carloads of exhibits to the various buildings during the past few months. The earth will be smoothed over to hide the small ravine made by the track, and at its completion will add much to the appearance of administration plaza.

The work of installing the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad company's exhibition of ancient and modern equipment was in progress today at the south end of transportation building. The most attractive features of the exhibit are the Dewitt Clinton, one of the first engines built in this country, three passenger coaches which were constructed in 1813 and the New York Central's new mammoth locomotive No. 999. There are also cars of the latest design and equipment as well as a carload of pictures and railroad relics.

IMPORTATION OF LARD.

New Regulations by the Government of Venezuela.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Minister Partridge has forwarded to the state department a translation of the Venezuelan government's decree of March 16 last, regulating the importation of lard. This decree provides that lards introduced through the ports of Venezuela shall be appraised, under which is to be included not only that which is pure, but also mixtures known under the name of "oleomargarine."

Importers are required to present to custom houses, together with the accompanying consular invoices, an official certificate made by a chemist or expert of the material at the place of production, stating the quality of the lard and the nature and proportion of the substances of which it is formed in case of its being a mixture.

This, however, does not exempt the police officials of towns from examining as to whether lards offered for sale contain substances injurious to health.

No Revolution in Cali.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Herald's dispatch from Bogota denies the report that a revolution has been started in Cali and that Gen. Andrade, commander of the local battalion, had been killed. Gen. Andrade has sent a dispatch to the Colombian government announcing that everything is quiet in Cali and that no indication of trouble has appeared. A decree expelling the Chinese has been issued by the governor of San Salvador. The newspapers of Ecuador are protesting against the reported sale of Chatham island to the United States government for a coaling station.

Rogers' Body Found.

ST. PAUL, May 29.—The body of C. S. Rogers, president of the Northwestern Cordage works, who committed suicide on May 15, has been found in the Mississippi river at the fish hatchery, two and one-half miles below the bridge from which he leaped to his death. The body has been fully identified.

Epidemic of Influenza.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Herald's Panama, Colombia, special says: It is reported that 5000 residents of Pasto, Ecuador, are suffering from influenza. One-fourth of the cases proved fatal and the situation is said to be frightful. Citizens of Columbia who reside in the Caucua valley are complaining of the ravages of locusts.

SUNDAY OPENING A SUCCESS.

CHICAGO, May 29.—One hundred and twenty-five thousand people, after a week of toil, came to the World's fair grounds yesterday, and with souls freed from care, drank in inspiring music and feasted their eyes upon the artistic and natural beauties of the White City while their minds were improved by studying the works of genius and industry. It was the first open Sunday and it was a success.

The Sabbath sun was but two hours old when the people began to come into the grounds. All modes of transportation brought their quotas and from the steamer piers and the railroads came long lines of the people.

The masses did not begin to arrive until afternoon. Beginning about 2 o'clock the multitudes flocked into the grounds at every gate and by 4 o'clock 60,000 people were inside the inclosure. The people kept on coming the entire afternoon and overflowed into midway plaisance, whose every show was crowded, until the attendance mark had been elevated to 100,000.

After dark the grounds were lighted up, and this, together with other features of the illumination, attracted still more, and when the crowds were about to go home a conservative estimate placed their number for the day and evening at 125,000. It was an orderly, well-dressed crowd, which evidently was of the opinion that it had already been kept away from its property altogether too long, and they took possession in the name of the "toilers' day."

A BLOT ON HER HISTORY.

A New York Clergyman Discusses the Case of Dr. Briggs.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Rev. Madison C. Peters said yesterday in the course of his sermon on "Christian Sympathy:" It seems to be a foregone conclusion that Dr. Briggs must go, and it is to be regretted that a church so prominently identified with civil and religious liberty as the Presbyterian should now blot her history by turning a man out of her communion for saying things which do not exactly square with the Westminster confession of faith. There is not a man in the Presbyterian church who honestly preaches the doctrines as they are actually taught in that document. If there was such a man he would have to lock the door and bolt the windows to hold his congregation. Free research and free speech are the sacred rights of the people, and individuality of thought in religion the immortal principle of Protestantism.

Oppressing Foreigners.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Herald's special from La Libertad, San Salvador, says: News has reached here from Managua which indicates that President Sacaza, of Nicaragua, is treating foreign residents of that country with as much harshness as he visits upon citizens who impose upon him. Many Italians and Americans who reside in Managua are said to have been sent to prison because they spoke in opposition to Sacaza's government.

Stabbed to the Heart.

WHITE EARTH, Minn., May 29.—Shoe-Waw-Ge-Skig, the venerable Chippewa chieftian, was stabbed to the heart at Cass Lake reservation and instantly killed at the hands of an assassin. The chief's relatives immediately gave pursuit, captured the assassin and meted him summary vengeance with a rope. The trouble was the outcome of a feud.

AN IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

Direction of Winds for Considerable Periods Can be Predicted.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The chart to be issued this week by the hydrographic office of the navy will, it is expected, announce to the world one of the most important discoveries in the annals of hydography.

Lieut. Richardson Clover, the hydrographic officer, according to the Post, has discovered that the direction of the wind and also of all the great ocean currents closely conforms to the lines of barometic pressure. These lines, or curves as they are generally called, seem in fact to suggest the flow of the great ocean currents of wind and water.

Knowing the conformation of these barometic curves, it is possible to predict the direction of the winds for considerable periods and also to inform mariners in advance what changes in the flow of the ocean currents may be expected.

This Chinaman May Enter.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Attorney General Olney has decided that Yung Hon, a restaurant keeper, is not a laborer. Hon, who is in business in New York, went to China on a visit and upon his return was refused admission on the ground that he was a laborer and not a merchant, and the case was appealed to the attorney general.

Shot by a Widow.

DALLAS, Tex., May 29.—Mrs. Lillian Reeves, a handsome widow of 20 years, fired six bullets into Louis Longennetti as rapidly as a double-action revolver could eject them. He had repeatedly insulted her after having an altercation with her. She was arrested but will probably not be prosecuted.

IT MAY BE A MURDER.

He is Accused of Rape and Attempted Abortion, His Victim Being Nellie Sutherland.

She is Now in a Precarious Condition and is Not Expected to Live.

Father Connelly, of Two Harbors, was arrested yesterday on a most serious charge. He is accused of both rape and attempted abortion. The victim is Nellie Sutherland, 18 years old, and an adopted daughter of M. F. Hannon. It is charged that some time ago he made improper approaches to the girl and when she refused to accede to his desires overcame her by force.

Some time since it was developed that the girl was pregnant, and to conceal his shame and that of the girl, the priest two or three days ago attempted to perform an abortion. It was unsuccessful and the girl is now at death's door. The condition of affairs was discovered by Father Buh, of Tower. It is therefore probable that Father Connelly may have to answer to a charge of murder or manslaughter.

It will perhaps be remembered that Father Connelly was in trouble last year at Crookston. He was then accused of getting some woman drunk and of having improper relations with her. He was suspended but claimed it was blackmail. An investigation was granted and he was reinstated.

He Was a Painter.

The police had raided a gambling place, and one of the captured players was put on the witness stand at the trial.

"You were in the room at the time of the raid?" asked the attorney after some preliminary questions.

"Yes, sir."

"And what did you do when the police entered?"

"I made a bolt for the back door."

"Ah," queried the attorney, "are you a blacksmith?"

"No, sir; I'm a painter by trade."

"Then how could you make a bolt for the back door?" smiled the attorney.

"Aw," he said. "I made a sneak to get out that way."

"Oh, is that it?" said the attorney. "Well, hereafter confine yourself to intelligible English." and the examination proceeded.—Detroit Free Press.

Sure to Be Fresh.

Once when taking breakfast at a hotel in Richmond John Randolph complained that the eggs were not fresh. "If you want fresh eggs, waiter, always buy them in Chesterfield" (a county just across the James). "How come Chesterfield eggs better'n Henrico eggs, sah?" "Because, you rascal, the Chesterfield people are too poor to keep theirs long." —Argonaut.

A Last Request.

"Before the fatal moment arrives," said the condemned man, "I want to make a last request."

"What is it?" said the warden.

"I want you to get me a brand new pair of socks. For the past year I have been wearing some that my wife darned, and now I want to die in peace."—Quips.

R. A. Vogt, amateur champion of Scotland, is reported to have lowered all records from 2 to 10 miles on the Herne hill track. The time for the 10 miles is given as 24 minutes 34 seconds. This is 16 seconds better than the previous record held by F. G. Osmond.

Who Wins the Prize?

BOYS, READ THIS, AND GIRLS, TOO.

Explanation of Our Offer:

THE DULUTH EVENING HERALD will publish seven short articles, this being No. 4. No. 5 will appear Tuesday, May 30th; No. 6, Wednesday, May 31st; No. 7, Thursday, June 1st. No. 1 appeared Thursday, May 25; No. 2, Friday, May 26; No. 3, Saturday, May 27. In each article there will appear one or more words in BLACK-FACED TYPE. There are eight such words in all, out of which we have constructed a sentence.

The boy or girl who first puts this sentence together correctly and sends us the answer, will receive a full set of the famous Minneapolis Tribune edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, together with the beautiful Book Case made to hold it. The prize will go to the one whose answer is first received at this office.

One volume of the Encyclopedia will be presented to every boy or girl sending the correct answer, any time before the award is made.

To insure absolute fairness, we have placed the sentence in a sealed envelope in the custody of Professor Arthur F. M. Custance, Acting Principal of the Central High School.

The award will be made Monday, June 5th, four days after the last of these seven articles is published.

Address answers to EDITOR BOYS' AND GIRLS' PRIZE, DULUTH EVENING HERALD.

Shakespeare's Seven Ages of Man.

IV.

"Then a soldier,
Full of strange oaths and bearded like the pard,
Jealous in honor, sudden and quick in quarrel,
Seeking the bubble reputation
Even in the cannon's mouth."—"AS YOU LIKE IT."

There is no better weapon for a soldier than the Encyclopedia Britannica. This may sound strange, but it is nevertheless true.

The knowledge of warfare that he can obtain from reading the great authority arms him at all points and prepares him to cope with the best equipped enemy. The swaggering soldier of Shakespeare's time, "full of strange oaths" and "sudden and quick in quarrel," still exists in some European countries, but the American soldier is a man who prefers peace, but fights for principle. When he does fight, he fights hard and scientifically. The science of war teaches him to prevail against enormous odds.

The science of war, like other sciences, is amply treated in the Enclycopedia Britannica. There the soldier can learn the laws and usages of warfare as laid down in Lieber's Code. He can learn what tactics to employ in battle, and what are the articles of war. If he is A statesman, as many of our soldiers are, he can learn of the influences of war on emigration and the rules regarding international law. Last, but not least, in the soldier's estimation, are the prices of war, and of these the Britannica also treats.

The training and diet of soldiers are subjects of great importance, and are thoroughly handled in the Encyclopedia.

This great book will teach the soldier all about all kinds of cannon in whose mouth he seeks the "bubble reputation."

It will teach him all about armies, and their employment in war; of official precedence in armies; of barracks, court-martial, transport corps and military societies. It will insure him against defeat.

Are we not right, then, in calling this work, which the soldier can obtain for 10 cents a day, his most useful weapon. This set is on exhibition in banking room, in front of The Herald office.

Modesty.

A certain well known writer is a great stickler for terms in defining professions. "I am a literary woman," she announces —"not a journalist."

Though she carefully abstains from any slur on the profession of journalism, she evidently feels it to be "a notch below" her own chosen plane.

When the "census man," as the landlady characterized him, came to the boarding house where Miss D—— lived, he asked the usual questions in regard to the inmates.

"I am so sorry to disturb you," said the landlady, coming to Miss D——'s room, "but he wants to know all the professions. What shall I tell him about yours?"

"That is very difficult to tell in one word," replied Miss D——. "I do literary work, but I am not a journalist."

Still the landlady lingered.

"You might say exactly that," continued Miss D——. "I do not care to be known as a journalist. Indeed I have not the slightest claim to be considered one."

"Oh, Miss D——," urged the landlady, "you're too modest!"—Youth's Companion.

An Optical Illusion.

Said Eli Perkins: The great complaint of all the lecturers is about poor hotels, but I made up my mind 15 years ago that I would never find any fault with a hotel. I was a soldier in the war and often slept on the ground and ate raw bacon and would have mortgaged my soul for a fried onion or a saucer full of cabbage. One day, down in Tennessee, I broke over my rule. The feed was bad, and everybody was grumbling. After paying for my dinner I said to the landlord:

"That's nice food on the table there!"

"What's the matter with that food?"

"Why, it's terrible. Those lamb chops are tough enough to break a man's teeth."

"What lamb chops?" asked the landlord, with an alarming earnestness.

"Why, those lamb chops over there," pointing to the middle of the table.

"And you're been eatin 'em?"

"Tried to."

"Why, heavens, man, those are not lamb chops: they are terra cotta ornaments for the table. And you've gone and eaten half of 'em up! Well—well"—

But I never heard the end of the sentence.—Hotel World.

A FULL EDUCATION.

The Best Results of the Latest Knowledge.

There is not an intelligent man in the world but appreciates the value of an education and has occasion many times to regret the fact that he has either tailed to take advantage of early opportunities or perhaps been deprived altogether of the advantage of higher educational institutions in earlier life. It is too late for him to take up a regular course of study, there being no time to devote to it amid the myriad cares of active life.

But the next thing to a college course is the possession of the results of the ripe scholarship of others, and when these results are opitomized the one who has them at command has actually the cream of a college education.

How to get these results is an important question, but we have answered it for our readers by putting within their reach that incomparable reference library, the Minneapolis Tribune's edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica. It can now be secured free by the fortunate person in The Duluth Evening Herald's prize contest, which is explained in another part of The Evening Herald.

A Narrow Escape.

Engine 51, of the St. Paul & Duluth, struck John Kiley, a stranger, near the Summit near Stillwater on Saturday. He was sitting on the ties just outside of the rail and the step of the engine struck him on the right side. He was taken to the city hospital at Stillwater, where an examination showed that he was badly bruised, but that no bones were broken. Kiley says he came from Carlton, Minn., were he had been working for H. H. Hawkins.

Made Chief of a Division.

A Washington dispatch says that Charles Maginnis, son of C. P. Maginnis, of Duluth, has been made chief of a division in the pension office, on recommendation of Maj. Baldwin. Another dispatch says: "Secretary Smith has promised a number of important appointments in Minnesota in a very short time, and among them are a successor to Monroe Nichols at Duluth, a register at Crookston, and perhaps changes in several other land offices. Representative Baldwin looks for early action in the case of Nichols."

A NATIONAL MEETING.

Two Hundred Delegates Will be in Attendance and Will Remain Here Three Days.

Local Division Arranging for Their Entertainment—Boat Excursions and Rides to be Given.

On June 14 there will convene in Duluth a national convention, a fact of which but few Duluthians are probably aware. This is the national convention of the Railway Yardmasters association of the United States and Canada. The session will open on that date and will continue for three days, Odd Fellows hall on Lake avenue being used for the assembly hall.

This convention will bring to the city about 200 delegates from every part of the United States and Canada and a large number will bring ladies, so that fully 300 people may be expected. Whaleback division No. 21 has undertaken their entertainment, a by no means light task. A committee consisting of E. S. Richards, general yardmaster, and T. Dewey, assistant general yardmaster of the Northern Pacific road, at Duluth; Ed Digle, general yardmaster master of the Omaha road; J. McNaught, general yardmaster of the Great Northern; and D. Clark, general yardmaster of the Terminal company, at Superior, is in charge of arrangements and is actively at work preparing for the entertainment of the guests.

The session will continue from 10 o'clock to 4 o'clock each day with an intermission at noon. Following the afternoon session each day some form of entertainment will be arranged. There will be steamboat excursions on the bay and lake, drives about the boulevard and trips to the pavilion.

J. O. Hicks, of Indianapolis, president of the national association, and R. F. Marshall, of Cincinnati, grand secretary and treasurer, are sending out notices urging all associations to send delegates. The roads furnish free transportation and the Pullman company gives free sleeping car passes one way to delegates.

An Outrageous Lie.

Some person of small mental caliber has been circulating the report the last few days that the Ossifrage had been withdrawn from the Chicago business, had been condemned and would soon go out of commission. There is not a boat on the great lakes with better boiler and engine or stouter hull than the Ossifrage, and far from being condemned, she is rated with the best. She is the fastest passenger boat entering Duluth harbor and the most elegantly equipped. The boat is here, and any person has full permission and privilege to make a thorough investigation. Many persons might prefer to patronize larger boats, even be they old and rotten, of which the defunct Winslow is an example, merely because they are of greater tonnage; but size does not mean safety, and the Ossifrage is new throughout and sound in every plank.

Her first trip to Chicago will be made June 11, the first trip being abandoned on account of the backward season and the incomplete state of the fair. By that date everything will be just right for wholesale enjoyment, and Chicago will be cooler and fresher than any other month during the fair. The general manager, Mr. Eldridge, desires to present his compliments to the unmitigated prevaricator who has circulated this report, and begs to inform him that the Ossifrage will have all she can do to take care of applicants even considering his adverse advertisement.

Notice!

The judges of election in the different districts of the city must call at the city clerk's office for their ballot boxes today as the office will be closed on Decoration day, May 30th.

CHARGES INSUFFICIENT.

Some Extracts From the Decision in the Fire Commissioners Case.

The full decision in the fire commissioners case or as the correct name is, the State of Minnesota ex rel, James Hart, Jr., et al relators vs. Common Council of the City of Duluth, respondents, was received here today. The syllabus has been published in The Herald heretofore but there are some interesting points in the opinion, although the larger portion of it is a detailed discussion of the legal question.

In reference to the charges the court says: "Upon examination of the charges in this case we are clearly of the opinion that they are not sufficient in law. Considering them as a whole they show on their face that they were not formulated in a very judicial frame of mind. They read more like a heated, hostile declamation than a calm, deliberate statement of charges with a view to a fair investigation."

The opinion closes as follows: "We may say, however, that a perusal of it (the evidence) impresses us with the feeling that it furnished no reasonable basis for the action of the council in removing the relators from office. It is perfectly apparent that this whole trouble grew out of a foolish quarrel between the common council and the board of fire commissioners over the suspension by the latter of a fireman by the name of Twaddle."

Whereas the Duluth stock exchange is deeply interested in all that tends to benefit the city of Duluth and county of St. Louis, materially and financially, and whereas we have been unable from the limited information we can gain to see any commensurate benefit in the proposition of the Minnesota Canal company for bonding this county in the sum of $600,000 for the construction of an artificial waterway, Resolved that this exchange does hereby unqualifiedly express its disapproval of any grant of bonds to this company at this time.

THERE IS A LEAK

Big Difference Between the Size of Sunday's Crowd and the Number of Tickets Received.

Most Estimates Made the Attendance Double What it Was According to the Ticket Record.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, May 30.—The difference between the size of Sunday's crowd and the number of tickets received by the admissions bureau is to be investigated by World's fair officials. Two or three of the leading spirits place Sunday's crowd at 200,000, others at 150,000, while the United Press sent out the conservative estimate of 125,000. All of these figures, according to the bureau of admissions, are wrong as they have returns from but 94,857 people.

The officials think the highest estimate is nearly right and will try to find out today or tomorrow whether or not there is a leak. There is no way of estimating accurately the crowd beyond the returns from the gates. The grounds and buildings cover so much territory that even those accustomed to estimating crowds can hardly form an intelligent idea. Any one of the great exhibit buildings can swallow a crowd of many thousands and give no hint.

At one time Sunday afternoon, for instance, the fisheries building, which always attracts its share of visitors, was so crowded that it was difficult to get into the aquarium wing, let alone see any of the fish. Then there are hundreds of by ways such as the side shows on the plaisance. There was not a time for instance during the afternoon when there were less than 5000 people in the German village, and unless the visitor went inside the gates he would pass them by in the count.

Director General Davis was one of those who personally looked over the crowds of Sunday. He said yesterday: "The question of Sunday's crowd is one that is giving the officials much concern. There is nothing to prove that there were more people in the grounds than is indicated by the report of the department of admissions. I cannot believe, however, that the 94,000 reported or the 110,000 estimated by the bureau of admissions by any means indicates the real number there were inside Jackson Park and Midway plaisance. I do not feel, however, that the matter should be discussed at the present time. "However, I made a tour of the entire grounds at 3 o'clock and at that time I am convinced there were 150,000 people in the grounds. I had men watching the gates to see how the crowds were coming and they reported a steady stream all the afternoon. There must have been considerably over 200,000 people in the grounds. I have brought the matter to the attention of the proper persons and an investigation will be made."

Director Burnham said that he was satisfied that there were 200,000 people on the grounds. There is no suspicion of wrong doing in any of the departments. Nevertheless it remains to be settled where, when and how nearly 100,000 people got in. There are several ways in which it is known that the gates were swindled Sunday though how largely is a matter of uncertainty.

People who came in on workingmen's passes afterwards handed them out in various ways to friends on the outside so that one ticket served for several admissions. During the day ninety men were caught attempting this piece of petty swindling. Other people were bold enough to try the same trick with photograph passes and eight of these passes were taken from people who were caught in the act. It is also suspected that single admission passes and souvenir tickets which had been held out early in the day and disposed of by dishonest gatemen were used, thus swelling the crowd without increasing the gate receipts.

Today's crowd at the fair was a true exemplification of a holiday assemblage, and the fine weather that has graced the morning gave a wholesome touch to decoration day and rendered the enjoyment of the occasion complete in every way. All modes of transportation were taxed early and the crowd, long before noon, was running in close competition to that of Sunday. But the multitudes did not move until the afternoon. The closing of all down town stores at noon sent the thousands of employes to the exposition and those together with other visitors from far and near swelled the crowd to about 60,000.

Tonight will be an "open outing" and as most of those on the grounds will remain and be augmented by the arrivals after dark to view the beauties of the illumination it is thought the 100,000 mark will be approached, if not quite exceeded, when the gates shall have closed for the night.

The music, begun at 10 o'clock in the open air, was of patriotic nature befitting the day. The three bands gave continuous concerts until late in the evening and their programs were well compiled. The venerable Fred Douglass with his aureole of gray hair is the Carter H. Harrison of the exposition. Although his color prevents the possibility of laying claim to more than one nationality or race, he has been a conspicuous figure at every important function and entertainment connected with the fair since the dedication of the buildings last October.

Everybody from every nation assembled here who has heard or read of the rebellion and slavery's overthrow knows that the aged negro played a prominent part in the struggle. The building of the Haytien republic is nearly ready to be opened, but it is not likely that the ex-American minister to the turbulent island will be one of the invited guests, as he is still considered to be persona non grata.

A life-size bust of Sir John Macdonald, Canada's deceased premier, has been placed in the Ontario mineral exhibit in mines and mining. The figure is paraffine wax and is an excellent copy of Hamilton McCarthy's marble bust of the dead statesman, which is to be erected in Canada.

The pride of the Montana mining display—the silver statue of justice—was unveiled this afternoon in the mines and mining building in the presence of a tremendous crowd. The ceremonies began shortly before 3 o'clock and were very brief. Maj. Martin Maginnis, of Helena, made a short address as the ceremonies began. After music by the band, J. M. Quinn, editor of the Butte Miner, made a short speech, after which there was a slight pause.

Mrs. E. J. Richards, wife of the governor of Montana, then came forward and made a short address. Closing with the words "Let justice with unbandaged eyes now grace the throne," she pulled the cord which loosened the veil and the beautiful statue was revealed to the admiring throng. After the statue had been inspected by the invited guests, ropes were thrown aside and the public admitted. The invited guests were then taken in coaches to the Montana state building where a luncheon was served.

Miss Ada Rehan, the model of the statue, was invited and urgently requested to be present. However, the famous actress did not come, objecting on the ground that she would be an object of curiosity and comparison. She has deferred her visit to a more opportune time. Governor Rickards was not present, being detained in Montana by duty connected with the location of state educational institutions.

With the unveiling of the statue, the Montana mining exhibit was opened for public inspection. It contains some handsome collections of silver crystals, rich silver and gold ores and specimens, lead, copper, coal, iron and building stone mined in the state. A fine collection of gold ores and nuggets is expected to arrive in a few days, when they will be placed on exhibition.

Her Body Found.

AKRON, O., May 30.—The body of Miss Martha Kline, who, with Gustav Schuler, was hurled from the Glens bridge on the night of May 8 on account of missing planks, was found on an island in the Cuyahoga river two miles below the Glens by a fisherman Saturday. Every stitch of clothing except shoes and stockings had been torn off. The mother identified the body.

SIX MEN KILLED

A Special Circus Train on the Tyrone & Clearfield Railroad Wrecked in Pennsylvania This Morning.

Animals, Men and Broken Cars Piled Up on the Ground and Six Men Killed Outright.

Twelve or Thirteen Other Men Were Badly Wounded and Some of Them Will Die.

Several Lions and Tigers Made Their Escape, But Were Captured After Killing Several Animals.

TYRONE, Pa., May 30.—This morning a special train on the Tyrone & Clearfield railroad composed of Walter Mains' circus, got beyond the control of the trainmen and came down the mountain with fearful rapidity. At Vail Station the train was wrecked and animals, men and broken cars were piled up on the ground. Several tigers and lions made their escape, and only after the greatest exertion were they captured, and then not until one of the tigers had killed several domestic animals in the neighborhood.

Six men were killed outright and twelve or fourteen others badly wounded, some of them fatally. The circus is a complete wreck and will take several days to get the property together. The wreck is one of the worst that has occurred on this division and the worst in number of lives lost.

The injured were brought to the hospital in this city. They are: J. Chambers (colored), Chambersburg, Pa., bitten severely by lion; Willis O. Brannen, Chambers, Pa., scalp wound; Arthur Richards, Peachville, Pa., wounded about the face; George Corlin, Hollidaysburg, Pa., contusion of chest; Frank Barrett, Tarantum, contusion of the left arm; David Jones, Harrisburg, sprained leg; Frank Morse, Rochester, N. Y., wounded about the head; William Evans, Williamstown, right ankle injured; William Patchel, Dubois, contusion of left knee; James Haney, Albert, Pa., badly injured about body.

FIREBUGS IN CLEVELAND.

A Deliberate Attempt to Start a Big Conflagration.

CLEVELAND, May 30.—The city is at the mercy of a band of determined and reckless firebugs. Yesterday morning near Doan street two unoccupied buildings were fired and several lives imperiled. An attempt was made to draw the fire apparatus away from the central portion of the city, and in order to cripple its work many hydrants in the East End were opened and left pouring water into the streets.

Chief Dickinson said: "Five alarms were sent in for a fire on Lindus street, the first by a policeman and the rest by miscreants who smashed the fire alarm boxes to pieces. Half a dozen engines were sent out needlessly. It was a deliberate attempt to start a big conflagration. I think the majority of incendiary fires were started by boys."

Graves Goes Free.

DENVER, Col., May 30.—The prosecution has abandoned the case against Dr. Graves, of Providence, R. I., who was charged with the murder of Mrs. Barnaby and he was given his liberty yesterday. A new trial was set for June 14, but it is believed the case will never be called.

He Blew Out the Gas.

CHICAGO, May 30.—John W. Bull, of Colorado Springs, was found dead in his room at the Louisiana hotel at Seventy-first street and Seipp avenue yesterday morning. Fumes of gas filled the room and had caused asphyxiation.

THREE MEN PARDONED.

President Cleveland Exercises His Pardoning Power.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The president has pardoned Henry E. Donnell, of Oklahoma, sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the Minnesota penitentiary for perjury. The action is taken in order to restore the rights of citizenship to Donnell and in the interests of justice, as his testimony is needed in further prosecutions.

A pardon has also been granted to August Sweson, of Kansas, sentenced to one year's imprisonment for adultery, and to Julius Hess, of Illinois, fined $1000 for violation of the contract labor laws, in the latter case the prisoner paying to the United States $50 and the costs of prosecution.

A PRETTY BAD FAILURE.

The Yates Schedules Do Not Make a Good Showing.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 30.—The Yates schedules were filed yesterday. They show total assets of the nominal value of $3,913,984, actual value $2,636,614, total indebtedness $2,757,040, contingent liabilities $1,862,825, total liabilities $4,118,863.

The secured liabilities amount to about $1,250,312. The assets hypothecated to secure this indebtedness leave only about $500,000 with which to meet unsecured and contingent claims. The unsecured liabilities amount to $1,560,162 and the contingent, as already stated, to $1,361,823.

FOOD YOU GET AT THE FAIR.

DUNDAS, Minn., May 30.—One of the most sensational schemes ever attempted in a "business" way has just come to light here and is the rolling gossip of the day.

A Dundas man has for the past few weeks, it is claimed and not denied, been traveling through the counties of Rice, Goodhue and Dakota buying up all the calves he can which have just been dropped, all others refused, for which he pays 50 cents. These calves, yet moist, are taken to his farm at Stanton, about seven miles north of this city, where they are killed, skinned and chopped up—lights, livers and bones—and packed into boxes and shipped to a Chicago firm.

The Chicago firm puts them through some process and sells them to the World's fair restaurants for "pressed chicken," and they are dealt out to hungry people on the grounds. This man has shipped large quantities of these calves, for which he gets $2 each.

Numerous farmers admit that they sold him the calves, but deny that they knew what he was doing with them.

WHY NOT PENNSYLVANIA?

The New York Times on the States' War on Trusts.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The Times says: "It is reported that, in answer to the invitation from Minnesota's governor, nearly all of the states have appointed delegates to the convention which is to be held next week for the consideration of the trust question, and that Pennsylvania is one of the two or three states that are not to be represented. It was the purpose of the fathers of this convention that the subject to be considered first of all should be the exactions of the Anthracite coal combination and plans for applying a remedy. We do not see why Pennsylvania should not manifest a sympathetic interest in this movement. The governor began local proceeding against the combination some time ago, although it is true that thus far they have come to nothing. And when the recent history of the Reading company is reviewed there is disclosed some ground for the opinion that Pennsylvania has suffered as severely as any other state because of exactions and operations of the combination."

BANK AT FARGO CLOSED.

Ashley Mears' Institution Closed By the Bank Examiner.

FARGO, N. D., May 30.—The bank of E. Ashley Mears was closed yesterday by the national bank examiner under orders from the comptroller of the currency. The First National bank of Dakota, N. D., was also closed. The examiner would give out no statement, but Cashier Mears said the indebtedness does not exceed $60,000 with assets five times that amount. The bank was called the National Bank of North Dakota and was mainly a clearing house for the system of banks owned by Mears and his system of loan agencies. It had very few depositors in Fargo. No other Fargo bank is affected.

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

A Wealthy Citizen of Mansfield, O., Met His Death.

MANSFIELD, O., May 30.—James Dickson, aged about 70 years, was struck and instantly killed at the Orange street crossing by a west bound Pennsylvania railroad train about 2 o'clock this morning. Mr. Dickson was one of Mansfield's wealthiest citizens; his wealth being estimated at from $300,000 to $400,000.

He had been dissipating for the past week and it is said that to this is due the accident. Mr. Dickson has been in the grocery business in this city for many years. He leaves a family of four or five persons.

FORCED INTO LIQUIDATION.

Business of the Big Stone Gap Land Company to be Wound Up.

BRISTOL, Tenn., May 30.—The Big Stone Gap Land company, capitalized at $2,000,000 and with a bonded indebtedness of $1,000,000, was forced into liquidation yesterday by a suit entered in the United States district court at Abingdon by Messrs. William McGeorge, Jr., John H. Dingee, John C. Bullitt, Samuel W. Coulty, Jr., and Dr. William Pepper, all of Philadelphia, and stockholders in the company.

The bill filed alleges gross mismanagement of the affairs and misappropriation of its funds. Messrs. H. Clint Wood, of Bristol, and J. K. Taggart, of Stone Gap, were appointed receivers to wind up its business.

A Strange Case.

FAIRMONT, Minn., May 30.—A case of almost inhuman brutality has just come to the light of the public. The 14 year-old daughter of William Behrens, a farmer, living eight miles north of Fairmont, gave birth last week to a child. The girl swears that she does not know who is the father of her child or that liberties were ever taken with her by any man. The supposition is that she was chloroformed and while in an insensible condition her ruin was accomplished. The hired man, who was employed on the farm last year, was in the habit of being with the children frequently, and it is supposed that he is the guilty party, for during the past week he has departed for parts unknown.

A Fit of Economy.

CHICAGO, May 30.—A meeting of the Minnesota state board of World's fair managers will occur tomorrow at the state building. A decided feeling of economy has taken possession of some the members, and it is probable that there will be some difference of opinion at that meeting. Some employes at the state building are on the anxious seat, fearing that their necks may come off.

GEN. WEISSERT TALKS

Surprised at the Fuss and Discussion Over the Farnham Post Matter in New York.

Claims it Has Nothing to do With the Grand Army's Position on Pension Matters.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The Times' Jacksonville, Fla., special says: Gen. A. G. Weissert, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, was here yesterday on an official visit of inspection to the Florida department. In an interview he said he was surprised at the fuss and discussion provoked by the Farnham post affair in New York city which he explained had nothing to do with the position of the G. A. R. on the pension question or its attitude toward the present federal administration. Farnham post had its charter taken away from it, because when it promulgated those resolutions it acted in violation of the regulations of the Grand Army of the Republic and defied the authority of the organization when the attention of its officers was called to that violation.

"Just to show how absurd is the criticism upon the action of the G. A. R. organization in this matter, I have only to cite to you another instance where the post followed the rule. In New York city there is a Grand Army of the Republic post, which some of the boys call the 'high toned post.' I found in my mail some resolutions passed by that post. To it belong such veterans as Chauncey M. Depew, Gen. Horace Porter, Gen. O. O. Howard and other soldiers of almost equal prominence.

"These resolutions were in the same line as those of Farnham post, but the Lafayette men had some respect for the rules of the order. They sent them to the proper office to get permission to promulgate and such permission was duly endorsed on them. Then they reached me through the usual channel and I promptly endorsed them with my official approval. The same mail train which took to New York my sanction of revoking of Farnham's post charter took also to New York my approval of a set of the same kind of resolutions passed by Lafayette post. It was simply a matter of preserving discipline, you see."

As to the policy of the Grand Army of the Republic on the pension question the general simply pointed to paragraph 8, of his general order, issued last January, as follows: "Every member of the order is solemnly obligated to encourage honor and purity in public affairs; it is therefore enjoined upon comrades to report promptly to the commissioner of pensions, Washington, D. C., any known case in which a pension is being received fraudulently."

DUPLICATE CABLE LAID.

Two Men Drowned While Landing the Shore End.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The Herald's Peru special cable says: The duplicate cable of the Central and South American Telegraph company was completed yesterday. It was laid by the steamer Silvertown from Salina Cruze, Mexico, to Chrollios, Peru, via San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, and Santa Etena, Ecuador, in three sections. The total length of the cable is 2524 miles.

An unfortunate loss of life occurred in landing the shore end at Salina Cruze May 1. A surf boat was capsized and Mr. Lumsden, electrician, son of Mr. Lumsden of the British postoffice telegraph department, with Wm. Armes, cable foreman, were drowned.

White Cherokees Want to Vote.

TAHLEQUAH, I. T., May 30.—The white citizens of the Cherokee Nation met here yesterday and took the initiative steps looking towards the organization of a self-protective association, the principal object of which will be to fully establish their status as citizens.

STRICKEN DEAD.

TRUSTWORTHY STATEMENTS.

A recent New York dispatch reads: "James C. H———, a fine looking and apparently healthy man, was observed to stagger while walking on Fifth Avenue this afternoon, and after taking one or two uncertain steps fell to the sidewalk. When picked up he was dead. A physician examined the body, and pronounced heart disease the cause of death. A peculiarly sad feature of the case is that Mr. H——— was on his way to Maine, to settle in the home of his boyhood. He had passed the previous ten years in the western mining country, and had amassed a fortune. IF YOU have any of the symptoms given in the following testimonials you should lose no time in seeking relief.

From John L. Roberts, Slatington, Pa.: "I have suffered with palpitation, irregular pulse, fainting and smothering spells, pain in shoulders, side, and arms for over forty years. For twelve years have been treated without avail by prominent physicians in my neighborhood and in New York. Growing constantly worse, smothering spells followed one another, so my life was often in danger and I needed constant care. As my son had been cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, he sent me three bottles. The first dose gave me instant relief. Before using the last bottle I was completely cured. Although seventy-five years old I feel twenty years younger. I claim my cure to be almost a miracle."

Here is a letter from Mrs. John Kolges, of Cleveland, O.: "I had been troubled with my heart and stomach for years, but for sixteen months had been confined to my bed. I had four of the best doctors in the city, but none of them could benefit the weakness of my heart. I also had dropsy and rheumatism. I never took medicine that relieved me at once as Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure does. I am much stronger. My appetite is splendid. I gain strength with every dose. I have gained more in six weeks from your treatment than in sixteen months from all the doctors."

SLAVIN KNOCKED OUT.

Jim Hall Had an Easy Victory in Seven Rounds.

LONDON, May 30.—Jim Hall met Frank Slavin at the National Sporting club last night for $2500 a side and a purse of $3500, and knocked him out in the seventh round. The fight was a disappointment to the spectators.

Slavin was the favorite in the betting up to the opening of the first round, but from the beginning he made a poor showing. He was completely outgeneraled at every point by Hall, and was unable to offer even enough resistance to make the contest exciting.

When time was called, Slavin's face wore a peculiar, dazed expression. He lurched heavily twice, as he left his corner, and was generally unsteady in his gait. After sparring for a few seconds he walked directly up to Hall and was received with a staggering right hander, which almost floored him. Throughout the round he never closed his glove and when time was called went to his corner, amid the hissing and groaning of the spectators.

The spectators hooted Slavin as he was carried to his corner in the seventh round. Disappointment and dissatisfaction with the fight are generally expressed. Slavin was seconded by Jack Start and Jim R. Bevan and was attended also by his brother Jack. Charley Mitchell and Sam Blakelock; ex-champion lightweight, seconded Hall. Paser umpired for Slavin and Lord Lonsdale for Hall.

ERROR IN THE BIBLE.

Another Presbyterian Heretic Makes a Declaration of Independence.

CLEVELAND, O., May 30.—A sensational incident occurred at the Euclid Avenue Presbyterian church Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Sprecher, was defining his position in regard to the errors of the Bible. He declared that he would not be a slave and say that the scriptures are without error.

As this last sentence fell from the speaker's lips the congregation, who had been hanging on every word with rapt attention, burst into a mighty storm of hand-clapping. Where it started no one knew. It came at once from no quarter in particular and was carried to the remotest corners of the church. It continued unceasingly for nearly a minute.

TRAGEDY IN ARKANSAS.

A Marshal's Party Fired Upon by Moonshiners.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 30.—News has reached here of a tragedy which took place eighteen miles north of Russellville, Ark., yesterday.

While the United States marshal and his party was conveying a prisoner from Newton county to Fort Smith, several volleys were fired from ambush while passing a point in Martin township called Bull Frog valley, killing one man named Harrison, who had just been deputized for the occasion and wounding another.

A NEBRASKA CHURCH ROW.

The People Stand by a Priest Who Was Suspended.

OMAHA, Neb., May 30.—Bishop Bonacum and Father Smith, of Lincoln, went down to Palmyra on Saturday to take possession of the church of which Father Corbett is pastor. The bishop suspended Corbett last week and attempted to install Father Smith in his place.

Saturday the congregation assembled and refused him possession of the church. Some of them threatened to throw him into the river and he was made to leave town and return to Lincoln that evening. Father Corbett celebrated mass for his people regardless of his suspension.

Was Addicted to Drink.

CHICAGO, May 30.—An inquest was held yesterday on the body of F. H. Milburn, the son of W. H. Milburn, the blind chaplain of the United States senate, who killed himself Sunday at the Saratoga hotel. The fact was brought out that the young man committed suicide because he despaired of being able to conquer his habit for liquor and had concluded to end his life. Chaplain Milburn, who is at Jacksonville, Ill., telegraphed that the remains be sent to him there for burial.

Tax War Settled.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 30.—The Muhlenburg county railroad tax war has been settled for the present. Yesterday at Greenville the county court after a meeting which was attended by 2000 people levied an assessment of $1 on the $100 to pay the judgment and costs in the case of the Citizens National bank of Evansville. The property seized will be returned and the deputy marshals will be withdrawn.

THE ONE MAN SYSTEM

A World's Fair Commissioner Discusses the Thacher Plan for Making Awards at the Fair.

He Thinks the Adverse Criticism is Largely Due to a Misunderstanding of the System.

A Denial That the Charges in the Restaurants on the Grounds Are Extortionate Now.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Hon. James D. Butt, World's fair commissioner from West Virginia, has just returned from a month's stay in Chicago and speaks interestingly of some features of the exposition. "I think the adverse criticism of Hon. John Boyd Thacher largely due," said Mr. Butt, "to a misunderstanding of his system of making awards. He has given this matter more study than any man in the country and has spent over two years in investigating the systems pursued by other expositions.

"While his plan has been stigmatized as a one man system there is nothing arbitrary about it for, as Mr. Thacher says, the rule is flexible. As I understand it, the foreigners may have one or more judges where one judge passes upon a subject his decision is subject to review. Thacher's idea is that greater impartiality may be had when the responsibility of giving the diploma is thrown on one man. The national commission at its session just adjourned refused to change Mr. Thacher's plan and I take it for granted it will be carried out.

"All the confusion and misunderstanding that has arisen since the fair opened grew out of the fact that there were too many heads causing a multiplicity of orders and a conflict of authority. Within the next week there will be a great change, for the whole management is to henceforth be under one executive head and that will be Director General Davis. He is an executive officer of superb ability, and when he takes supreme command the great enterprise will be an assured success.

"As for extortionate charges I have been in every restaurant on the grounds and was not required to pay more than I am ordinarily charged in Washington. The service is uniformly good. It is a little expensive, to be sure, to take in the novel shows in the Midway plaisance, but wherever one goes in this world seeking for entertainment he must pay for it."

WETMORE SUCCEEDS VILLARD.

Is Now President of the North American Company.

NEW YORK, May 30.—At a meeting of the directors of the North American company held yesterday, the resignation of Henry Villard, as president, was presented and accepted. C. W. Wetmore, the chairman of the executive committee, was elected to succeed Mr. Villard.

The new president, it is well understood, represents John D. Rockefeller and other capitalists identified with the Standard Oil company. He has been practically the managing director of the company during the last two years, and has, according to those familiar with the affairs of the corporation, done a great deal toward repairing the damage the company sustained during the Baring Bros.' panic.

The interest of the North American company in the Northern Pacific Railroad company is now smaller than ever before in its history, and in consequence it is understood that the representation of Northern Pacific interests in its board will from this time on be reduced. The North American company has now completed its extensive electric light plant at Milwaukee, and also the electric street railway system of that city.

The policy of the company hereafter will be to devote its resources entirely to the development of various enterprises similar to the Milwaukee adventure and to take no part whatever in Northern Pacific politics.

HE ASKED FOR A TRUCE.

Minister Baker Has Secured a Cessation of Hostilities.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The Herald's La Libertad, Nicaragua, special says: It is reported in Corinto that 300 Honduran troops have gone to Managua to offer their services to Sacaza. It is said that they are headed by Bonilla and other leaders of the unsuccessful revolution in Honduras against Vasquez.

United States Minister Baker yesterday asked for a truce for forty-eight hours and the appointment of commissioners to meet commissioners from President Sacaza at Sabana Grande today. The request was granted.

Reciprocal Wrecking.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 30.—A proclamation putting in force from the first of June the act of 1891 granting to American wreckers the right to operate in Canadian waters contiguous to the United States, is published in the Canadian Gazzette. On the same day the United States act granting similar privileges to Canadian wreckers, will be brought into force by proclamation of the President.

Shot a Villain.

MR. KEEHNS' VIEWS.

What He Thinks of the Outlook for the Republican Party.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—National Committeeman Keerns, of Missouri, who was ex-President Harrison's choice for chairman of the national Republican committee, is in the East. He expressed himself as satisfied with the re-election of Carter.

Commenting on the platform of the Republican national league convention adopted at Louisville, he denies that it has provoked much criticism. It is true that it took a very advanced ground on certain questions, but then the Republican party is the party of advanced thoughts and ideas. It goes forward and never backward, as does the Democratic party.

"Will Harrison be our candidate in 1896?"

"Perhaps; but many things may happen within the next three years."

"Is Gresham playing for a presidential nomination?"

"I don't know. He would be easy for us to beat if he gets the nomination from the Democrats. He's sold himself body and soul to them and they are welcome to him."

Sherman's Nephew in Trouble.

FORT DODGE, Ia., May 30.—A man giving his name as Robert Sherman, and claiming to be a nephew of Gen. W. T. Sherman and Senator John Sherman, was arrested at Webster City on a charge of stealing a watch from a sleeping roommate in the Wilson hotel. The watch was found in his possession. He was fined $100 and costs by Judge Marsh. Sherman appealed to the local G. A. R. post and convinced its members of his relationship to the distinguished general. The members of the post paid his fine.

Naturalization Laws.

ST. PAUL, May 30.—Deciding the case of the city of Minneapolis against Frederick Reum yesterday, the United States circuit court of appeals holds that the power granted to congress by the constitution to establish a uniform rule of naturalization is exclusive, and the naturalization laws enacted by congress constitute the only rule by which a foreign subject may become a citizen.

VILLAGE TO TEST IT

West Duluth's Council Determines to Find Out Whether the Water Franchise is Valid.

Some Concessions as to Hydrants Asked for, But the Company Would Not Grant Them.

A Telephone Ordinance Introduced—The Hellerstad Case Was Finally Settled —Other Matters.

The report of the committee on water brought out a long discussion last evening at the council meeting. The committee stated that a conference had been held with Gen. Mullen of the water company at which he stated that no reduction could be made in the matter of hydrant rentals, or in number for the reason that the trust company had accepted its bonds under present conditions. The company would, however, change those in thinly populated districts to more thickly settled parts of the village, and would give free water to the city hall and fountains. The bill of the company was finally ordered paid and the council decided to notify the company that no more hydrant rentals will be paid until the legality of its franchise had been tested.

The village engineer reported that the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road will cross Central avenue at a grade of six feet above the street and suggested an under grade crossing. This occasioned some dissension, it being held that the railway company should pay the cost of the crossing. In accordance with this opinion the attorney was instructed to see the road officials and if possible make arrangements with them to put in the crossing, so that travel be not obstructed.

President Martin reported that the officials of the St. Paul & Duluth railway had signified their willingness to bear the expense of the change in grade on Second street south, necessitated by the crossing of the tracks and that a plan of the work had been sent them.

An ordinance granting a telephone franchise to Black & Dodge was introduced. It provides for $30 per year rental for store and office telephones and $25 per year for those in private houses. It was referred to the proper committee.

The claim of P. Hellerstad for $3000 previously allowed for personal injuries was increased to $3500. This arose from the fact that Hellerstad had agreed to pay his attorney $1000 if the village would pay $500, thus leaving him $2000. The attorney instructed the council that the village was liable for $1500 attorneys fees in the terms of the contract and advised a compromise in this manner.

The bill of $1,506.40 for cleaning the village by the health department was ordered paid.

DR. BRIGGS STILL SPEAKING.

Going Over the Ground Argued Before the New York Presbytery.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Elder Ketchum, of New York, conducted the religious exercises at the opening of the general assembly this morning. At 9:30 Moderator Craig opened the business session with prayer and the minutes of yesterday's proceedings were read and approved.

Dr. Young, chairman of the committee on bills and overtures, reported that the committee requested that the answer to the overtures regarding the deliverance of the assembly of 1892 upon the inspiration of the Bible made last Saturday, be returned to the committee. This was ordered and then Dr. Young presented a substitute. This, he said, was the unanimous expression of the seventeen members of the committee present, the largest number at any meeting yet held:

This general assembly reaffirms the doctrine of the deliverance of the assembly of 1892 touching the inspiration of holy scriptures, viz: That the original scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, being immediately inspired of God, were without error and in so doing declares that the said deliverance enunciates no new doctrine and imposes no new test of orthodoxy, but interprets and gives expression to what has always been the belief of the church taught in the Westminster confession of faith.

This report was received and given the place on the docket occupied by the one for which it was substituted, the second special order after the Briggs case shall have been disposed of. The reports of the committees on church unity and church co-operation were made the first special order, and the reports of the committees on records of the synods, temperance and canvassing the votes upon the overtures of 1892 were given places succeeding on the docket.

Dr. Briggs then at 9:30 resumed his argument in defense of the charges made against him. Dr. Briggs occupied all the balance of the morning session, going again over substantially the same ground argued before the New York presbytery. He was heard without interruption or incident of moment.

At 12:30 the Assembly took its usual noon day recess until 2:30 p. m. Dr. Briggs still held the floor and expected to speak an hour longer.

HIS MIND IS WEAKENED.

A Great Authority on Tin Plate is Evidently Demented.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 30.—David R. Jenkins, superintendent of a large tin plate works in Wales, is comfortably quartered at the department of charities office in this city. He is evidently demented and says so himself. Last Saturday he landed in New York as a steerage passenger on the steamer Campania and purchased a ticket to Pittsburg.

On his arrival here he had but $2, and went to the office of John Jarrett, secretary of the Tin Plate association, where he has since remained. The secretary noticed his peculiar actions and questioned him. The foreigner finally acknowledged his mind was weak and he came here without notifying his friends.

He would not leave Jarrett's office until noon, when he was taken to Chief Elliott, of the department of charities, who was going to send him to New York. When the order for the ticket was made out he refused to go and said he would remain comfortably in the office.

He is the man who wrote the famous tin plate article for the American Manufacturer some time ago, and which was commented on all over the country. He is said to be one of the best authorities on tin plate in the world.

ALL HANDS WERE LOST.

A Ship Wrecked and Sixty-four Men Were Drowned.

LONDON, May 30.—During the fearful cyclone which has been raging in the Bay of Bengal the ship Germania was lost and sixty-four men who were on board the vessel lost their lives with the ship. The British bark Rydalme, Capt. Bernard, which recently started from Calcutta, was swept high and dry on shore near Diamond harbor, on the River Hoogly, thirty-four miles below Calcutta. The British ship Glengarry, Capt. Lindsay, was abandoned at sea, but the crew were saved.

The British steamer Germany sailed from Batoum April 22, for Calcutta and passed Peerim in the Gulf of Bombay, India, on May 5. It is probably the vessel meant in the above disaster.

TO FORM A NEW CHURCH.

Dr. Briggs and Other Presbyterians to Make a New Department.

CLEVELAND, May 30.—A dispatch from Cincinnati says that Prof. Briggs, now on trial at Washington for heresy, has written to Prof. E. D. Morris, of Lane Theological seminary about the advisability of forming a new church to teach his theology.

Morris replied saying that few Presbyterian ministers would join the new departure. Four Liberal Presbyterians, of Cincinnati, have gone to Washington to confer with Dr. Briggs and assist in promoting the new project.

Why? Why is Strictly Pure White Lead the best paint? Because it will outlast all other paints, give a handsomer finish, better protection to the wood, and the first cost will be less.

If Barytes and other adulterants of white lead are "just as good" as Strictly Pure White Lead, why are all the adulterated white leads always branded Pure, or

"Strictly Pure White Lead?"

This Barytes is a heavy white powder (ground stone), having the appearance of white lead, worthless as a paint, costing only about a cent a pound, and is only used to cheapen the mixture. What shoddy is to cloth, Barytes is to paint. Be careful to use only old and standard brands of white lead.

"Southern" "Red Seal" "Collier" "Shipman"

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, Minn. May 30.—Lack of reports prevents a full understanding of the conditions prevailing over the country this morning, but from those received it seems that a storm of slight energy is central over the southern part of Montana, moving slowly eastward. Light showers have fallen at widely scattered places in the far Northwest, but generally clear weather was reported this morning.

The temperature has risen slightly except along Lake Superior where there has been a slight fall.

The maximum temperature here yesterday was the same as the day before, 73, but the minimum fell to 48 last night.

DULUTH, May 30.—Fair, probably followed by rain this evening, slightly cooler. Fair Wednesday with slight change in temperature, north to east winds.

Vote Down the Proposition.

The people of St. Louis county should turn out in force to the polls tomorrow and vote down the proposition of the Minnesota Canal company asking for $600,000 of county bonds. After hearing all that the promoters of the company have to say in support of their scheme, and giving full consideration to the strong points which have been presented showing the uncertain character of the proposition, the scandalous features of the special law under which the election is held, the irresponsible financial status of the company so far as can be discovered and the injury that would be done the county by having such a large amount of bonds tied up on a scheme that may never be carried out, The Herald feels satisfied that the people of St. Louis county would make a serious mistake if they endorsed the proposition.

The business men of Duluth are almost a unit in opposition to the company's request for a bonus. They have carefully investigated the matter and they are satisfied that it is a scheme that deserves no support from the people of this county. The mere fact that the bonds shall be placed in escrow with a trust company outside the jurisdiction of the Minnesota courts stamps the whole scheme with dark suspicion. If the company will carry out its plans and promises, if it will get the work well under way and thus demonstrate its good faith and responsibility, it will find that the people of St. Louis county will treat it in a very liberal manner. But under existing circumstances, in view of all that has been said and done, the people cannot afford to place such a debt upon the city.

There is no doubt that the company will endeavor to carry tomorrow's election. A campaign fund can accomplish much in a special election, owing to the indifference and neglect of many who will fail to exercise the right of franchise. It therefore behooves every one to get out a full vote tomorrow. With a full vote, the proposition will be buried out of sight beneath an avalanche of "noes."

The committees appointed at the city hall meeting yesterday must be active and unceasing in their work. It will be their duty to get the people to the polls, and it they perform that duty faithfully and thoroughly the certain result will be the defeat of the proposition.

Free Speech Forbidden.

The assertion of the commander of the department of New York—and this is the gist of the matter—that Farnham Post is held in contempt "for criticising the legislative power of the country" and in "condemning the sworn officers of the government" is an admission, says Lieut. Allen R. Foote in the June Forum, of a spirit, if not in the laws of the organization surely in their interpretation, that forbids freedom of discussion of the pension laws. For a parallel to this spirit one must recall the certainty with which the mention of the "peculiar institution" of the South in the days of slavery touched Southern politicians to the quick.

Lieut. Foote does not treat this matter with too much severity, because the decision referred to virtually puts an end to freedom of speech in the Grand Army. This organization, Noah L. Farnham post, declared that the only veterans entitled to pensions were those who, by wounds and disabilities incurred in the service of their country, were prevented from earning a living in their respective callings, as they might have done had such wounds or disabilities not been incurred, and whose circumstances were such as to justify them in calling on the country for aid or support; that as much real patriotism might be shown by refraining in time of peace from inflicting unnecessary burdens on the country as by coming to her defense in time of war, and that any old soldier or sailor who applied for or accepted a pension, except under the conditions above set forth, was, in the opinion of the post, guilty of conduct calculated to injure the good men who were and are willing to give their lives for their country without any reward save the approval of their own conscience and that honorable fame that is due to every patriot.

The post further directed that a copy of the resolutions be sent to the president of the United States, to the United States senators from New York state, and to the representatives in congress from the city, accompanied by a letter from the commander of the post, urging upon them to use their best endeavors to have the pension laws so revised as to make them applicable only to such soldiers and sailors as were indicated in resolutions, and to such persons as were immediately dependent upon such soldiers or sailors during or within ten years after the expiration of their term of enlistment.

It appears that in causing the resolutions to be sent to the officials designated without the approval of the department and national commanders, the post has violated the rules of the order, and for this reason, as well as for failing to make what the New York department commander regarded as a proper answer to a communication from him in reference to the matter, that official declared the charter of the post annulled, and this action of the department commander was approved by the commander-in-chief. Since this action was taken the members of the post have organized themselves into an independent veterans's association, but they also contemplate, it is said, taking the whole matter before the national encampment of the order.

There is no doubt that there will be many present at the national encampment who will sympathize with the resolutions adopted by Farnham post and many others who will disapprove of the manner in which the post was disbanded because it dared to express an opinion on this subject in the direction of demanding a revision of the pension roll. Already the incident has made a marked impression upon the public mind, and has done more than anything that has happened recently to force the whole subject of pension legislation upon the attention of the country. There will undoubtedly be a determined effort made of the national encampment to put the Grand Army itself on record in favor of a thorough revision of the pension rolls so that the bogus veterans who have secured fraudulent pensions may be removed from it.

Reciprocity With Canada.

In a bluebook entitled "Commercial Relations of Canada," which has just been issued by the Canadian finance department, it is admitted that the McKinley tariff has caused "a large decrease in the exports" to the United States from Canada. In 1889 exports were valued at $36,449,228, and in 1892 at $31,624,304. In respect to reciprocity Finance Minister Foster says: Since the abrogation in 1866 by the United States of the reciprocity treaty Canada has time and again made advances for the resumption of the old or the inauguration of new relations upon some fair and equitable basis. A standing offer to make free or reduce the duties on certain named articles in case of equivalent reductions on the part of the United States has been on the statute book for years, and still remains open for acceptance.

In addition, says Mr. Foster, the government has sent at different periods delegations to Washington to endeavor to arrive at a basis for more extended trade relations, the last visit being in February, 1892, when members of the Canadian government met the then United States secretary of state, Mr. Blaine, and for five successive days had a full, frank and prolonged conference on the trade and other questions existing between the two countries.

The result of the conference so far as the trade question is concerned is briefly stated thus: That it was found impossible to frame a treaty upon the basis of the mutual free interchange of the natural products of both countries alone; that manufactured goods must be included, and that any agreement for an interchange of natural and manufactured goods must be based upon preferential treatment in favor of the United States and upon a uniform tariff for that country and Canada as against the rest of the world. As this involved discriminations against Great Britain and practical tariff control by the United States the Canadian commissioners declined to accept these conditions. How far, concludes Mr. Foster, the recent change of administration in the United States will affect Canadian interests remains to be seen.

In view of the coming reciprocity convention at St. Paul, these official statements by the Canadian authorities are particularly interesting. Mr. Blaine always maintained that in the arrangement of reciprocal trade relations between the United States and Canada, manufactured goods must be included with the natural products, and in taking this view he represented the opinion of most people in this country.

Reciprocity in natural products alone would be a jughandled form of reciprocity. It certainly would not be satisfactory to the people of Manitoba and the Northwest territories any more than it would be satisfactory to this country. The people of Manitoba now suffer greatest from the excessive prices they are forced to pay for manufactured goods, and their desire for free trade with this country has been increased by the differences in prices for agricultural implements and other manufactured articles in Manitoba and the Dakotas. The Manitoba farmer is obliged to pay from 20 to 50 per cent more for his implements than does the Dakota farmer, and he naturally wants a change in these unequal conditions. Reciprocity in natural products alone would not supply the remedy. There must be unrestricted reciprocity in manufactured goods also.

A Large Ferry Needed.

There is great complaint at present about the lack of means for the conveyance of teams between Duluth and Superior. Since the two large ferry boats went to Chicago it has been impossible to get teams across the bay and many business interests are suffering in consequence. The teamsters and others whose business is affected have asked The Herald to draw public attention to this matter, in the hope that something may be done to relieve the situation.

This state of affairs emphasizes the necessity for a wagon bridge between Rice's and Connor's Points. But until such a bridge is erected there would seem to be a profitable opening for a ferry boat of sufficient size to transport teams.

This is a great year for Susan B. Anthony and others of her ilk. The Michigan legislature has just passed a law granting the right of suffrage to women at all school and municipal elections.

Rev. Joe Cook wants the United States army to forcibly close the World's fair on Sunday. Joccookism and asininity are now synonymous terms.

What the World's fair needs is better management. There are too many bosses now.

Those who oppose Sunday opening of the fair are not obliged to attend on that day.

The deeds of the veterans will ever be remembered by a grateful republic.

Go to the polls tomorrow and vote "no."

The Spanish Republican Announces His Withdrawal From Public Life.

Emilio Castelar, some time dictator of Spain and for nearly forty years conspicuous among Spanish Republicans, announced recently that he had retired from public life. He made his declaration in these words:

"I shall remain a Republican until I die, but I shall not act against the monarchy, as I am convinced that for the present this is the only stable and progressive form of government possible in Spain. In this conviction is to be found the reason why I have asked my friends and my party, now freed from my long political history, to enter loyally the ranks of the Liberals and to do all in their power to help the monarchy.

"I hope that the next change in the ministry will bring one of my friends into office in order that the fusion of Republicans and Liberals may be sealed and consecrated. I myself, far from public affairs, shall devote the rest of my days to the study of history and to literary work."

The water is so deep at Gooseberry beach that the Ossifrage can run up to the shore. Gooseberry river is a beautiful stream and less than a mile from the mouth is a fine cascade. The north shore between Duluth and the river is very picturesque. The Ossifrage will run a 50 cent excursion to this resort on tomorrow afternoon, leaving Fifth avenue west at 1:30. Take it in.

Decoration Day!

Again we march to the familiar strains of fife and drum. The aged fighters with vivid recollections of heroic strife again assume a warlike mien, and to the quickstep time of fife and drum, they march the march of war again, with memories of battles lost and battles won, with quickened pulse in these times of peace, made the more infinitely tranquil by those turbulent times. These aged warriors for a single day in commemoration of their fallen comrades, assume again this warlike mien, and march to the abode of that cherished army—those fallen ones, with garlands of roses and emblems rare, they tenderly decorate their camping ground and pray they rest in peace. And so with sacred memories and profound respect, we of the later period bend low the knee and bow down in deference to these warlike demonstrations which mean but love and peace.

MESABA MINING NEWS

Little Mountain Iron Mining Company is Pushing Work and Has Five Pits in Ore.

Capt. Tracey, of the Wyoming Properties, Has Received Orders to Turn in All Pay Rolls.

Stripping Work at the Lone Jack is Progressing Rapidly—Another Find on the Adams.

The Little Mountain Iron Mining company, operating on the ne ¼ of ne ¼, sw ¼ of ne ¼ and nw ¼ of se ¼ section 10-58-18, has made fine progress with exploratory work and results have been very satifactory, says the Virginia Enterprise. The company commenced testing about the first of the present month and has already bottomed five pits in ore of good quality. Some work had been done on the property previous to this time but the operators had quit on account of lack of means to put in proper machinery to handle the water. The pits already put down have an average depth of about 50 feet, and ore was struck in each at depths varying from 20 to 30 feet. At present the work of sinking a permanent working shaft is going forward. This shaft is located on the n ½ of ne ¼ of 10 and is substantial and roomy, being 7 by 8 in the clear. This very promising new property is located adjoining the workings of W. G. LaRue, who has shown up 60 feet of clean ore on the se ¼ of se ¼, section 5, 58-18, and within 100 feet of the line, and also adjoins the property being worked by Capt. Kehoe on sw ¼ of se ¼ of section 5, 58-18, where over 40 feet of clean ore has been proven. The pits on the Little Mountain Iron show the deposit to be continuous across the entire property. Capt. R. J. Hayes, an old experienced mining man, is in charge of the work. M. Gilman, of Iron River, Mich., is president and F. A. Woodward, of West Superior, Wis., is secretary and treasurer of the company.

W. J. Olcott, general local manager of the interests of the Penokee and Gogebic Development company's interests in the Lake Superior iron districts, and Capt. Nelson, superintendent of the Lake Superior property were in Virginia last week. The gentlemen visited the great Adams mine and other properties during their stay.

Capt. Tracy, in charge of the Wyoming properties, has received orders to turn in all pay rolls up to the present month, and this is probably an indication that the active development of lands held by this company is soon to pass by lease to other people. The Iron King property is among the holdings of this company and its development means another large mine for the Virginia group.

Capt. John McLeod and Peter Ehrmauntraut, representing a company formed for that purpose, started out this morning for section 29 in this township to put a crew of men at work exploring. The property will be thoroughly testpitted and the members of the company believe that the location and indications are favorable for the existence of ore deposits.

The stripping work at the Lone Jack is being done with tram cars and the work is moving along smoothly and rapidly. The majority prefer this method to that of the steam shovel, as being cheaper and more satisfactory all around.

The property just north of Virginia lake being opened up by William Saunty, is more than meeting expectations as explorations progress. The ore is proving of good quality and the deposit promise; to be very extensive.

Captain McInnis, of the Adams mine, reports the finding of ore on a portion of the property where it was entirely unexpected. Two new pits have been put down in the stuff and the indications are good for the development of a large deposit.

A HOT CAMPAIGN.

That is What the General Committee of Citizens Will Make.

"There is nothing new about tomorrow's bond election," said Mayor d'Autremont this morning. "The committees are hard at work and we are leaving undone nothing calculated to defeat the scheme of the Minnesota Canal company."

The mayor's office contrasted strangely with other portions of the city hall today. Being a holiday by statute, of course no city business could be transacted, and few clerks or officers were about their offices. In the mayor's room, however, his honor and other members of the committee were at work all day planning and executing the campaign of Duluth's best citizens against a scheme of a corporation organized by strangers to get $600,000 from St. Louis county ostensibly to aid in a work the ultimate accomplishment of which is shrouded in great doubt, the practicability of which remains undemonstrated.

The general committee, reduced to twenty-three members by the withdrawal of President Martin, of the village of West Duluth, whose sympathies are with the canal company, is made up of hustlers and men of executive ability. Under their guidance the campaign goes on swimmingly. There are sub-committees in charge of every detail; there will be ticket distributors at every polling place, conveyances for bringing out the voters—in fact, a perfect organization. The details of the work are not made public, and it may not be proper that they should be. But it is pretty generally conceded that had D. B. Searles' campaign been as thoroughly systemized and ably managed last fall, as are the anti-bond forces, Maj. Baldwin might not now be enjoying congressional honors and standing off hungry office seekers.

There remains plenty of work yet to be done as the canal company people are well organized and have made a strong still fight. Every vote is needed tomorrow and no effort will be spared to demonstrate to citizens their duty and see that the right ballot is cast.

The committee has issued circulars in several languages setting forth strong points against the canal company's proposition and urging citizens to vote no. These were distributed judiciously today. Meetings will be arranged for tonight but at 2 o'clock the sub-committee having the matter in charge was not prepared with the schedule showing places and speakers. It is probable that Mayor d'Autremont, Col. Graves and others will be at the pavilion this afternoon and make short speeches after the Grand Army exercises and before the crowd has left.

The Minnesota Canal Question.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There is one point which, it seems to me, has not received sufficient attention. Heretofore the reputation of the city for financial soundness has been a most enviable one and is worth thousands of dollars every year. Eastern capitalists have, for that reason, been willing and eager to invest large sums here, and for the same reason our bonds have sold at a good premium. This reputation should be guarded most jealously. It will certainly be most seriously impaired if the bonds are voted to this company. Even if it should, by some unforseen accident, turn out favorably, our reputation must suffer greatly in the mean time.

Men will not invest their money in places where so large sums of money are voted to enterprises of which they know so little as we do of this. For what do we really know of this? Some people who do not offer any evidence of any kind that they have any financial standing or backing say they are about to undertake a work which, by their own showing, will cost an enormous sum of money; they say they have plenty of money and that the enterprise will pay 30 per cent on the investment. At the same time they ask us to help them to the extent of giving them $600,000. Did any one ever hear of a man having plenty of money being able to invest it where he could get 30 per cent and hesitating to invest or go about begging? If Duluth votes these bonds, she will justly be considered a dangerous place to invest money and capital will not only cease to come here, but much that is now here will be withdrawn.

Mr. Gridley spoke words of wisdom when he said the company should satisfy us that there were no grave legal objections to the scheme and that there are some responsible people behind it. People who ask so great a favor should take some pains to let us know who they are and what kind of people they are. Have they done this? Mr. Davis, at the meeting at the Lyceum, expressly refused to tell who are behind the schme. Our own lawyers say there are great legal objections to the plan as now proposed. They say publicly that they will build the canal whether they get the bonds or not. If they begin the construction and carry it on to a considerable extent, there will be plenty of time for the county to show its generosity, and it will do it too. Privately, however, the promoters of the scheme have admitted that the canal will never be built if the bonds are not given. In either case the bonds should be refused at the present time.

Duluth, May 30. J. W. H.

The Engine Exploded.

By the explosion yesterday of a locomotive used by the Cranberry Lumber company at Cranberry river several men were severely injured. The engineer was brought to Duluth last night and is at St. Luke's hospital with his back strained and his face and head cut and bruised. Supt. Tom Smith, formerly foreman for Mitchell & McClure, was slightly injured. Dr. Boyer went to the scene of the explosion last night on the tug Brower and returned with the injured men.

Will Return to Duluth.

H. L. Sisler, assistant city ticket agent of the Omaha, will leave the employ of that road on June 1, says the Pioneer Press of St. Paul, when he intends to enter into partnership with his brother, who is a well known business man in the Zenith city. Last year Mr. Sisler was city ticket agent of the road which he now represents, in Duluth. He has been connected with the Omaha in various capacities for five years, and in that time has made an enviable reputation for himself as an energetic and competent railroad man.

Grand Lodge K. of P.

The Grand Lodge of Wisconsin Knights of Pythias convened in Masonic hall, West Superior, at 10 o'clock this morning. Little business was transacted, however, because of Memorial day. Some of the delegates and visitors arrived last night but the bulk of them came in on the Omaha train this morning. The Milwaukee contingent occupied a special car.

Found a Body.

Last evening workmen on an excavation on Fifth street between First and Second avenues east discovered about eight inches below the surface a wooden box six feet long containing the remains of a man which had apparently been underground many years. There is no clue as to the identity of the body and all sorts of surmises of foul play and murder were floating around the atmosphere of police headquarters last night. The man was apparently buried with all his clothes, including an overcoat.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Bohemian Club.

Tonight the work of the Bohemian club for the past few weeks will culminate in the fine production which will be seen at the Lyceum, and which is the initial performance of this latest addition to Duluth's social organizations. The pretty operetta "The King of the Cannibal Island" will be presented with all the magnificent staging and effects which the Lyceum's stock of scenery can give. The chorus and principals under the able direction of Prof. Custance have attained a high degree of perfection. The cast is as follows:

Hoky Poky	G. V. Quilliard, Jr
Frizzle Top	J. H. Noyes
Jim Jams	George West
Ben Blunt	N. S. Murphy
Rev. Snivels	Jos. Davis
Jugem	F. Reynolds
Princess	F. W. Maynard
Yoarbe Foredust	E. Hanegan

Preceding the operetta there will be given the laughable farce "Ici on Parle Francais." It is on the French order and very funny. The cast is as follows.

Spriggins	A. F. M. Custance
Major Rattan	G. V. Quilliard, Jr
Victor Dubois	E. Hanegan
Angelina	Miss McKenzie
Anna Maria	Mrs. George
Mrs. Major Rattan	Miss Sawyer

Mme. Janauschek.

The attraction for this evening at the Temple Opera house, will be the reappearance of the tragedienne Madame Janauschek in a role that is new to Duluth theatergoers, that of Queen Elizabeth, in her newest success "The People's King, or The Earl of Essex." Edmund Collier, a tragedian of worth and power, will appear jointly with Janauschek assuming the role of Robert, earl of Essex. His portrayal of the character is said to be a fine creation. The others of the large company are well known players, and should provide an excellent performance. In the Janauschek production the audience is assured that all attention is given to detail and the many different important incidents which shall occur are said to be faithfully portrayed.

The Testimonial Concert.

No concert which has been given in Duluth ever deserved better patronage than will the one to be given at the Temple tomorrow evening as a testimonial to Miss Margaret McDonald, when the program has been considered. The best local talent in Duluth will be heard. Among those who will participate are Miss McDonald, Miss Anna Farrell, Sydney Brown, the Arion quartet, Mrs. John Loman and George E. Knowles, of Superior.

A MANAGER'S QUARREL.

Rival Variety Theaters at Virginia Are Commencing Hostilities.

The war between the two theaters at Virginia is a struggle for existence, as there is field for but one to make such profits as to enable those interested to wear fine gold and fare sumptuously every day and allow the manager a fitting array of precious stones. One of the rival managers has had the call for some time, owing to possessing on his staff a special attraction, a dizzy danseuse, whose gyrations dazzled the boys, and they readily gave their money to witness the pirouettes of the star.

Consumed with envy and despairing of getting an adequate counter attraction, the rival manager, over whose box office window the spiders were building webs, swore out a warrant for the mother of the youthful soubrette for allowing her daughter, being under 14 years of age, to appear in abbreviated skirts and pick flies off the ceiling with her toes in public.

Deputy Sheriff Nelson brought his prisoner here Saturday night. Owing to the warrant having been issued at McKinley and made returnable in the municipal court of Duluth, Sheriff Sharvy refused to receive her and she returned home.

Value of a Library.

Have you ever looked upon education as an investment? It is immaterial if your parents paid for it, or if you paid for it yourself. Either way it is an investment, and you are reaping the returns, which is the interest.

The interest is in the form of knowledge and the power which knowledge gives you in this world.

Knowledge is largely a matter of reference. No man can remember all he would like; all he needs to know. If your learning is all stored in your brain and you have no library to fall back on to refer to, you are getting very small interest indeed. Capital, then, is represented by your library.

If you already own a library, good. If not, invest some more capital, that you may get higher interest, and not have to draw on the principal.

But to own a library, as a rule, requires large capital. Almost more than the interest is worth, think some. When that's so, there's something wrong somewhere. You probably did not invest your capital judiciously.

Your boy now has a chance to secure a great library free of cost. It is acknowledged to be the greatest reference library known to man. It is the Minneapolis Tribune's famous edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica. See full description of The Herald's sentence contest in another place in the The Herald.

There is nothing I have ever used for muscular rheumatism that gives me as much relief as Chamberlain's Pain Balm does. I have been using it for about two years—four bottles in all—as occasion required, and always keep a bottle of it in my home. City Offices Closed.

All the city offices were closed tight today. It being a legal holiday the municipal court could of course do nothing, but the last thing yesterday afternoon Judge Powell held a short session to dispose of such drunks and vags as were on hand in order that they might not be kept in suspense over Memorial day.

The Little Things Do Count.

Ciphers of themselves count for naught, but in their relation to other figures may amount to considerable. By the omission of two from last night's Herald the printer placed the value of Joseph Burns' steam yacht ridiculously low—$15. She is worth $1500, and the stealing of her constitutes more than petit larceny.

Shakespeare's Seven Ages of Man.

V.

"And then, the justice,
In fair round belly, with good capon lin'd,
With eyes severe and beard of formal cut,
Full of wise saws and modern instances;
And so he plays his part."—"AS YOU LIKE IT."

A justice without the Encyclopedia Brittannica in his library would be absolutely lost, for that wonderful work HAS the concentrated wisdom of the world.

It is much more important that he should be able to consult the Britannica than that he should be "with good capon lin'd."

The justice that succeeds in meting out even-handed equity to all that are brought before him, must be a well-read man as well as a wise man. To get a deep insight into human nature, he should sudy his Shakespeare in conjunction with his Encyclopedia. In the course of his duty men come before him in every one of the seven ages depicted by Shakespeare. The cultivated justice will know that the idea of the world being a stage and the division of life into seven ages did not originate with the great poet. In the old play of Damon and Pythias we have: "Pythagoras said that this world was like a stage, whereon many play their parts." In the Treasury of Modern Times, 1613, is a division of the life of man into seven ages, said to be taken from Proclus; and it appears from Brown's Vulgar Errors that Hippocrates also divided man's life into seven degrees or stages, though he differs from Proclus in the number of years allotted to each stage. Dr. Henly mentions an old emblematical print, entitled the Stages of Man's Life Divided Into Seven Ages, from which he thinks Shakespeare more likely to have taken his hint than from Hippocrates or Proclus. Shakespeare used the same idea more than once in his plays.

Not only will the severe-eyed justice find plenty of "wise saws" in the Encyclopedia Britannica, but he will also find abundance of "modern instances."

The cost is not to be considered, for he, like the poorest petitioner that comes before him, can purchase the Britannica for ten cents a day.

Veterans and Their Wives Turn Out and Honor the Dead.

The living turned aside today from the engrossing pursuits of this mortal life and stayed their hands from toil to bow before the tombs of the ones who had given their lives for the opportunities those who commemorated their struggles now possess, and to pay the tribute of a passing tear to the memory of comrades who had fought and suffered with them to preserve in its integrity this first among the nations. It was not only the veterans who had, with the dead they turned out to honor, faced the bayonets of the enemy on the bloody field, who paid the tribute to the departed, but the wives as well, who had fought the no less desperate battle at home during the awful days of civil strife, rendered, too, the sad but grateful office to the mortal remains of those whose next reveille will be the last trump.

At 9:30 o'clock this morning Gorman and Culver posts, G. A. R., escorted by the Marine band, boarded street cars at the corner of Superior street and Third avenue west, and proceeded to Forest Hill cemetery, where the graves of their comrades who have gone before were decorated and the usual ritualistic services gone through with.

At the appointed time this afternoon, the parade formed on Superior street and, headed by a detachment of police under Chief Horgan, moved east to Eighth avenue east, countermarching on Superior street to Seventh avenue west, where cars on the incline railway to the Pavilion were taken. At the Pavilion, the orator of the day, Hon. C. A. Towne, delivered an address full of feeling and eloquence and other exercises followed according to program.

DIED WHILE HE SLEPT

F. J. Stevens Discovered a Dead Body This Morning Near Bradley & Hanford's Crossing.

He Was a Traveling Emigrant and Was Rolled Up in a Blanket Apparently Sleeping.

No Signs of Violence or a Struggle—His Horse and Cow Were Fastened Near By.

F. J. Stevens, of West Superior, with the courtesy common to woodsmen and settlers of a new country, this morning went a few yards out of his way thinking to awaken an oversleeping wayfarer and start him on his journey. To his surprise and horror he found the man was dead.

Mr. Stevens operates a cedar camp near Bradley & Hanford's crossing, that is, where the logging road of that firm crosses the Duluth & Iron Range. On his way to work at 5 o'clock this morning Mr. Stevens noticed standing by the roadside a cheap wagon containing a small camp outfit. Tied to it were an old horse and a common milch cow. Near the outfit lay a man under a rough blanket, apparently sleeping after a hard day's travel. Beside him slept his dog. There was nothing unusual in the sight to draw Mr. Stevens' attention—a settler on his way to a new home, with his scanty household goods. The party brought to his mind the fact that about midnight he and his comrades had been awakened by the voice of a man talking to a horse, evidently urging him along, and later the sounds of preparations to stop for the night. He passed on without investigation.

Two hours later Mr. Stevens again passed the spot. Everything stood as before and all was quiet. It was now past 7 o'clock and Mr. Stevens thought the man was oversleeping and would wish to be on his journey. He approached him and leaned over to arouse the man he supposed sleeping. He touched him and found him cold in death.

As soon as Mr. Stevens recovered from the first shock of surprise, he hurriedly examined the body and surroundings. There were no marks of a struggle or violence. Apparently death had come quietly and quickly while the traveler slept. The horse and cow had been fastened to the wagon in the usual manner when emigrants spend a night in the open air en route. Both animals had been fed. In the wagon was a keg half full of beer. A glance at the corpse indicated pretty clearly where the other half of the beverage had gone. The man was apparently a Scandinavian about 50 years of age.

Mr. Stevens came to Duluth as quickly as possible and reported his find at police headquarters. Coroner Eklund was notified and left for the scene at 11 o'clock accompanied by Undertaker Durkan, to care for the body, and Mr. Stevens to explain on the ground the circumstances of finding the body.

Notice to Voters.

It is important that citizens of this county should know that a vote for $600,000 bonds for the canal company means a danger of loss by the county of $1,680,000.

By the terms of the proposition the county is to take stock in the canal company to the amount of the bonds. Under the laws of this state a stockholder is liable for the debts of the company to an equal amount of his stock. And if this company fails St. Louis county might have to pay not only its bonds, $600,000 and the interest, $480,000, but also the liability on stock, $600,000 more.

No private citizen would take such a risk and the county ought not to.

This is a serious matter and every citizen should be sure to go to the polls tomorrow and vote against the proposition.

PUMMELLED MR. BURKE.

Three Biwabik Residents Must Answer For Assault.

John Boyd, Thomas Summers and Charles Hollingworth, of Biwabik, were brought before the municipal court at Virginia last week and bound over to the grand jury for assault, bail being fixed at $1000 each, the complainant in the case being J. F. Burke. Summers formerly lived in Duluth. The Virginia Enterprise tells the story as follows:

"Mr. Burke went to Biwabik last Friday afternoon for the purpose of making sundry collections. Among those with whom he had business was one Thos. Hollingworth, a restaurant keeper. In Mr. Hollingworth's employ was a young man, by name, John Boyd, and after Mr. Burke had finished his business with Hollingworth, Boyd requested him to step into a back room saying he wished to speak to him. Mr. Burke complied with the request. It seems that young Boyd was formerly in the employ of Burke Bros. and there had been some trouble on account of the latter's garnisheeing the wages of the former for a debt owing by his father. As soon as Burke entered the room where Boyd was in waiting he was asked by Boyd whether he intended to pay him a sum of money he claimed was due him. Mr. Burke replied that he did not owe Boyd and hence had no further settlement to make, and he turned to leave the room. As he did so he was struck on the back of the head by a rolling pin in the hands of Boyd, and as he turned was struck again over the right eye, a blow which brought him to the floor and rendered him unconscious. It is claimed by Burke that Thomas Summers and Charles Hollingworth, who were present at the time, were parties with Boyd to the assault, and after he had sufficiently recovered he proceeded to have the three men arrested. He found, however, that Boyd had gone before a justice and pleaded guilty of assault, and the officers would not serve papers for an arrest. Thereupon Mr. Burke let the matter rest until he came back to Virginia, when Sheriff Ross was given the necessary papers, and going to Biwabik he found the three men and brought them here to answer to the charge. They were brought before Justice Larson on Thursday and upon waiving examination were bound over to the next term of the district court. The bail was fixed at $1000 in each case and was furnished. The testimony of the prosecution goes to show that Mr. Burke's injuries are quite severe and narrowly escaped being fatal."

Encouragement for the Feeble.

So long as the failing embers of vitality are capable of being rekindled into a warm and genial glow, just so long there is hope for the weak and emaciated invalid. Let him not therefore, despond, but derive encouragement from this, and from the further fact that there is a restorative most potent in renewing the dilapidated powers of a broken down system. Yes, thanks to its unexampled tonic virtues, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is daily reviving strength in the bodies and hope in the minds of the feeble and nervous. Appetite, refreshing sleep, the acquisition of flesh and color, are blessings attendant upon the reparative processes which this priceless invigorant speedily initiates and carries to a successful conclusion. Digestion is restored, the blood fertilized, and sustenance afforded to each life-sustaining organ by the bitters, which is inoffensive even to the feminine palate, vegetable in composition, and thoroughly safe. Use it, and regain vigor.

TO LABORING MEN.

E. C. Gridley Says a Few Words That Concern This Class of Voters.

E. C. Gridley expressed himself on the coming election this morning to a Herald reporter as follows:

"The hope of the canal company seems to lie in its expectation to control the labor vote of the county. Whether by fair or foul means seems to be at least open to question. I would remind the laboring men of the county that we are making wonderful progress in the upbuilding of our city. Large amounts of men are employed and their numbers are being increased every year on account of increased rapidity of our growth and development, and a fair scale of wages is being paid, better than in most cities. This growth and development and consequent employment of labor is due not alone to the natural advantages of the city but in a very large measure to the enterprise of our people who are putting their money and energy into this development. In this development this class of men have been often deceived and our growth crippled in the the matter of giving bonuses to secure the location of enterprises which have afterward proved to be mere fakes. I would instance the iron plant that was located some two and a half years ago at Ironton. The car works at West Duluth which were totally reorganized and called for a large increase of money to put it on its feet so that now for the first time it is a legitimate enterprise. The Iron Bay works at West Duluth is still another. Large bonuses were given in each of these cases and the men who gave these bonuses are at least ordinarily shrewd business men and yet were grossly deceived.

"The bonuses given to railways and all sorts and kinds of public improvements throughout the West for the last twenty-five years, have nine-tenths of them been to false enterprises. Now I would say to the laboring men of this county that the best business men of this county, nearly without exception, after investigating the canal scheme project are a unit in the belief that it is not a practicable and meritorious enterprise. They are only equally interested with the labor element of this county in this matter. If it is a fake enterprise it will materially interfere with our prosperity, our growth and development, and the labor element must suffer its full share.

"Remember that all of the enterprises which we have heretofore bonused and have proven fakes looked upon their face to be all right and to be legitimate enterprises. I submit that no man who is asked to vote for this enterprise has any knowledge that the Minnesota Canal company has even money enough at its control to meet its first month's pay roll if it should commence work. The lawyers of the city are united in their opinion that the contract is totally inadequate to protect the people of the county. They are also of the opinion that owing to the St. Louis river being a navigable stream that it will be legally impossible for the canal company to direct the waters of that stream from above Cloquet across the country to the city. In view of these facts I believe that the men who have by their money and their enterprise given the employment to labor that has resulted in our unparalleled growth and prosperity have the right to ask and expect in this case that the labor vote shall be cast as a unit in burying this canal scheme."

ARE NOW VOTING

The Fate of Prof. Briggs As a Member of the Presbyterian Ministry Being Decided.

The Explanations Made By the Delegates In Casting Their Votes Are Consuming Much Time.

From the General Tenor of the Remarks There Will Be a Majority Against Briggs.

It Is Very Unlikely That the Calling of the Roll Will Be Finished Until Tonight.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Before proceeding to a vote today upon the question of sustaining the appeal from the judgment of the New York presbytery in the case of Professor Charles A. Briggs, the merits of which they have been considering the past two days, the commissioners of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church engaged as they were wont to do in a half hour's devotion. While this exercise was in progress, the principal actors in the trial drawing to its close made their appearance.

The first to appear were Messrs. Birch, Lampe and McCook, of the prosecuting committee; then came Moderator Craig and Dr. Baker, chairman of the judicial committee, who were just in time for the last prayer and hymn; lastly before the expiration of the hour, Professor Francis Brown, the fast friend of the defendant. Dr. Frazier did not take his accustomed place at the table set apart for Dr. Briggs' friends, and the defendant was noticeable by his absence. The faithful and devoted wife, however, occupied her accustomed place in the gallery directly over the space upon which for these past few days the eyes of the Presbyterian church have been focused.

After an opening prayer and the reading of the minutes Moderator Craig at 9:30 a. m. convened the assembly into a court and the last stage but one of the famous case of Prof. Briggs was entered upon. The commissioners as called were to give the reasons for their votes, speeches to be limited to three minutes. While this preliminary was being settled, Dr. Briggs quietly came in and took his seat.

Under the call of the roll, Rev. D. N. Freeland, of the East Florida presbytery, was the first to respond. He had a deep regard for the honored professor, he said, who was a member of his own parish, but he could not side with him in his claim that the Bible was errant. He held to the old creed and if the true blue flag must go down he would go down with it. Mr. Freeland was followed by Rev. J. T. Smith, of Baltimore, who expressed an intention of sustaining the appeal.

Dr. Leftwich, of Baltimore, said the appeals had been sustained because the presbytery accused Prof. Briggs of the charge of error upon a charge which he had frankly and freely avowed before this assembly, that of errancy in the original text of scripture.

Elder Purnell, of Baltimore, said if the assembly endorsed Prof. Briggs it would be entering upon a strange course with a rationalist for a helmsman bound for a no man's land. He preferred the old Bible, the old chart and the old ship upon which to sail for heaven.

Rev. Anthony C. Junkin, of Los Angeles, said every doubt had been scattered to the wind by the admissions of the defendant. His error, in the speaker's opinion, was the doctrine of naturalism, out of which grew most of the errors now afflicting the church.

Rev. John T. Hopkins, also of Los Angeles presbytery, said he was obliged to vote to sustain the appeal on account of threatened disruption, and Professor John M. Coyner, of the same presbytery, said he would do the same.

Elder Wm. Hamilton, of Oakland presbytery, said he had come to Washington absolutely unprejudiced. He was afraid the church would be in an uncertain condition if the appeal were not sustained. The burden of the remarks of Rev. J. M. Newell, of San Jose presbytery, was that if Dr. Briggs were sustained every preacher, professor and Sunday school teacher would be privileged to preach any views he pleased.

Rev. D. J. Sanders, of Catawaba (N. C.) presbytery, was the first colored man who spoke. He said a careful study of the cases showed him that he could not do otherwise than vote to sustain the appeal.

Capt. Jocks, of San Jose, said that all over the land there were young ministers from Union seminary steeped in the fearful doctrine taught by Dr. Briggs. If the professor knew, he said, of the damage he was doing he would drop this thing and would have done with it forever and stop bringing ruin upon the young ministers of the church.

The sum and substance of the whole first charge, said Rev. Charles Fueller, of Gunnison presbytery, was that Dr. Briggs had used the word "fountain" when he should have used and intended to use the word "channel." He was heartily sick and tired of this talk about Martineau. If the words of Dr. Briggs were so capable of misinterpretation, were not the words of Christ also capable of the same thing?

Rev. Thomas C. Kirkwood, of Pueblo, said he had felt for some time that the church was suffering from the effects of false teachings, and since coming to Washington he had become satisfied that the source of the trouble was to be found in that which was represented by the defendant.

Rev. John W. Pugh, of Bloomington, said that while full of sympathy for the defendant, he was compelled to say from his deepest convictions and best judgment that the address of Dr. Briggs was the most magnificent specimen of special pleading he had ever heard. For nearly seven hours he had spoken without meeting squarely any of the issues involved or clearing up the obscurity with which they were surrounded.

Rev. G. K. McClure, D. D., of Chicago, held that if the assembly voted to sustain the appeal, the church would commit itself to conditions which it was not prepared to accept at the present time.

Shortly before noon when Kansas had been reached in the call of synods, the moderator arose and said: "Dr. Briggs is very weary of this proceeding, and he has asked that he be excused by the moderator from further attendance as a party. I cheerfully grant his request." Dr. Briggs then left the church amid a buzz from the galleries. He looked tired and sad and seemed glad to get away.

"The first four grounds of appeal are technical and have no place in a case of the importance of this; sweep them away," was the ringing declaration with which Dr. Herrick Johnson, of Chicago, began his expression of opinion. He said the explanation of the defendant as to the meaning of his doctrines was to be accepted as long as his moral integrity was not in question. To do otherwise would be to stamp him not only as a false teacher but a hypocrite as well. Dr. Johnson said he would vote for the same kind of judgment as the New York presbytery passed withholding approval of the doctrines taught.

Rev. Thomas C. Hall, from Chicago, who has been so zealous a supporter of Dr. Briggs, said that if it was a breach of contract to hold certain opinions as he should have been told so when he was ordained. He held the views which were in danger of being cast out to the confusion of the church.

George Rutherford, of Peoria, Ill., said that for the assembly to cast out of its communion such a staunch Presbyterian as Professor Charles Briggs would be schism.

"I have never found in twenty years' experience," said Dr. Lucas, of India, "a man in India who found God through his reason; I believe the doctrine to be unsound and dangerous and shall vote to sustain the charge based upon that doctrine." Upon other charges Dr. Lucas said he would vote to acquit Professor Briggs.

That the assembly should vote to sustain most of the specifications was the opinion of Rev. John M. Boggs, of Fort Wayne, Ind., but he believed that Dr. Briggs was right in alleging the errancy of the scriptures.

Elder Charles E. Griffin, of Hammond, Ind., said if the theologians of the assembly were in doubt as to the interpretation to be placed upon the views of Dr. Briggs, how was it to be expected that the laymen of the assembly could be free from doubt?

In the midst of the roll call on the Briggs case the general assembly at 12:30 took its customary recess until 2:30 p. m. The probability now is that the final vote will not be reached until the evening session.

As there seems to be, even in the best informed quarters, some confusion as to the present position of the Briggs case and the exact question before the general assembly, a succinct statement of the position may be of interest. Under the rules of the church governing a trial such as the present there are four parties having the right to be heard:

1. The prosecution, which in this case is the appellant.
2. The defence, which in this case is the appellee, Dr. Briggs.
3. The commissioners to the general assembly from the judicatory whose judgment is being appealed from, which in this case is the presbytery of New York.
4. The members of the superior judicatory trying the appeal, which is the general assembly.

The first three parties have been heard; the fourth is now having its innings.

The general assembly is calling the roll by synods and those who desire to be heard are making three minute speeches. This is equivalent to a consultation among the judges or jurors, whichever one may please to call the commissioners. At the noon recess today, two-fifths of the synods had been called and had expressed their opinions and had occupied two hours and a half in so doing.

When this roll is completed, the next step will be the presentation of a motion to the house: Shall the appeal be sustained? There are five grounds of appeal and thirty-four specifications. Each of these specifications will be voted upon singly. At the end of the voting on these the roll will be called upon the general question: "Shall the appeal be sustained?"

Should the appeal be not sustained, the voting on these specifications will be for naught. Should it be sustained it will be equivalent to a verdict of guilty against Dr. Briggs.

A committee will then be appointed to prepare a minute for submission to the general assembly prescribing the punishment to be meted out.

There are five things the assembly can do in such a case: They can admonish; they can rebuke; they can suspend, and they can depose him from the ministry; or they can expel him from the church. In the case of conviction, one of the three last courses is likely to be followed.

WILL LIKELY DIE

Julia Sutherland, the Victim of Father Connolley at Two Harbors, In a Precarious Condition.

She Is Hardly Expected to Live, and Her Death May Result in Serious Trouble.

Connolley's Examination Was Begun Today at Two Harbors, and the Girl's Evidence Was Taken.

She Told the Story of the Assault and Identified the Prisoner as Her Assailant.

TWO HARBORS, Minn., May 31.—[Special to The Herald.]—The examination of Father Connolley, the Catholic priest, who has been arrested for raping Julia Sutherland and also attempting to produce an abortion, was set for today before Justice Seligman. There was a big crowd at the court house but general quiet prevailed, the excitement produced when the facts first became known having been somewhat allayed. The girl, however, is in a very precarious condition, and if she dies the worst sort of trouble is feared. From present appearances her death is very probable.

The court room was crowded this morning, but the spectators were very orderly. The prisoner's sister came up on the 8:15 a. m. train from Duluth and was shown immediately to the cell of the prisoner. He was brought into court attended by his sister and appeared bright and cheerful. He nodded pleasantly to his acquaintances, but was a trifle nervous.

C. O. Baldwin, of Duluth, defended the prisoner. John Dwan, county attorney, and Jas. A. Hanks, of Duluth, prosecuted. Motions from both sides excluding the witnesses from the court room were granted. Justice Seligman, the attorneys, the prisoner and A. A. Farrington, court stenographer, went to the home of the girl and took the testimony at her bedside. The girl was very low. Dr. J. D. Budd held the witness' pulse and administered a hypodermic injection during the examination to keep her strength up. Her pulse rose to over 150 during the examination, and the examination had to be curtailed.

The prisoner was in the room, but kept out of sight behind the head of the bed. On the first question of Mr. Baldwin, on cross examination, asking the witness if the prisoner was the man, Father Connelley was brought around to the side of the bed in sight of the witness. She answered "Yes," and was very much frightened and nervous at the sight of him.

On the way to the home of the girl the prisoner asked a bystander to go ahead to see that no violence was done him.

Theo. Hannon is on the stand now. Probably the hearing will be finished today. Everybody on the street and around the hotel is talking about the prisoner, who apparently has no sympathizers.

THE GIRL'S SAD STORY.

Miss Sutherland Tells How Father Connolley Accomplished Her Ruin.

TWO HARBORS, Minn., May 31.—[Special to The Herald.]—Miss Julia Sutherland, the victim of Father Connolley, tells the following story: On May 4 the priest called her into his house to loan her some books. Once inside he offered her a drink of mild wine which she took, never suspecting that it was drugged. The liquor did its work and no obstacle remained to the accomplishment of his vile deed. Ever since then Miss Sutherland has been very ill and her friends began to suspect that all was not right. Connolley, hearing this, again got her into his house and by the use of drugs forced her to sign papers declaring him innocent and told her that if she ever revealed what he had done that she would be murdered, at the same time showing a revolver.

Nature could not stand the drugs and ever since the poor little girl has lain at the point of death. Supposing that she could live no longer she confessed the above.

The condition of Miss Sutherland is now very dangerous, and it will be a miracle if she lives.

Father Buh Explains.

The Herald has received the following from Very Rev. J. F. Buh, of Tower: Please correct in your esteemed paper the statement that Father Buh, of Tower, discovered the condition of affairs of Father Connolley thus: That he did not discover them, nor does he know anything about the attempted abortion on Miss N. Sutherland, as it was stated in your paper of the 29th inst.; but he was only sent there by his superior authority to investigate the charges brought against Father Connolley by Hannon Bros., of Two Harbors.

The Whisky Trust.

PEORIA, Ill., May 31.—The directorate meeting yesterday of the distillers was barren of results. The main issue is financial and President Greenhut has gone to Chicago to try and float a few million in bonds. The rebate certificates presented day after day are being paid in a prompt manner. The quo warranto proceedings which come up on Friday will be contested to the court of last resort, as will the attempt of a portion of the distillers to secede.

WHEELS COULD NOT ENTER.

The Cycling Parade Not Allowed at the World's Fair.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, May 31.—This was to have been wheelmen's day at the fair, but Architect Burnham, whose official title is director of works, although the construction part of the exposition is practically finished, has countermanded the permit issued to the wheelmen's clubs and leagues to have a cycling parade within the grounds. Mr. Burnham does not even deign to give any reason for his countermanding order. They can come up to the gates on their wheels, leave them in a big shed erected for that purpose and see the exposition for 50 cents like any ordinary visitor.

The members of the Kentucky Press association, with their wives and daughters, entered the White City this morning in a body and took possession of their state building, which is to be formally dedicated tomorrow in a style peculiar to the denizens of the Blue Grass region. The editorial phalanx is an imposing and a merry one, representatives of religious, prohibition and whisky papers mingling in a fraternal spirit. They are here to see that Governor John Young Brown and his staff properly maintain the dignity and traditions of old Kentucky as well as to join in the festivities and see the fair.

The state commissioners and other fair officials were at the Kentucky building to welcome the guests and two hours were joyously spent by the editors and Blue Grass beauties in social amenities. Then Chief Samuels took the typical Kentucy crowd to the horticultural building, where some time was spent viewing the flowers and fruit and wine. A formal visit was also paid to the administration building, where the Kentuckians met the principal officials of the fair and the rest of the day was spent in sight seeing.

HAS GONE BANKRUPT.

The Great Columbian Spectatorium Will Not be Finished.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Steele Mackaye filed a bill in the circuit court yesterday for a receiver for the Columbian Celebration company and Judge Tuley appointed the Chicago Title and Trust company to take possession of the concern and wind up its affairs. The Celebration company was organized for the purpose of erecting the steel and staff building that at present stands unfinished at the north end of the exposition grounds.

It was to be used for the presentation of a spectacular play entitled "The World Finder" and was to cost $1,000,000. Bonds to the amount of $800,000 were issued and $500,000 of them were sold. There has been expended already in the enterprise $500,000 and the complainant avers that it will take $250,000 to finish it.

The company owes $316,000 and has tangible assets to the amount of only $50,000. Mackaye alleges that the company owes him $55,000 and that it cannot pay its debts. The time during which profits were to be returned on the investment was from May 1 to Nov. 1, and as it cannot be finished in time it was thought best to wind it up.

LUMBER DEALER INVOLVED.

S. B. Barker, of Chicago, is in Financial Difficulties.

CHICAGO, May 31.—S. B. Barker, the big wholesale lumber dealer of this city, is in a slight financial difficulty owing to the stringency of the money market. He will not make any statement for the public as to his liabilities or assets or the causes that led up to the complication.

S. B. Barker is one of the largest lumber dealers in the city, and a conservative estimate on the business transacted by him places the figures at from 67,000,000 to 75,000,000 feet of lumber annually. He is the prime factor in the firms of S. B. Barker & Co., A. H. Carroll & Co., H. C. Akeley & Co., of Minneapolis (which latter is one of the largest lumber firms in the Northwest), the Farmers & Mechanics, of Kansas City, and many minor companies throughout Kansas.

IN FAVOR OF THE CITY.

Street Railway Ordinances at Detroit Declared Invalid.

DETROIT, Mich., May 31.—Judge Taft, of the United States circuit court today filed his opinion here in the case of the city of Detroit vs. the Citizen Street Railway company in favor of the former.

The case was brought by the city to invalidate the ordinances under which the street railways of this city are operated, being an extension of the original franchise period by various periods. The claim of the city was that the company, having a corporate life of but fourteen years remaining, could not accept a franchise extending beyond its corporate life.

Has Gone to Rome.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Father Ducey was asked by a Herald reporter yesterday about the report that Dr. McGlynn instead of having gone to Chicago, as reported on Monday, had really started for Rome to have an interview with the pope. Father Ducey said: "Yes, Dr. McGlynn is on his way to Rome now. He is not in Chicago." Father Ducey said further that Dr. McGlynn has left quietly on account of his fear of misrepresentation at the hands of his enemies.

Barnard was seriously injured by falling off his building. The burned block was occupied by Jackson Bros., meat market; S. Squires & Co., clothing store; Theodore Enden, artist.

JEFF DAVIS' FUNERAL

The Simple Exercises at Hollywood Where the Remains Were Reinterred, Lasting About an Hour.

RICHMOND, Va., May 31.—The Jefferson Davis funeral train was scheduled to arrive between 1 and 2 this morning but it was not until 7:30 this morning that it rolled into the depot. An hour before the artillery began to fire their guns and the salutes continued until the remains rested in the capitol. From the depot they were escorted by the Robert E. Lee camp and the First Virginia regiment, the march up the hill and through the capitol in the early hour of the morning being most impressive.

Miss Winnie Davis and the rest of the family on the train joined Mrs. Davis at the hotel. Mrs. Davis arrived here last night from New York. With her in the parlor car Nereid were Miss Davis, of Washington; Col. J. Taylor Wood, of Halifax, N. S., and Col. Robert C. Wood, of Louisiana, both grandsons of Zachary Taylor and nephews of the first wife of Jefferson Davis; Clarence Cary and Mrs. Davis' maid. Quite a crowd had collected at the Union depot and Mrs. Davis was met by a committee and the grand camp of Confederate veterans of Virginia.

Through the crowd the little party passed to carriages, Mrs. Davis leaning on Maj. Brander's arm and also supporting her steps with a cane. She wore mourning with her veil thrown back, appearing to be quite feeble, and on reaching the Exchange hotel where she will stay she retired immediately to the apartments prepared for her. The demonstration at the reinterment of the remains of Jefferson Davis today is not expected to equal as far as numbers in attendance is concerned that at the unveiling of the Lee monument.

The drapery in the rotunda where stands the statue of Washington is simple though impressive in its sombreness, and the same may be said of the decorations along the route of the parade and in adjacent streets. Black and white prevail, though here and there appear the red and white of the Confederate shield and miniature battle flags while on one house on Grace street near the starting point of the parade are the flags of Virginia, a flag bearing a picture of Davis and a United States flag, each with a bit of crape at the top of the staff. The parade to Hollywood will start at 3 p. m. and the simple exercises will occupy about an hour including the memorial services at Gettysburg hill where several thousand Confederate soldiers are buried.

Early in the evening a guard was placed around the capitol and all through the night details of the First Virginia regiment, the Stuart Horse guards, the Ashby guards and the Richmond howitzers paraded the graveled walks about the building in the moonlight until midnight. Main and Broad streets were lively with throngs of veterans, militia and other visitors and the hammers of the decorators were kept busy.

A noticeable feature of the works of decoration during the day both on private buildings and in the interior of St. Paul's church was that it was done by the ladies or superintended by them and it was nothing unusual to see them at the windows of dwellings along the route of the parade arranging black and white draped in graceful folds.

New Election Expected.

LONDON, May 31.—The central executive committee of the Conservative party are sending circulars to Conservative agents throughout the country stating that the registration bill introduced by Mr. Gladstone's government will not be allowed to pass, and that the next general election will be held upon the present system of registration. The circular implies that the leaders of the Conservative party are confident that the general election will be held in the autumn or early in 1894.

MARRIED TO DR. BULL.

Mrs. Marie Nevins Blaine Wedded to Her Physician.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Mrs. Marie Nevins Blaine and Dr. W. T. Bull were married at 11:40 o'clock yesterday morning in the South Reformed church, corner of Madison avenue and Thirty-eighth street, by Rev. Dr. Frederick Roderick Terry. The bride was dressed in pearl gray silk with white lace trimmings at the corsage.

Her hat harmonized with her costume in coloring, and she looked charming, indeed. She carried a bunch of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The father of the bride gave her away at the altar. There were no attendants. The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at Mrs. Blaine's apartments at the Belmont.

Only intimate friends and relatives were asked to the ceremony, as it was the bride's desire that the wedding should be as quiet as possible. No more than fifty people were present in the church to witness the ceremony.

This wedding is a happy consummation of a romance begun when Mrs. Blaine was seriously ill three years ago. That she would be a cripple for life was the verdict of the physicians who attended her. Dr. Bull, however, gave more hopeful assurances, and it is to his efficient skill she owes her comparative good health today. After a wedding trip in this country, Dr. and Mrs. Bull will sail for Europe.

AHEAD OF FARRAGUT'S PLAN.

A System of Protected Tops Designed For Battle Ships.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The navy department is advised that the French naval architects have embodied in their latest plans for battle ships a system of protected tops that will afford a position of superior accommodation to the commanding officers.

Details that have reached the navy department here show that these miniature steel fortresses at the mast tops, in addition to an equipment of machine guns, are now being fitted out with speaking tubes, connections with the engine bells, and finally with a wheel which will enable the officer on top to steer the vessel from that position.

Great strategic advantages are supposed to be made available from this arrangement as it will enable the officer directing the movements of the vessel to see perfectly over the dense clouds of powder smoke that hang around the vessel during an active engagement, and also in certain cases to see above a low lying fog. This is regarded as a considerable improvement over Admiral Farragut's plan of having himself lashed to the rigging.

A RANCH OWNER KILLED.

Murdered by Squatters Because He Wanted His Rents.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The Times' Piedras Negras, Mex., special says: A few days ago Don Luis Caravanges, of the bank of Durango, started to visit a ranch owned by him 400 miles from Durango. It was in the possession of squatters and Caravanges had often attempted to make them pay rent.

His trip was for the purpose of enforcing payment. The squatters, learning of this, decided upon the death of Don Luis Caravanges and drew lots as to who should commit the murder. Four men were selected and they ambushed and assassinated him under his mozo.

When the news of the crime reached Durango, the governor telegraphed to the ranger captain at Topona and he proceeded with a body of picked men to the scene of the tragedy. There he learned the particulars of the plot and the names of the conspirators. He next proceeded to see these men. Sixteen of the twenty-two squatters have been caught and summarily shot.

HIS SENTENCE COMMUTED.

A Georgia Man Who Killed His Wife Saved From Death.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 31.—The governor yesterday commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of death hanging over J. R. Von Polnitz, convicted in Decatur county of wife murder. This case has attracted great attention.

Von Polnitz is an old man and was a surgeon in the Confederate army, serving with distinction. He was the victim of drink and beat his wife. She left their home in Southern Georgia and went to her father's in the northern part of the state where a few days later she died.

It was claimed her death was due to her injuries and a jury convicted him. Jurors and officers of court joined in the effort to get his sentence commuted.

TWO GORED TO DEATH.

A Bull Fight in Spain Attended by Fatalities.

MADRID, May 31.—During a bull fight at Getafe, near this city, yesterday, a crowd of men and boys invaded the ring and worried the bulls. Two young men were gored to death and many others were injured.

The public officials who were presiding made no effort to interfere with the crowd entering the ring or to protect them from the bulls. The spectators applauded and cheered while the bulls charged the men who were beating them. It was announced last evening that all who invaded the ring will be prosecuted.

Duties on Liquors.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The secretary of state is informed by the legation at Mexico that the Mexican congress has passed a decree suspending for the two years ending June 30, 1895, execution of the law of Dec. 10, 1892, which imposed a stamp tax on alcoholic liquors but that the new law authorizes the executive (at his pleasure) during that period to tax such liquors in any other manner. The import duties on spirits imported into Mexico appear to remain at the same rate as before.

Fatally Burned.

A PROPER MAN WANTED

Candidates For Second Assistant Postmaster General Are Numerous, But Few People Suited For It.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—In the work of reorganizing the postoffice department Mr. Bissell has experienced considerable difficulty in securing a proper man for the position of second assistant postmaster general. The duties of that office require that its occupant must be conversant with the railroads of the country.

The last person named in connection with this office is Lorenzo S. Brown, the present general agent for the passenger department of the Richmond & Danville road. Mr. Brown is urged for the position by members of the Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia delegations. He is an experienced railroad man, has a thorough knowledge of the routes of the various roads, and it is urged in his behalf that he is in every manner qualified for the place. Mr. Brown's place of residence is Lynchburg, Va.

Secretary Carlisle is going down upon the eastern shore of Maryland to be a guest of Senator Gibson. Mr. Cleveland is going down upon the eastern shore of Virginia. The movements of the other members of the official hierarchy are not stated. There was a lot of guessing in the hotels.

Office seekers and congressmen—to state them in their natural sequence of importance—seemed to think that Secretary Lamont would sit down somewhere upon the eastern shore of Virginia and wait for Mr. Cleveland; that Secretary Herbert would cruise up and down the eastern shore just to see how the vessel acted; that Secretary Morton would carcole up and down the eastern shore with a butterfly net, a microscope and a volume of "every man his own doctor;" that Secretary Smith would indulge in an equestrian dash along the eastern shore of Maine and that Secretary Bissell would try a little pedestrianism on the eastern shore of New York.

There was no conjecture that the president and cabinet would trifle with the Western shore. They have never seen it and it was thought that the chances were 1000 to 1 they never would.

What will be the result of a contest for the governorship of New York state between Roswell P. Flower on the one hand and Levi P. Morton on the other is a very numerously debated question by politicians now at the capital. It is the universal opinion that it would make the prettiest fight in the history of American commonwealth. There has been some talk to the effect that Mr. Flower would not be cordially supported by the Cleveland faction, the reason being an alleged jealousy felt by the national executive toward the state executive. It is laughed down.

There is other talk to the effect that Mr. Flower would not be cordially supported by the Sheehan faction, the reason being an overweening ambition upon the part of the lieutenant governor. When it is mentioned the talkers look grave.

WILL ACCEPT ONE-HALF.

Creditors of Governor Foster Agree to Accept Fifty Per Cent.

FOSTORIA, O., May 31.—The meeting of the creditors of Governor Foster at the opera house last night was largely attended. It was agreed to accept 50 per cent in payment of claims, leaving it with Mr. Foster entirely as to whether or not he should pay more in the future if he became financially able to do so.

A statement was made as coming from Mr. Foster that he thought he could pay 50 per cent soon, and that if God gave him health and let him live five years he would pay every cent.

BURGLARS WERE FOILED.

HELENA, Mont., May 31.—What was undoubtedly an attempt to rob the Montana National bank, but which must have been either a very raw effort or a badly planned one, took place at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. At that hour persons for a block around Main and Edward streets, where the bank is situated, heard a terrific explosion.

Everybody rushed towards the locality. In a very few minutes the building was surrounded by policemen, who guarded all the possible avenues of escape, and a thorough search of the building was begun, but no trace of the burglars was discovered. Nobody saw any strangers in the vicinity. It is not probable that they will ever be apprehended.

While all the outlets from the building were being watched a policeman got a lantern and went up the stairway from the Edwards street way. It winds around near the top and leads up to the wide landing of the second floor. At the top of the stairway the effect of the explosion was seen. The upper step had been torn out entirely and shattered into pieces. The pieces had been driven by the force of the explosion up against the ceiling just over the stairway, tearing a large hole in the plaster.

The weather boarding alongside the upper slip had been splintered. At first sight it seemed as if burglars had gotten over the vault and exploded a charge of giant powder that had blown in the whole top. By lowering the light a short distance into the opening, however, it was seen that the explosion had taken place at a point at least six feet back of the vault. An examination showed that the vault was not injured, though the ceiling of the room under the stairway was badly broken.

The room back of the vault and over which the explosion occurred is that of Vice-President McCullogh. After an entrance had been gained to the bank this room was seen to be very much of a wreck, principally from the broken plaster and laths from the ceiling. This examination and the wreck of the stairway above made it plain that the work of the robbers had been done from above and not on the inside of the bank.

All the facts point to the conclusion that the job was either the work of men not very expert, or that if they knew their business the scheme must have been hurriedly planned and without taking very accurate observation. Had the men taken proper measurement and had the proper appliances they might have gotten their explosive on the top of the vault, jarred the combination time-lock so as to make it easily worked, or else blow a hole clear through and, in either case, provided the noise did not arouse anyone, gone into the vault and once inside attacked the safes there. The Montana National is commonly known as the Broadwater bank. The last statements showed about $150,000 cash on hand.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS.

There is a Strong Boom in Building and the Sound of the Hammer Is Everywhere.

Empty Store Rooms Are Being Renovated and Rebuilt and Are Rapidly Finding Tenants.

Several Brick Blocks and Residences Are To be Erected This Summer—Other Building Notes.

The building season has fully opened up in West Duluth and the sound of the carpenter's hammer is heard upon all sides. New houses are going up all over the stretch of country reaching from Ironton to the limits of Duluth proper. The prospects are that there will be more residences built in the confines of West Duluth this summer than for several seasons past. Newcomers are arriving daily and there are so few houses to rent that the necessity of building suitable homes is forced upon them.

There is also an appreciable change in the business portion of the city. Old store rooms which have been standing empty for some time are being raised up to conform with street grades, renovated and made ready for prospective occupants. The Silvey building on Central avenue formerly occupied by R. J. Fenton with a hardware stock, has been surrounded this week by a number of shovelers making ready to move it to another lot on the avenue. It will be replaced by a fine new brick block. It is reported that a brick block will also be erected on the corner of Central avenue and Second street south, opposite the car works.

Work is progressing on the car works blacksmith shop, the brass fonndry, sash and door factory and other buildings for diverse uses. E. Newell, of the Newell House, is preparing to build a large boarding house. Contractors are also figuring on the construction of a brick tenement house of good dimensions. With a $100,000 school house to be erected this summer the building record of West Duluth will make a big total for the year of 1893.

A Lower Range of Values Prevailed This Morning.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The renewal of business this morning was marked by a lower range of values. The dealings were on a moderate scale and the decline in the railways outside of the Manhattan, which lost 1½, was ¼ to ¾. In the specialties Louisville, New Albany & Chicago fell off to 17½, Ontario & Western to 14¾ and Wabash preferred to 16⅛.

The industrials were also lower, but the trading in this group, like that in the railways, was of a moderate character. National lead declined ⅜ to 29¾. His Name Was Andrew Miller.

The man picked up near Lester Park dead yesterday morning was identified as Andrew Miller. He was bound for Beaver Bay to locate on a claim. His wife and two children were going up by steamer. No inquest was considered necessary. Death resulted from heart disease probably. The interment occurred this afternoon.

One Sided Distribution.

The receipts of lemons have put from $300 to $400 in customs in the talons of Uncle Sam's collector here. It will be remembered that a large consignment of Scotch whiskey went to Superior some days ago, and there is a feeling, that with the lemons over here, things are not distributed right somehow, and that a strong argument for annexation is afforded, the two cities forming a pool, with the lemons in it.

MME. JANAUSCHEK.

A Fine Performance Given at the Temple Last Evening.

There be those who say that Janauschek, long time a favorite of the theater going public, has outlived her usefulness as a portrayer of the passions. If long service on the boards be a crime, then the actress who presented such a royal Elizabeth, true to the life, at the Temple last evening, must be found guilty, but the years have only brought her an experience that has given understanding to her power and corrected the excesses of the ardor of youthful ambition. It has been said that she is of a past era. She is not, and she only will be when the great passions of love, hate and jealousy have become of the past. The great springs of human action can never be of a past era, and the picture that this actress draws of their workings in the breast are, in all that goes to make them artistic, worthy of the theme. Edmund Collier, as Robert, the Earl of Essex, has the ability in ample measure to fill the part, and the important corollaries of a good voice and figure. The rest of the cast was, on the whole very good.

May be Promoted.

Capt. George Dewey, United States navy, chief of the bureau of equipment, has been appointed a member of the lighthouse board. Capt. John J. Read, who is now at Duluth with the tender Marigold, is in the line of succession, and may be appointed to Capt. Dewey's place.

Erie Canal Improvements.

Although the appropriation is not as large as usual, yet the work of lengthening the locks on the Erie canal is to go on. This work is nearly completed, and it has already proved its value in hastening the trips of the boats. The appropriation is $258,000, of which $10,000 is to be used for experiments with electricity as a motive power. For this purpose the superintendent of public works will set apart several sections of the canal. The experiments will be made in June and July, so that, if successful, the benefit may be had during the present season. The regular appropriation for the maintenance of the canal was $809,250. Various small improvements were ordered at a cost of $677,579. The upper Hudson will be deepened at an expense of $16,000.

Will Hold Them Down.

In view of the large additional excursion traffic anticipated in consequence of the Columbian Exposition at Chicago, Chief Supervising Steamboat Inspector Dumont has issued a circular enjoining upon all officers of the service to be exceptionally vigilant in enforcing a strict compliance with the laws relating to the overcrowding of both passenger and excursion steamers, to the end that passengers on steam vessels may have the utmost confidence in the safety of American steamboat travel. This circular is approved by Secretary Carlisle and its enforcement is urged upon all customs officers and steamboat inspectors.

Draft Indicator for Ships.

A draft indicator has been invented which is intended to be placed at either or both ends of a vessel for the purpose of showing at a glance to the officer of the deck how much water his vessel is drawing. It may also be set at any desired point, so that when a certain draft is reached a signal bell is automatically sounded and continues to ring until stopped. This is effected through electric connections. The accurate working of the instrument can never, to the slightest extent, be affected by the rise or fall of waves alongside.

Lake Freights.

CLEVELAND, O., May 31.—After a great deal of hedging among shippers the H. H. Brown company went into the market and took vessel capacity for about 12,000 tons of Escanaba ore at 65 cents. Other shippers followed, and vessels offered by brokers were readily chartered. Dispatches from Duluth offer 2¾ cents for wheat to Buffalo. Notwithstanding the persistent efforts of Duluth shippers to prevent the establishment of a 3 cent rate, vesselmen here are encouraged by the heavy stocks of wheat, and feel certain the advance will be secured.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, Minn. May 31.—Two storms are shown by the charts this morning, one over the far North, and the other over the south with its center over Kansas and Missouri.

Light rains have fallen over the Northwest, and in the lower Mississippi valley, where it still continues.

Slight changes in temperature are noted. It is coldest over Wyoming and Colorado, and warmest over the south.

It is probable that the Southern storm will affect this section by tomorrow, although there is a chance for it to move towards the east and clear the country around the upper lakes.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 54, the lowest last night 42.

DULUTH, May 31.—Continued fair today, slight change in temperature, east to northeast winds. Probably rain and slightly lower temperature Thursday, with east to northwest winds.

S. H. BRONSON,
Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Minnesota and the Dakotas: Generally fair, followed by cooler in North Dakota; variable winds: For Wisconsin: Fair, followed by showers; east to northeast winds.

The Financial Situation.

George Rutledge Gibson, the well known Wall street banker, protests in the June Forum that the financial outlook for the United States during the coming summer is not discouraging. The immediate cause of the recent semi-panic, he insists, was the reckless conspiracy of speculators to boom artificially the shares of the industrial corporations, by the aid of imprudent or fraudulent dividends, "cross orders," and other obnoxious thimble-rigging. The balance of trade, Mr. Gibson predicts, cannot run against us permanently; and by next autumn, when Europe recovers from her idle and depressed condition, a definite tariff policy and the appreciation of silver may be expected to relieve the situation.

"Commercial squalls will come perhaps," says Mr. Gibson, "but nothing now, presages a cyclone. The country has not been converting vast sums of floating into fixed capital; it has not been caught with a large number of incomplete railroads or enterprises of any description, and prices are generally low. There has been enough skepticism in financial and commercial circles during the past year to act as a brake on ambitious speculators and promoters, so we should be hopeful that such further liquidation as may be necessary will be conducted gradually rather than through the form of an acute commercial crisis."

This is also the opinion of many who have carefully studied the situation. The recent flurry, accompanied by various failures, was due to the collapse of corporations that were built up merely of wind and water. The mercantile business of the country is in excellent shape, and there is no apprehension for the future. Speculators have been nipped by the stringency in the money market, but this is not unusual nor novel. Speculators are always getting beyond their depth and becoming involved. When the business men are prosperous as they are now the collapse of a few wildcat speculators should not cause any uneasiness.

Duluth to the Sea.

Governor Flower of New York has sounded a note of the alarm which New York city importers feel on the subject of ocean traffic being extended to the cities on the great lakes, like Duluth and Chicago. He has just returned to Albany from a tour of inspection of the Erie canal, with the view of ascertaining how it can be enlarged for ocean vessel navigation. He says that Canada is expending $50,000,000 in improving the Welland canal and the St. Lawrence river so as to get a channel deep enough for a line of steamboats between Duluth, Chicago and Montreal. It is evident that ocean vessels of large capacity could traverse the same channel and run directly between Duluth and European ports for half the year.

Governor Flower therefore says the Erie canal must be deepened to a twenty-foot channel to permit ocean vessels to pass to Buffalo and thence to lake ports generally, if New York city is to retain its commercial supremacy. No arrangements have been made to do this, but the Welland canal and St. Lawrence river improvements are being pushed by Canadian enterprise.

In either case Duluth will be the gainer, and this city will be practically a seaport and its commercial position be greatly strengthened. The Canadian route, however, will always possess an important advantage over the Erie canal route, because it will be shorter and therefore less expensive for navigation.

The Herald now issues two editions daily—at 3 and 5 p. m. The early edition is made necessary to supply The Herald's numerous subscribers on the Vermilion range and along the line of the Duluth & Winnipeg.

Today's Election.

By voting against the canal company's proposition today, the people of St. Louis county do not express any opinion as to the feasibility of the scheme or the ability of the company to carry out its plans or promises. They simply vote "no" because they have not sufficient information to justify them in pledging the credit of the county to aid the company.

If the canal company will now proceed with the work of construction, regardless of the result of today's election, as the promoters of the company say will be done, there will be no people more ready than the residents of St. Louis county to extend liberal treatment towards such an important enterprise.

The canal company may be all right, but appearances today are against its claims and protestations, and it would be unbusinesslike and the height of folly to vote it $600,000 worth of county bonds under the existing circumstances. If the company will proceed with the enterprise and by its deeds prove its good faith, it will have no stauncher friend than The Herald and no one will be more pleased to assist in securing any bonus to which it may be justly entitled.

Some idea of the remarkable progress of the industrial South may be obtained from the fact that during the week ending May 19, according to the Baltimore Manufacturers' Record, over thirty new manufacturing and mercantile enterprises were started in that section, with capital stock ranging from $5000 to $100,000. This rapid identification of the interests of North and South is proving a death blow to sectionalism.

Here is a shocking story for the sabbatarians. Last Sunday, P. D. Armour, the millionaire and philanthropist, visited the World's fair in the morning. He was so well pleased that he returned at once to the Armour Mission Sunday school and requested Superintendent Edward Burrett Smith to hasten through with the exercises and let everybody go to Jackson Park.

Discussing the world's wheat acreage, the Boston Traveller says there are in "our Northwestern and Pacific states, in Manitoba and British Columbia, millions of acres of undeveloped wheat lands." Will the Traveller enlighten the world a little more by stating in what portion of British Columbia the undeveloped wheat lands are situated?

Ex-Secretary Foster says that one source of his misfortunes financially was his embarkation in politics. Yet some people constantly declare that we should have business men in public life and public office. Possibly it would be a good thing for the public, but evidently not for the business men themselves.

The canal company's scheme may be feasible and it may be acting in good faith. If so, no harm will be done by voting down the proposition today. When the people of St. Louis county know more about the scheme, they may feel more liberally disposed towards the company.

The Chilean secretary of state has given ex-Minister Egan a letter denying singly and collectively the charges preferred against him by the Democratic press of this country. Mr. Egan has been grossly vilified, but those who knew the cause placed no credence in the charges.

John H. Dodge, one of the oldest hotel clerks in the Northwest, died at St. Paul on Monday night from heart disease. For twenty-six years he was at the desk of the Merchants hotel, where he made an extensive acquaintance with the traveling public, by whom his death will be deeply regretted.

The Chicago Tribune quotes the opinions of twenty leading papers from all parts of the country upon the Geary Chinese exclusion law, and not one of them says a word in its defense. The fact is that the law is in gross violation of treaty agreements and is indefensible.

The mikado of Japan has just abolished a time honored usage in that country which obliged women remaining unmarried up to a certain age to accept a husband provided for her by the state. A protest from the Japanese spinsters may now be expected.

Rev. Dr. Holman, of Minneapolis, is again lecturing on the subject: "Why Don't He Marry?" There is good reason for believing that the doctor will soon change the title of his lecture to "Why Did He Marry?"

Kisses are rated high in Indiana. A young society man stole one kiss from his aunt's maid a few days ago, and the jury fined him $100 and costs.

The watermelon season of 1893 has opened, and the doctors smile in anticipation of a boom in business.

The governorship of Ohio seems to be productive of financial difficulties for the occupants, as witness the cases of Governor McKinley and ex-Governor Foster.

If you have not voted yet, go to the polls at once and vote "no."

The polls are still open. Have you voted?

EMIN PASHA.

The Noted Explorer Killed by Said bin Abed.

Emin Pasha was a German, his real name being Edward Schnitzer, and he was born in 1840 at Oppeln. He was of medium height, slender, tough and wiry, with swarthy complexion and black eyes and hair.

After studying medicine at Breslau, Berlin and Konigsberg he was appointed in 1868 a surgeon in the Turkish army. There is no positive evidence that he embraced Mohammedanism upon receiving this appointment. He was sent to Egypt and was appointed by Gen. Gordon surgeon general of his army.

In 1878 Emin was made governor general of the Equatorial provinces of Egypt, with the title of bey. Afterwards he was promoted to pasha. He set out at once for his provinces. They were in a terrible condition, overrun by slave traders, who kidnapped and sold the natives. In less than three years Emin drove out the slave traders. As the result of his energy and quick grasp of the situation these provinces, which had cost the German government nearly $200,000 a year, were able to send in 1882 and thereafter an annual surplus to Cairo of $40,000. This change was brought about by teaching the natives to become producers.

The slave traders, who had been Gordon's bitter enemies, in the territory surrounding Emin caused him the greatest trouble. The king of Unyoro remained faithful to Emin, but in Uganda a king came to the throne, who, hostile to the missionaries, imprisoned Emin in his own country. From 1882 for four years he was cut off from the outside world. In 1886 negro runners succeeded in bringing letters from him.

He did good work in breaking up the nests of the Arab slave hunters who infested the south shore of Victoria Nyanza for a number of years. Emin determined to break up their station and after several battles the Arabs fled, leaving several hundred slaves behind them. Largely through Emin's agency the Arab power in the Victoria Nyanza was almost wholly broken up.

Too Simultaneous.

Minneapolis Tribune: The simultaneous opening of navigation and the Minnesota Canal company have thrown Duluth in a furor of excitement.

CRAZED WITH ITCHING

I had a very bad case of Eczema on my neck. It was just terrible. At times it seemed as if it would drive me crazy with itching and pain. Through the day it would itch, causing me to scratch until the blood would come, and during the night it would scab over so that I would scratch scales off like those of a fish. Doctored with the family physician for one season. He gave me temporary relief, but my trouble would come back at about the same time each year. Then I began using CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have entirely cured me.

IT MAY VISIT DULUTH

It is a Reproduction of the Vessels In Which Herjulfson and Ericson Visited America.

A Claim That Christopher Columbus Visited Iceland and There First Learned About America's Existence.

There is a possibility that the viking ship now on the way from Norway to the World's exposition at Chicago, may visit Duluth. Correspondence with that end in view has been carried on for several weeks, and Editor Lange, of the Scandia, is hopeful that Duluth harbor may be visited by this reproduction of the old Norwegian vessels with which Bjorne Herjulfson is said to have discovered the coast of America in 975, and Leif Ericson to have landed in Massachusetts in the year 1000.

The Scandia says it was the custom among the old Norse sea-chieftains to be buried in full armour, and sitting on board their favorite ship which was buried with them. Valuable finds have been made through the opening of such "grave hills," and twelve years ago, a whole ship was unearthed near Gokstad, Norway; though it must have been buried for over a thousand years it was well preserved, and it is now kept on the state university grounds in Christiana.

The ship is 77 feet at the greatest length and 16 feet at the greatest width; it is built of Norwegian oak, ½ inch thick boards; it has no deck, only a large sail is spanned from each side to a few feet up on the mast. The ship has sixteen oars on each side and has been one of medium size; the ships used in warfare usually had from twenty to thirty oars on each side, or more. The ship is clinkerbuilt and the copy is so faithful, that, where a nail has been put from the wrong side, in the original, the same has been done in the copy. After the fashion of the war-ships the viking has the gilded head of a dragon at the bow, and tail at the stern.

The crew consists of Capt. Magnus Anderson, editor of the Norwegian Navy Gazette, two mates and nine sailors; some of these are captains who wished to make the trip for the fun of it; nearly 300 sailors applied for the nine positions at regular sailor's wages. In New York new men will be taken on board and the ship will go to Chicago with a full crew at the oars. How long the Norse colony, Vinland, in Massachusetts existed, is uncertain; but for a few hundred years Icelanders and Norwegians would sail thither and take such supplies and provisions as they needed.

In the fall of 1476 Christopher Columbus came to Iceland and stayed there till the following spring, and undoubtedly he then heard about the lands in the West. There is, in Iceland, a story about a Portuguese, Christopher Dove, who came to Iceland with an English trading vessel, and who, hearing about the discoveries of Leif Ericson, induced the English skipper, Richard Barlinton, to sail westward in search of this land; they sailed for seven or eight days, but then the crew made mutiny; the Icelandic navigator was murdered, and, in spite of the protestations of Christopher Dove, the ship was turned and a few weeks afterwards arrived in Bristol.

If this story can be believed, Christopher Dove has been nobody but Christopher Columbus. Anyway, it is almost impossible to believe, that Columbus, sailor and navigator as he was, spent a winter in Iceland without trying to learn as much as possible about Leit Ericson and his followers, the traditions of whom were told at every Icelandic fireside. Afterwards he may have learned more from the writings of Adam of Bremen and others, until he, fifteen years after his visit to Iceland, got ships from Ferdinand and Isabella and found his way to San Salvador.

The viking ship was spoken off St. Johns, Nfld., on May 28, and all were well on board. A New York dispatch says the Norsemen there will give the visiting ship a royal reception. It was originally intended that the viking should put into New London, Conn., but the Newport cottagers, following the lead of ex-Commodore S. Nicholson Kane, have promised to give the Norsemen such a hearty welcome that the committee has decided that Newport shall have the honor of first entertaining Capt. Anderson and his crew of volunteers. Thus both Boston and New York pilots have been instructed to hail the viking if they happen to sight her, and tell her skippers to point her nose towards Newport. After a few days spent there the viking will be towed to New York. The reception committee will charter a steamer to meet her at City Island and Secretary Herbert will send a suitable naval vessel to escort the viking ship's navy yard tug to City Island to an anchorage in the Hudson river.

The secretary has also instructed Rear Admiral Benham to confer with the committee and make all necessary arrangements. The committee has decided that the viking shall arrive at New York on Saturday afternoon. A large fleet of excursion steamers and steam yachts will accompany the ship in the triumphant procession from City island to the Hudson river. She will remain in that port about five days and will then be towed to Albany and through the canals to Buffalo. She will go on to Chicago under sail and oars. If the weather is favorable her voyage from New York to the Windy City should not take longer than eighteen days. The viking will ship twenty Norwegian sailors in Brooklyn, and will be driven along by thirty-two oars and her huge square sail. After few weeks at the fair, she is to be sold to the highest bidder, the proceeds to be applied to the starting of a retreat for sailors in Norway somewhat after the fashion of our own Sailors' Snug Harbor. The committee has already refused $5000 for her. This amount was offered by the proprietor of a freak show.

The cost of the viking and her expedition is about $20,000, all raised by popular subscription in Norway. She is consigned to Christopher Ravn, the Norwegian royal commissioner at the Chicago exposition. The ship, if she encounters no bad weather, ought to arrive at Newport next Saturday or Sunday.

TRUTH STRANGER THAN FICTION.

The Minneapolis Tribune's Encyclopedia Found to Contain Many Libraries.

The complete work of twenty-five volumes represents a library of 170 ordinary octavo volumes, each illustrated with two full page engraved plates and forty separate illustrations.

Taking the ordinary octavo volume as a basis, there are in the Encyclopedia Britannica eighteen volumes of 600 pages each on geography.

On history, eighteen volumes.

On philosophy and religion, fifteen volumes.

On medicine, in its departments, six volumes.

On law, five volumes.

On industrial and applied sciences, twenty volumes.

On mercantile subjects, six volumes.

On agriculture, seven volumes.

On games, music and legends, six volumes.

And libraries on natural history, biography and fine arts.

Over fifty of its leading articles on mathematics, history, theology, physics, geography, chemistry, etc., have been printed in separate text books for use in leading American colleges. This is the Encyclopedia offered by the Herald to its readers for 10 cents a day.

It is the best proposition ever made by a newspaper of Duluth.

The proposition has already been accepted by thousands of people.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Bohemian Club.

Last evening's audience at the Lyceum was not as large as the performance deserved but every person present was certainly more than pleased. The Bohemian club is entitled to credit for its first entertainment. The operetta "The King of the Cannibal Islands" found greater popularity with the audience than any of the similar productions recently given. The music was a collection of popular airs and choruses and were all excellently selected. The lines while bright in some places were not particularly brilliant. It was the spirited, energetic and frolicsome manner in which the operetta was carried through that its success may be almost entirely attributed to. As the king, Mr. Quillard appeared to better advantage than in any character in which he has been seen since "Priscilla" was given a year ago. His entree was effective and brilliant, gymnastically speaking at least, and his dancing was clever and comical. Mr. Quillard's singing is always fine and he was in good voice last evening. Ernest Hannegan as Miss Year Before Last, a dainty ripe bud of the cannibal persuasion, had the audience with him from the moment of his entrance. Especially noticeable in Mr. Hannegan's acting is his ease and confidence and the entire absence of self-consciousness. Ben Blunt, the sailor, was impersonated in an excellent manner by N. S. Murphy. His singing was the finest of the evening. His solo, "Molly and I and the Baby," brought the most enthusiastic encore of the evening and the duet between Mr. Murphy and Mr. Maynard, in the character of Princess Lolly was the musical gem of the operetta. All of the characters were well taken and the chorus strong and well trained. The staging was fine and added greatly to the effective manner in which the operetta was produced.

The farce "Ici on Parle Francais" was a laughable skit. Mrs. George was again seen in this and added to the excellent impression which she made in "Poor Pillicoddy." The characters were very similar, and as the maid of all work she was very comical. Mrs. West as Mrs. Spriggins, Miss McKenzie as Angelina and Miss Sawyer as Julia all did well. Ernest Hannegan as the Frenchman acted the part very cleverly and his dialect was fine. Mr. Custance as Spriggins and Mr. Quillard as Maj. Rattan made the most of their amusing parts.

The Superior Races.

The West Superior Driving park contained a large crowd to witness the sports yesterday afternoon. Only five innings were played by the baseball teams. The Duluth boys won with scores to spare. The football game was hotly contested. The Superior boys proved the stronger all through and won the game with two goals.

The races were interesting though the time was not very fast. The half mile running race was won by P. J. Butchart's horse, Fred, of Duluth. The free-for-all trot was won by St. Lou, owned by C. Murphy, of Superior. R. W. Runion's Dick took the half mile road race with four straight heats. The 3-minute trot was won by Dr. Reve's Jo Jo, in three straight heats.

A Muzzle Needed.

Superior Telegram. The uncompromising and partisan spirit that Secretary Thompson of the Duluth chamber of commerce exhibited at the Grand Forks convention in regard to the question of providing a deep waterway to the sea, delayed and perhaps made impossible, united action on the project between the United States and Canada. The Evening Telegram would suggest that the Duluth secretary be muzzled at the St. Paul convention.

Shakespeare's Seven Ages of Man.

VI.

"The sixth age shifts
Into the lean and slippered pantaloon,
With spectacle on nose and pouch on side;
His youthful hose, well sav'd a world too wide
For his shrunk shank; and his big, manly voice,
Turning again towards childish treble, pipes
And whistles in his sound."—"AS YOU LIKE IT."

In the afternoon of life, such as Shakespeare describes, men like sensible reading, and they like facts from A reliable source. Such a source is the Encyclopedia Britannica, which contains matter suitable to all ages and which can be bought by the poorest man for an outlay of 10 cents a day. The reason grandfather reads with spectacles, is because his eyes have flattened with age and become less convex.

The whole science of optics is to be found in the Britannica, and then the scholarly old gentleman can read of the optical arrangements of the eye; of the laws in relation to the microscope and telescope, and of the wave theory of the light.

Skakespeare meant no offense to age in describing the old man as A "lean and slippered pantaloon." The pantaloon was a character in the old Italian farces, and it appears in Christmas pantomime of today. It represented, as Warburton observes, a thin, emaciated old man in slippers.

The Encyclopedia Britannica tells all about slippers of all kinds, as well as of boot and shoe-making. It also tells about old farces in which the pantaloon appeared. Even the youthful hose with which the old gentleman covers his "shrunk shanks" cannot escape the keen Britannica, which contains most interesting articles on stockings and hosiery; in short, this great library is a success on every subject known to man.

"Pipes" and whistles are adequately dealt with in this wonderful book, which is not only instructive, but very entertaining as well. The lean and slippered pantaloon should never be without his Britannica.

BIG PENSION FRAUDS

A Special Pension Examiner Has Unearthed Continued and Stupendous Frauds in Iowa and Minnesota.

Geo. M. Van Leuven, of Lime Springs, Ia., and Dr. George Kessel, of Cresco, Ia., Under Arrest.

Names of Witnesses to Papers Forged and Other Frauds Were Committed to Secure Pensions.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 31.—The Journal prints today a sensational article on the carthing of continued and stupendous pension frauds in Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota. The work of investigation has been carried on by Special Pension Examiner Waite, who has headquarters in this city, and who has been at work on the case for several months.

On May 26 George M. Van Leuven, Jr., a pension attorney, who has been in the business since 1865 at Lime Springs, Ia., and who has secured pensions during that time for people all through the territory mentioned aggregating, it is said, over $1,000,000, and Dr. George Kessel, manager of Cresco, Ia., were arrested on warrants sworn out by Waite before the United States commissioner in Dubuque. Each gave bonds for his appearance and was released.

Van Leuven and his son and other adherents controlled the news correspondents in the two towns so that they were able to prevent any account of the affair from being made public. The hearing of Van Leuven is set for today at Lime Springs and that of Kessel for tomorraw at Cresco. Waite and Van Leuven had almost a personal encounter in the latter's office when the examiner got hold of certain important files by force.

Van Leuven declares that the official exceeded his powers and threatens to institute suit on this ground. He has retained State Senator John Day Smith, of this city, ex-state commander of the G. A. R., to defend him. The particular case on which the arrest was made is that of James Churchill, of Minneapolis. It is charged that the names of the witnesses in his papers are forged and that the government will be able to establish this plainly. Van Leuven claims that the applicant and not he was responsible for the forgeries.

It is also alleged that Van Leuven gave a pension applicant a letter to Dr. Kessel, saying that the bearer was seeking a pension and asking the doctor to do what he could for him. But these cases are the only ones on which the warrant were issued, and it is understood that the government is prepared to show that similar frauds have been perpetrated on a big scale for years. Examiner Waite has refused to show the government's hand until the hearing at 2:30 this afternoon.

Examiner Waite seized nearly 500 papers in Van Leuven's office after an exciting struggle, many of which are alleged to be of an incriminating nature. In addition, the steel vault which contains all of Van Leuven's documents was locked, and the only key to it is in the possession of a deputy United States marshal. There was one important paper, however, which Waite after a long wrangle failed to get from Van Leuven, the latter running out on to the street and back again with Waite after him. He finally stuffed it into the stove and it was burned up. The bonds in both cases are $2000.

HE READ THE RIOT ACT.

Comptroller Eckels Gives Banker Mears, of Fargo, a Hot Roast.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The comptroller read the riot act to President Mears, of the two defunct banks of North Dakota today. Comptroller Eckels checked him in his bold entrance in a way that made him stare. "Such men as you are not permitted to run national banks in this country," said the comptroller.

"There are a lot of national bankers no better than I am," cried Mears.

"That may be," said the comptroller. "We will get them all in good time. Your two banks will not be permitted to open and no permission to organize a national bank will be given to any company of which you are a member.

Mears stared at the comptroller for a moment, and then with as dejected a look as that on the face of the man who has just learned that the wife he married yesterday has since fallen heir to a million, he picked up his hat and left.

DEATH OF H. H. CURTIS.

Well Known Merrill, Wis., Attorney Passes Away of Typhoid Fever.

He graduated from the law department of the state university in 1877 and began the practice of law in Portage the same year. He was district attorney of Columbia county from 1880 to 1884 and moved to Merrill in the fall of 1884. The body will be taken to Mauston where further funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the grave.

ON TRIAL AT ST. PAUL.

An Important Railroad Case in Which Uncle Sam is Plaintiff.

ST. PAUL, May 31.—The case of the United States vs. Trans-Missouri Freight association was called before the United States court of appeals at 10 o'clock this morning. Arguments on both sides were heard this forenoon and will be continued throughout the afternoon.

The case is being tried before Judge Sanborn of the court of appeals, Judge Thayer, who is assigned from the Missouri district, and Judge Shiras, of the Northern Iowa district.

The case was originally decided in favor of the railroad company last July and is now carried to the United States district court of appeals. A decision in the case may not be reached for six months and may be rendered in St. Louis or in this city.

FLOWERS ON GRANT'S TOMB.

TITLES FOR AMERICANS.

People Who Contributed to the Infanta's Pleasure to Be Remembered.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Ward McAllister says the Infanta Eulalie will probably ask the queen regent to bestow decorations and titles upon the Americans who most directly contributed to the pleasure of her reception in this country. One will go to Washington, one to Chicago, and two to New York. Gen. Horace Porter and Gen. James M. Varnum are named as the New York contingent.

THE SUNDAY CLOSING CASE.

Argument Begun on the Government's Bill for an Injunction.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Argument was begun this morning in the United States court of appeals, Judges Jenkins, Woods and Grooscup sitting, on the bill to restrain the opening of the World's fair gates on Sunday.

Attorney Clelland applied for leave to file an intervening petition in behalf of Wanamaker & Brown, of Philadelphia, and a stockholder named Platt, of Massachusetts, but the judges decided that in view of its being almost identical with United States Attorney Milchrist's bill which had precedent in court, it should not now be entertained.

Mr. Milchrist then read his bill and proceeded to make argument on its merits.

THE QUESTION OF AWARDS.

An Amicable Agreement Has Been Almost Reached.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, May 31.—The awards matter is about to be amicably adjudicated. John Boyd Thacher, chairman of the committee on awards, has addressed a letter to the president of the foreign commissions in which he states he is now and will continue to act in conformity with the law of congress providing for the one man system. Mr. Thacher will, however, allow one, three, five or any number of men to accompany this judge through the exhibit and give explanations and make recommendations and suggestions.

Mr. Loefler, the Swedish commissioner, says Mr. Thacher's plans seems honorable and fair, and while he hardly likes the idea of the assistants not being officially recognized, he thinks the plan will work to the best interests of all concerned.

When Mr. Milchrist was through, Commissioner St. Clair read the answer of the exposition company prepared by Mr. Walker, and then court adjourned until this afternoon.

DANGER AT MANDAN.

The Missouri River May Break Through Its Western Channel.

MANDAN, N. D., May 31.—Off and on there has been much excitement, as it is feared that the Missouri river will break through its western channel leaving the great railroad bridge high and dry.

The Northern Pacific company is taking long trains of cars loaded with stone to the crevasse, and a general call has been sent to all farmers asking them to haul dumpage to the danger point. About 100 teams and wagons are working day and night.

Killed Almost Instantly.

DETROIT, Mich., May 31.—Patrick Culahan, employed at the McGregor boiler shops, was hammering a piece of steel on an anvil this morning when it broke and part of it struck him in the left breast, penetrating almost to the heart. He died in a few minutes.

A REAL RAIN HOODOO

The Recent Rains Have Cost the Cleveland and Louisville Clubs About Nine Thousand Dollars.

How the Umpire's Lot Has Been Changed In a Decade—The New York Cyclone.

THIS year, by reason of a stormy vernal season, two National league baseball clubs have had an experience with rain and storms that seldom falls to the lot of people playing the national game. The two clubs are the Louisvilles and the Clevelands. In the Cleveland club's nine scheduled games, from the 8th to the 17th of May, inclusive, all but two were postponed by reason of inclement weather. The storm seemed to follow the "Spiders" around on their circuit. The real rain hoodoo appears to be the Louisville and not the Cleveland club, because we find that of the former's first 20 scheduled games of the season only two were played. The other 10 were prevented by rain. Seven of the 10 had their postponement in Louisville, and I presume the unsettled condition of the club's new grounds had a great deal to do with some of the postponements. Under the rules this year a postponed game in the National league cannot be played off by "doubling up" before the second or last series between the disappointed clubs.

Cincinnati is midway between Louisville and Cleveland, and yet during all this time when the Louisvilles and Clevelands were being persecuted with rain the Cincinnatis lost but one game on account of bad weather.

It is hard for those who do not make a study of the expenses and resources of a National league baseball club to understand what amount of money is represented by these postponed games.

If some of them are played later in the season, it must be as two games for one admission, and therefore most of the financial loss is never recovered. The club's expenses go right on, rain or shine. Salaries must be paid, or under the rules players who are creditors beyond a certain period may demand and receive their releases. The postponements represent about $5,000 for the Louisvilles and $4,000 for the Clevelands. When it is remembered that an annual profit of $4,000 or $5,000 would have been hailed with joy by either of the two clubs named during the last few years, the importance attached to the loss of these games may be in part realized.

One of the visiting sailors from the international fleet anchored in the North river, who recently visited the Polo grounds in New York, remarked that the last game of baseball he saw played previous to that day took place on the west coast of Africa 17 years ago, "and since then the game has greatly changed," he added. His remark set me to thinking about the first professional game I ever saw. It occurred on the old Union grounds west of Lincoln park in Cincinnati. The contestants were the famous Cincinnati Red Stockings and their visitors, the Forest Cities of Rockford, Ills. That was in 1869—the year made famous by the unbroken chain of victories won by the noted Cincinnati team.

A gentleman named Brockaway, a local photographer, was the umpire on that midsummer day in 1869. He umpired nearly all of the games in Cincinnati in those days, and his fame for fairness and ability reached to the Atlantic coast. My recollection of Mr. Brockaway as he umpired that game is that he sat upon a stool about 40 feet from the home plate and well over to the right of the straight imaginary line that would have passed through the pitcher, the batsman and the catcher. The careful official held an umbrella over his head to protect it from the heat of the sun. Occasionally he would stand up so that he might the more easily see a fly catch or a base play. Then he would render his decision and sink back upon his padded seat.

I never learned whether that was the regulation way Mr. Brockaway had of umpiring or whether he enjoyed special privileges for some reason or other on that one day. But so far as I am informed he was accustomed to take it easy in like manner every game.

The umpire's lot in 1893 is not so full of padded and shaded privileges. Instead of getting under an umbrella off on one side, well out of the way of foul tips or wild pitches, he puts on a mask, takes his life in his own hands, goes up behind the catcher and carefully draws a bead on the ball as it comes at him like a shot from a cannon. Even the "rooters" in the stands occasionally advise him to "git 'em up" or "git 'em down" and to "pick the bugs" out of his eyes. But the umpire of today is well paid for all this. Umpire Brockaway got $5 a game, or about $150 in a season, and "found" himself—even to the umbrella. The modern umpire gets a salary of from $1,500 to $2,000 a year and travels around in first class style at the expense of the League. He can afford to risk the proud man's contumely and fardels bear, to say nothing of occasionally escaping from the madding crowd by the aid of a posse of police.

At present I desire to go on record as saying that the removal of the pitcher five feet farther back into the diamond is having the effect of carrying the batting back very nearly to where it was in those early days of underhand pitching. Instead of the average number of base hits decreasing as the season progresses, it is increasing. This is proof that while the batters are getting the gauge of the extra distance the pitchers are not, as a rule, regaining any of their lost advantages.

Speaking of speed recalls the fact that a scientist has advanced the assertion that no one standing at the side of the track and throwing a stone just as the last coach passed could have hit that fast train which recently made a mile in 32 seconds on the New York Central railroad. He says the speed of the train is greater than the speed of the swiftest missile hurled by the arm of man.

To prove it he wants somebody to time a catcher's throw from the home plate to second base and then make an estimate in comparison with the speed of that train. I have never heard of a catcher's throw being timed, but some of these days I will try to have it done.

Speaking of weather reminds me of the cyclone that recently struck the New York club and blew Pitchers King and Crane into the nebulous elsewhere. The signing of "King" Kelly and Pitcher Baldwin occurred during the metropolitan shakeup.

O. P. CAYLOR.

THE GREAT AMERICAN CRICKETER.

George S. Patterson and Some of His Most Notable Achievements.

Cricket is slowly but surely finding a warm place in the hearts of American athletes. The great English game is at present principally played in this country by transplanted Scotchmen, Irishmen or Englishmen, or by American descendants of the three nationalities, but there are not a few Yankee converts to the sport. Probably the best all round cricketer in America today is George S. Patterson of Philadelphia, who has officiated as captain of several representative Quaker City elevens in international matches during the past few years.

GEORGE S. PATTERSON.

He has been the champion bowler of Philadelphia for two seasons. In 1890 he took 13 wickets in one game, and only 21 runs were scored against him.

His fame as a batsman is even greater, and his peer in this specialty does not live in America, it is said. Since 1887 he has made no less than 14 centuries. In June of that year he secured 104, and in July gathered in 126 in a match with Canadian players—the first century ever made in an international contest with crack Canada teams. Mr. Patterson comes naturally by his remarkable talent, as his father, C. Stuart Patterson, was a well known cricketer not many years ago and had much to do with arranging the first international matches between English and American elevens.

DIABLO AND LOOKOUT.

The Winners of the Brooklyn Handicap and Kentucky Derby.

Two thoroughbreds whose names are even at this early date brilliantly emblazoned on the turf history of 1893 are Diablo, winner of the Brooklyn handicap, and Lookout, victor in the historic Kentucky

DIABLO.

Derby—two of the first great races of the year. Diablo was the surprise of the Brooklyn. He was 7 years old and had long been despised as a cripple. So little chance was he considered to have of winning the handicap that not a New York paper the morning of the race even conceded to him the possibility that he might be first, second or third. How he defeated the favorite, Lamplighter, by over a length and won the $25,000 prize for Wolcott & Campbell, his owners, is already a tale that is told. Diablo is a bay horse by Eolus, out of Grace Darling. He was bred by Captain Hancock of Virginia, broke down two years ago and never won a notable race until he captured the Brooklyn, defeating such cracks as Banquet, Lamplighter, Judge Morrow, Raceland and Leonawell.

Lookout, the Kentucky Derby winner virtually won the race from the very start. He got away first, was never headed and won by four lengths from Plutus. Lookout is a golden chestnut in color and belongs to the stable of Cushing & Orth of Minneapolis. He was foaled in Kentucky three years ago and his sire, Troubadour won the Suburban handicap of 1886. Lookout's dam was Christina, and she died only a few days before he won the Derby. Last year Lookout won 8 out of 20 races.

New Orleans Has a Phenomenon.

Peter Casse, a 14-year-old boy of New Orleans, evidently has championship stock in him. A few weeks ago on a most indifferent track he won the mile race at the games of the Ancient Order of Druids in 2 minutes 56¼ seconds, thereby establishing a new record for the city and state. On May 13 he further demonstrated his right to the title by winning the first race—five miles—of the series for the Priai cup in 16 minutes 41 2-5 seconds, also state record.

The most remarkable feature of the new champion is his age. He is 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds. As his name indicates, he is of French descent. He has been riding a wheel for three years and had won several boys' races, but until his 2-minutes 56¼ seconds' effort he had never measured speed with full grown men.

Buffalo May Race Detroit.

Although the Buffalo-Chicago team road race has fallen through, there is now a possibility of the Bison City men riding against the Detroiters. If the Detroit wheelmen will accept the date desired by Buffalo, June 3, the race will probably come off. Detroit has agreed to pay for the trophy, and the Buffalo team will pay their own expenses. The Pontiac course has been selected, and the teams will consist of six men each.

Cornell's Promising Future.

The recent remark of Walter Camp, the acknowledged authority on American football, concerning our football teams, "that with the same coaching that Harvard and Yale enjoy the Cornell teams of the future will stand on equal footing and the issue be one of uncertainty," is well worth the earnest consideration of the Cornell athletic authorities.

THE BICYCLE RUN.

Leach Finished First But Hoople Made Best Time.

The annual road race of the Duluth Bicycle club was held yesterday afternoon, the start being made from the Spalding at about 3:30 o'clock. Dr. McNulty was referee, Messrs. Wyman, Seixas and Nelson were judges and Messrs. Brown, Monroe and Moore were time keepers. Dr. Cullom was starter.

Frank Leach was the first man in although he started with three minutes handicap. Roy Hoople, one-half minute handicap, finished second and made best time. J. W. Trumble arrived sixth and made third best time. He met with a series of accidents but for which he might have finished first. The air in his tire gave out and it seemed to have been purposely punctured. He borrowed a wheel and that went to pieces and he finally received a heavy wheel and got in. W. F. Conrad had the race well in hand when he lost a pedal and had to quit. A number of others suffered accidents of various kinds.

Leach was awarded the handicap medal and second time prize, 37 minutes and 39 seconds being his mark. Ray Hoople won second race prize and first time prize as well, his time being 35:18. The third race prize went to Oscar Schneider and the third time prize to J. W. Trumble. Those who started and the order in which they finished was as follows: Frank Leach, Ray Hoople, Oscar Schneider, Leon Shaw, M. Bywater, J. W. Trumble, S. Cash, G. Bellinger, J. Appleby, E. Blowers, T. Duncan, W. F. Conrad.

Two Cases Dismissed.

The first of the oleomargarine cases came up in municipal court this morning. The statute says anyone who shall sell or expose for sale oleomargarine other than of a bright pink shall be subject to a penalty of $50 for the first offense and $100 for each subsequent offense. The city attorney commenced prosecution under a criminal process. Judge Brady, for the defendants, moved to quash on the grounds that there was no authority under the law for criminal prosecution. The city attorney moved to dismiss the cases against Edgar W. Mosher and Frank Cox. Two other cases are pending arguments and the decision of the courts.

ADVICES FROM HONOLULU.

Commissioner Blount's Proclamation to the Hawaiians.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—Ex-United States Minister Stevens arrived on the steamer Australia, which passed in shortly after 9:30 a. m. The Australia brings Honolulu advices up to May 24. On the 15th inst. Commissioner Blount published in the form of a proclamation to the Hawaiian people the original instructions given him by Secretary Gresham. The following are extracts:

"You will investigate and fully report to the president all the facts you can learn respecting the condition of affairs in the Hawaiian islands; the causes of the revolution by which the queen's government was overthrown; the sentiment of the people towards the existing authorities, and in general all that can fully enlighten the president touching the subject of your mission. Your authority in all matters touching the relations of this government to the existing or previous government of the islands, and protection of our citizens therein is paramount, and you alone acting in co-operation with the commander of the naval forces are vested with full, discretionary power to determine when such forces should be landed or withdrawn.

"While the United States claim no right to interfere in political or domestic affairs, or in the internal conflicts of the Hawaiian islands otherwise than herein stated, or for the purpose of maintaining any treaty or other rights which they possess this government will not acquiesce in domestic interference by other powers."

Blount appended the following to the instructions: "While I shall refrain from interference between conflicting forces of whatever nationality of supremacy I will protect American citizens not participating in such conflicts."

On May 17 Blount received a telegram from Secretary Gresham announcing his appointment as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the Hawaiian islands, and directing him to take the oath of office before the consul general. Blount expressed much reluctance to take the office and did so only to prevent a vacancy occurring at a critical period. He intends to occupy it for no longer time than is necessary for his successor to reach Honolulu.

SATOLLI IN CHICAGO.

He Denies a Story From Rome About Archbishop Ireland.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Mgr. Satolli arrived in Chicago at noon today and will remain here until June 5, when he will return to Washington. The direct object of Mgr. Satolli's visit to Chicago at this time is to arouse religious fervor among the Catholic Italians of the city, many of whom have become careless in regard to their religious duties.

Apropos of the relations between the papal see and Archbishop Ireland, it is considered significent that there should be published in Chicago on the day of Mgr. Satolli's arrival here a dispatch from Rome intimating that Archbishop Ireland had fallen into disfavor with the pope and that a secret letter of admonition would be sent to him from the vatican. Referring to this story Satolli, through his secretary, said:

"I do not believe the statements in the dispatch. It is very cleverly written, but the intent to deceive is evident to anyone acquainted with the facts. It is meant to deceive people and may deceive some even in Rome. The authorities of the church do not make public their decisions or their intentions in this way. This rumor is very like others that were printed some time ago, and it probably comes from the same source."

OMAHA, May 31.—The National Association of Railway Surgeons opened in this city today. There are 1200 paid members of the organization and at least half that number are present at this convention.

A Medical Congress.

CHICAGO, May 31.—The morning proceedings of the medical congress while of profound interest to those of the fraternity participating were rather too profound and technical for the understanding of the general public. The eclectic branch of the congress opened in the Hall of Columbus at 9 o'clock with Isabel Smith, of Bridgeport, Conn., presiding. Thirty-two ten minute speeches on the subject of gynecology were made by delegates from about half as many states.

Strike at Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., May 31.—The machine men in the electric works to the number of 100 struck this morning. The company wanted them to go on piece work, which the men refused to do.

Damaged by Fire.

BALTIMORE, May 31.—The copper factory of Engel Kirschner and Regner on Thames street, was damaged $40,000 by fire this morning. Insured.

Encouragement for the Feeble.

So long as the failing embers of vitality are capable of being rekindled into a warm and genial glow, just so long there is hope for the weak and emaciated invalid. Let him not therefore, despond, but derive encouragement from this, and from the further fact that there is a restorative most potent in renewing the dilapidated powers of a broken down system. Yes, thanks to its unexampled tonic virtues, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is daily reviving strength in the bodies and hope in the minds of the feeble and nervous. Appetite, refreshing sleep, the acquisition of flesh and color, are blessings attendant upon the reparative processes which this priceless invigorant speedily initiates and carries to a successful conclusion. Digestion is restored, the blood fertilized, and sustenance afforded to each life-sustaining organ by the bitters, which is inoffensive even to the feminine palate, vegetable in composition, and thoroughly safe. Use it, and regain vigor.

A GRATEFUL PATIENT

Tells What Skillful reatment Has Done for a Discharge From the Ear hat Existed Many Years.

Another link in the great chain of evidence given week after week in support of the Copeland system of treatment is added in the case related below. It should impress upon those similarly affected to avail themselves of the opportunity to gain relief in aggravated troubles of long standing.

The case is that of Miss Eliza A. Hill, who lives at 805 East Second street. She is a professional nurse and knows whereof she speaks. To the writer she told the following story:

"When I was a child 14 months old I had an attack of measles; it affected the ears, and ever since that time I have had a discharge from one of my ears.

"It was very profuse, especially when I took cold, and had a nasty, sickening odor, and as a result my whole system seemed to be weakened. My mind was affected so that I could only with difficulty remember events and correctly connect sentences. My hearing was sadly impaired. I tried many different methods of treatment without success and took enough medicine to stock a store.

"I had about despaired of ever being cured, but heard the Copeland Medical Institute spoken of very highly by so many people that I decided to try that system of treatment as a last resort. After one month's treatment with the specialist connected with the institute there is not a sign of a discharge from my ear. My hearing has improved wonderfully, my mind is clear, general health good and I am relieved of a trouble that had existed for years. I can recommend the system of treatment to any who suffer similarly."

CATARRH OF THE HEAD.

Ladies who are catarrhal sufferers will read with interest the story of Mrs. White, who lives at No. 716 Lake avenue south. The effect of catarrh, when it has invaded the system, the misery and distress it causes, and the relief obtained by proper treatment are all aptly illustrated in the given case. To the writer Mrs. White had the following to say: "Before I began the treatment I hardly knew a well day. I always felt weak and depressed, and tired easily. My appetite was poor and what food I did eat would set heavily on my stomach and cause a bloating and belching of gas and sour matter. I was troubled more in the morning than at noon or night. My nose was stopped up, causing severe headaches and pain across the eyes, which were often weak and watery; noises were incessant in my ears. My throat was sore, tongue coated, mouth full of slimy matter in morning and breath had a bad, foul odor. A small tumor was removed from my nose without causing me the slightest pain or distress and now my nose is free so I can breathe through it as I ought. Headaches are no more, no noises in the ear, eyes are not weak and watery, and my throat is free from soreness. My appetite is good and I am getting stronger every day. The physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute have certainly done me a great service, for which I am truly thankful and gladly recommend their system of treatment to any who suffer with a disease of which they make a specialty."

What They Do.

Let it be clearly and distinctly understood that Dr. Copeland and his associates
Not only treat and cure catarrh,
But they treat and cure asthma,
And they treat and cure rheumatism,
And they treat and cure bronchitis,
And they treat and cure lung troubles,
And they treat and cure catarrhal deafness,
And they treat and cure skin diseases,
Charges are so low as to be within the reach of all. Medicines furnished free.

LIZZIE WAS FINED.

The Weathers Woman Has Some Trouble at Biwabik.

Lizzie Weathers, of Biwabik, who posed before the public as the alleged slayer of Jack Zenie, "the Austrian," for the killing of whom she was tried at the last term of the district court, is ripping up things in the town she adorns with her presence when she is not down here squaring accounts with the people of St. Louis county. Lizzie is fond of male society, and she is imbued with the true spirit of American institutions in that she desires no privileges on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. Marshal Fifer rudely broke into her domicile on Monday and as he had not sent in his card, Lizzie had no opportunity of disposing of the callers whom she was entertaining, a colored barber, who cuts a wide swath in Biwabik society, and a white gentleman. The gentle Lizzie was wroth and discoursed of revolvers and bowie knives, but the marshal took her in charge and escorted her before a magistrate, who levied a $52 assessment.

Capt. Lewis Returns.

Capt. Ray T. Lewis and wife who have been in California the past four months, returned yesterday. While absent Capt. Lewis visited the leading cities of California, Salt Lake City, Denver, Leadville and Omaha. He reports business very dull in California, especially in San Francisco where, according to one of the local papers they have 10,000 vacant houses. They have 4600 saloons, about ten times as many according to population, as Duluth. The same dullness prevails in Denver. While in Utah they saw Bishop Barker, who was looking well. The captain returns more enthusiastic than ever regarding Duluth and says there is not a town in the West that looks anywhere near as prosperous.

AGAINST THE BONDS

All the Votes That Can Be Cast Are Needed However and All Should Turn Out.

At West Duluth, Also, the Citizens Seem To Be Unanimously Against the Bonds.

The votes came in somewhat slower today than was expected and it looks as if the poll would be light, but little, if any, larger than on the Missabe railroad proposition. In the city the great preponderance of ballots was against the proposition and it is pretty certain that the scheme of the Minnesota Canal company is defeated. However, advices from the Mesaba range and towns in the county indicate that the canal people are hard at work and polling a good vote. Therefore every vote in the city is needed. The polls will be open until 7 o'clock, giving business men and tax payers ample opportunity to exercise their franchise and protect their interests. Mayor d'Autremont and the committee are convinced that the canal proposition is overwhelmingly defeated unless over-confidence or lethargy on the part of voters keeps them from the polls and cuts down the vote.

The weather has been a factor against the canal company. Stormy weather means idleness for a great body of men who, not being fully informed in the premises and misled by glittering promises of abundance of easy work at big pay, would easily be influenced to drop into the box a ballot for the scheme. Pleasant weather, however, curtails this class of voters and, on the other hand, offers less excuse for business and professional men to quietly stay at home in the peaceful confidence that there will be enough anyway without their own vote.

At the opening this morning the polls were well guarded by the canal company's agents. Meeting with little encouragement in some of the precincts, by 10 o'clock many canal ticket peddlers gave up the job and left the battlefield. In the fourth precinct of the Third ward two canal ticket shovers went to work cheerfully. At 11 o'clock they had, so far as they could judge, earned not a single vote and suddenly disappeared. One of them had been pretty pointedly quizzed by Chief Smith, of the fire department, as to his residence, citizenship and business. He grew quite indignant and said he did not think it was anyone's business how much he was paid for the day's work by Mr. Spaulding.

About the police headquarters the canal men stuck to their posts valiantly and missed no chance to place a ticket or make a convert.

At 2 o'clock it was more apparent than ever that the bond proposition is defeated. Reports from city precincts showed in many cases only one or two votes for the bonds. In one precinct at noon 57 ballots had been cast, only one of which was for Mr. Spaulding's scheme. The man who cast this ballot was spotted. At first he indignantly denied the charge, but later went to the judges and tried to withdraw his ticket. This, of course, could not be done. While the canal people are undoubtedly beaten, it is desirable to snow them under so deep as to discourage any like attempts in the future and it is therefore desirable that everybody turn out and vote.

AT WEST DULUTH.

The People Seem to be Voting Solidly Against the Bonds.

A light vote was cast on the canal scheme question today at West Duluth, the proposition being completely snowed under by a big majority of negative votes as near as can be estimated. A visit to the different precincts at noon showed but eight or ten votes cast in favor of the project and led to the certain conclusion that the matter was doomed to a crushing defeat. Scarcely a man could be found upon the streets talking in favor of the bonds and the few that had agitated the matter previously seemed to have become completely discouraged and to have given up the battle from the start. In fact but little interest was taken by any except the property owners, who religiously went to the polls to protect their interests. There was less wire pulling and more conscientious voting than at any election ever held in the village.

A Corporation Formed.

HE IS A HERETIC

Dr. Briggs Convicted by the Presbyterian Assembly of Being Guilty of Teaching Heretical Doctrines.

The Vote Against Him, Which Was Taken Last Night, Was More Than Three to One.

Committee Appointed to Decide on the Proper Punishment Has Been in Session All Morning.

It Reported to the Assembly Late This Afternoon and Recommended That Briggs be Suspended.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The appeal of the prosecution from the verdict of the New York presbytery acquitting Dr. Briggs of the charges against him has been sustained by the general assembly, the vote being as follows. Number of votes cast, 499; to sustain the appeal, 298; to sustain in part, 85; total to sustain, 383; not to sustain, 116. The result was announced at 10:30 last evening. The specification of error was sustained by 281 to 190.

The final stage in the Briggs case before the general assembly of the Presbyterian church was preceded this morning by a half hour's devotional exercises conducted by Rev. J. T. Smith, of Baltimore, moderator of the Centennial assembly. When the assembly convened as a court at 9:30 a. m., there was a notable decrease in attendance both on the floor and in the galleries, last night's vote having been the climax of the meeting of the assembly.

The members of the prosecuting committee were in their accustomed places, but Professor Briggs' party was represented by Professor Francis Brown alone. The moderator first announced the committee, the appointment of which was authorized last night, to formulate a minute expressing the sense of the assembly as to the vote taken upon the appeal from the judgment of the New York presbytery. By vote of the assembly, Rev. Thomas A. Hoyt, D. D., of Philadelphia, was made chairman, the other members being as follows:

Ministers—H. W. Congdon, of New York; James H. Brooks, Missouri; Calvin W. Stewart, Nebraska; W. W. Harsha, Nebraska; J. J. Lucas, India; G. D. Baker, Pennsylvania; E. P. Whallon, Indiana, and Thomas D. Ewing, Iowa.

Elders—John Randolph, Thomas McDougall, Ohio; David Jacks, California; Edward T. Green, New Jersey; James A. Curry, Kentucky; E. D. Warfield, Pennsylvania.

The committee was given leave to retire for consultation and the assembly, as a court, adjourned to be reconvened at the call of the moderator. The assembly then resumed the consideration of legislative business.

Elder Franklin Shephard, chairman of the committee on mileage and accounts, made an exhaustive report. It showed receipts amounting to $54,957; expenditures, on account of mileage, $25,952; entertainment, $11,426; contingent and miscellaneous, $12,132; balance on hand, $5447.

There were 221 presbyteries represented in the assembly in 1893, four more than at Portland; ten presbyteries were not represented. The number of commissioners on the roll was 567, eight more than on the roll of 1892. The report was received and adopted.

The special committee on proof texts, through Rev. J. T. Smith in the absence of Rev. Samuel T. Lowrie, chairman, in its report recommended that the shorter catechism which the proof texts proposed, together with a statement of the methods used by the committee in prosecuting its work, be printed and circulated through the church as a sample of the committee's whole work on the proof texts. The report was received and laid over for discussion.

At 12:50 the assembly took a recess until 3:45, previously adopting the report of the committee on bills and overtures. The committee having under consideration the sentence to be imposed upon Dr. Briggs was not yet ready to report.

The committee appointed to fix upon Dr. Briggs' sentence have agreed upon their minute and will report at the opening of the afternoon session. It is understood that Dr. Briggs refused to make any compromise and that the committee will recommend that he be suspended.

Later—The general assembly at 3:25 this afternoon adopted the report of the committee suspending Dr. Briggs from the ministry of the Presbyterian church.

HELD FOR PENSION FRAUDS.

The Iowa Pension Agent Has Been Held For Trial.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 1.—A special to the Journal from Lime Springs, Iowa, says that George Van Leuven, Jr., has been held to the United States grand jury at Dubuque in $2000 bonds on charge of illegally receiving money for securing a pension.

Meanwhile Van Leuven has begun suit for $20,000 damages from Pension Examiner E. F. Waite and Deputy United States Marshal E. W. Goodner for seizing his papers and the key to his vault.

Kessel Also Held.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 1.—A Cresco, Ia., special says: George Kessel, mayor of the city, charged with pension frauds, waived examination today and was held to the grand jury in $2000 bonds. The specific charge is that Kessel, as a member of the medical examining board, tried to have Oliver W. Moore given a higher rating. George M. Van Leuven, held at Lime Springs, Ia., on similar charges, was Moore's agent.

RAINING AT CHICAGO.

World's Fair Attendance Today Curtailed by Wet Weather.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 1.—The second month of the exposition did not begin auspiciously in point of visitors. A heavy rain fell all morning, keeping thousands away and rendering pedestrianism extremely disagreeable for those who brayed the storm.

The beginning of June shows the fair in a good condition as regards the completion of installation in the various buildings and the general appearance of the grounds. Electricity building, which has been so badly behind, was completed today and the formal opening and illumination will take place tonight. Work on the unfinished foreign buildings in the upper part of the park is progressing rapidly, and a week or two more will add quite a number of attractive structures and exhibits to the exposition. There is a similarity in the situation with reference to the buildings of Gautemala, Venezuela, Costa Rica and Colombia. They are all backward on account of bad weather and the delinquencies of contractors. They will all be open in about two weeks.

The first month of the exposition has passed into history, but the financial end of the affair has not been made public. The attendance for the month is given out as 1,077,073, a daily average of about 38,000. It is hardly probable that this is the average paid attendance, as many of the turnstiles did not record the first week and others did not do their work correctly.

The dedication of the children's building, which adjoins the home of the women, took place in the afternoon. A chorus of juvenile singers under W. L. Tomlin's direction was heard to the accompaniment of instrumental music. Mrs. Potter Palmer delivered a long address, and other speakers were also heard.

HE HAS NICHOLS' SCALP.

Register Nichols is to be Removed Forthwith and J. A. Taylor Appointed as His Successor.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—[Special to The Herald.]—There is every reason for believing today that Representative Baldwin has the official scalp of Monroe Nichols, register of the Duluth land office, dangling at his belt.

From information received at the department today, it appears that the land officials are going to be decapitated, Nichols forthwith, and that Baldwin's candidate, J. A. Taylor, of Duluth, will be appointed his successor.

Maj. Baldwin is pushing Dr. Speier, of Duluth, for consul to Hamburg to succeed W. R. Estes.

THE FAULT OF DESIGNS.

The Monterey is Insufficient as a Fighting Machine.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—The Examiner this morning says in substance about the Monterey's trial, that she proved herself an excellent sea boat under conditions present during the journey along the coast, but there appears to be ground for doubt as to her efficiency as a fighting machine.

According to the statement of those on board during the trip, it became apparent to the officers and every member of the crew, before the vessel fairly crossed the bar Sunday, that if her guns had to be cast adrift to clear her for action even in fine weather, there would not have been much left of her. It is said that as soon as the vessel got into open sea her turrets began to slide from side to side in a very alarming manner.

Furthermore, when the first shot was fired from the Big Betsy, it made a wreck of the hydraulic gear by which the gun is shifted, notwithstanding the fact that the charge of powder in the gun when fired was only half of the full service charge.

Officers who were on board frankly admit that it would have completely wrecked everything inside the turret and disabled both guns, if a full charge of 425 pounds of powder had been fired. These defects are said to be the fault of designs. The Union Iron works carried out the contracts faithfully.

A GLOWING PICTURE.

Andrew Carnegie Predicts Union of the English Speaking World.

NEW YORK, June 1.—In the June number of the North American Review appears a long article by Andrew Carnegie predicting the union of all parts of the English speaking world and setting forth the advantages which would result from it. Mr. Carnegie draws a glowing picture of the powers and influence which would be exerted upon the world at large by an Anglo-American combination.

"It would be unassailable upon land by any power or combination of powers that it is possible to create, and as for the water the combined fleets would sweep the seas. The new nation would dominate the world and banish from the earth its greater strain—the murder of man by man. It would be the arbiter between nations and enforce the peaceful settlement of all quarrels."

THE MINNESOTA BUILDING.

Formally Declared Open Today By the Commissioners.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 1.—The Minnesota state commissioners this morning formally declared the Minnesota state building opened without further ceremony.

It had been intended to make the official dedication of the Minnesota building an occasion of more festivity, but inasmuch as the Minnesota Press association had taken it upon itself to dedicate the building in a farcical manner upon their recent trip to the fair, and inasmuch as Governor Nelson had signified an unwillingness to sanction another ceremony, the official function was declared off.

It is understood that October 13 will be Minnesota day at the fair.

HIT BY CYCLONE

Rosedale, Miss., Struck by a Terrific Storm in Which Two People Were Killed Outright.

Two Others Were Fatally Injured and Three Were Slightly Hurt by the Falling Buildings.

Many Business Houses Wrecked, a Church Demolished and Nearly Every Tree in Town Destroyed.

Howard County in Arkansas Also Swept by the Storm and Three People Reported Killed.

ROSEDALE, Miss., June 1.—One of the most destructive cyclones ever known in this section passed over Rosedale yesterday. At 3:45 p. m., a very dark, funnel-shaped cloud fringed with white appeared in the southwest, and in five minutes a dense roaring could be heard and the air was soon filled with trunks, tree tops and leaves. People rushed to shelter. By 4 o'clock the cyclone in all its fury struck the town amid the falling of trees and crashing of buildings. Following is a list of the victims:

John Waters, leg broken in two places and head cut, thought to be fatally injured.

Capt. K. Miller, bruised and head hurt, not seriously.

A. V. Foote, slightly bruised, leg hurt, not fatally.

Lucas Veal, badly bruised, not fatally.

The following houses were either totally or partially wrecked: Store of Cham Kam; bank of Rosedale; Rosedale grocery and commission company; saloon of J. K. Sheffy; Henry Adams' brick saloon; Bolivar County Democrat; the Commercial house; the fine residence of Mr. Scott, and the residence of E. H. Moore. The beautiful Methodist church is completely demolished. There are also twenty-three negro houses blown down.

There is scarcely a tree left standing in the city. G. Wingfield, editor of the Bolivar County Review, was caught in the cyclone and blown 100 yards away and escaped unscathed. The bodies of Bowdre and wife present a horrible sight. Near the dead mother was found her baby with not a sign of injury about it. The levee is safe.

ARKANSAS ALSO VISITED.

Considerable Loss of Life and Great Destruction to Property.

HOPE, Ark., June 1.—Howard county was swept by a terrific storm of wind and rain yesterday afternoon resulting in loss of life and great destruction of property. County Assessor Stewart and two children are reported to have been killed in the collapse of their house.

Many bridges and trestles along the different railroads have been wrecked and several hundred feet of the Arkansas and Louisiana railroad were washed away. Train service has been abandoned.

At Harrisburg the Cantly Lumber company's property was swept away. Among the injured are: David Robards, fatally; Jacob Suzede and his wife, slightly injured. Loss to property, $20,000.

William Martin, living twelve miles southwest, had his farm washed away. The entire country is wrecked from two to seven miles southwest. Rain and hail both fell heavily. Judge Gibson's farm house, three miles south, was totally wrecked.

At Guernzy half a dozen houses were blown down and many inmates seriously hurt. At New Leadville a destructive hail storm did great damage to crops and residences and killed a large amount of stock.

FOUR CHINAMEN ARRESTED.

Warrants Issued Under the Act of 1882.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—In accordance with a circular issued by Secretary Carlisle, United States Commissioner Edmunds has issued warrants for the arrest of six Chinese laborers. The warrants were issued under the act of congress of Aug. 6. 1882, and not under the Geary act.

The law of 1882 forbids Chinese to be in this country who are not registered and provided with certificates. But four of the warrants were served, and in one case the commissioner continued the hearing until another date.

Lee Key, a laundryman, and Young Wing and Lee Young, cooks, were given a preliminary hearing and bound over in $500 for a further hearing on Friday next.

PEACE HAS BEEN RESTORED.

Minister Baker Says Peace Prevails Again in Nicaragua.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—A dispatch was received at the state department this afternoon from Minister Baker dated Messaya June 1 stating that peace is restored at Nicaragua and the new government goes into operation today.

Wages Reduced.

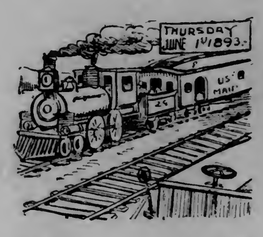

POTTSVILLE, Pa., June 1.—The five collieries drawn to fix the basis of miners wages for the last half of May and the first half of June show an average of $2.39 7-10 making the basis of wages 3 per cent below the $2.50 basis, which is 1 per cent below the wages had last month. In view of the fact that the agents advanced the price of coal much dissatisfaction is expressed among the miners of Schuylkill region.

HE WILL NOT RETIRE

Justice Field Says That He Will Not Resign as Long as His Strength Remains.

Whenever a Vacancy Occurs on the Supreme Bench, Secretary of State Gresham Will be Named.

Gen. Frisbie, Who Now Resides in Mexico, Talkes About the Situation in That Country.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Justice Field, of the supreme court, has denied his intention to retire. A Post reporter, who saw him last evening, asked for information upon the very important matter and received an unqualified denial. The justice says that while he has contemplated retirement, the retirement will not occur so long as he has strength enough to stand up to the arduous labor imposed upon him.

It is settled, so far as talk goes, that if there is a vacancy upon the supreme bench in the next three years and eight months Secretary of State Gresham will be named. He has a judicial mind. It has been trained by years of experience with courts. Mr. Cleveland admires him. He has an utter appreciation of Gresham's plain personality and direct routes of thought.

The first American commandant of the queenly city of San Francisco, Gen. John D. Frisbie, of the City of Mexico, is a guest of the Arlington. Frisco looked little like being queenly, when young Frisbie got there in 1846, for it was only a straggling, dirty village of 300 souls. At the age of 70, the popular old hero of the Mexican war is full of energy and youthful fire. For the past fifteen years he has been a resident of the Mexican capital where he has been engaged in large enterprises. His wife is a Spanish lady connected with some of the best families of Mexico.

"There is nothing new to tell about our country," he said. "The depreciation in the price of silver, our chief export, has been acutely felt and it has been a hard strain for the government to meet its obligations. In one way, however, we have benefited by this state of affairs. The cost of everything we produce is measured in silver, while we sell for gold. For instance the exportation of coffee and tobacco has become quite profitable, since everything that enters into its production is paid for on a silver basis. But the shippers get gold prices for every pound they export. Mexico is tranquil and there are not the faintest symptoms of a revolution. There is no longer any church party nor any state party. President Diaz administers the government with a firm hand, but with justice and moderation. He would make a good president of any country, but he is especially fitted for ruling Mexico."

IN THE SPORTING WORLD.

A Swimming Match—Was Frank Slavin Drugged?

NEW YORK, June 1.—The following cable from London was received at the Police Gazette office yesterday: "A swimming match has been arranged between McCusker, the American champion, and James Finney, to swim one mile for £400 and the championship of the world. The race is to take place at Black Pool July 15. Thomas Sullivan, the oarsman of New Zealand, arrived today. He is going to America and will row all comers. It is rumored that Frank P. Slavin was drugged previous to his entering the ring to fight Jim Hall. Slavin, however, denies the story."

Peter Jackson, the colored pugilist, suddenly changed his mind about going to the West Indies and sailed for England yesterday afternoon. He will be gone two months.

New Postmasters.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Gentlemen: I take pleasure in informing you of the very beneficial results which have followed the use of DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE in the case of myself and wife. For a year I was subject to a distressing pain at the base of the brain and upper portion of the spinal cord. I lost flesh and was greatly troubled with sleeplessness. Your Nervine was highly recommended to me. My case had been so obstinate that I had no confidence in the efficacy of any medicine. Yet as a last resort I consented to give it a trial. Much to my surprise, I experienced marked benefit; my sleeplessness disappeared; my headache was removed; my spirits and general health greatly improved. I SOON GAINED TWENTY POUNDS. ALL THIS OCCURRED AFTER LEARNED AND WELL KNOWN PHYSICIANS HAD FAILED. My wife is taking the Nervine with the best of results. LOUIS D. VANDERVERE.

TROUBLE AHEAD IN HAWAII.

The Situation in Honolulu Has Grown Very Interesting.

HONOLULU, May 24, via San Francisco, June 1.—The situation here is at present more interesting than for several months and the whole town is agog with excitement over late developments. First came arrests of Messrs. Bush and Kenyon, editors of native papers, on charge of libeling the provisional government and Minister Stevens; then a publication of Secretary Gresham's instructions to Commissioner Blount and a warning by the latter to annexationists that they need not depend upon help from the United States in case the royalists attempted to re-instate the queen; the news of Blount's appointment as United States minister to Hawaii and the final attempt of provisional government to silence Charles Northoff, correspondent of a New York paper, and Minister Blount's interference in his behalf.

All sorts of alarming rumors are sent out and even Minister Blount, who all along has predicted that there would not be any trouble, is not so confident. On May 15, Commissioner Blount gave out for publication his letter of instruction from Secretary Gresham. The instructions are quite voluminous. They request Mr. Blount to investigate the condition of affairs in the Hawaiian islands and say:

"Your authority in all matters to the relations of this government, to exchange or other government on the islands and protection of our citizens is paramount and in you alone, acting in co-operation with the commander of the naval forces is vested full directions and power to determine whence such forces shall be landed or withdrawn."

Among other things stated by Secretary Gresham are that Mr. Stevens will be instructed to furnish Mr. Blount needed assistance and would perform the usual functions of minister, that while the United States claims no right to interfere in international politics, the government will adhere to its consistent and established policy and it will not acquiesce in interference by other powers. At the end of his instructions Mr. Blount added the following postscript:

"While I shall refrain from interference between conflicting forces of whatever nationality for supremacy, I will protect American citizens not participating in such conflict."

Those few lines created great excitement, as they were regarded by all parties as a plain invitation to the royalists to make trouble. The royalists, however, say they are not prepared to take advantage of Mr. Blount's notice, but will await the decision of the United States.

CEDED THEIR LANDS.

Report of the Commission That Treated With the Yankton Sioux.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The commission appointed last summer to treat with the Yankton Sioux in South Dakota for a cession to the United States of their surplus lands has submitted its report to Secretary Hoke Smith together with the articles of agreement.

All of the unallotted lands on the reservation are to be ceded to the government in consideration of the sum of $600,000, of which $100,000 is to be paid per capita within sixty days after the ratification of the agreement by congress. The remainder bearing 5 per cent interest is to be retained in the treasury, payable at the pleasure of the government after twenty-five years.

The ceded lands, which are said to be of a high grade for agricultural purposes, are to be disposed of under existing land laws.

MURDERED IN CHICAGO.

Decayed Body of an Iowa Man Is Found in an Alley.

OSAGE, Iowa, June 1.—Word has just been received here that the murdered body of Oscar Andrews, of Lincoln township, this county, has been found in an alley in Chicago in a decayed condition.

Early in March young Andrews went to Chicago for the purpose of running a popcorn and peanut stand during the World's fair. On April 11 he drew $400 from the bank, it is supposed, for the purpose of making a payment for the purchase of the stand.

No word being received from him, a brother from Washington and another from this place went to Chicago, and with detectives instituted a search, which resulted in finding the body as above indicated.

Another Trust Formed.

ST. LOUIS, June 1.—Representatives of several wholesale houses in this city have returned from a conference recently held at Pittsburg and state that another trust to be known as the American Flint Bottle company is about to be launched upon the business world. The nominal capital of the corporation is said to be $1,000,000. The trust is closely modeled after the National Window Glass company and proposes to take in all the flint bottle factories west of the Allegheny mountains. It is stated that the company has already secured about 90 per cent of all the Western factories.

A Four Years' Sentence.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—Ex-State Secretary John J. Macfarlane, the defaulter of the American fire insurance company and a wrecker of the bank of America with which he was associated, surrendered himself to the authorities yesterday, and in the court of quarter sessions pleaded guilty to the indictments against him and was sentenced by Judge Hare to four years imprisonment in the Eastern penitentiary. Macfarlane has been a fuguitive in Brazil, accompanied by his wife and child, for nearly three years.

Suicide in a Cistern.

NORTHFIELD, Minn., June 1.—A sad case of suicide was discovered in the little town of Bush Prairie a few miles from this city. Mrs. A. A. Wescott, a woman 45 years of age, who has been confined in the Rochester asylum for the past few years, returned to her home two months ago. Lately she has been acting strangely, and on Friday evening disappeared. Search was made for her and yesterday the body was found in a cistern.

Will Not Convey the Caravel.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Because of the foul condition of the Vesuvius, the navy department has abandoned the intention of sending her around from New York to the mouth of the St. Lawrence to convey the caravels and she has gone from Charleston, Mass., to the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard to be docked.

WILL ASK A RECEIVER

Further Trouble is Said to be Ahead of the Now Much Distracted Whisky Trust.

If Overtures Made to the Directors Are Not Accepted More Legal Proceedings Will Begin.

Stockholders and Creditors Will Unite in Asking for Appointment of a Receiver at Once.

CHICAGO, June 1.—The Tribune this morning has the following: If overtures that have been made by certain stockholders and creditors of the Distilling and Cattle Feeding company to the directors of that organization are not accepted, there is a strong probability that the trust will find itself confronted with additional legal proceedings. Jacob Newman, the attorney for these stockholders and creditors, admitted as much yesterday afternoon, although he refused to discuss what steps were likely to be taken.

It is understood that the course contemplated is to file a bill this afternoon asking for the appointment of a receiver for the trust. This will be followed with an application for an injunction, if the plan is carried out, to restrain President Greenhut from selling any of the $8,000,000, bonds recently issued. The pecuniary interest of Mr. Newman's clients, he said yesterday, amounds to $200,000 and he also said that they were non-residents of the state.

"I cannot say now," said Mr. Newman last evening, "who my clients are or what they expect to do. It is purely a cold question of dollars and cents with them, and I will add that if the negotiations that are now in progress terminate satisfactorily no litigation will be commenced so far as we are concerned."

It is believed that Mr. Newman's clients are mostly New York stockholders, and it is also believed that they will avoid filing a bill asking for the appointment of a receiver if possible.

THE PAGE DAM GAVE WAY.

FERGUS FALLS, June 1.—At 4 o'clock yesterday morning the east fifty feet of the Page mill dam gave way. This dam is situated two miles above the city and is the first in a series of five. The water in the Page pond, which is very large, with sixteen feet head, rushed into the pond of the City Power company a mile below, carrying out the north end of this dam and letting the river under A. H. Kirk's flouring mill, which was badly damaged.

This power is owned by Samuel Hill, J. W. Griffin and other Minneapolis parties, and it furnishes power and water for the city water works. The water works were left without power and the supply of water is meagre. When the rush of water reached the city power dam word was telephoned to the George Billright dam to open the gates.

Before this was done the Red River mills, owned by J. J. Hill, were notified to open up, but the water was so powerful that it carried away the flume and undermined the mill badly. The right dam was not injured nor was the Fergus Power company's dam, the last of the series. The B. F. Nelson Paper mill was not injured. While there has been a heavy flow of water, the break in the Page dam is unexplainable. This mill is operated by George Tileston, of St. Cloud.

NOT ONE BID RECEIVED.

The Cherokee Bonds Were Not in Any Demand.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Cherokee bonds are $6,000,000 in value. They bear 4 per cent interest. They run to 1899. They are guaranteed by the government. With this guarantee behind them the bonds are supposed to be "better than gold;" that is, they are a safe investment.

Their sale has been advertised by the government. Yesterday was the day set for opening the bids at the treasury department. Not one bid was received. There was rumor of a private bid at the National hotel last night. It was just about bond-face value. The refusal of Eastern capitalists to buy bonds guaranteed by the government that bear 4 per cent interest and have ten years to run causes comment.

GRAND RAPIDS AROUSED.

The Rev. Miss Tupper Fell In Love With a Divorced Man.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 1.—This city has been greatly perturbed by the announcement that Resin A. Maynard and the Rev. Mila F. Tupper, until recently pastor of the Unitarian church of Grand Rapids, procured a marriage license in Chicago a few days ago.

Maynard was connected with the custom house here and resigned when the present administration came into power. Three weeks ago he obtained a divorce from his wife. His domestic life was of the most unpleasant sort and it is commonly reported that he had behaved in an unfriendly manner toward his wife and family.

Miss Tupper, on the other hand, was greatly beloved by her congregation and was generally recognized as a woman of superior character and talents.

Miss Tupper became acquainted with Maynard about a year and a half ago. He occasionally attended her church. The brilliancy of her sermons attracted him, and she thought she could lift him up and perhaps save him. He infatuated her and she exercised a similar influence over him. Unreasonable as it may seem, there was a strong intellectual sympathy between their minds. Miss Tupper was a student of sociology, and an ardent advocate of social purity. She believed in Platonic friendship, because she probably knew nothing about anything else. Thep dabbled in Christian science and took lessons of Mrs. King, the local exponent of the liberal branch of the alleged truth. Finally they conceived the idea that they had been united in a "soul marriage," which combined all the spiritual ecstasy of earthly wedded life, stripped of its gross forms.

Pretty soon members of Miss Tupper's congregation entered objections to the frequency with which the couple were together. These rumblings grew into a storm. Church members warned Maynard to keep away from the woman and she in turn had ready excuses that she was uplifting him.

Miss Pierce, a friend and admirer of Miss Tupper, tried to dissuade her from having anything to do with Maynard, but she would not listen to her entreaties. Miss Pierce even offered to pay one-half of her expenses for a tour through Europe and others offered to do the same if she would give Maynard the shake; but this proposition was not accepted. Maynard handed in his resignation as a member of the board of trustees, which was accepted. He discontinued his attendance at church, but spent most of his time in her company when she was not in the pulpit. A short time prior to the annual meeting of the board of trustees last February she gave notice that she would not engage for another year, but would stay with the congregation until July 1. About this time Maynard was recovering from a reported attack of nervous prostration.

On the heels of the proposition came a second communication from her, saying that she had decided not to stay until July 1, but would resign, the resignation to take effect April 1. This was about the middle of February. She left for Chicago a few days following this event and did not return to fill her appointment up to April 1.

Upon her arrival in Chicago Miss Tupper took up her headquarters at Hull house, on Halsted street, ostensibly to assist in the work there, but in reality, it is said, her mind was influenced by an ambition as strange and unfathomable as her conduct. She wished to be the founder of a new theology and to form a new religion that should be a comfort and consolation to mankind to come.

Mitchell & McClure's Tug, George P. Savage, Caught Fire Last Night and Was Badly Burned.

Fire is Supposed to Have Caught From the Boilers—Burned to the Water's Edge.

She Was Rebuilt Last Winter, and Afterward Sank and Was Then Raised.

The Mitchell & McClure Mill company have had bad luck with their tug Geo. P. Savage. In the early spring it was entirely rebuilt and refitted for the season's work. Soon after it sank and was raised and again prepared for duty. Last night it caught fire and burned until it was a total wreck, at the shore in front of the steel plant. The tug was towing a raft across the bay and getting stuck on a bar the crew, as it was the custom, decided to lay to shore until morning. About midnight fire broke out, presumably from the boilers, and entirely consumed the woodwork of the vessel.

ANDY BOWEN VICTORIOUS.

Bested Everhart in a Fight for the Lightweight Championship.

NEW ORLEANS, June 1.—Andy Bowen and Jack Everhart met last night before the Olympic club to contend for the long disputed claim for the lightweight championship of the South and a purse of $2000. Bowen had in his corner Tom Anderson, Tom Kennedy and Albert Spitzfaden, while Everhart was championed by Johnny Eckert, his trainer, and Jack Daly.

At 11:30 p. m. twenty-six rounds had been fought, with the advantage decidedly in Bowen's favor. Everhart fought well and took punishment bravely, but did not show any of the science that marked Bowen's fighting. Everything went to indicate that the mill would be a long-drawn out and fiercely contested one.

At 1 a. m. Bowen and Everhart had fought fifty-six rounds. Bowen had plenty of speed and strength left, and though he hit Everhart at will, seemed unable to fease him. Everhart could not land at all.

Little was done by either man from the fifty-sixth to the sixty-ninth rounds. In the sixty-ninth round Everhart went down from a left on the neck. Bowen punished him at will in the next ten rounds, and although Everhart was weak he resolutely remained in the ring and refused to be knocked out. The fighting up to the eighty-fourth round was uneventful, with Bowen cautiously sparring for an opening and landing some ineffectual blows.

In the eighty-fourth round Bowen started in to mix matters but he was met by Everhart with stiff return punches. This order of things was repeated in the eighty-fifth round, and at the sound of the gong for the opening of the eighty-sixth round Everhart failed to respond and the fight was awarded to Bowen.

It was learned that Everhart sustained a very painful injury to his left hand in the seventieth round. Everhart put up a game fight, but Bowen had superior strength and endurance. The fight closed at 3 o'clock this morning.

WHEAT DECLINED RAPIDLY.

It Opened Higher, But Quickly Broke and Remained Weak.

The wheat market here today opened firm and steady, with an advance on yesterday of ½c for cash and ⅛c for July. This was succeeded by a sudden and continuous decline in common with all the other markets of the country. This was the situation up to the noon hour when prices firmed up slightly from the lowest quotations of the morning. The feeling, however, was weak and there was plenty of wheat for sale, there evidently being a disposition on the part of large holders to unload owing to the heavy stocks on hand, the stringency in the money market and the spring wheat crop being only one month away. Trading in futures was mainly for July delivery and confined to the No. 1 northern grade. Cash wheats ruled dull and shared in the decline up to noon. The afternoon session was dull with some trading at a shade better figures but the close was weak at 1c decline from yesterday for cash, 1⅛c to 1⅛c decline for September and 1⅛ to 1⅜c decline for July. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 68c; May, 68c; July, 70c; September, 73¼c. No. 1 northern, cash, 65c; May, 65c; July, 65¾c; September, 70¼c. No. 2 northern, cash, 61¼c. No. 3, 56½c. Rejected, 51½c. On track—No. 1 northern, 65c; No. 2 northern, 62c. Rye, 47c.

Car inspection today—No. 1 hard 2 cars, No. 1 northern 353, No. 2 northern 20, No. 3 spring 2, rejected 8, total 385. Receipts—Wheat, 157,807 bus. Shipments—Wheat 850,190 bus. Cars on track—Northern Pacific 47, Great Northern 46, Omaha 2, total 95; last year 46.

Wheat: Receipts, 111,750 bus; sales, 4,725,000 bus; No. 2 red, ¼@¾c up early on foreign buying, light deliveries and firm cables; declined 1@1¼c on realizing through weak west; fairly active. June, 74⅛@74⅝c; July, 76@76¾c; August, 77½@78 9-16c; September, 79⅛@80¼c; December, 83⅛@84⅞c. Rye, steady; western, 64@66c. Corn: Receipts, 104,200 bus; sales 1,050,000 bus; No. 2, weaker; June 48¾c; July, 48¼@48⅝c; August, 48⅛@48⅜c; September, 48¼@48¾c. Oats: Receipts, 84,000; sales, 25,000 bus; No. 2, firm; July, 35⅜@35¾c; state, 40@46c; western, 36@47c.

The Minneapolis Market.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 1.—Wheat: July opened at 65¾c and closed at 64¾c; September opened at 66¾c and closed at 67¾c. On track—No. 1 hard, 65¾c; No. 1 northern, 63¾c; No. 2 northern, 61¾c.

The Foreign Markets.

LONDON, June 1.—The grain markets opened this morning firm. At Liverpool wheat a turn dearer; corn ½d higher and more disposition to buy. At London cargoes of California wheat unchanged. Floating cargoes of wheat firmly held; wheat on passage a turn dearer; corn firmer. The French markets were steady.

The Chicago Market.

CHICAGO, June 1.—Closing prices: Wheat: June, 66¾@67c; July, 68c; September, 72¼c. Corn: June, 39⅝@39⅞c; July, 40⅛@40⅜c; September, 41¾c. Oats: June, 29¾c; July, 28¾c; September, 29¾c. Pork: July, $21.15. Lard: June, $10.95; July, $10.55.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

The Markets Opened Lower and There Was Little Activity.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The share market opened at a decline this morning. There was only a moderate show of activity at the start and the dealings were wholly devoid of excitement. Atchison declined to 25⅞, L. & Q. to 93⅝, St. Paul to 93¾, Rock Island to 72¾, Lackawanna to 140⅝, New England to 21½, Northern Pacific to 36 and Union Pacific to 29¾. Subsequently New England rose to 25, Burlington to 86 and St. Paul to 69.

In the specialties Hocking Valley fell off to 22, Evansville & Terre Haute to 135 and Ontario & Western to 14⅝. Pacific Mail rose to 19¾ and receded to 18¾. General Electric of the industrials showed a little animation in the first sales but the remaining securities in this category were quiet. The stock named fell off ⅛ to 75 and advanced to 75¾. Distilling and Cattle Feeding sold down ⅛ to 15⅛@16, Cordage ¼ to 17¾ and American Sugar ⅛ to 88. Chicago Gas rose ⅛ to 73¾@73⅞ and Lead common 1 to 31.

Just What He Wanted.

A little incident of a late occurrence at a London hotel is only more amusing than many others of the sort in that we can vouch for its truth. An American visitor, ruffled at being pressed for settlement of his bill, threatened to leave.

"You don't stir from this hotel until you have paid up," protested the manager.

"Just put that in writing, and I'll stay here for the remainder of my days," was the retort.

A Paradox.

Officer O'Hooligan—Are ye acquainted wid the lady who jist giv' you that quarter?

Blind Beggar—Oh, only by sight.—Truth.

A Responsible Position.

Dashaway—Well, uncle, have you got a job yet?

Uncle Ebony—Yes, sah. I'ze got a position as collector, sah.

Dashaway—What are you collecting?

He Was All Right.

"That man over there is talking while I am trying to figure, and he puts me out," said a guest to the hotel clerk.

"Well, that's what we hire him for," was the reply. "He's the bouncer."—Yonkers Statesman.

THE IOWA PROHIBITIONISTS.

They Are Meeting in Force to Nominate a State Ticket.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 1.—The largest state convention of the Prohibition party ever held in this state is assembled at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium this morning with A. U. Coates, of Perry, in the chair. The platform committee reported resolutions favoring the enforcement of the prohibitory law throughout the state, the restoration of the former rigid restrictions of the pharmacy law, two cents per mile for railroad passenger fare; civil service reform, postal banks, postal telegraphs, 1 cent postage, repeal of the Sherman silver law and change of ratio of coinage by putting a dollar's worth of silver in a dollar, after which coinage should be free and unrestricted; woman suffrage, restriction of immigration, opposition to hasty and indiscriminate naturalization, repeal of the Geary law and the abrogation of the Russian treaty.

The committee on nominations reported as follows: Governor, Capt. K. Brown, of Ames; lieutenant governor, J. C. Reem, Delta; supreme judge, J. A. Harvey, Polk City; railroad commissioner, E. H. Gillet, a student of Drake university; school superintendent, Belle H. Mix, of Danville.

Resolutions were adopted condemning Sunday opening of the Columbian exposition and especially of the Iowa building. A resolution holding Governor Boies and other state, county and municipal officers responsible for the Muscatine outrages was vigorously opposed but finally adopted unanimously. The silver plank adopted at Cincinnati last year was substituted for the committee resolution, but the motion to reconsider is now pending. The minority of the nominating committee favors J. Mahin, of Muscatine for governor.

CRASH AT THE FAIR.

Collapse and Demolition of a Valuable Government Exhibit.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 1.—There was a long drawn out crash in the government building this morning. Sightseers, guards and officials rushed towards the spot expecting to see the collapse and demolition of a valuable exhibit. Rosin, turpentine, glass, sections of tree trunks and varnishes were piled in a promiscuous heap.

Everything is supposed to run so smoothly in Uncle Sam's big building that the destruction of an exhibit before it has been thoroughly installed was hardly considered within the range of possibilities. A man named Walker, who is the boss agent for the department of agricultures exhibit, fumed and rushed around as though suddenly bereft of his senses in seeing the wreck and ruin around him.

The cause was said to be the giving away of a point in the adjoining timber exhibit being used to raise one of the beams. The destroyed exhibits were crude in the extreme.

New Life Saving Carriage.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Mr. Kimball, superintendent of the life saving service, returned from Boston where he was in attendance on the meetings of the board considering new life saving appliances. A number of devices were presented, but the only one recommended and which has been adopted by the government is a new life saving carriage. It will be gradually introduced into the service, superceding the old carriage.

Holy Writ says, "A liar will not be believed though he speak the truth." This has proved to be a fallacy, because the average politician has been believed during the last 25 years.—Southern Mercury.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, Minn. June 1.—The storm that was over Missouri yesterday morning has moved to Central Illinois, where it is central this morning, while another area of low barometer is north of Minnesota. It was thought yesterday morning that the Missouri storm would move far enough north to affect this section, but so far it only extends north as far as Central Wisconsin, but there is a strong probability that it will move still farther north today and bring rain to this location.

The temperature has fallen around Lake Superior, and risen slightly in other sections. At 7 o'clock this morning it registered 44° here, while at Moorhead it was 62°, at St. Paul 60°, and Marquette 58°.

The rainfall has not been heavy, except over the lower Mississippi valley, where over an inch has fallen. The rain still continues over the Ohio and Tennessee valleys, the lower lake region and the Upper Mississippi valley.

DULUTH, June 1.—Fair, probably followed by rain this afternoon; slight change in temperature, northeast to east winds; fair Friday, slight change in temperature.

B. H. BRONSON,
Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Northeasterly winds, becoming variable; showers Friday. For Minnesota: Fair, preceded by showers and probably thunder storms; cooler Friday; winds shifting to westerly.

The Pension Rolls.

Gen. Weissert and ex-Senator Spooner do not agree upon the reason for the expulsion of Farnham Post of New York City from the Grand Army ranks. Gen. Weissert says the post was disbanded because it grossly violated the rules of the order by publishing a resolution that had not been first submitted to headquarters, and not because the resolution declared in favor of honest pensions and demanded a revision of the pension rolls.

On Memorial day, ex-Senator Spooner spoke at Eau Claire to the ex-soldiers and their friends who had gathered to do honor to the memories of the dead heroes, and in the course of his remarks he made the assertion that Farnham post was mustered out because of its pronounced hostility to pensions. It is astonishing that so well-informed a man as ex-Senator Spooner should indulge in such a gross misrepresentation of the facts. Farnham post has not declared its hostility to pensions but it has joined in the general demand for honest pensions. It very properly urges that only those who were disabled in actual service during the war are entitled to pensions, and that the coffee-coolers, bounty-jumpers, and thousands of others who were never under fire have no claim on the bounty of the government. The only hostility on the part of Farnham post is hostility to dishonest pensions. Mr. Spooner must know this, and yet on Memorial day he misrepresented the New York post, which is deserving of all honor and credit for its patriotic stand.

Right in line with this demand for reform in the granting of pensions is the decision of the secretary of the interior regarding the payment of pensions under the act of June 27, 1890, which is liable to save the government between fifteen and twenty million dollars. The gist of the decision is, that where an applicant for a pension is able to perform manual labor he is not entitled to a pension. In this decision both the attorney general and commissioner of pensions concur. It is a sound view of the question, and no member of the Grand Army should object to it. By its terms, the lists must be purged of many names that are improperly upon it. Probably Mr. Spooner will say this action indicates hostility to pensions, whereas it simply indicates that an honest effort is being made to restrict the payment of pensions to only those who are justly entitled to them.

A Splenetic Organ.

The Grand Rapids Magnet does not like Maj. Baldwin's politics. This is because it is a Republican paper. Neither does it forgive him for defeating Judge Searle and even carrying Itasca county, when Editor Bernard had promised the St. Cloud judge 500 majority and had been promised the Grand Rapids postoffice in return for his labors in behalf of the judge's election.

When the Magnet editor thinks of the postoffice that might have been his, had not the people preferred Cleveland and Baldwin, his spirit is greatly perturbed and he waxes wrath at all who stepped between him and his ambition. During the past few weeks he has been devoting his editorial space to abuse of Maj. Baldwin because he has been honestly endeavoring to checkmate the plans of the pine land rings. It is perhaps natural that the Magnet should resent any interference with the schemes of the pine land ring. Those acquainted with all the facts do not wonder at its abuse of Maj. Baldwin on this point. The Magnet must stand by its friends, and as it was hand-in-glove with the representatives of the pine land ring that aided in securing Judge Searle's nomination for congress, it naturally cannot find anything to praise in the actions of the man who routed the pine ring forces at the polls.

Maj. Baldwin can stand attacks from such a source, because they are harmless and have no weight with the public. Neither are they true any more than is the further statement of the Magnet that the major is "using his telegraph franks for specials to the Duluth Herald, containing nothing but praise for Congressman Baldwin." The Herald is not fortunate enough to have its Washington specials franked, but is forced to pay hard cash to the telegraph companies for the same, neither does The Herald receive its dispatches from the Sixth district congressman. It employs an experienced newspaper man for its Washington correspondent, one who has lived in Minnesota and understands the politics and politicians of this state. If he has praised Maj. Baldwin, it is undoubtedly because praise was deserved. He is not singular in this respect either, as the correspondents of the St. Paul Pioneer Press and Globe and the Minneapolis Tribune, Times and Journal have also commended in the highest terms the excellent work which Congressman Baldwin has already done at Washington in the interest of the Sixth district. The Magnet should bottle up its spleen for some other occasion.

The Conviction of Dr. Briggs.

Dr. Charles A. Briggs has been condemned by the Presbyterian assembly as a heretic. What his punishment will be has not been decided at this writing, but he will probably be suspended, deposed from the ministry or expelled from the church. While, from the ecclesiastical standpoint of today, this is severe punishment, it is not accompanied by the consequences that would have attended such a trial many years ago. Then the choice would have been between shutting him up in a dungeon, turning him adrift under a ban which forbade anyone to give him shelter, food or drink, or burning him at the stake.

The world has changed much since these days, and religious views have likewise changed. Three-fourths of those who passed judgment upon Dr. Briggs would themselves have been deemed heretics had they lived a century ago and expressed the views they now hold. The trouble with Dr. Briggs is that he has progressed a little farther than the majority of his fellow-clergymen. There is little doubt that his opinions in relation to the verbal inspiration and the inerrancy of the Bible, and the future condition of the souls of those who die as unbelievers or without due repentance of their sins, are at variance with the Presbyterian creed as it is generally understood, and now the assembly has by a majority vote declared that these opinions are erroneous.

But this majority vote does not decide the truth or falsity of the doctor's beliefs. It is merely an expression of the majority on the subject. The minority, a large and respectable one containing many eminent members of the assembly, is just as likely to be correct. The Milwaukee Sentinel, in discussing this point a few days ago, pointed out very correctly that "when the church proclaimed that Galileo's opinion that the sun was the center of the solar system, and that the earth moved about it, was false and heretical, the order of the universe was not in the least affected by the proclamation. Nor will the truth or error of Dr. Briggs' views be in any wise demonstrated by the vote of the assembly. It will be merely the expression of opinion by a majority on subjects concerning which nobody is certain. Persons who find it impossible to believe that the walls of a city were once thrown down flat by the music of rams' horns; that a man once lived three days in the stomach of a fish, in the depths of the sea, and then came forth alive and in good condition; that a fiery chariot has come from some other world and carried away into the sky a living man from this planet, will find it just as difficult to believe these things after as before the vote of the assembly."

And now the question arises: If Dr. Briggs is put out of the church for entertaining heretical doctrines, how can those who voted that he is not a heretic and who entertain similar views consistently remain within the church fold?

Justice Field denies the report that he intends to retire from the supreme court bench. He is now a very old man, not very strong physically but still vigorous mentally, but he will stay on the bench as long as President Cleveland is in the White House, if his strength will permit. He hates Cleveland and does not want to give him a chance to appoint his successor.

The New York Evening Post thus summarizes the general opinion of the people on the national commission of the World's fair: "A more meddlesome, ignorant and silly lot of people have seldom been got together in a capacity of national importance."

Full discussion was what settled the election on the canal bonds. The mass meeting at the Lyceum Saturday night did more than anything else to arouse public sentiment against the proposition.

Senator Vilas says an extra session of congress to deal with the finances alone may be called within two weeks. The senator stands close to the president and his statement will therefor carry weight.

Now let the canal company go ahead with its work without the aid of county bonds. If it does, it may depend upon receiving liberal treatment from the county at some future date.

The Chicago Mail of last Monday had the following optimistic comment on the open Sunday at the fair: "Chicago was long on heaven and short of Sodom and Gomorrah yesterday."

The coal combine has again advanced the price of coal 25 cents a ton. They recently made a reduction, but have evidently repented of their sudden streak of generosity.

The situation in Hawaii is apparently becoming serious. Another revolution, which may be more bloody than the last, is among the probabilities.

Yesterday was a cold day for the canal company and its bond proposition. It was snowed under.

Eliot Lord's Daily Program.

St. Paul Globe: Judging from the religious tone of the Boston Traveller, and its outcry against opening the gates of the World's fair Sunday, the editorial force must begin its day's labor with prayers in the sanctum and close with the benediction.

A Better Use for It.

St. Paul News: The bonds will probably be defeated, and in voting thus the people of Duluth will act wisely. The whole plan is chimerical in the highest degree. If Duluth wants to spend $60,000 in obtaining additional power, she might better spend it in prospecting for coal on the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges.

"Bill-board' shows with lame actors are never patronized as the play whose merit needs no exaggeration."
—MERCER.

We have previously said vast preparations have been made for the June trade, and bright and early the store gradually began to fill with purchasers.

The Dress Goods, Silks, Cloaks and Millinery Departments are now much the busiest spots, while the Underwear, Hosiery, Waists and Laces keep a good second. The $1, $1.25 and $1.50 Waists are selling the most speedily. The Hats at $3.00, $5.00, $7.50 and $8.50 are the most active sellers in the Millinery Department. The 45c, 50c, 65c, 75c Cheviots, Serges, Wool Surahs and Henriettas are the leading sellers in the Dress Goods stocks, and the buying is too general in the Silks to note any difference. All the standard numbers in Hosiery are selling from 23c up, with a goodly buying of out sizes.

Laces of every width, kind and quality are selling freely with a slight preference for the 7 and 9-inch widths. We are selling a remarkable quantity of Cravenette Mackintoshes; see them and you will know why.

The Corset and Muslin Underwear are doing nicely. No need to say any more about Parasols.

DELUGED WITH VOTES

In the City Out of a Total of 2233 Votes Only 62 Were for the Bonds.

The Percentage in the Outside Towns Was Almost the Same as in the City.

The citizens of the county buried the Minnesota Canal company's proposition for the issue of bonds so deep under a shower of negative votes yesterday that the representatives of that recently born organization are today wondering where they are at. It was not merely a shower of votes it was a perfect deluge. In the city out of a total of 2233 votes only 63 were cast in favor of the proposition. In West Duluth the percentage of favorable votes was larger but when the amount of work done there is considered it would seem as though it had been thrown away.

It was feared that in the outside towns there would be some tall hustling done by the canal company but if there was the results do not show it. Tower, Ely, Breitung, New Duluth, Biwabik, Mountain Iron and every place heard from all went almost solidly against the bonds.

The result of the vote as far as obtained is as follows:

Superior Wants Better Water.

Yesterday afternoon the West Superior chamber of commerce declared by resolution that the intake pipe of the Superior Water, Light and Power company is located in good water but that the condition of the water furnished is vile, indicating that there are leaks in the pipe. President Woodward attended the council meeting last night and presented a copy of the resolution in a speech urging action. By a vote of 10 to 6 an appropriation of $600 was made for a complete investigation by a diver.

AMUSEMENTS.

Last Evening's Concert.

The testimonial concert to Miss Margaret McDonald at the Temple last evening was not as largely attended as could have been wished but it was an enthusiastic audience and thoroughly appreciated the exceptionally fine music which was given. Miss McDonald sang two numbers, Haydn's "With Verdure Clad" and Operti's "Angelus." Both numbers were received with great favor and encores were given. The second number was probably the best and was sung with violin obligato. Miss Anna Farrell was in excellent voice and her solo "Sweetheart" was sung with fine expression and taste. The duet of Miss McDonald and Miss Farrell was unusually fine. George E. Knowles, the Superior baritone, has been heard in Duluth several times and has always achieved a triumph, last evening being no exception. He sang an air from "Don Munio" and as an encore number gave "Love's Sorrow." His second number, "A Son of the Desert Am I," was one of the finest selections of the program. Mrs. John Loman's piano solo, "La Castagnette," by Ketlen, was a beautiful number, one requiring unusual delicacy of touch and exquisite taste and was rendered in a manner which brought a flattering encore. Mrs. Loman will play this selection at the World's fair when the Cecilian society program is given. Sydney Brown, always popular, was received with the usual enthusiasm. He played an air from Lurline and Bela's "Heimaths-Schnen." In response to an encore to the latter he played Schuman's "Traumeri" and it was decidedly one of the very finest numbers of the concert. The Arion quartet sang a selection and was given a hearty encore and a second number was given in response.

Ohrstrom-Renard Concert.

The Ohrstrom-Renard Lyric artists will give a concert at the Temple. Augusta Ohrstrom is so well known in Duluth that there is but little to be said in her praise that has not been heard before. In this tour, now almost at its close, she has met with brilliant success everywhere and undoubtedly has a great future before her as a vocalist. Miss Martina Johnston, the violinist of the organization made her first appearance in America at the Lyceum in Duluth last fall. The triumph which she then achieved has been repeated in every city she has visited. J. Donald Balfe, the basso, has a fine powerful voice and is always given a cordial reception wherever he appears. Stephen Renaeau, the pianist is highly spoken of.

All Kinds of Wrestling.

Tomorrow night Pete Schumacher, champion of the Pacific coast, and George W. Curtis, of Superior, champion of the Northwest, will meet at the Parlor theater for $100 a side and the gate receipts. There will be five bouts as follows: Catch-as-catch-can, Græco-Roman, collar and elbow, side hold, back hold. A mixed match such as this will give both men their favorite style and the contest should be interesting and exciting.

THE BIG DULUTH.

CAUSED BY SUNSTROKE.

Pat Shock Thinks that Caused His Drunkenness.

Pat Shock, in the municipal court this morning, attributed his condition of yesterday to a sunstroke sustained two years ago on the St. Louis levees. In no other way could he account for the effect apparently produced on him by half a pint of whisky imbibed direct from the bottle in company with "a friend of mine, who is a Swede, your honor." Pat went up for ten days, accompanied by William Murphy, Ed Smith and A. Anderson.

Eliza Chase, charged by Mary Kinloch with using obscene language, admitted the indecent phrases set forth in the complaint, but denied that they were uttered. Besides, she declared, what she said was not a marker to the remarks of Mrs. Kinloch. Judge Powell entered a plea of not guilty and will hear the case tomorrow afternoon. Thomas White, alias Whitby, was also charged with using indecent language on the deck of the Lucile while she was at Sutphin's dock. He pleaded not guilty.

AGAIN ARRESTED.

Frank Cox Arraigned Today For Selling Oleomargarine for Butter.

Frank Cox was arraigned this morning under the statute forbidding the sale of oleomargarine as butter. He pleaded not guilty and will have a hearing June 8. The other case against Mr. Cox, which was dismissed, and all the so called oleomargarine cases thus far tried have been for selling oleomargarine other than of a bright pink. The present offense charged is punishable by a fine of from $100 to $1000 and is indictable by the grand jury. Cox was released on his personal recognizance.

PROGRESS AT GRAND RAPIDS.

Dr. Howes' Sawmill Is Now In Active Operation.

Dr. J. R. Howes last winter realized that there was a necessity for a good sawmill at Grand Rapids. With this conviction, says the Magnet, he went to work and erected a mill 30 by 100 feet, and supplied it with all the necessary machinery for cutting 40,000 feet of lumber daily. He bought several million feet of logs, and on Thursday the first logs were sawed. Teams are hauling the lumber away as soon as it is manufactured. Twenty-five men will be employed at the mill.

This mill is but the beginning of similar productive enterprises which are sure to be located at Grand Rapids during the present year. There can be no question but the enterprise will be a most profitable one for its projector, Dr. Howes, and in this the community will rejoice, for whatever the energetic doctor makes out of his mill he will expend in other improvements for Grand Rapids.

A report is in circulation that an excellent grade of ore has been found within one mile and a half of Grand Rapids.

Last Thursday Mr. Charles Hettman, recently of Superior, came to Grand Rapids and the next morning bought of O. H. Stillson two lots in block 39, First addition, on which he will erect a building for the manufacture of soda and mineral waters and soft drinks.

Last Saturday Professor Culver, of the geological survey, came to Grand Rapids and stated that Mr. Carle, one of his party had got lost in the woods Friday. A number of men were hired in town to go in search of the missing man. It seems that he was alone on section 27, 55-26, and by some means lost his bearings. He being unacquainted with the heavy timber soon became mixed up to such an extent that he could not find his way to camp. He journeyed all Friday and Saturday, and Sunday struck Geo. Lydick's ranch on the Mississippi river.

J. J. Leavitt one of the old time explorers, was a Magnet office caller last week. For the past eighteen months he has been in the Lake of the Woods country at the gold mines. He states that the Caldwell mine cleans up $11,000 per month, $5000 in clean gold and $6000 from concrete. This mine employs thirty men. The Northern Mill company expects to commence operations during the first week of June, with the new process of reducing refractory ore in furnaces. After the ore is reduced by the furnaces, it is crushed by a new roller process. All the ore found in the Lake of the Woods country will have to be treated in this manner, in order to obtain the best results. Mr. Leavitt said that during last winter the mercury averaged for sixty days forty below zero.

Are you insured? If not, now is the time to provide yourself and family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as an insurance against any serious results from an attack of bowel complaint during the summer months. It is almost certain to be needed and should be procured at once. No other remedy can take its place or do its work. 25 and 50 cent bottles, for sale by druggists.

The Best University.

In every large city there are a number of schools and colleges in which special branches of learning are taught. There is a college of medicine, a college of pharmacy, a college of dentistry.

There are schools of art, languages and mines; schools of architecture, and commercial colleges. There are historical societies, natural history societies, and societies for the culture of political economy. These schools, colleges and societies—and there are many more besides these named—if grouped together under one president and board of trustees would form a university where, as the name implies, everything could be learned.

In the medical profession the different branches of the science are divided among many men who are called specialists. There are specialists for the eye, the ear, the throat, the heart, the lungs, and these men devote their lifetime to the study of the branch of medical science they have chosen. Now, just as it would take a complete circle of specialists to make one perfect doctor, so does it take a complete circle of the arts and sciences and literature to make a university. But a university covers many acres of ground and occupies many buildings. There are numbers of libraries and teachers for every branch of learning, who set apart certain days for lectures on different subjects. Yet as all parts of the seat of learning are grouped together within a set space under one great head, it is called a university, which means all turned into one.

If we could take a complete university and squeeze it together until it occupied a space of but forty inches square, we should have an encyclopedia. An encyclopedia is, therefore, a condensed university. The word encyclopedia is made up of three Greek words: ev (in) kukyos (a circle) and uai-deia (instruction). It is thus literally a circle of instruction, and being a circle, it must be complete. The dictionary will tell you that an encyclopedia is "A complete circle of the sciences, or general system of knowledge, arranged alphabetically; a dictionary of the arts, sciences and literature."

Being a circle of knowledge, the encyclopedia embraces the whole round of learning. It is, therefore, a pocket edition of a university, or at least one so small that it can be tucked away in a corner of your library.

The Duluth Evening Herald proposes to give away a complete set of the Minneapolis Tribune's famous edition of the great Encyclopedia Britannica. See last article of explanation in another column of today's paper.

Caution to Customers.

Nothing of original or superior merit but has its imitations and counterfeits, even to imperiling the health of communities. For this reason the proprietors of Hostetter's Stomach bitters caution their patrons to scrutinize every bottle (and it is sold only in bottles) and verify its many marks of genuineness.

A sufficient warning to those meditating fraud can be found in the unbroken line of judicial decisions, exposing and severely punishing everyone detected in counterfeiting the bitters, and the redoubled efforts that are being made to protect the public from the deception of these unprincipled pirates.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

IT CLOSED ITS DOORS

The Plankington Bank at Milwaukee Was Obliged to Submit to the Inevitable This Morning.

Owing to Failure of All Efforts to Reorganize the Bank it Closed Its Doors.

General Belief That the Wealthy Stockholders Will See That All the Depositors Are Paid.

MILWAUKEE, June 1.—The expected has come to pass. The following notice was posted on the doors of the Plankinton bank this morning: "Owing to the failure of all efforts to reorganize the bank and the continued withdrawal of deposits, we have thought best for the interests of all depositors and the stockholders to close the bank. (Signed) The Plankinton Bank."

The failure, for such it is, causes no surprise in business circles. It was a foregone conclusion. The moment the fact was made public that it was involved to the extent of $274,000 in the Lappen case, just that moment it was certain that the bank must cease to do business or face the alternative of reorganizing and with new officers try to live down its bad reputation. Financiers generally believed liquidation was the only resort that might reasonably be expected. They pointed out that the reputation of the bank is as sensitive as that of a woman and that it would be at best a long and hopeless task to regain public confidence if it were possible at all.

The stockholders went to work early to make the best of the matter and it will be the universal judgment that they have done so in closing the doors of the institution. The failure will not have a straw's weight in helping one to judge of the financial condition of the country. It was not caused by a tight money market or by a run or by any of the other causes which may legitimately affect the banking business. The failure was owing solely to bad banking.

The opinion that depositors will be paid in full by the bank is based on the honorable character of the men who are stockholders in the institution. It cannot be concealed that there is criticism of the directors of the bank because they have failed to keep the president, Fred T. Day, in the lines of sound banking. So long as the depositors are paid in full, this criticism is likely to be confined to the street corner.

One fact that causes universal regret is that the name of good old John Plankinton should be connected with such a case. There is no alarm in financial circles in Milwaukee and the Plankinton's bank failure is simply an incident of the Lappen plunge.

President Day is not at the bank this morning, but at his home ill. He refuses to make a statement and all access to him is denied. Cashier Mommsen has promised to give out at noon a statement of the bank's condition. A large crowd of depositors surround the bank, but everything is orderly. No access to the bank or its officials is allowed.

Among the stockholders are: Frank T. Day, $95,000; John Plankinton estate, $38,000; William Plankinton, $5000; Judge James G. Jenkins, $8500; F. W. Noyes, $10,000; Charles L. Clason, $10,000; H. O. Armour, $5000.

Robert Hill, president of the Wisconsin National bank, in an interview this morning relative to the probable effect if any, said: "There can be no material effect to this suspension. The effect was discounted some time ago when the run first occurred. I do not apprehend that there will be any difficultw about the depositors getting their money. The men behind the bank either individually or collectively are able to meet whatever demands may be made."

A meeting of the directors of the bank was held shortly before noon to take action as to the future course to be pursued. It was decided to proceed to a liquidation at once and William Plankinton was named as assignee and took possession of the institution immediately after the close of the meeting.

It developed that the bank is in possession of a large amount of non-negotiable paper upon which an unsuccessful effort to realize was made several days ago. Besides this the assets are large and valuable to such an extent that it was said that no loss would be occasioned to anybody interested.

The attempt to readjust the tangled affairs in the ordinary run of business proved to be more than could be properly accomplished. While there was considerable difference of opinion, the sentiment seemed to prevail among the directors that the affairs of the bank would be wound up and the business discontinued. The bond given by Mr. Plankinton is for $1,600,000 with John L. Mitchell, David Ferguson and Chas. Ray as surcties.

Happy Meeting of Two Brothers After Eighteen Years.

TRAER, Iowa, June 1.—On May 15 there arrived and registered at the Best house, D. C. Langdon, Brocton, Mass. He was assigned to double room No. 22. On a later train there arrived and registered L. C. Langdon, Portsmouth, Orc., and as the house was crowded he was assigned to the same room.

In the morning on descending to the office D. C. Langdon looked at the register to ascertain who his room mate had been for the night, and was surprised to find that the initials corresponded with those of a brother from whom he had been separated and lost all trace for more than eighteen years. He immediately sought him out and found that it indeed was his brother, and a happy meeting it was. While they remained in town they were inseparable.

FIVE MILLIONS DIVIDED.

One Beneficiary Gets Half and Five Others the Remainder.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The Press special from Louisville, Ky., says: The late A. V. Dupont left a fortune estimated at $5,000,000. Mr. Dupont had frequently expressed his intention of giving large sums to the city. Central Park was to receive $100,000, the Children's Free hospital $50,000 and the Normal Training school $175,000. Death overtook him so unexpectedly, however, that he had no chance to make bequests. He did not leave a will.

The laws of Kentucky provide in such a case that when an unmarried man dies half of his estate shall go to his father, if living, and the other half to be equally divided between his brothers and sisters, or in the event of the death of any of these to the children of the dead brothers and sisters, if there are any. Should the deceased's father be dead, then half of the estate goes to the mother.

Mr. Dupont was one of ten children. His mother, one brother and one sister survive him, while of the dead brothers and sisters only three left children who still live. His mother will receive $2,500,000 and the other five beneficiaries $500,000 each. All are rich now.

THE SUNDAY OPENING.

Ex-Solicitor General Aldrich Speaks For the Government.

CHICAGO, June 1.—Argument in behalf of the government was resumed when the judges had taken their seats today, ex-Solicitor General Aldrich being the speaker. He impressed upon the court that the main question to be considered was whether the World's Columbian exposition was a national undertaking or merely a local venture, and quoted liberally from the records of various meetings and conferences which marked the inception of the enterprise, to demonstrate that at all times and in all cases the movement had been regarded as a national one and the United States as a promoter instead of an aid.

The various acts of congress, he said, demonstrated that the fair was not only international but essentially national; that the government had never viewed it as a local enterprise or intended to surrender its control to a local corporation as a private venture. He impressed upon the court the fact that its decision would lay down for all time one of two doctrines; that the fair was either a national enterprise or a local affair instituted by a number of stockholders, the majority of them living in Chicago and intended to be typical of the push and enterprise of that city, or whether the Illinois corporation was the active principal and whether the United States was simply an aid, a kind of federal agency to insure its success.

He called attention to the fact that the exposition had been located at Chicago by act of congress and not as the result of any local decision and insisted that the proposition to localize the exposition gave a negative to all the acts passed by congress and all the financial assistance rendered it. As a matter of fact, he held the local corporation had no authority over the exposition, not even in the matter of regulating admissions save the authority that was delegated to it by the government and within the rules laid down by that government. It was hardly consistent with the honor and dignity of the United States to allege that the government had simply lent its countenance, support and aid and had invited the representatives of foreign countries simply with the view of advancing the interests of an enterprise that was owned and controlled by a local corporation.

Mr. Aldrich went on to argue that the supervision of the United States customs inspectors over the exhibits was another evidence of the authority of the government and then plunged into an argument on the financial phase of the controversy, insisting that the acceptance of aid from the United States under the act of congress providing for Sunday closing made the acceptance of that act incumbent on the directory. He was still speaking when the court took a recess for lunch.

This afternoon Attorney Walker will reply on behalf of the directory and Attorney Fales, a prominent Sunday closer, who has made a study of the law in the case and to whom Mr. Aldrich surrendered a portion of his time, and Attorney High will close for the government. The court will take the matter under advisement, but it is uncertain whether or not a decision may be expected in time to affect the policy of the directory on Sunday next.

Shakespeare's Seven Ages of Man.

VII.

"Last scene of all,
That ends this strange, eventful history,
Is second childishness, and mere oblivion;
Sans teeth, sans eyes, sans taste, sans everything."—"AS YOU LIKE IT."

The seventh stage of man as depicted by Shakespeare, differs from the last volume of the Encyclopedia Britannica inasmuch as the old man is "sans everything," while the last of the volumes of the great Britannica is as full of interesting matter as the first. But even in his second childishness the fast fading old man can find much amusement and entertainment in the Encyclopedia, which has done so much to educate him and guide his steps through the seven stages of his life. The Britannica is full of beautiful and interesting pictures—pictures of birds, and fishes, and reptiles, things that children love to look at, and which please the old man, now that he has become a child again. Who knows what reveries float through his brain as he seeks again the stories and pictures he so loved as a child.

"Your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams," says the text, and the dreams of the old man are sure to revert to the many fields of knowledge and usefulness and beauty that have been pointed out to him by his faithful friend, the Encyclopedia Britannica. It can be obtained now at an outlay of 10 cents a day, through American enterprise, but when the old man was a boy the great book cost a small fortune. However, it has never failed him, and has remained constant and useful, amid the loss of friends and family and the sad lapse of time. It is with him now, as through his life, his faithful "Guide, Philosopher and Friend," and if there is any truth in the philosophy that progress continues after death, it has also enriched his SOUL.

ARE HAVING TROUBLE

It is Said That Their Wages Are in Arrears and That They Are Without Money.

Judge Ensign Has Ordered That Father Connolley be Brought to the Duluth Jail.

There is said to be trouble at the Cincinnati mine among the employes of the Standard Ore company because of arrears in wages. There are about seventy-five men employed, mostly foreigners, and they are having trouble in securing board because of their inability to pay up. This condition of affairs, it is reported, has caused great dissatisfaction among them and they make threats of tearing up the engine house and works. The superintendent and men in charge at the mine are said to be in fear of trouble and are watching the men closely, prepared for any sudden emergency. F. A. Bates is expected back from Cleveland tonight and the situation may then be relieved.

WILL BE BROUGHT HERE.

Judge Ensign Orders Father Connolley to Be Removed to Duluth.

Fearing that in the event of the death of Julia Sutherland at Two Harbors Father Connolley might be in danger of being lynched Judge Ensign has ordered him to be brought to the St. Louis county jail. He will be brought here this evening and will be kept until the day of his trial. From all that can be learned there is good ground for this action for the people there are said to be in a very nervous and excited condition and might easily be seized with a lynching mania. Father Connolley himself is afraid of lynching and is very nervous.

Father Connolley Committed.

TWO HARBORS, Minn., June 1.—[Special to The Herald.]—The examination of Father Connolley on the charge of assaulting Julia Sutherland was concluded last evening and he was held to await the action of the grand jury. The girl's condition is very serious.

HIS MONTHLY LETTER.

Superintendent Denfeld's Instructions to the City Teachers.

Superintendent Denfeld has issued his eleventh monthly letter of instructions to teachers for the year. Attention is first called to the proper conduct of teachers in the school room and then follow detail instructions relative to making the annual reports. With reference to the appearance of school rooms the superintendent gives some advice in reference to preserving them neat and unmarked.

In another part of the report Mr. Denfeld says: "I wish to call the attention of the teachers in reference to firearms, sling-shots, etc., destroying school property, furniture and other property belonging to the schools. This rule should be strictly enforced. Mr. Bowers will examine the desks and other property of the different rooms as soon as possible and make a report on the condition of the same and we will then endeavor to ascertain upon whom the responsibility rests for any damage that may have arisen. I have recently been informed that boys are armed with something very much in the nature of a sling-shot, a sharp piece of iron, or staple, fastened to the string, etc. The teacher should be on the lookout for these instruments and if any are found on the school grounds or in the school buildings in the hands of the pupils they should be at once seized. Each teacher in addition to this should try by a lesson on cruelty to animals or something of this nature, to influence pupils to discontinue the handling of such dangerous playthings, for these playthings may become very dangerous and harmful in the hands of a careless boy who wishes to see how near he can come to a person and not hit him. Some injury has already been done, I am informed, and it is well to be on the lookout so that we may guard against other accidents."

Relative to the course of study, Mr. Denfeld says: "During the coming vacation it will be our endeavor to make some changes in the course of study and adapt it more fully, if possible, to our needs, and the suggestions that have come from the work for the past year in the different branches may be of assistance to me. To secure this help, I wish from each of the teachers a statement on the difficulties encountered in carrying on the school work during the year, 1st, as to the methods employed; 2nd, as to the books used; 3rd, as to the materials furnished. A free and full statement is asked for from each teacher with reference to the different points that have come up in the lesson, either as to the manner of conducting or as to the requirements made of them in the present course, or as to the books at present in use. Some time ago word was sent around asking for an expression from each teacher in reference to the materials and books used. Most of these replies have been sent to the office; but if there is any additional information we ought to have that the teachers are possessed of, this additional information can be sent in. Our main object is to ascertain whether these books are meeting the requirements of our course, or, whether other books would be preferable. We want to supply teachers and pupils with books that will do the most for them. Teachers finding a certain book of value, or deficient in any particular, will consequently do well to make it known, if she has not already done so. Some changes and repairs will undoubtedly be made in the various buildings. The committee on property and supplies will visit every school to ascertain what ought to be done to make the educational accommodations as complete as possible. Some things may, however, be overlooked, and to guard against this we ask for the statement from principals."

GARRETT HELD OVER.

The Boat Stealer Must Answer For Grand Larceny.

August Garrett was examined in the municipal court this morning on the charge of stealing the steam yacht May Carter from Joseph Burns. Garrett's story on the stand was that he met a man on Superior street who said he owned the boat and employed him to take her to Beaver bay. At that point Garrett said the owner was to meet him. Garrett is about 30 years old, fairly well dressed and quite intelligent. He was bound over to the grand jury to answer to grand larceny in the first degree.

In the afternoon Joseph Burns for the second time appeared in municipal court as complaining witness, this time against Pat Flannigan, charged with burglary. Flannigan admits he was in Burns' house, but claims he was looking for a place to sleep and thought the house was empty. He had just been released from the county jail, where he served thirty days for stealing a coat from the Bell clothing house. He met "some of the boys," got a little drunk and wanted to keep out of the way of the police to avoid arrest, he claimed, and selected Mr. Burns' house. At 3 o'clock the examination was still in progress.

Dangerous Shoal to Be Marked.

The steamer Rhoda Emily, when approaching the Welland canal last season, struck upon a rock off the Niagara river upon which was less than eleven feet. She was fortunate enough to escape by throwing off some hundreds of tons of coal. Capt. Kingman, of the corps of engineers, is charged with having the rock located in order that it may be given upon the lake charts, and Assistant Engineer William Pierrson Judson has gone to Niagara to find the shoal and to determine whether it is one already shown upon the charts or is a previously unknown one which must be added to them.

The Maytham-Georger Collision.

Regarding the collision between the steamer Thomas Maytham and the schooner F. A. Georger, the captain of the John Mitchell, which had the Georger in tow at that time, says that before rounding the southern end of Sugar island he saw the Maytham coming up. The Maytham blew one whistle which the Mitchell answered, signifying that the Maytham should pass to the right of the Mitchell.

The Mitchell slowed down, and the Maytham ran between her and the Georger without touching the tow line, and the stem of the Georger went through the Maytham forward on the starboard side. The schooner was well ripped up forward, doing about $1,500 damage.

Marine Matters.

The reef discovered off Buffalo by the Seneca, which was marked by a red barrel buoy, is to be taken in hand by the government officials and its bearings noted so that it can be marked on the charts.

The new steel steamer Yuma, which recently took 3180 tons of wheat from Duluth, on Saturday cleared from Ashland with the largest cargo of ore ever taken on at that port, 2954 tons.

CRAZED WITH ITCHING

I had a very bad case of Eczema on my neck. It was just terrible. At times it seemed as if it would drive me crazy with itching and pain. Through the day it would itch, causing me to scratch until the blood would come, and during the night it would scab over so that I would scratch scales off like those of a fish. Doctored with the family physician for one season. He gave me temporary relief, but my trouble would come back at about the same time each year. Then I began using CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have entirely cured me.

Fine Head of Hair.

My head became very sore and all my hair fell out. I spent all I could make in doctoring, but nothing helped me; bought CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in six weeks' time my head was well, and I then used the CUTICURA for my hair. I now say that there is not a finer head of hair in Northern Indiana than mine for only a year's growth.

AN EARTHQUAKE

Guayaquit in Ecuador Was Visited Sunday Evening by an Earthquake that Did Great Damage.

Many Houses Were Damaged and Three Prisoners Killed in the Wreck of the Jail.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The Herald's special from Panama, Colombia, quotes M. Mange, representative of the liquidator of the Panama Canal company, as saying that work on the canal will be renewed at the end of the year. There has already, he says, been raised 50,000,000 francs to continue operations. The government of Colombia will appropriate 800,000 francs monthly to apply to the old debt of the state of Panama. Payments will be continued until the indebtedness is canceled.

A severe earthquake was felt at Guayaquit, Ecuador, Sunday evening. Many houses were damaged and three prisoners were killed in the wreck of the jail.

THE NICARAGUAN TROUBLE.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The Herald's Masaya, Nicaragua, special gives the following as the principal terms of the protocol under which President Sacaza and the revolutionists arranged for peace:

President Sacaza agreed to deliver the presidency to Senor Salvador Macado. On the terms of the protocol ex-President Sacaza yesterday delivered to Macado the office of president. The new ministry will take possession today.

After assuming office President Macado began the disarming of the troops at the capital. The revolutionary forces will enter Managua today before disarming.

Macado is a progressist and is considered a safe man. When the new ministry is formed, the revolutionists will appoint three members. All questions relating to the administration of the government will be decided by a vote of the majority of the ministers.

Three elections will be held throughout the republic for members of the constituent assembly and president. Both armies under the agreement will be disbanded, and all of the expenses of the war incurred by either party will be considered a national debt to be paid out of the public treasury.

In the new government the revolutionists will have a majority in the cabinet. Many of the revolutionists were dissatisfied with the terms of the settlement, but the opposition was overcome by the advice of cool-headed leaders.

END OF FINDLAY'S BOOM.

All the Glass Manufacturers to Leave Next Month.

FINDLAY, O., June 2.—The final throes of a dying boom based upon gas are being felt here now. The statement that there are 600 empty dwellings here is said to have been verified by actual count.

Further the statement is confirmed that all the glass manufacturers have signed an agreement to move their plants from the town not later than July 1.

It is estimated that this exodus will take 4000 people from the place. Some of the manufacturers are going to Pennsylvania, but the greater number will locate in the Indiana gas fields.

TREASURY APPOINTMENTS.

Two Men Get Plums and Three Heads Cut Off.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The following changes were announced in the treasury department today: Appointments—John D. Putman, Wisconsin, captain of watch, treasury department; Anthony K. Kenner, Michigan, special inspector of customs.

Removed—John J. Holland, District of Columbia, immigrant inspector.

More West Point Cadets.

Killed By a Live Wire.

DETROIT, Mich., June 2.—Nelson Crittenden, an employe of the Detroit Electric Light company, was instantly killed by an electric shock while working in the tower at the corner of McDugall and Jefferson avenues about 2:30 o'clock this morning.

Fire at Brainerd.

BRAINERD, June 2.—At 7:30 last evening fire broke out in the car shop of the Northern Pacific railway, destroying that building, the cabinet shop, bolt house, two other small buildings and five cars. The records were saved, but the workmen lost all their tools. The loss is $25,000.

SHOULD BE RUN BY ONE MAN.

The World's Fair Has Reached a Stage Where One Boss Should Rule.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 2.—Director General Davis and Director of Works Burnham are chafing under the restrictions placed upon them by the council of administration which is composed of members of the national commission and the local directory. They think now that the different committees having lent their aid and advice during the constructive era of the affair, it should be allowed to be run by one man—the director general.

Col. Davis and Mr. Burnham have had numerous consultations in regard to the matter and have inaugurated a mild rebellion against the council of administration. The usefulness of the director of works has about departed now that the buildings are completed, and it is easily conjectured why Mr. Burnham has formed this alliance with the director general.

The national commission will not meet until July 1 and if the "one hold" scheme is successfully managed, the director general will be in control by the time the national body convenes. The plan of the director general is to simplify the machinery of administration and some time ago he sent a letter signed by himself and Mr. Burnham to the council of administration, recommending that the director general be clothed with full authority as the executive head of every department of the fair and that the ceremonies, ways and means, transportation and admissions committees be discontinued and their functions assumed by the council of administration.

The council has hesitated to take favorable action, but on the contrary issued an order the other day describing the manner in which the director general and the director of works should arrange for fete days during the period of the exposition. After a conference with Mr. Burnham yesterday, Col. Davis compiled a list of special days for June which he sent to the council this evening. He announced that he neither accepts nor rejects the method of procedure proposed by the council, but merely asks its confirmation.

The list is as follows: June 5, Denmark, national holiday; June 8, Nebraska; June 10, Travelers Protective association; June 15, Germany, his imperial and royal majesty ascended the throne; June 17, Massachusetts, Bunker Hill day; June 20, North Dakota; June 24, Sweden, Swedish midsummer day; June 26, New Hampshire, anniversary of the ratification of the federal constitution; June 29, Millers' day.

Should it be decided by the judicial proceedings now instituted that the gates of the fair can be legally opened on every Sunday until the close of the whole show, the council of administration and the subordinate government bodies will find that it is easier to talk about inviting ministers of all creeds and sects to preach and conduct religious services on those days within the grounds than it is to get general acceptances of such invitations.

Not every minister of the Christian church, who has spoken in favor of opening the gates on Sunday, can be induced to perform his clerical functions in the White City where there are no churches nor chapels. The only resemblance of one is the reproduction of La Rabida convent and there is scarcely room in that quaint structure to accommodate a small congregation.

PERISHED IN THE FLAMES.

Two Girls, One Two Years Old and the Other Twenty, Cremated.

TOPEKA, Kas., June 2.—The residence of F. G. Swehla was burned last night and his two daughters, one 2 years old and the other 20, perished in the flames. Mr. Swehla had been sick for some time, and during the night fire broke out in the roof, probably through a defective flue.

The house was a one and one-half story stone building and the youngest of the two girls was sleeping in the upper story. The older one went up stairs to rescue her. At the head of the stairs was a trap door. This closed after she had passed it and the father was unable to force it open.

It is believed that the young woman swooned and fell on the trap door, holding it down and thus prevented her weak father from reaching her.

FORMULATING A SCALE.

The Iron Workers Not Disposed to Grant a Reduction of Wages.

PITTSBURG, June 2.—The wage committee of the Amalgamated association met in Pittsburg today to formulate a scale for the year beginning July 1. President Garland refused to talk on the probable outcome. When the wage committee completes its task and its report is made to the convention which assembles here next Tuesday, the manufacturers will be notified and a conference will be held.

The manufacturers are insisting that a reduction in the price for boiling iron must be made to a $4 basis. It is not at all probable that the workers will consent to a reduction in this scale below a $5 rate. There is much uneasiness as to the outcome of the conference between the manufacturers and Finishers union to be held at Youngstown, Ohio, tomorrow.

The Medical Congress.

The Infanta on a Trip.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The Infanta Eulalie, her husband and suite, with Mayor Gilroy and a number of invited guests, went on board the Dolphin at the foot of Forty-second street, North river, at 10 o'clock this morning for a trip around New York harbor. The weather is pleasant and it is likely that a short run out to the ocean will be made.

THE PUBLIC DEBT

A Net Decrease of Three Quarters of a Million in the Public Debt During May.

The Gold Reserve Has Again Fallen to a Little Over Ninety-Five Million Dollars.

President Will Take Action Whenever Required to Meet the Emergency and May Sell Bonds.

A Democratic Political Claim that the Republicans are Trying to Embarrass the Administration.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The public debt statement issued today shows that there was a net decrease of $739,425 during the month of May. Of this $657,175 was in the amount of the bonded indebtedness of the government and $82,250 was in the increase of the cash in the treasury. The interest bearing debt increased $200,000; debt on which interest has ceased since maturity decreased $37,480 and the debt bearing no interest $619,695.

The aggregate interest and non-interest bearing debt May 31 was $961,750,888; on April 30 it was $962,407,764. The certificates and treasury notes offset by an equal amount of cash in the treasury outstanding at the end of the month, $594,531,017; the gold reserve, $95,048,640 and the net cash balance $26,516,514.30. In the month there was a decrease of $,764,749 in gold coin and bars, the total at the close being $196,518,609. Of silver there was an increase of $5,173,874. Of the surplus there was in national bank depositories $11,649,142 against $11,270,496 at the end of the previous month.

BONDS MAY BE SOLD.

The Gold Reserve Likely to Drop to Ninety Millions.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The existing condition of the government's finance is causing anxiety. There is grave reason to fear that the end of the present week will see the gold reserve in the treasury lower than it has been since Mr. Carlisle first invaded it. Treasury officials said yesterday that according to advices, official and otherwise, received by them from New York, there is every outlook that the withdrawals of gold for foreign shipments will reach $10,000,000 and that therefore the reserve will be only $90,000,000. The lowest point reached heretofore, and one that caused the secretary and President Cleveland the greatest apprehension was $92,500,000.

In this connection it is stated that Attorney General Olney has informed the president that he has full power to issue bonds. One authority has it that Mr. Olney's opinion makes it mandatory upon the president to act under certain circumstances. The president is now fully convinced of his ground and is confirmed in his original opinion concerning his powers on the matter.

"Will the president issue bonds?" was asked one of his friends.

"There is no necessity for him to do so at the present time, but if in the future he determines that the situation requires the selling of bonds, he most certainly will do so. But it may not be necessary to sell bonds at all."

"What is the situation concerning the Sherman silver law?"

"If the president were to call now an extra session of congress to consider a proposition to repeal that law, it is extremely doubtful if that result could be accomplished, but with every day the situation is brightening for the Democrats. The future is to be feared because of the conduct of the Republicans. They have determined to embarrass the administration on this question."

This is a sample Democratic view of the situation. It is believed here that the Republicans in congress are willing to act with the prudent Democrats in enacting financial relief legislation.

SOCIAL PURITY CONGRESS.

It Opened at Chicago Today, Archbishop Ireland Presiding.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul, presided this morning at the opening session of the world's congress of Social Purity in the hall of Columbus at the art palace. There was a large attendance, among those prominent being Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, Baron Bernard, D. E. Watterville, of Switzerland, Mrs. Lydia A. Prescott, of California, and Mrs. Ballington Booth, of the Salvation Army.

The congress was welcomed by President Bonney and response was made by Aaron M. Powell, president of the New York committee for the prevention of state regulation of vice. The congress will be in session three days and a number of papers on social purity will be read and discussed.

Died From Nervous Exhaustion.

AKRON, O., June 2.—Mrs. Hermine Schumacher, wife of Ferdinand Schumacher, Akron's oat meal king, died suddenly yesterday afternoon. The direct cause of death was nervous exhaustion from which Mrs. Schumacher has been ill but two days. Her husband was in Harriman, Tenn., on business.

PANTON & WATSON

ALMOST LIKE JONAH.

Only His Boots Could be Seen Vainly Kicking for Help When He Was Discovered.

Another Hippopotamus Came to the Rescue and Two Men Pulled Downey Out of Danger.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Hugh Downey, keeper of the hippopotamus family at Central park, was nearly swallowed alive Wednesday by Caliph, the monster male behemoth, whose ugly temper is proverbial.

The hippo gulped the keeper down so that only his boots were visible outside the huge mouth when Miss Murphy, the female head of the family, attacked Caliph with her powerful teeth, while Park Inspector Roy and Engineer Ellison jumped over the fence around the tank, and, grabbing the boots, pulled the almost suffocated keeper out from the fearful mouth as it was opened to repel Miss Murphy's attack.

Caliph had been very ugly and Downey had been trying to get the beast into its own cage by jabbing it with a pitchfork. Instead of obeying it knocked the weapon aside with a toss of its head and then opened its ponderous jaws and took the man as stated so that only his boots could be seen vainly kicking for help.

Miss Murphy and Caliph fight viciously, and after she assisted to rescue the keeper from the latter's jaws the two animals went into the fight that Downey had been trying to prevent. Miss Murphy conquered and hit and bruised Caliph severely before he gave up attacking her.

Downey, while getting off with his life, is considerably injured, it is feared, internally. Where Caliph's two six-inch tusks held him by the chest there are severe punctures, and where the tusks of the upper jaw came in contact with his back the flesh is also punctured. Besides this he is badly bruised in many spots and can hardly sustain himself. He has internal pains at intervals, but he refuses to go to the hospital. When asked last night how it felt to have one's head half way into the maw of a hippo he acknowledged that it was an uncomfortable position to be in, and that his thought as he felt his head strike Caliph's fat throat was that he had to die but once, then he lost consciousness. Downey has had many narrow escapes in his career as keeper, but this was the closest shave of all.

COLLECTORS MUST GO.

Internal Revenue Collectors to be Asked to Resign.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—When the president returns from his fishing trip to Hog island, he will take up the papers in the cases of between fifteen and twenty collectors of internal revenue which now await his action.

Commissioner Miller spent a week in considering them and made his recommendations. Secretary Carlisle spent several days last week in looking them over and has fully made up his mind as to whom he wants in each case. He will go over the matter again with the president.

In the meantime Appointment Clerk Kretz is getting together the names of the old collectors who have tendered their resignations, and those whose places are wanted but who have not done so will be requested to do so at once.

Briggs Will Fight On.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Dr. Briggs returned from Washington last night. He said his sentence would not interfere with his relations with Union seminary. He will go right on as if nothing had happened. The fight will not be allowed to die at this stage of the game by his friends.

For Saturday Only.

America's Great Danger

AN ENGLISH COMMENTARY.

Said an eminent English scientist recently: "The danger that confronts the great American people to-day is not the possible adoption of a wrong financial policy for the nation, or the spread of socialism, or the increase of corruption among public men. All these are bad enough, to be sure, but they are as nothing compared to the terrible national disease—I had almost said national crime—of overwork. The mad rush for wealth is set at a killing pace, and thousands fall by the way every year.

How do we know? Because it is the exception to find a man or woman of adult age in perfect health. Nervous Disorders are spreading with fearful rapidity. Among the symptoms, are—Backache, Biliousness, Cold Hands and Feet, Dizziness, Hot Flashes, Fluttering Sensation, Fainting, Headache, Hysteria, Irritability of the Heart, Melancholy, Failing Memory, Palpitation, Rheumatism, Short Breath, Sleeplessness, Nervous Dyspepsia, Sexual Debility, Fits, etc.

REV. C. A. CARROLL, pastor First Baptist Church, Yellow Springs, O., writes as follows: "I have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for the past six months. I find it acts like a charm on the whole nervous system. I have not found its equal in giving immediate relief. Dr. Miles' little Nerve and Liver Pills only need a trial and they will recommend themselves to be the best pills in the market."

"For five years I have suffered from Nervous Prostration, I was unable to work or sleep. The first dose of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine gave me relief, and one thousand dollars would not cover the good it has done me."—JOHN MINCHER, Youngstown, Ohio.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is unequalled in CURING Nervous Diseases. It contains no opiates or dangerous drugs. Sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

ITS CREDIT BROKEN DOWN.

A Receiver for the Domestic Sewing Machine Company.

NEWARK, N. J., June 2.—A bill has been filed in the court of chancery by Vice-President Black, of the Domestic Sewing Machine company, praying for the appointment of a receiver for the company.

The application alleges as the immediate cause of the company's embarrassment the stringency of the money market and the action of the Astor bank in attaching the company's New York property, and states that the publicity given the attachment proceedings by the press in the unsettled condition of the money market and the close financial margin on which the company has recently been obliged to do business created such a distrust as to break down the company's credit.

IT MUST BE REPEALED.

No Confidence Until the Sherman Law is Wiped Out.

NEW YORK, June 2.—At the regular monthly meeting of chamber of commerce yesterday, the following resolution offered by J. Edward Simonds, president of the Fourth National bank, was unanimously adopted: That it is the opinion of this chamber that the Sherman silver purchase law should be repealed by congress at the earliest possible date; that it is apparent to all that understand the operation of said law, great injury is being done to the commercial and financial interests of our whole country and that confidence will not be restored until said law is repealed.

READY TO COMPROMISE.

The Kaiser Will Agree to the Army Bill Being Amended.

BERLIN, June 2.—Many contradictory and unreliable statements have been made since the dissolution of reichstag as to the course the government proposed to fill toward the new reichstag. The members will be elected this month. The government does not desire to antagonize the electors and it is denied officially that the emperor or his responsible ministers are seeking a conflict with the new reichstag.

On the contrary the government is willing to negotiate for the adoption of the army bill on the basis of the amendment of the last reichstag by Baron Vonhune in regard to the number of new men to be added to the army.

WAS DECLARED INSANE.

The Man Who Wanted to Kill Gladstone Was Irresponsible.

LONDON, June 2.—Wm. Townsend, the man who was arrested on the charge of having discharged a pistol in Downing street, but really on suspicion of intent to murder Prime Minister Gladstone, and who was subsequently charged with having sent to Mr. Gladstone a letter threatening to take Mr. Gladstone's life, was put on trial yesterday at the Old Bailey.

The defense offered was that Townsend was guilty of the crime charged against him but was irresponsible for his actions. The judge hereupon ordered that Townsend should be confined during her majesty's pleasure, the usual order made when convicted persons are held to be irresponsible on the ground of insanity.

MARRIED IN BERLIN.

Miss Phelps' Marriage Was a Very Private Affair.

BERLIN, June 2.—The marriage of Miss Marion Phelps, daughter of the Hon. William Walter Phelps, late minister of the United States in Berlin, to Dr. France Von Rottenburg was solemnized yesterday in a most private manner at the residence of Mr. Phelps.

Twenty-four guests were present, including Minister Runyon and Mrs. Runyon, Mr. and Mrs. Poultney Bigelow, Herr Frederick Krupp, the great gun manufacturer, and Herr Von Roetticher.

Counting the Cash.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—D. N. Morgan, the new United States treasurer, took the oath of office yesterday and entered upon the discharge of his duties, relieving E. N. Nebecker. The committee appointed to count the money in the treasury assumed charge at 12 midnight and began to count it. It will take six weeks to count it.

Gen. Kelton Better.

SHOT HIS MISTRESS.

An Engineer of a Mississippi River Boat Shot a Woman and Then Killed Himself.

They Had Been Living Together for Some Time, and She Deserted Him For a Negro.

The Murdered Woman Was of a Wealthy Family, but Latterly Lived a Shameful Life.

GREENVILLE, Miss., June 2.—At 8 o'clock on the levee south of here Engineer Morrow, of the boat Napoleon, shot and killed Effie Baker, a beautiful but notorious woman of the town, and then shot himself. Morrow had been living with the Baker woman for a long time, but she deserted him for a negro a few weeks ago. Morrow passed yesterday hunting for his rival, but failed to find him.

About dark, however, he met his truant mistress. They spoke a few words when he drew a revolver, thrust it in the face of the woman and fired, the shot entering the head just under the eye. As the woman fell, he fired another shot which missed its mark. He then placed the pistol to his own temple and pulled the trigger. Both were dead in less than ten minutes.

The murdered woman was of a wealthy family in Lawrence City, Miss., and several years ago married a man named Moore, but lately has been living a life of shame.

THE GREAT T. P. A. DAY.

Bryant, of Arkansas; "Tennessee," Hon. James M. Greer, of Tennessee: "The Lone Star State," ex-Governor Richard B. Hubbard, of Texas.

Short of Funds.

JAMESTOWN, N. D., June 2.—State Auditor Porter said last evening that North Dakota will have a deficiency of from $100,000 to $150,000 before another legislature can convene. In fact, he states that the treasury is already financially embarrassed and that it has been necessary to transfer a portion of the gross earnings fund, which belongs partly to the state and partly to the counties, to the general state fund to meet indebtedness for May.

Will Pay In Full.

ST. PAUL, June 2.—George W. Martin, commission merchant at No. 264 East Sixth street, has made an assignment. He expects to make full payment, as his liabilities are $15,000 while his assets are $30,000. He was forced to the wall by the pushing of claims by New Orleans banana merchants.

Will Probably Resume.

TACOMA, Wash., June 2.—The Merchants' National bank, one of the oldest banks in this city, suspended payment yesterday. The present liabilities of the bank are slightly in excess of $600,000; assets $1,100,000. It is believed locally that the bank will resume business as soon as it can adjust matters with Eastern creditors.

A Cordage Assignment.

WHEAT WENT LOWER.

The Market Opened Firm But a Decline Soon Set In.

The wheat market opened quite firm this morning, but soon broke down in sympathy with the decline at other American markets. Cash opened unchanged from yesterday's figures and July started at ½c higher, and both advanced ½c more on early trading. Then came a bearish feeling and the market began to weaken and sold off steadily. The mills were in the market early and were good buyers of track wheat and to arrive at yesterday's prices. There was active trading in July, which steadily declined. Dullness prevailed in the afternoon, but were small transactions in July at the lower figures of the session. The close was weak and irregular, cash wheats showing a decline of ½c to ⅝c for the day, July a decline of ½c to ⅝c, September a decline of ¼c, and track wheats a decline of ½c. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 67⅝c; June, 67⅝c; July, 69¾c; September, 73c. No. 1 northern, cash, 64½c; June, 64½c; July, 66¾c; September, 73c. No. 2 northern, cash, 60¾c. No. 3, 55¾c. Rejected, 50½c. On track—No. 1 northern, 64½c; No. 2 northern, 61½c. Rye, 47c.

Car inspection today—No. 1 hard 1 car, No. 1 northern 33, No. 2 northern 22, rejected 1, no grade 1, total 114. Receipts—Wheat, 178,064 bus. Shipments—Wheat 241,994 bus. Cars on track—St. Paul & Duluth 2, Northern Pacific 40, Great Northern 104, Omaha 2, total 148; last year 70.

New York Breadstuffs.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Flour: Receipts, 29,227 packages; sales, 2400 packages; state and Western, dull and weak. Wheat: Receipts, 293,375 bus; No. 2 red, ⅝@¾c up with the west and on moderate foreign buying; declined ¼c on realizing, rallied ½c; July, 76¼c; August, 77⅛@¾c; September, 79c; December, 82¼@83c. Rye, dull and easy; western, 60@62c. Corn: Receipts, 70,500 bus; sales 220,000 bus; No. 2, dull and easy; June 45⅝@46c; July, 47⅝@48c; August, 48¾@49½c; September, 48⅝@49c, No. 2, 49½@49¾c. Oats: Receipts, 122,300 bus; sales, 5000 bus; No. 2 dull and easier; July, 33¼c; state, 40@47c; western, 38@47c.

The Foreign Markets.

LONDON, June 2.—The grain markets opened this morning quiet. At Liverpool wheat unchanged, downward tendency; corn 3d higher, firm, but not active; floating cargoes of wheat inative. At London cargoes of California wheat unchanged; wheat on passage rather easier; corn quiet but steady. At Mark Lane wheat quiet; corn steady. The French markets were very quiet.

The Chicago Market.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Closing prices: Wheat: July, 68¾@68¾c; September, 71¾c. Corn: June, 38½c; July, 39⅞@40c; September, 41@41¼c. Oats: June, 25⅝@25¾c; July, 24½c; September, 26¾c. Pork: July, $21.55. September, $22.00. Lard: June, $10.20; July, $10.42½; September, $10.80.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

The Trend of Values Was Towards a Lower Level.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The railway share market started off this morning without special activity and the trend of values was toward a lower level. Concessions were made of ⅛ to 1¾ in the prominent shares, with Louisville & Nashville scoring the largest decline. Atchison declined to 24⅜, Baltimore & Quincy to 95, St. Paul to 67, Road Island 71¾, Lackawanna to 123¾, Lake Shore to 121¼ and Union Pacific 29¾. Subsequently there was quite a rally.

The specialties were quiet. Ontario & Western sold at 14⅜. The industrials also displayed weakness at the start, but later rallied. General Electric receded 1¾ to 88¾@70. Chicago Gas 1¾ to 70¾@71¾, American Sugar refining 1 to 95¾@96, and distilling ⅝ to 16@16¾.

The gold exports by tomorrow's steamships have not been definitely determined on. Lazard Freres will send $1,000,000 and it is thought that two other foreign houses will send $500,000 each. There has been $660,000 sent from Boston this week. If the $2,000,000 is sent tomorrow the total for the week will be $7,500,000, the largest shipment in any one week since the outflow began.

Hobson's Choice.

A financier of doubtful reputation gave a grand ball last week. Dancing was still going on at 3 in the morning. As one of the guests was about to retire the man in charge of the cloakroom handed him the first topcoat that came in his way.

"But that is not mine!"

"Oh, the new ones have been all gone since half past 12."—Petit Parisien.

His Understanding.

Slimkins—I understand you are going to get married.

De Bobbs—Yes, to a most charming girl, Miss Marie Mimosa.

Slimkins—Mimosa! Why, that's the young woman who just received $500 of me for damages in a breach of promise suit.

De Bobbs—I suppose you're right. I know she said she expected that amount from a relative she lost lately.—Tit-Bits.

Not to Be Imposed Upon.

"No, sir," exclaimed the determined old lady from Upthecreek, putting her purse back into her pocket. "I just won't pay 35 cents for two doughnuts and a cup of coffee. Cyrus, hunt up that Fisheries buildin and see if you can't get a can o' salmon fur 15 cents."—Chicago Tribune.

Quite a Difference.

Husband—I think I will run over to Chicago for a week during the fair.

Wife—Then I think I will go with you. What is fair for one is fair for two.

Husband—No, my dear. What is fare for one is far from being fare for two.—New York Herald.

MORTGAGE SALE—

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by Abraham G. Lovdal, of West Superior, Wisconsin, mortgagor, to Ole K. Hobe, of Duluth, Minnesota, mortgagee, which mortgage bears date the 7th day of March, 1892, and was recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis county, Minnesota, on the 9th day of March, A. D. 1892, in book 69 of mortgages, on page 579; and whereas said mortgage was given on the property hereinafter described, to secure the payment of the sum of one thousand (1000) dollars, evidenced by two promissory notes, of even date with said mortgage, one for the sum of five hundred (500) dollars, payable one year from the date thereof, and due on March 7th, 1893, with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent per annum; and one for the sum of five hundred (500) dollars, payable two years from the date thereof, and due March 7th, 1894, with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent per annum;

And whereas said mortgage and notes secured thereby were by said Ole K. Hobe duly assigned to D. B. Thorpe by deed of assignment in writing, dated March 8th, 1892, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis county, Minnesota, on the 10th day of March, 1892, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 73 of mortgages, on page 533;

And, whereas, said mortgage contains a provision that should default be made in the payment of the principal or interest secured by said mortgage, when the same should become due, then the mortgagee or his assigns should have power to sell the mortgaged premises at public auction, and convey the same to the purchaser in fee simple and out of the proceeds of said sale, to retain the principal and interest which should be due on said notes, together with all costs and charges of foreclosure and sale, and also fifty (50) dollars attorneys' fees, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure;

And whereas, default has been made in the payment of the principal and interest on the first of said notes, which fell due on the 7th day of March, 1893, and whereas default has been made in the payment of interest on the second of said notes which interest fell due on the 7th day of March, 1893;

And whereas there is by said assignee claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of five hundred eighty-nine and 65-100 ($589.65) dollars, and

Whereas, no action or proceeding at law, or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, and said D. B. Thorpe is still the holder and owner of said mortgage and notes, and claims the right to satisfy the same out of the proceeds of said property. Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale in said mortgage contained, and pursuant to the statute, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, and lying in the county of St. Louis, Minnesota, to-wit: Lots numbered fifteen (15) and sixteen (16) in block numbered ninety-four (94) of the plat of West Duluth, Fourth (4) division, according to the record thereof in the office of the register of deeds in said county and state. And the said mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the County Court House, in the City of Duluth, county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, on Saturday the 15th day of July, 1893, at ten (10) o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to pay said debt, interest and taxes (if any) upon said premises, and fifty (50) dollars attorneys' fees, as stipulated, and the disbursements allowed by law; and the sale will be made by the sheriff of St. Louis county, subject to redemption as provided by law.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, Minn. June 2.—In some unaccountable way the rain has missed this section, although it is now raining at St. Vincent, Moorhead, Port Arthur, Marcyette, and to the southeast of here, and there is no known reason why it should not be falling in this immediate vicinity.

No decided areas of high or low barometer are in sight, the only low ones are over the upper lakes and the Northwest, and of little energy.

The temperature remains stationary in nearly all sections with a cold spot over Lake Superior, the thermometer registered 42 at Marquette this morning. The coldest place is Calgary, 38, the warmest Cincinnati, 78.

While the general conditions point towards showers here today, yet it may be possible that they will pass over and not fall here, as the rain did last night, but all indications points towards thunder storms this afternoon.

The temperature remained low here all day yesterday, ranging at about 50, the highest being 58; the lowest last night was 42.

DULUTH, June 2.—Showers, preceded by fair; winds shifting to southwest and northwest; fair Saturday, slight change in temperature.

R. H. BRONSON,
Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Fair, preceded by showers in northern portion; northwesterly winds, becoming variable. For Minnesota: Fair, preceded by showers today; cooler; winds shifting to westerly.

The Hawaiian Question.

The latest news from Hawaii, which was published in a dispatch in yesterday's Herald, is of a rather disquieting nature. The people of Honolulu are becoming tired of the present state of affairs, and without the United States marines to back them up the members of the provisional government are actually in danger of being suddenly removed from the official positions which they seized upon deposing the queen several months ago. The sympathizers with the queen are numerous, apparently the greater in point of numbers, and while they undoubtedly could reinstate the monarchy, they are disposed to await definite word from this country on the annexation question.

As the patience of the royalists may soon become exhausted, there is necessity of an early decision being made by this government. When the subject of annexation was first broached many people, without any consideration, endorsed it at once. Many people have since changed their views on this subject, and some weighty reasons have been offered against annexation. One of the best articles on the Hawaiian question has recently been written by Judge Thomas M. Cooley. He writes vigorously and he throws a flood of light on the merits of the question. Annexation, he intimates, would not only be unconstitutional, but the very title of the "provisional government" seems to negative its authority to offer the islands as a gift to a foreign nation.

It is perfectly manifest, says Judge Cooley, that unless we are to treat the American and English settlers upon the islands as persons entitled to establish for themselves institutions at will, regardless of the wishes of the remainder of the people, we cannot for a moment sanction what is proposed; but if we make the recognition and give effect to their will by receiving the proposed gift, we are bringing incongruous elements into a Union never framed to receive them, and we are justifying an extension of the constitution formed for the government of a Union of harmonious and contiguous states of the North American continent, so as to bring under its fule as a part of that Union countries inhabited by races radically different in physical and also in mental characteristics to those by and for whom the Union was established, in whatever quarter of the globe we may find them.

These are points that are worth considering when reaching a decision on the important question that must speedily be faced and definitely settled.

Dr. J. S. Billings points in the June Forum to a significant excess of diminution of the birth-rate in the United States, over that in other countries. So far as the data show, reproduction seems greater in the countries and among the classes where intoxicating liquors are most freely used. The increase of wealth and luxury in this country, says Dr. Billings, is no doubt partly responsible for the lowered birth-rate, yet the diminution is apparently most notable among the agricultural population, and especially among the colored people in the South.

Stable Tariff Laws.

There is a sensible article on the tariff question in the current number of the Review of Reviews. The editor, Dr. Albert Shaw, is a protectionist, but he is candid enough to admit that it is not in the least true that this great country would be ruined by trading freely with other countries, although he also claims that it is not in the least true that this country has been victimized or imperiled to any alarming extent by the protective policy, nor is it true that the McKinley act is the monstrous thing that the politicians who have never read it declare it to be. Dr. Shaw's plea is for a stable tariff policy during a reasonable period, and then our industrial life would not be fatally affected by any tariff policy that any conceivable American government could be foolish enough to enact.

The worst thing about our tariff laws, he contends, is the fact that they are not enacted for a definite period. Every item in every schedule ought to have a time limit fixed, at the end of which it would expire unless renewed by express act. When the government places a certain specified import duty upon a given article, it virtually enters into contract relations with three classes of people. These are: 1, the foreign manufacturers; 2, the importing merchants, and 3, the American manufacturers.

The country is engaged in a large foreign trade, and it is absurd, Dr. Shaw urges, to look with unfriendly eyes upon European manufacturers who make goods to sell in our markets. When we fix a duty upon foreign goods we create a condition to wihch the foreign manufacturer for the American market must adjust his methods of production. We serve notice upon the importer, through whose hands these foreign goods pass, that his position in the market must be modified by the fact of the new rate of import tax. Upon American capital and labor we serve notice that their position in the home market as regards that particular commodity will be materially affected by the amount of discriminating tax levied upon the foreign competitor.

When once the duty is duly fixed and has become a part of the working law of the land, it is neither good public policy nor is it good morals to change it capriciously. It amounts in morals to a breach of contract with the entire business community. If the government chooses to prescribe the directions in which the industrial life of the country shall flow, it should enter this do main in an orderly and calculable manner. Otherwise, it should keep its hands off. Whatever arguments there may be for a consistent and well-established system of protection, there can be no possible arguments for a wobbling and uncertain policy.

There is no doubt that a stable tariff policy would be highly beneficial to the business interests of the country. The uncertainty of probable changes in duties due to the change of administration has a serious effect on business generally. It throws the whole business world into a state of uncertainty every four years, and for the time being business is restricted and in some lines completely paralyzed. When the election results in a change of administrations, the uncertainty and feeling of distrust is increased, and the business interests suffer severely. All this would be remedied by a stable tariff policy for a reasonable period, such as the writer in the Review of Reviews suggests. It is an idea that the next congress, in framing its tariff legislation, would do well to adopt.

A Question of Jurisdiction.

Suppose the United States court should grant the application for an injunction against opening of the World's fair on Sunday, how would the injunction be enforced, the state courts having already restrained the directory from closing the gates on that day? Such a question is likely to arise, and it is not impossible that there may be a conflict between deputy sheriffs and militia on one side and deputy marshals and federal troops on the other.

Those who assert that the World's fair is a creation of congress and therefore the federal courts have sole jurisdiction over all questions connected with it should read the act of congress and they will find that congress did not create the great fair but merely authorized it, and there is a material difference between the two terms. It is an Illinois corporation that has created the fair, and the people of Chicago, besides contributing largely out of their private and public funds to establish the fair, have permitted the use of one of their public parks for exhibition purposes.

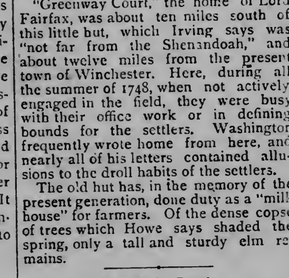

This being the case, it is difficult to a layman to decide where the federal courts obtain jurisdiction over matters connected with the opening or closing of the gates of Jackson Park. We shall soon have a decision on that point, however, from the judges of the federal court hearing the application for an injunction. The first question they must decide is whether they have jurisdiction.

A Cleveland preacher asserted last Sunday that he was not such a slave as to believe the scriptures without error. This aroused a storm of applause from his congregation. Yet for expressing a similar opinion, Dr. Briggs has been convicted of heresy and suspended from the Presbyterian ministry.

WASHINGTON'S CABIN HOME.

A Historic Building Which Is Fast Going to Decay.

There are few buildings that attract the admirers of Washington that have more of interest in them than this decaying cabin, which stands alone in an old pasture field a half mile from Berryville, in the beautiful Shenandoah valley of Virginia.

The old cabin was the home of Washington when he was a surveyor. He came here direct from the maternal roof to begin the arduous and, at that time, dangerous work of surveying the lands of Thomas, Lord Fairfax, who owned all the northern part of Virginia under the king's patent. The work was arduous because of the physical aspect of the country, then a dense wilderness, and dangerous because of the character of the inhabitants, who were principally Indians or scarcely less wild trappers or squatters upon his lordship's domain.

Washington had been selected by the old nobleman because of his belief in the youth's ability to cope with these elements, and the young surveyor left his home on the banks of the Potomac early in 1748, just after the completion of his sixteenth year, his only companion being George William Fairfax, nephew of old Lord Thomas. Whether these boys erected the building or found it already in place history does not state, but well-authenticated tradition says that they built it themselves. That they used it for an office, kept their instruments there and slept in the upper room, there is ample proof.

"Greenway Court," the home of Lord Fairfax, was about ten miles south of this little but, which Irving says was "not far from the Shenandoah," and about twelve miles from the present town of Winchester. Here, during all the summer of 1748, when not actively engaged in the field, they were busy with their office work or in defining bounds for the settlers. Washington frequently wrote home from here, and nearly all of his letters contained allusions to the droll habits of the settlers.

The old hut has, in the memory of the present generation, done duty as a "milk house" for farmers. Of the dense copse of trees which Howe says shaded the spring, only a tall and sturdy elm remains.

No Time for Frauds.

St. Cloud Times: The Duluth folks are a wide-awake, energetic, public spirited class. They know a good thing when they see it, and are willing to aid it, but when it is attempted to impose a swindle upon them, woe be to the architect of the fraud. It were better for that man he had never been—to Duluth.

Ohrstrom-Renard Concert.

A very slim audience attended the Ohrstrom-Renard concert at the Temple last evening. This was unfortunate, too, for a fine entertainment was given. Augusta Ohrstrom received a hearty reception when she appeared and after her solo, an aria from "The Mountain Bride," received a beautiful floral remembrance. This difficult selection she sang in an admirable manner. Her solo, "The Last Rose of Summer," with violin obligato, was received with great favor. Miss Martina Johnston, who was so favorably received here last fall, met with an equally cordial reception last evening, and each of her numbers was encored. She plays with fine expression, and does not lack in force and feeling in the least. J. Donald Balfe's fine bass voice was heard in three selections. "The Heart Bowed Down" was especially fine. The duet by Augusta Ohrstrom and Mr. Balfe, Hayan's "Creation," was a brilliant number. Miss Annie Starck's piano solo was finely rendered and her accompaniments as well.

HE WILL SAY NOTHING.

A Herald Reporter Visited Father Connolley in the County Jail This Morning.

He Would Make No Statement, Claiming that He Must See His Attorney First.

He Referred to Charges as "Trumped Up" —The Trial Will Probably be Held Here.

Father Connolley, the Two Harbors priest whose alleged crimes have been pretty well aired in the newspapers the past few days, was brought to Duluth last night for safe keeping, the temper of the populace being such that it was feared personal harm and perhaps death by lynching might come to him there. At the county jail he was booked as plain James E. Connolley. The criminal department on the second floor being crowded Connolley was assigned to a cell on the first floor with two coarse, thicknecked fellows serving sentences for petty crimes.

A Herald reporter called on Connolley at his cell door this morning. He lay in the hammock smoking a cigar and lazily watching his fellow prisoners who were seated at a table absorbed in a game of seven-up played with a greasy deck of cards. Connolley shot a quick, suspicious glance at the reporter, raised upon one elbow and smiled when he learned the newspaper man's errand. He slowly came forward and took a seat near the front of the cage.

"What paper do you represent? Who has been writing this stuff from Two Harbors? They do not let me see the papers. I am told they have been pretty rough on me. Where do they get their stuff?" The questions and statements came from him crowded quickly one upon the other as he grasped the reporter's hand and murmured that he was glad to see him.

There is certainly nothing about the priest to indicate brutality, ferocity, criminal cunning or cowardice. He is of medium height and slight built, his complexion rather ruddy; dark brown hair curls gracefully above a high intellectual forehead; his blue eyes twinkle merrily as he talks and seem to indicate a happy and frank nature; a clean cut mouth and regular white teeth which show when he smiles, which he often does, make up a pleasant and intellectual face. He was dressed in the conventional garb of the priest. Two day's growth of beard and soiled linen alone detracted from the usual priestly air. He was born in this country, he said, and is evidently about 30 years old, but his exact age or the date he was ordained he would not state.

"I can make no statement," said Father Connelley, "until I see my attorney, C. O. Baldwin. I expect him this morning, but he has not yet come. After that I may talk to you. Yes, I would like to make a statement, as you have suggested, for the papers have tried and condemned me on all sorts of ridiculous charges. It is an outrage. But you musn't question me; I can say nothing."

"You do not show the ferocity attributed to you in the papers," mildly suggested the reporter from his side of the bars.

"No," laughed the priest. Then his brow darkened slightly and he went on speaking rapidly and earnestly: 'Abject wretch,' indeed! The papers said 'I cowered like an abject wretch.' Who wouldn't show some signs of—— But I musn't talk, you know. Of course I was glad to get away. Anybody would. I am safe here."

"You were afraid they might harm you at Two Harbors?" asked the reporter. "There is a pretty rough crowd there, I should judge."

"Well, they might. People who would trump up such charges as these would do most anything.

"Can you be tried at Two Harbors? Does the court sit there?"

"I don't know where I will be tried—I don't know anything," he replied sharply and then after a pause continued: "No, I couldn't be tried there; you know that would be out of the question under the circumstances."

"Prejudice?" queried the reporter.

Father Connolley paused a moment. Then he said: "Oh, it would be impossible to try it there, you know; everybody knows about the case there. But I have lots of friends at Two Harbors—lots of them. There were forty families in my parish and many young men. But I won't talk any more."

During the entire interview Father Connolley puffed vigorously at his cigar and he accepted eagerly a fresh weed offered to him by the newspaper man. He is obviously of a nervous temperament and at times gets very restless and uneasy, shifting and turning in his chair, but ever alert and watchful and ever smiling and pleasant. Put him in fashionable attire with a mustache and he would pass anywhere for a young man of the world ready for frolic and fun of any kind and with the means to gratify his desires.

WILL LOCATE IN DULUTH.

A Graduate of the Law School of the Minnesota University.

The Minneapolis Tribune, in giving sketches of the graduates at the law school of the university of Minnesota, speaks as follows about a member of the class from Duluth:

Huntington W. Merchant, of Duluth, was born at Astoria, Long Island, June 14, 1860, and prepared for college at the Columbia grammar school, which he completed at the head of his class. He then entered Columbia college, but the following fall matriculated as a sophomore at Princeton and graduated 1890 with the degree of bachelor of arts, having made a continuous study of the classics. While in college he was interested in all college affairs, social and literary, and was a member of the Cliosophic Literary society. After finishing the undergraduate course at Princeton, Mr. Merchant returned to Columbia and entered upon a course combining law and electrical engineering, but soon gave this up to take charge of a private school at Garden City, Long Island, which position he held one year. He then came to Duluth and joined his father in the real estate business, finally entering the Minnesota law school last fall. Having exceptional preparation, Mr. Merchant has succeeded in doing creditably two years' work in one, a feat which few have thus far accomplished. Although not fully decided, he will probably locate at Duluth for the practice of his profession. He is a member of Phi Delta Phi law fraternity.

BIG DAY IN COURT.

Drunks and Vags Were Numerous—John Wanberg Sent Up.

Judge Powell had a great grist this morning—an even dozen and a half. Four drunks could not admit the charge and will be tried by the court. Seven pleaded guilty and went up for ten days each. John Sills, a vag, with a face that would convict him most any place, went up for five days. Three other gentlemen of leisure were discharged on the promise to get work and stick to it.

Joseph McCarty was charged with disorderly conduct and in entering his plea of not guilty threatened dire things to Detectives Kenna and Hayden, who arrested him. Later he said he supposed there was no use of his pleading not guilty against the words of "them detectives," and if he could not have a trial at once, he would plead guilty and take his medicine in time to get a county dinner. He will eat at county expense for the succeeding twelve days. The detectives say he is a member of the light-fingered brigade and was trying to get his work in on a party of carousing lumbermen when arrested.

John Wanberg was charged with failure to support his wife and three children, aged respectively 8, 4 and 2 years. Alderman Cox, who had become interested in the case, made the complaint. Wanberg is a painter and paperhanger by trade and well able to earn a comfortable living for himself and family. John H. LaVaque testified that working only part time he made from $25 to $50 per month. Mrs. Wanberg, a neat and pleasant looking little woman, told the story of her sufferings in a clear and straight forward manner. The grocer had given her credit until the bill reached nearly $100 and it was apparent her husband would pay nothing. A neighbor testified that Mrs. Wanberg and the children were without shoes in the coldest winter weather until provided for by the kind hearted neighbors. Wanberg told in a shamefaced way a flimsy story that his wife's temper was such that they could not stay in one place long.

Judge Powell found him guilty and sentenced him to thirty days, suggesting that he ought to have the full penalty of the law but that a month would give him time for reflection and release him in time to take advantage of the busy season at his trade.

FORT WAYNE'S STRIKE.

Bankers, Lawyers, Editors and Business Men are Acting as Deputy Sheriffs to Maintain Peace.

An Offer by the Street Railway Company is Now Being Considered by the Strikers.

Many Wires Were Cut Last Night, but All is Now Quit and No Cars Running.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., June 2.—The situation this morning so far as the electric street railway strike is concerned is as follows: The police force has been released from special duty and twenty-five deputy sheriffs, including in the list bankers, lawyers, editors and business men, were sworn in to maintain peace and protect the company's property.

At 11 o'clock these deputies gathered in the county commissioners' room to discuss the situation. Their number was soon increased to several hundred, and the gathering assumed the form of a mass meeting. A committee composed of seven representative business men was appointed to confer with President Robinson and also with the strikers in the interests of arbitration.

Many wires were cut last night. They are being repaired and at 1 o'clock all is quiet. No cars are running.

At 1:30 o'clock the street railway company proposed to pay the motor men and conductors 15 cents per hour, commencing June 15, providing the discharge of six old employes who did not join the strikers is not demanded. The strikers are now considering this proposition. A settlement is likely to follow.

Later—The strike was declared off at 3 o'clock. The employes were granted the increase in wages. Cars will begin running at once.

FACTORIES TO SHUT DOWN.

All the Plate Glass Factories of the Country to Close.

PITTSBURG, June 2.—It is stated on good authority that a general shut down of the plate glass factories of the country will take place within a month to last an indefinite period. It is given out as a reason for this action that the factories in the combine have become so overstocked that a suspension of production is an absolute necessity, not because of dull trade, but because the factories have no longer any room to store the unsalable product.

Opponents of the organization hint that the above is not the real object of the suspension of production, but that the trust means to diminish the stock of glass in the market and then raise the prices. The general stoppage contemplated will bring serious consequences to the thousands of men employed at the factories.

HE CAN PRODUCE RAIN.

The Rock Island's Superintendent Makes a Successful Experiment.

TOPEKA, Kas., June 2.—C. B. Jewell, the superintendent of rainmaking for the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway company, began his rainmaking experiments at Meade yesterday afternoon. His apparatus was set up in the laboratory car and the cloud collecting gases were sent into the clear sky about sundown.

After operations had continued for six hours, light clouds were visible in all directions about the horizon. At 10 o'clock they gathered in a large body and at 10:30 a light drizzling rain began to fall which continued until 1 o'clock this morning when it cleared. At daylight this morning the conditions were still favorable for the successful termination of the experiment.

Mr. Jewell has kept his apparatus constantly at work and will not discontinue his operations for several days, or until a drenching rain has fallen. There has been no rain in Southwestern Kansas, where the experiment is being conducted, for eight months and the favorable beginning of Jewell's work has proven very encouraging to the officers of the Rock Island Railroad company in this city.

They are today more thoroughly convinced than ever that Jewell has mastered the science of rainmaking and that protracted dry seasons in Kansas are at an end.

HE DREW A PRIZE.

A Man Buys an Unclaimed Valise and Gets $100.000.

MONTREAL, June 2.—Lee Stanton, an English painter, bought a leather valise at the Grand Trunk railway sale of unclaimed baggage for $2. On opening it he found 107 shares in the Western Gas Improving company, of Chicago, fully paid up and worth $107,000.

The valise was the property of Louis Halberstadt, who died in Brockville, Ont., in October, 1891, of alcoholism. He went to Brockville from Naperville, Ill. A large sum of money and some jewelry which he was known to have had just prior to his death were missing and it was generally believed at the time that he had been robbed.

DRILLED TWO SAFES.

JAMESTOWN, N. D., June 2.—Two attempts were made to blow open the safes in J. J. Roper's coal and wood yard office and Thomas Driscoll's billiard hall. Roper's office was entered about midnight and the lock near the combination nearly drilled through when the thieves were scared off by a person living in the building.

Driscoll's place was entered by the cellar, the safe drilled and half a pound of powder placed inside and a fuse laid ready to fire, when the attempt was given up, and a small sum of money in the cash register was taken. Two men were arrested on suspicion.

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

A Man Imprisoned in a Furnace and Overcome by Gas.

BUFFALO, June 2.—John Willis, an employe of the Buffalo Furnace company, had a terrible experience yesterday which may result in his death. Willis entered a furnace to clean it out and the door which fastens was closed behind him.

All efforts to attract the attention of his fellow workmen were unavailing, and the fumes of carbonic acid gas gradually overcame him until he sank unconscious. He was not discovered for several hours and when taken out was barely alive.

Physicians worked over him all night at the hospital, and this morning there is but a bare chance of his recovery.

CAUSED A SMALL PANIC.

A Firm That Plunged With Little Capital and Failed.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Kellogg & Forsythe, a small commission firm, failed today. They started in business a month ago with a capital of only $10,000. On this the new firm plunged more extensively than many other firms with a far greater capital.

They were long in everything in the market and were wiped out by the decline of the last two weeks. It is said that their debts on the board aggregate $8000 to $10,000. Their failure caused a small panic on the board, wheat declining one cent.

Cold Water Candidates.

A New Fast Train.

ST. LOUIS, June 2.—Commencing June 18 the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway will put a through fast scheduled passenger train between San Antonio, Tex., and Chicago in operation. The train will carry no mail and will stop only at county seats and will make the run in forty-one hours, or at the rate of thirty-five miles per hour.

IS NEARING THE END.

Application for an Injunction Against Sunday Fair Opening Has Been Argued to a Finish.

The Judges Have Taken the Case Under Advisement, but Decision Not Expected This Week.

Attorney Milchrist Wanted a Temporary Restrainining Order, but His Request Denied by the Court.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Arguments in the case of the government against the exposition authorities for an injunction against the opening of the gates on Sunday was concluded today.

This morning Attorney High, on behalf of the government, made the closing address reviewing the arguments already advanced and insisting upon the absolute character of the governmental control.

The court will take the matter under advisement. It is doubtful whether a decision will be reached this week. Meanwhile the exposition authorities have issued the usual notice to its employes concerning the opening of the gates next Sunday.

Just before the federal court adjourned this afternoon, the first move towards a decision in the suit brought by the government was made. Eager to obtain a prompt ruling, United States Attorney Milchrist asked that in the absence of a permanent decision a restraining order be given effect for next Sunday. He was refused.

REVIEWED BY THE EMPRESS.

The Spring Review of the Berlin Garrison Held Today.

BERLIN June 2.—The spring review of the Berlin garrison was held in the Tempelhofer field. The German empress sat on horseback at the saluting point where she reviewed the troops as they passed.

The German emperor led the Second regiment of foot guards past the empress and afterward the emperor, accompanied by Price Victor, count of Turin and nephew of the king of Italy, rode at the head of the troops into Berlin where the emperor, his royal visitor and soldiers of the garrison were received with hearty cheers and great demonstrations of enthusiasm.

A Train Wrecked by a Washout and Two Men Killed.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 2.—A furious rain storm generally prevailed throughout this state last night and washouts are reported on different lines of railroads.

The train was badly wrecked, going down an embankment twenty feet. Express Messenger W. Holmes, who is badly bruised, is the only other person hurt.

AN EDITOR ASSAULTED.

He Alluded to Stories About Cruel Beating of a Child.

PORT HURON, Mich., June 2.—L. A. Sherman, proprietor of the Port Huron Times, was assaulted and badly injured in Military street last night by A. C. Bachelor, a wealthy manufacturer. The affair has made a tremendous sensation.

At various times Mr. Bachelor's neighbors have complained that he has cruelly whipped one of his children, and Wednesday night the Times published an allusion to the stories. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Bachelor.

SUPREME COURT DEGREES.

A Question of Using That Figured in a Duluth Case.

The state supreme court handed down ten decisions yesterday. The following are upon cases originating in Duluth:

George M. Holmes et al, appellants, vs. State Bank of Duluth, respondent.

Syllabus: Where property is sold on a usurious mortgage one who purchases at the foreclosure sale and pays his money without any notice of the usurious character of the mortgage is protected as a bona fide purchaser of the property; and the same is true where after a foreclosure sale and before the expiration of the time of redemption a person buys the interest or estate of the mortgagee who bid in the property at such sale.

Where one buys an accommodation note of the payee, not knowing that it was accommodation paper, but supposing that it was already a valid subsisting security in the hands of the payee, the transaction is not usurious, although he bought the paper at a discount greater than the legal rate of interest. Order affirmed. MITCHELL, J.

Charles W. Culver et al., respondents, vs. Scott & Holston Lumber company, appellant.

Syllabus: Evidence held to justify the verdict. It is not necessary that the memorandum used by a witness to refresh his memory should have been made by himself. He may use one made by anyone if, after inspecting it, he can testify of the facts from his own recollection.

The issue being whether certain goods were sold and delivered on the credit of defendants or one C., defendants requested the court to charge the jury that the fact that the goods were charged on plaintiff's books to C. was evidence that the credit was given to him and not to defendants. Held not error to modify the request by instructing the jury that this fact was a circumstance in the case which should be considered by them in determining to whom the credit was given. Judgment affirmed. MITCHELL, J.

Capt. Samuel Eldridge Dead.

Capt. Samuel Eldridge, a resident of Buffalo for more than sixty years, is dead. He was well known in marine shipping circles, having entered the employ of Charles F. Sternberg in what was at that time the beginning of the line now known as the Western Transit company. Mr. Eldridge continued with this company for some years, holding a position of trust. In 1871 he was made harbormaster and filled the position until about eight years ago. In the "Patriot War" of 1837-38 he was a captain of artillery, and often took great pleasure in reciting his experiences during those exciting days. Capt. Eldridge had attained the age of 83 years.

Damaged Wheat.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 2.—The damaged wheat in the barge 115 amounts o 11,268 bushels, and the entire lot was sold here at 27 cents per bushel.

Lake Freights.

CLEVELAND, O., June 2.—The Cleveland freight market has settled down to business, with no tendency toward a change of any kind in rates on either coal or ore. As Ashland shippers of ore are well supplied with contract tonnage, there is little hope of advancing the rate from that port in the absence of a higher Duluth grain rate.

For an Ocean Whaleback.

The Frontier Iron Works, Detroit, are preparing for the immediate shipment of a triple-expansion marine engine to Everett, on Puget Sound. The engine was constructed for the American Steel Barge company, to be placed in the whaleback steamer now about completed at Everett. The engine is a duplicate of the one built for the steamer Pathfinder, except that this one is provided with a surface condenser, which is necessary where salt water is used in the boilers. The cylinders are 24, 38 and 64 inches in diameter, with 42 inches stroke, and will develop about 2200 horse-power. The boilers are four in number, each 11 feet in diameter and the same in length. They are tested to 165 pounds and were turned out of the shop of Wickes Bros., Saginaw.

THE BICYCLE IN 1993.

How the Wheel May Look One Hundred Years From Now.

The bicycle of 1993 will be built on very much the same lines as the safety of 1893—i. e., with two small wheels very nearly of a size. This was the plan of the first machine built in 1817, and now after a lapse of 76 years we have come back to the original design. A machine on this plan can be built stronger and lighter than on any other model. With the weight between two wheels there is less vibration than when it is over either one of them, as in passing over an obstruction the weight is lifted only half the distance in the former case that it is in the latter.

Then by the use of some alloy of greater tensile strength, weight for weight, than steel, and by filling the tires and the tubes in the framing with hydrogen instead of air, the weight of a road machine will be reduced to 10 pounds or less, while racing machines will not weigh half that much. The machine will also be made so that it can be folded up and carried about or stowed away in some corner. By improvements in the construction of the bearings of moving parts friction will be almost wholly eliminated, and the method of applying power will be so perfected that there will be absolutely no such thing as lost power.

The roads will be prepared especially for bicycles, the grades being very slight and in fact only sufficient to provide proper drainage. The surface will be hard and smooth, the outer edge of all curves being raised as on a race track. The roads will be kept clean, as by that time the horse will be found only in zoological gardens The improvement in the rider will be equally marked. From the continued and increasing use of the wheel a race of people will be evolved that will take to cycling as readily as a foreign immigrant does to politics. Taking all these things into consideration, we may expect an average speed of 30 miles an hour on the road and 60 miles an hour on the track. The use of the machine will be universal. Children will be taught to ride as they are now taught to walk. The suburbs of our great cities will extend from 60 to 100 miles in every direction. All patents will have expired and such large quantities of bicycles will be manufactured that the cost will be nominal and within the reach of all. There will be no more crowded tenement houses. The artisan, who will work only four hours a day will live with his family in a cozy little home in the suburbs where he can see the sun shine and breathe the fresh air. The use of the wheel will have so improved the stamina and physique of the race that the only causes of death will be old age and accidents.

Railroads will be used for the transportation of freight only. Every individual will own a bicycle. Those intended for long distance travel will be run by small but powerful storage batteries, which may be charged at automatic electric stations by connecting the battery to a dynamo and dropping a coin of small value in a slot. With machines of this character it will be possible to attain a speed of 150 miles an hour, and to overcome the wind pressure they will be fitted with wedge shaped wind shields made of some tough yet transparent substance. The bicycle will not be used in war for the simple reason that as dyspepsia will be unknown everybody will feel so well and be so good humored and disinclined to quarrel that there will be no one to go to war. WILLIAM D. KEMPTON.

Tennis Player Clarence Budlong.

A young tennis player who has already given a very favorable account of himself on the courts and who may have American championship material in him is Clarence R. Budlong of the Providence high school. In a recent match at Cambridge, Mass. for the Harvard college interscholastic lawn tennis championship of 1893 Budlong was returned an easy winner, although opposed by many skillful players. Budlong first displayed unusual talent last year when he played very creditably in several of the principal tournaments of the season. In the finals for the interscholastic championship last year Budlong found himself opposed by Malcolm W. Chase, the famous young Providence player, and although he put up a very strong game Chase defeated him. Another year of age and experience has so improved Budlong's play that he may be a formidable candidate for Champion Oliver S. Campbell to meet later in the present year.

CLARENCE A. BUDLONG.

SPORTING NOTES.

Jack Dempsey, ex-champion middleweight of the world, and "Mysterious" Billy Smith will battle for a purse of $6,000 and the welterweight championship of the world at the Coney Island Athletic club on June 30.

Frank Van Ness, who was recently reinstated by the American Trotting association, is part owner of Morello, the great horse that won last year's Futurity.

Princeton's football team cost her $15,000 last year. The total receipts of the season were $24,000. Of this amount $21,000 represents the proceeds of games.

The baseball management of the University of Chicago has received applications for 150 games this summer.

The Toledo C. C. will hold a race meet on the new track to be constructed at the exposition grounds on July 7 and 8.

A brass band has been organized among the members of the Century C. C. of Syracuse. The club also boasts of an orchestra.

The spring football squad at Princeton at present consists of 21 candidates.

Charles Spaulding, principal of the high school at North Adams, Mass., will sail for Europe July 1 for a bicycle tour through southern Spain, France and Italy. He will also visit Malta and Algiers.

Allen and Sachtleben are on their way to New York to complete their trip around the world. They left St. Louis May 11 and will travel via Dayton, Columbus, Pittsburg, Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Harry Wheeler, although riding in championship form, failed to catch the judge's eye first at Savannah. His mile in 2 minutes 22 seconds on a quarter mile track will stand as a remarkable performance.

Shot By His Mistress.

NEWARK, N. J., June 2.—Lew Brown, the well-known sporting man, was shot and killed by Emma Woods at 3 o'clock this morning. Brown was the proprietor of a saloon here. The couple had lived together for the last four months and the shooting is supposed to have been the result of a jealous quarrel. No one was present at the time of the shooting, but Brown and his mistress.

Absconded Wile the Funds.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 2.—At the session of the American Mechanics recently held in Indianapolis John T. Lamb, of this city, the treasurer, failed of re-election and absconded, it is alleged, with all the funds in his possession amounting to about $50,000. Lamb returned to the city and was arrested here yesterday. He entered bail.

On Its Feet Again.

MILWAUKEE, June 2.—The Plankinton bank has been placed on its feet again by the action of its president, F. T. Day. He has given to the bank a mortgage on city property worth $500,000, nominally for $1, and this will enable the bank to resume business.

To Chicago by the Great Lakes.

To go comfortably and economically to the World's fair one should travel by steamer, and to complete the scheme should live on the boat while in Chicago. This is the plan provided by the World's Fair Transit company of Duluth. The beautiful steamer Ossifrage has been newly and handsomely fitted out for passenger service only between Duluth and Chicago. The trips are sixteen days in length giving ten days at the fair. Passengers live on the boat and are carried to and from the fair grounds each day, lying at the foot of Randolph street at night. All scenic points are made by daylight including an evening at Mackinac island. The boat is lighted by electricity, has ladies' and gents' bathrooms, barber shop and large baggage rooms. The first trip leaves Duluth Sunday night, June 11, midnight. Round trip complete as above, two persons in a room $80 each, three persons $65 each. Children at reduced rate. Special rates made for ten or more in a party. Fare one way with meals and berth, $15. Reserve stateroom for $10 down at the dock office or with C. H. Eldridge, 428 West Superior street.

FILED THE SCHEDULE.

The schedule of assets and liabilities in the assignment matter of the Phœnix Electric company was filed today with the clerk of the district court and would seem to indicate that the failure is a pretty bad one, at least the liabilities foot up nearly twice as much as the assets. They aggregate $11,438.60, the heaviest creditors being the Knapp Electric company of Chicago, $722.80; George Cutter of Chicago, $946.55; Northwest Electric company of Peoria, $1,667.23, and a disputed account of $1616, and H. R. Fish Jr., of Lake Mills, Wis., $1800.

The total assets figure up $6,721.61 of which amount there is $3,221.61 in outstanding accounts.

The last of the articles in which appeared the word necessary to form the sentence upon which the Encyclopedia Britannica will be awarded, was published yesterday afternoon and immediately the rush began within a few minutes after the first paper was printed. It continued all through the evening and until the office door was locked and then the answers were pushed under the door.

The children came from all directions and were of all conditions, from the daintily dressed boys and girls with prettily arranged curls—models of neatness—with their neat envelopes to the ragged urchins with their scraps of paper all containing the sentence and their hopes as well.

This morning's mail brought a great batch of answers and at noon another supply arrived. All will be kept until Monday and will then be opened and the books awarded to the first correct reply which was received.

The boys and girls have until Monday noon to get their answers in and every one who sends the correct sentence will get one volume of this great work any how.

UP ON THE HEIGHTS.

Street Car Line to be Extended Half a Mile Further Out.

It has long been evident that Duluth Heights would probably experience a greater building boom than any other portion of the city this summer and it is now an assured fact. Houses are springing up everywhere and families are moving up everyday. An extension of half a mile is to be made to the street car line at once in order to accommodate the large number of people who are erecting homes beyond the present terminus.

The Highland Improvement company yesterday deeded a lot in the Sixth division to the trustees of the Highland Presbyterian church. A new church will be erected at once. Other church societies are about to be formed and a number of houses of worship will undoubtedly go up during the coming summer. The town hall is nearly completed. It will be used as a public meeting hall, a place for dances, socials and various purposes.

At the Pavilion many new features are to be added soon. A carouselle or steam riding gallery has been purchased and will be in place by a week from next Sunday. A cosmorama is to be put in at once and a regular sideshow will be going in full blast before long.

The Pavilion will be open tomorrow night and a band concert will be given. It will be open regularly every afternoon and evening after June 20.
